Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case, after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal condition, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne® is in wide use for healing injured tissue in all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H® suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Open Season For Game Birds Same as 1955

OTTAWA (CP)—Migratory bird regulations for 1956 are almost unchanged from last year, the Canadian wildlife service of the northern affairs department announced Tuesday.

Open season for game birds is the same as in 1955 in the four Maritime provinces, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories. The provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia have made only slight changes in opening dates.

The Ontario and Manitoba governments have decided to protect ducks and geese on the first day of hunting in the two provinces.

Hunters in the two provinces may not fire at ducks and geese until noon of the opening day. The noon opening is designed to give birds some protection against the normally heavy opening-day kill.

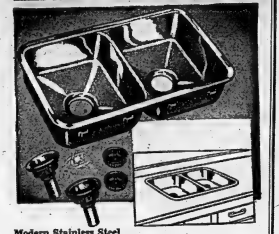
Ontario also has decided to protect mourning doves this year. The traditionally closed season on them, relaxed experimentally in 1955, will be reimposed.

Liverpool Strike Delays 100 Ships Needing Repairs

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) — Between 60 and 100 ships needing repairs have so far been held up in the Liverpool docks area strike of 900 boiler-makers and shipyard workers, it was announced here today.

Members of the boilermakers union in other British ports are backing the strike, now in its eighth day, by boycotting ships from Liverpool seeking repairs elsewhere.

Employers here refused the men's demands for revised conditions and a 50 per cent increase in basic pay and have referred the deadlock to the Shipbuilding Employers Federation in London.



12 MILLION JOBLESS

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Between 12 and 18 per cent of Indonesia's 80,000,000 population are unemployed, according to estimates of the employment service of the ministry of labor. The service says that the figure might be as high as 15,000,000.

JOBS INCREASE

NUERNBERG, West Germany (Reuters)—West Germany now is employing a record 18,400,000 persons, the federal labor exchange announced here. The number exceeded the previous high set at the end of last September by 84,900.

Government Intervention Planned If Strike Not Ended

Court Inspects Creek Where Six Marines Drowned

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The trial of Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon moved back into the court room today after the court took a look Wednesday at the swamp-edged creek into which he led six marine recruits to their death.

It was McKeon's first return to the scene of the tragedy.

The former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., is facing general court - martial on four charges: involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits, drinking on duty and drinking in the presence of a recruit. All resulted from the April 8 night march of recruit platoon 71, Iwa Ribon Creek.

MALTREATMENT PARALLEL

McKeon's former boss for recruit training, Lt.-Col. Robert A. Thompson of Manchester, N.H., testified Wednesday that a march led by McKeon ordered was maltreatment.

"Without adequate reconnaissance, without adequate safeguards . . . with full knowledge that members of the platoon could not swim," said Thompson of a hypothetical case striking in its similarity to McKeon's, "it would be maltreatment."

He made the statement during cross examination by Emile Zola Berman, New York lawyer handling McKeon's defense.

Thompson said he had never heard of similar night marches in his battalion.

Labor to Attack Handling of Cyprus Problem

LONDON (Reuters)—The Opposition Labor party today launches in the House of Commons its attack on the government's handling of the Cyprus problem.

The debate follows Prime Minister Eden's announcement last week that Britain will go ahead with plans for self-government for the Mediterranean island, even where a Greek-Cypriot terrorist campaign is being waged for union with Greece.

The Opposition says the Cypriots should be given a date within which they can themselves choose by whom they wish to be ruled. CITE TURKISH STAND

But government spokesmen say that, though Britain agrees to the principle of self-determination, it is impossible at the moment to put it into practice.

This is because Turkey, which ceded Cyprus to Britain in 1923, supports the 100,000 Turkish-Cypriots on the island who are bitterly opposed to Enosis (union with Greece.)

Labor's main spokesmen — Aneurin Bevan, leftwing leader who now is the party's colonial affairs expert, and James Griffiths, deputy leader—are expected to press the government to have consultations with Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the Enosis movement.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reports that President Eisenhower has warned disputants in the country-wide steel strike to settle their differences within a week or face government intervention put new optimism on contract negotiators today.

Despite the reports, however, there were no outward signs of progress in Wednesday's talks. Neither side had any comment after a two-hour meeting other than to say the discussions would continue today.

Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan participated Wednesday in a White House discussion in which the president was reported to have gone over the situation with his economic advisers.

The strike now is in its 19th day and inventories of steel gathered during warnings of the dispute are dwindling rapidly.

REMINDS OF TAFT-HARTLEY?

After the White House meeting several newspapers reported the administration warned the steel companies and the United Steelworkers union to bow or face contract differences within a week. Otherwise, the report said, there was indication the administration might invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

Under Taft-Hartley action the 630,000 strikers could be ordered back on the job for an 80-day cooling off period while a government board inquired into the dispute.

Finnegan said he did not know of "anyone" setting an arbitrary deadline for settlement.

The union, headed by David J. McDonald, has rejected the company offer as "too little, too late and too long." It would provide a 52-month contract which, the industry says, would give a 17 1-3-cent hourly inquired into the dispute. first year. McDonald, who has not revealed his demands, called the offer at 14 cents an hour.

Tito and Nasser Tighten Bonds

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)—Presidents Tito and Nasser announced Wednesday tightening of bonds between Yugoslavia and Egypt. Then they traded views on Red Russia with Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Nehru said the three nation talks were only a friendly exchange without any decisions.

"We have not come to all the questions of the world—I repeat, all the questions," he said. "It is extraordinary that we cannot hold a friendly meeting without you of the press attaching the importance to it."

Tito called the three-nation talks "very, very successful — cordial and friendly." They will continue today.

An effort by Algerian nationalists to persuade Nasser to present advocates of neutralism to say something on the French-Algerian question apparently failed. An Indian source said Nehru was cold to the idea. An Egyptian said Nasser was irritated by the appearance of four Algerian nationalists in nearby Rome and did not push the Algerian issue.

The source said that a communique would be issued at the end of the three-nation talks.

Spent 4 Years Taking Wife Home For Burial in Whisky-Filled Coffin

BARKERVILLE, B.C. (CP)—Standing beside a small grave, Governor - General Massey was told Wednesday how Cariboo Cameron spent four years getting the body of his wife and her whisky-filled coffin to Glengarry County.

The grave in the cemetery of this once - time booming mining town was Cariboo's. It was uncared for, as were all the others on the hillside. Middle Cross. The epitaph said "J. A. Cameron, died 1898, a native of Glengarry County, Ontario."

Cariboo Cameron brought his bride here from Cornwall, Ont., during the gold rush of the 1860s. She was said to stand up to the rigors of this wild frontier, and died of typhoid in the winter of 1868. Her dying wish was that she be buried in Glengarry County.

Cariboo made a metal casket, put the body of his wife in it and filled it with whisky. Then began the journey back to Ontario.

It started by hand sleigh, then by pack train, then by ship to Victoria. Other trips carried Cariboo and his casket round the tip of South America and finally to New York.

A New York newspaper became suspicious of Cameron coming all the way from the gold rush country to bury his wife and her story was written calling Cariboo a fraud and gold smuggler.

An investigation followed and Cariboo drilled a hole in the casket. Out flowed the whisky. "Isn't that proof of the truth of my story?" asked Cariboo.

But the authorities said no. The coffin was opened and the body of Mrs. Cameron was found perfectly preserved.

FROST CRITICAL OF TAX-SHARING PLAN BY OTTAWA

Calls It Unrealistic Will Retard Growth

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government's new proposals for sharing taxes with the provinces are described by Premier Frost of Ontario as unrealistic and liable to retard Canada's development.

Mr. Frost told a press conference Wednesday that a bill before Parliament which would give the provinces a percentage of income and corporation taxes and succession duties should not answer either Ontario's needs or the terms of the British North America Act, 1867, which designed a rejatively stable tax-rental agreements, of-fers. The provinces need a free control of taxable corporation income, 10 per cent of the federal personal income tax levy and 50 per cent of succession duties, eliminating any danger of double taxation.

The amounts, Mr. Frost said, are simply not large enough. He criticized the government for presenting "such important legislation" in the final tired, ragged moments of Parliament."

TALKED TAXES WITH DREW

The premier said recent talks he had in Ottawa with Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew indicated his opposition to the new tax proposals.

He said that under the terms of the Tax-Rental agreements with much right as the federal government to levy taxes.

"It follows then that they should be entitled to a minimum of half" of succession duties, Mr. Frost added.

However, Ontario had not asked for half but would be content with 15 per cent each of corporation and personal income taxes. It would go along with sharing equally in succession duties returns.

The provinces and municipalities, Mr. Frost said, are the front behind peacetime development and it will not continue at this present rate if they cannot continue to supply services necessary to the development.

He said the lower levels of government must be able to and continue to be hit, by rising costs in education, water pollution, hospitals, highways, public buildings and welfare services.

He declared that the provincially-imposed sales tax should be used to meet the rising costs caused by development and said the revenue created by the development should be left to the province.

"It is idle and criminal to place the provinces and the municipalities in a position where they can't do the things they need because the money is there," said Mr. Frost, "and this is exactly what Ottawa is doing."

"We have all recognized provincial share would not cost the federal treasury anything because "it is but a return of what is back what is their own."

Mr. Frost said that a strictly provincial question, Mr. Frost said his government is opposed to the sale of beer or alcohol in grocery stores, although he has received letters urging that action. Private retail sales would add greatly to the problems of control, he added.

FOREST FIRE RAGING

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta. (CP) — A forest fire raging out of control was reported burning out of control in front of strong winds Wednesday night. It is 15 miles south of here. One lumber camp was evacuated destroyed with a possible loss of $10,000. More than 100 men were fighting the outbreak.

Happy, Thanks To Bancroft Students

Theresa Anita Fernandes is shown above smiling happily as she arrives in Canada to live with her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fernandes of Toronto. This is the second time she has stepped on Canadian soil.

On the first occasion she was held at Malton by immigration authorities and ordered deported because of her East Indian blood. After two years of embarrassing by the ruling reversed, her foster parents finally received aid when Canadian newspapers took up her case and were joined by the students of Bancroft High School, who enlisted the help of other students, including those of Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Institute. Finally, as the result of this pressure, her case was reconsidered and permission given for her to return to Canada.

Britain Planning to Reduce Defence Budget One Eighth

LONDON (AP) — The government is reported working on plans to slash Britain's defence program by more than £178,500,000. Informed sources said such a reduction — amounting to nearly one-eighth of Britain's £1,500,000,000 defence bill this year — would be part of a general recasting of NATO strategy. They emphasized that results of the government's reappraisal of defence policy have not yet been officially considered by the cabinet.

A government spokesman would not comment directly on the size of the reduction contemplated by the government. He said whatever cuts may be decided upon, Britain will fulfill its international commitments.

He added that final decisions about Britain's future defence spending will be taken only after full consultation inside the North Atlantic alliance.

Several British newspapers front-page reports that Prime Minister Eden and his colleagues are thinking in terms of a £357,000,000 reduction — representing nearly one-quarter of the country's defence bill—for the 1958 fiscal year.

Britain's contingent of four divisions in West Germany also would be halved, the newspapers say. These reports came on the heels of demands by the Labor and Liberal parties for a complete revision of defence spending.

The spokesman described these reports as "highly exaggerated" and "without official inspiration."

There is, nevertheless, no doubt that Britain's economic experts have been a major factor in Eden's reappraisal of defence policies.

Eden himself defined an equally important factor when he told a political rally Saturday that the H-bomb deterrent should help to ease the financial burden of defence.

He said: "We have our commitment. We stand by them but scientific discoveries must influence our defence plans. We have to work things out so that the new deterrents lighten rather than increase the burden."

Missionaries Are Assailed By Inquiry in Indian State

NAGPUR, India (Reuters)—Christian missionaries in central India were accused Wednesday of "evil practices" in the past and spreading "vile propaganda against the religion of the majority."

The accusation came in a report published by a six-member committee appointed to set up in the state of Madhya Pradesh to inquire into missionary activities.

The committee recommended that the 402 foreign missionaries should be withdrawn from Madhya Pradesh state as a danger to Indian security. It also recommended their property be transferred to national churches or holding bodies or to an interim-national holding body.

The report said "to exploit people's need and distress as a means of adding to the numbers of what is styled as the Christian community, for the purpose of promoting the cause of world peace and justice as conceived by a foreign nation, is interference in the internal affairs of India.

"It is repugnant to the principles of panchsila (the five points of "peaceful coexistence.")

The committee suggested an amendment to the Indian constitution first to make clear that the right to carry on missionary work was the right of citizens of India only; and secondly that such rights did not include conversion brought about by "force, fraud or illicit means."

There are about 5,000 Protestant and Roman Catholic foreign missionaries in India, the great majority from the United States, British and Commonwealth countries.

Catholics and Protestants both declare their policy is to use indirect for missionary work wherever possible.

Adenauer, Foes Unite to Oppose Talks With Reds

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government and the opposition parties alike have rejected Moscow's latest call for talks on Communist East Germany to negotiate on German unification.

The government and the Socialist party often poles apart on foreign policy—declared Wednesday the Big Four powers bear the responsibility for ending the division of this country.

The most powerful political forces in West Germany thus made plain that the Russians have no hope in the foreseeable future of pulling the Bonn Republic into direct negotiations with the Communist regime of Premier Otto Grotewohl.

Russia and East Germany jointly declared Tuesday night there is "no other way" to unify Germany.

FLATMATES WOUNDED

RAINY RIVER (CP)—A young boy and girl were accidentally shot here Wednesday while playing "cops and robbers." In hospital, their condition was described as good. The gun was carried by the six-year-old son of police constable Michael Noonan. It apparently discharged twice, striking a seven-year-old boy on the left side of his body. The girl, age 11, suffered a flesh wound in the shoulder. Both of the two injured were not known.

CANADA RAISES ARMED FORCES AGAINST TREND

Campney Outlines Program To House

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — At a time when other western nations seem to be moving toward smaller armed forces, Canada is headed in the opposite direction.

Defence Minister Campney told the Commons Wednesday in the resumed estimates debate that in light of the plan to train three more CF - 100 jet interceptor squadrons in Europe, there is a careful reappraisal of the air force's manpower position is being made.

At the same time, Mr. Campney said he had never subscribed "to the nonsense which has been talked about abolishing our armed forces; our army undoubtedly has an essential role to carry out and we have every intention of directing our sowing that it will be in the best possible shape for carrying out its role."

Mr. Campney said there will be "some" increase in the overall strength this year but still within the air force's present ceiling of 51,000. Outside the Commons, official indicated that the ceiling may have to be raised to 53,000 to permit additional personnel for squadrons which will bring the air defence strength to 12 squadrons and for helping to man the Mid-Canada radar warning line.

Mr. Campney said there will be a "small" increase in army strength within its ceiling of 30, 000. This would bring the number of the forces now number about 117, 000.

There is no present plan for increasing Canadian forces in Europe which comprise an infantry brigade group and 12-squadron air division, the minister told reporters.

Mr. Campney said two of every three servicemen asked to sign on for further hitches in the forces do so. The present re-engagement figure is 66 per cent, slightly better than the three years ago.

The minister said the emphasis now is on quality and long-term careers in the forces.

He also denied charges made earlier Wednesday by Liberal MP Gen. Guy Simonds, former army chief, that the chiefs of staff are denied an opportunity to give military advice to the minister and that the Canada United States joint board on defence acts as a barrier between the Canadian and American chiefs of staff.

Mr. Campney said the chiefs are consulted on every phase of development of military policy. They could always confer with him and did so frequently. They also were given the fullest consideration by the minister whenever they were free to participate in discussions of the cabinet defence committee.

Mr. Campney said any Canadian chief of staff is free to confer with his American counterpart as often as he wishes.

Sweeping Changes In Penal Methods, Paroles Advanced

Special Committee Tables Lengthy Report In House

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Sweeping changes in the whole field of penal corrections and paroles were proposed to Parliament today by a special four-man committee.

Two of the major recommendations of the committee headed by Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada are:

1. The establishment of a five-man national parole board.

2. Giving the federal government responsibility for guarding prisoners sentenced to terms of more than six months, instead of two years as at present.

AFFECT PROVINCES

Many of the committee's recommendations would require the co operation of the provinces if they are to be implemented. The administration of justice is a provincial responsibility under the constitution.

Justice Minister Garson, who tabled the committee's 49-page report in the Commons, has said he plans to discuss with provincial attorneys-general the extent to which the recommendations could be implemented.

Such a conference would be held after the provinces have had a chance to study the far-reaching changes suggested by the committee that was appointed in December, 1953, to study and report on the entire system of re missions.

STUDIED OTHER SYSTEMS

Apart from Mr. Justice Fauteux, the committee which studied correction system in British and Belgium and elsewhere was made up of William B. Common, chief magistrate of Montreal; J. Alex Edmison, vice-principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and former president of the Canadian Penal Association; and Joseph McQuillan, warden of Hart House, University of Toronto, and former deputy commissioner of federal penitentiaries.

The committee also suggested amendments to the Criminal Code, as it affects prison terms. For example, it proposed repeal of provisions authorizing jail terms in default of payment of fines by prosperous persons.

This suggestion is in line with representations made by the government in the past by the Canadian Bar Association. The new legislation, if approved, will take effect April 1, 1955, gives judges more discretion to allow payment of fines on the instalment plan.

OUTSIDE INFLUENCE

In recommending establishment of a national parole board, the special committee said it should be a quasi-judicial body that would be independent of outside influence. It should be headed by a senior member of the bench who would be given the right to appeal from his judicial duties to be the first chairman of the board.

The board would develop a national system and policy for paroling prisoners while taking into account local conditions which might vary in different areas.

Defence Researchers Want to Know About Weather Centuries From Now

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence research board next spring will begin a scientific expedition to Hazen Lake on northern Ellesmere Island, about 450 miles from the North Pole, to study polar weather and ice.

From this studies the scientists may be able to throw some light on why the earth's climate was like hundreds of years from now.

Winter temperatures around Hazen Lake, largest body of fresh water in the Queen Elizabeth Islands, drop to 70 degrees below zero. The lake, visited by only a handful of persons since its discovery in 1852, is surrounded by mountain ranges soaring to 10,000 feet.

The lake, 34 miles long and 10 miles wide, has a river flowing out of one end. Strangely enough, the water in the river flows the year round, despite the severe temperatures. The reason is not known. The lake is said to hold springs in the region.

The expedition, part of Canada's contribution to the international geophysical year, will comprise six to eight men the first year and perhaps 12 or 14 men in 1958.

The 1957-58 phase of the IGY will be similar to that now being carried out by the Soviet Union and the United States.

Loyalists Get Ready to Meet At Adolphustown

"The preservation of history is an important aspect of community life," was the keynote of an address by Mr. K. L. Young, district deputy of community programs branch, Ontario Department of Education, given to a group of delegates of the numerous committee Ontario Historical Society assembled for a weekend workshop at Old Fort Henry.

The importance of this factor in our community life is further exemplified in the 193 page booklet recently issued by the State of New York, throughout which will be found descriptions of and invitations to visit, historic points of interest and priceless exhibits of early pioneer life.

Right here in the Bay of Quinte country, one of the earliest settled areas of Upper Canada, are still to be found much material and numerous spots of historical interest, not only to the tourist and visitor, but also to the our growing children—citizens of tomorrow who do not find sufficient of these things in schoolbooks to arouse and create a desire to know about our ancestors.

"One of the immediate objectives of the newly-formed Bay of Quinte Branch of the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada," continued Provincial President E. Claude Young of Wellington, "will be to prepare and make available to visitor and resident alike a better knowledge and understanding of the priceless heritage left us by those intrepid Loyalist forbears who came here over one hundred and seventy years ago."

No one is better qualified to assemble the information regarding the history and accomplishments of the thousands of Loyalist settlers along the Bay of Quinte than the descendants who have had the facts handed down through the generations and in many instances have Biblical and other supporting records.

With all due respect to the officials of our Provincial Department of Public Works, the roads throughout this area is that Loyalist descendants are far better qualified to hunt out and describe for marking our historical points of interest.

The Bay of Quinte branch, U.E.L., is holding its inaugural meeting in the historic old township hall at Adolphustown on Wednesday, July 25th, at 8 p.m. DST, at which time plans will be presented by the provincial executive to initiate steps toward "the preservation of history" in our area, and making same available to all interested.

Of course, other projects now in the study stage, will be presented for approval of members.

A social invitation is extended to all Loyalist descendants throughout the old Midland district (Bay of Quinte counties) to attend this inaugural meeting at Adolphustown.

Dr. A. T. Embury, Former M.P. For Hastings, Dies

Dr. Alexander Thomas Embury former Conservative member of Parliament for Hastings-Peterborough, former warden of Hastings county and doctor in Bancroft for 40 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. B. Greggan, 44 Everett Street, shortly after noon this Thursday.

The late Dr. Embury was born in Selby, Ont., 84 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Embury. After completing his public and secondary school education, he entered Queen's University to study medicine. He graduated from that university in 1898 and immediately opened practice in Bancroft, which he continued for many years. He had been a resident with his daughter in this city for about 10 years.

While in Bancroft he became an integral part of the community. Besides the practice of his duties as a large clientele he took time out from his busy life to take part in all community activities and he saw that northern town grow into a thriving and busy industrious community. He entered the municipal field, serving on the village council, was elected reeve and came tp County Council, where his voice was always raised in aid of the north. His colleagues recognized him with the highest gift in the county, the position of warden, which he filled with success in both the industrious of this county.

He also entered the political field as a Conservative and, being nominated as a candidate in 1925 for the House of Commons, contested and won the Hastings-Peterborough seat for the party and continued as member until 1935, when he retired. As a member of the house he served on many committees and was a very approachable, sociable and the beauties and progressive interest of his adopted county.

When the First World War broke out, Dr. Embury put his services in the organization of the Royal Canadian Medical Corps and served with distinction overseas in the hospitals and on the front service. Immediately at the end of hostilities he received his discharge and returned to Bancroft, where he resumed his practice which he continued for a number of years, some years ago.

He was a man of kind personality, had the ability to make and keep friends and his death will bring sincere regret to a wide circle of friends.

Besides his daughter, Embury was a member of the Anglican church and fraternally was identified with Bancroft Lodge A.F. & A.M.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. B. Greggan, Toronto; Creegan of this city and Mrs. J. H. (Muriel) Sturgess of Toronto; one son, Frederick G. Embury of Toronto and a nephew, Harry Boyle of Toronto, and a number of his family. His wife, the former Hester Mary Jarman, died some years ago.

Police Blotter

Crime in the district continues at a low rate with only minor incidents being reported to police.

Dashing out onto the roadway on West Street here yesterday, a three-year-old boy escaped with only scratches when he ran into the side of a truck.

Provincial city police were alerted yesterday be on the lookout for James Naylor, escaped inmate from Kingston Penitentiary. A car believed used by Naylor was reported found abondoned near Perth.

City police are continuing investigations into the theft of two chrome wheel discs Tuesday night from a car parked on the river bank near Pigdon's Garage.

ing, Mrs. Yvonne Fox, suffered a heart attack and died before medical aid could be summoned.

The late Mrs. Fox was born in Marmora 38 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Knox and had been a continuous resident of Marmora, where she was well known and highly respected. She took an active interest in fraternal affairs, being a Past Mistress of LOBA No. 900 and was at the time of her death Guardian of the Juvenile Orange Lodge.

A member of St. Andrew's United Church, she is survived by her husband, John Fox, who is employed in Toronto; four daughters, Janey 17; Carol Ann 13; Jacqueline 11; Patricia 6, all at home; six brothers, George Knox of Wexford, N.Y.; Mathew Knox of Toronto; Wesley Knox of Trenton; Gordon, William and McKinley Knox of Marmora, and three sisters, Mrs. Earl Harper of Bracebridge; Mrs. O. Bennett of Peterborough, and Mrs. Bruce Cannift of Cooper.

The deceased is resting at the Wells Funeral Home, Marmora. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Combinettes Win Over RCAF 13-0

Belleville Combinettes racked up their fifth victory in as many outings when they defeated the district Ladies' Softball League last night, blanking the Trenton RCAF girls by a 13-0 score.

Bernie Thompson tossed a three-hitter at the Air Force lassies aiding her own cause with a home run. Sandra Slade also smashed out a homer for the winners with Lois Batchelor and Linda Canning each getting three singles.

Miss Armott hurled for the losers giving up twelve hits.

The Combinettes meet the Belleville Nurses in their next game on Monday night at the Alemite Field starting at seven o'clock.

In another league game last night, the Nurses took the measure of the Trenton team by a 10-8 score.

Belleville Rink Wins Zone Finals At Kingston

A rink composed of Ken Langer, Marion Millen, Gordon Watkin and Jerry Hyde took their first step in a trip to Vancouver and the right to compete in the Dominion Lawn Bowling championship, when it won the zone finals at Kingston on Wednesday.

In the first game of a round robin series they defeated a rink skipped by Livingstone of Cannington, 24-12, while in the second game they defeated a Agincourt rink 23-15. In the third game they suffered a 21-14 loss to Ed Berry of Ottawa but while their plus count they won the round robin by a margin of 4 single point.

In the zone finals districts 13, 14, 15 and 16 sent winners to rinks, doubles and singles to Kingston and a round robin series was played with the plus and minus scores to count. Belleville rink going into the last game but last seven of those points, while Berry had a 15 plus before the last game was played. The Belleville boys were down 21-10 going into the last end of the game and managed to score a three to grab a one title by the one point.

A close squeak.

The team will play in the Ontario finals at Oshawa on August 6th.

Turns Cause of Crippling Accident Into Livelihood

Archelas Poulin is a man who has turned the cause of a crippling accident into a pleasurable means of livelihood.

As a young lumberjack he worked for some years having his living out of giant forest trees. One day while attempting to separate a group of frozen logs, the wood toppled on him, making him a cripple for life. Today he continues to make his living from wood — but he has exchanged the brute strength of the lumberjack for the patience and skill of a craftsman in wood.

Evidence of this can be seen here in the city in a huge, colorful motor scooter, which exhibits the fruits of Poulin's lifework, miniature displays intricately hewn from wood.

With his wife Marianne, Poulin arrived in Belleville yesterday and at present has parked his exhibit on the market square. Bellevillians and their children, for whom the display should have a special attraction will have the opportunity of paying him a visit up to Saturday, when he plans leaving.

A native of Megantic, Que., Mr. Poulin has been building up his exhibition during the past years, when he first took to the road with his travelling display. The idea came to him in hospital while he spent three years on his back, following his serious accident in 1917.

To while away the time he began carving tiny figures out of wood. Today, nearly forty years later, his chance hobby has grown into a huge display, probably in the whole country.

The exhibit is an 40-ft. trailer is dominated by a display of old habitant pioneering scenes linked to the motif of logging. Starting from the bottom of May, which shows a busy seeding season, October, symbolized by threshing; November, the month designed for auctions and sales; December, pointed up by a quiet midnight church gathering scene.

Another display built around the Garden of Eden, depicts the fall cycle of life.

But the prize exhibit, probably is a display depicting a typical Parisian dancehall of the Toulouse-Lautre period. It also is the liveliest display, for Mr. Poulin has turned his electrical mechanism, which he also built himself, to animate the figures.

Touches of typical Gallic humor in the form of a pretty Parisian dancehall girl tossing her head and fan flock through all the display. In the dancehall, you will see a fat man struggling manfully around the floor with a short, fat partner; a bowlegged woman attempting to keep herself gracefully in the dance.

All of Canada likely has seen the Poulin display for they have been all across the nation. As a matter of fact, Mr. Poulin says, it took them 26 years to get from Halifax to Vancouver. Now they are travelling eastward (they were in Belleville in 1947 again, exhibiting at fairs or inside cities — as they are doing here — with special permission.

Mr. Poulin refuses to charge an admission to his show, preferring to let anyone who wishes to make a donation.

With the Poulins, and their solitary companion on their travels, is their driver, Rod Maillig, a young Englishman. The son of a scientist, he recently left the couple at Port Hope, and likes them prefers the relaxing atmosphere of the open road.

The Poulins expect to travel as far as Quebec, before returning to Ontario for winter. During the winter months Mr. Poulin devotes his time to enlarging current exhibits and probably creating new ones.

BETRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A military court in Wednesday sentenced 16 persons to prison terms ranging from one month to eight years on charges of spying for Israel.

Police Officers To Deliver Talks At Playgrounds

A better appreciation of life through safety and the value of life imparted to Belleville youngsters at their playgrounds.

City police and the recreation committee have linked together to bring about this objective and the necessary element of safety in everyday living. Starting next week senior members of the police department, under the direction of Chief Walter Probert will start a series of talks throughout the city playgrounds.

Talks will be delivered the 1,000 scattered through 11 Belleville playgrounds on protective and precautionary measures that add up to preservation of life. Special reference will be made by the officers regarding the proximity of the playground equipment that will help avoid any possible risk of injury.

Water safety, responsibility in keeping intact public and private property and vandalism also will be among subjects scheduled for delivery by police officers.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market dipped lower for the first time in a week during morning trading today as all sections but industrials suffered index losses. The industrial index was ahead .15 to all-time high of 495.17.

After three sessions of solid advances in all sections, dealers apparently took advantage of the opportunity to cash in on the profit taking. Most price changes across the board were fractional.

Senior base metals were lower with Labrador off and International Nickel down ⅛. Junior base metals showed scattered strength. Fend Ore was up 20 cents. Cassiar and Bousan added 10 cents. Advocate lost 20 cents while Lake Dufault was off 12 cents.

Lake Shore dipped 35 cents among golds. Cumpay was down ¼ in uraniums. Consolidated Denison lost 25 cents and Milliken Lake 10 cents.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Receipts: Cattle 75; calves 25; hogs 3,000; sheep and lambs 15; carryover 1,250 cattle.

Prices: Choice steers $1.50-$2.25; good steers $0.50-$1.50; medium $8.50-$9.50; common $6-$8; boner steers and heifers $2-$5; medium fed- heifers $8.50; common and medium light bulls $-12.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was firm with offerings light for a good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 60; A medium 57; A small 52; B 38; C 34. Wholesale to retail: A large 65; A medium 62; A small 57; B 43; C 39.

Reformatory Terms For Armed Robbery Given Three Youths

Three Belleville youths pleaded guilty to armed robbery of the Quinte Drive-In Theatre at Bayside June 27th, today were sentenced to the Ontario reformatory by magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Sentenced were Douglas Graves, 17, to 12 months; George Gill, 18, to 12 months and George Keith Mc-Farland, 16, who received also 6 months. An indeterminate sentence of six months was added to each count by the magistrate.

A fourth youth, Leo Graves, 19, brother of Harold, has been committed to the Ontario Hospital, Kingston, for mental examination. No plea so far has been entered by Graves.

The boys appeared only briefly in court this morning for sentencing.

Louis Maraskas appeared for Gill while Kenneth M. Ross defended the other three. Both barristers accepted the case through auspices of the Legal Aid.

Previous testimony given in the case by OPP corporal Ray Koval showed the boys had made off with a reported $127 from the theatre's box office after holding up cashier, Mrs. Goldie Wark.

They were detained leaving the theatre by OPP constable George Evans, on the scene in a matter of minutes after the alarm had been raised.

Later an unloaded .32 rifle and a .303 rifle were found in bushes behind the theatre. Some $141 was recovered in the car carrying the youths.

The youths who carried the guns were Gill and Harold Graves, while McFarland acted as a lookout during the holdup.

Lonsdale Woman Dies in Accident At Potsdam, N.Y.

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Vera Miracle, 37, of Lonsdale, Ont., was killed today when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into a bridge here.

Injured in the accident were Roy Miracle, 40, Cecil Brant, Arnold Greene, 16, all of Deseronto, Ont., and Clayton Miracle, 16, son of the woman killed.

New Potatoes In Good Supply On Local Market

New potatoes continued in good supply on the local market this morning.

Prices were mostly unchanged with six-quart baskets of potatoes bringing $1.50 and quart boxes selling from 30 cents. Cabbage sold for 15 cents a head. Peas also were unchanged in price, with quarts of shelled peas listed at 20 cents and pints at 25 cents. In the pod, peas brought 25 cents a quart and $1 a basket. Radishes were five cents a bunch, six bunches for 25 cents.

Gooseberries were in light supply at 25 cents a quart, while strawberries continued at 45 cents a berry box. Red currants were 35 cents a quart.

Grade A large eggs were 60 cents a dozen.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 27-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 98 3-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.74 5-16, down 7-16.

Tourist Trade To Be Promoted

The Lake Ontario Development Association will spend $5,000 this year to promote the tourist possibilities of this area.

This does not include an extra $2,500 for an information booklet on the region.

The sums were set last night at a directors' meetings of the association held in Peterborough. Percy Maguire represented Belleville.

Breakdown of the expenses allow for $1,000 expenses on newspaper, advertising in Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The other $4,000 will be spent on two sportsman's shows.

The regional association appears to be growing steadily while remaining in strong health.

Nine new municipalities have joined the body while a treasury report shows finances in excellent shape and registered at $10,500.

Future plans of the association include a $15,000 budget for next year — not including administrations costs — to promote the industrial and tourist potential of the district.

Last night's meeting also passed a recommendation that the Ontario Municipal Act be amended to give municipalities the right to assist industry in every way possible for manufacturing purposes.

A committee also was formed to study freight rates.

The next meeting will be at Port Hope.

The View Master picture company will also be approached to prepare several picture reels on the entire district.

Action Being Taken to Widen Some Lots in Sub-Division

TRENTON, (Special) — The Department of Planning and Development has advised town council that action is being taken in connection with increasing the width of some lots in the new Champlain Heights sub-division. According to the department 42 present-sized lots will be widened to 60 feet, making 35 of the larger lots available for people interested in building ranch style homes.

An application by Earle Maldens of Trenton, for an administrative job with the Community Centre was filed for future reference.

Acting Mayor Grant Gooding, chairman of sanitation and health, reported rats had commenced appearing on a land fill project below Bay Street and that a monthly extermination service was under consideration. Council also will investigate a blocked storm sewer in the vicinity of the new Dominion Store excavation on the east side of the river. Water collected in the proposed cellar could not be pumped off and local authorities called in to investigate found a private property owner would not allow the town to trespass to cause the trouble. The town solicitor, Rod Campbell, advised council town workmen were at liberty to clean or repair storm sewer, on private property providing the property was returned to the original state.

SEWER PROBLEM

Frank Peddlesden proposes to pay for a pump and maintain it if the town pays the cost of a sump from his Wragge Street apartments to a Queen Street connection. The decision was that Mr. Peddlesden acquired the land with knowledge there would be sewage disposal problems and should be responsible for own disposal arrangements.

Sewage originating from a system servicing Peddlesdown property, flowing over land to the south owned by Senator W. A. Fraser, prompted the Senator to threaten court action if the town permitted the condition to exist. Peddlesden's suggestion is to pump the sewage into the higher Queen Street line. Council is getting a price on the cost of the branch line and recommending Peddlesden assume liability.

ENDORSES RESOLUTION

Council endorsed a resolution whereby Division Street will be changed to Highway No. 33. Present provincial route between Prince Edward and Hastings north passes down Dundas Street and along Front Street, considered too narrow for heavy spells of traffic. The town has in mind to seek the larger highway's arrival for maintenance of Division.

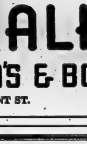
Solicitor Campbell was authorized to engage a sanitary engineer to establish the town's position in pending law actions concerning the town and local landowners.

Councillor James MacDonald urged for the town to block any move to cut trees in the land fill area near the community centre location. Co-operating to assist the new look program for the east side waterfront area Councillor Vahn Lange offered the town 200 yards of fill at the back of his garage property. His offer was accepted and the earth will be used to cover garbage fill.

The plan discussed by council is to land fill the property surrounding the new centre and promote parks and playgrounds on the built-up area.

Council deemed hiring an arena manager imperative before other centres had spoken for available ones. The Community Centre committee was given the authority to fill the position.

Solicitor Campbell asked council to seek the services of barrister K. G. M. Ross of Belleville, to assist in the Trenton Cold Storage vs. the Town of Trenton action probably coming off in the fall. Council ok'd his request.



Councillor James MacDonald announced that merchant Lloyd Weese had picked up the option on the O. G. "Buster" Alves Front Street property under consideration as an addition to the downtown parking facilities.

Head Injuries Suffered as Car Hits Ditch

...FICTON — Francis Moore, 34, of Queensboro, suffered head injuries when the car he was driving left the road and overturned in the ditch on the Wauposa road, four miles south of Picton. He told police that he was blinded by lights of another car. Moore has been living at Wauposa while employed in a local canning factory. He suffered a severe cut on the head and concussion and after being treated at Prince Edward County hospital here was removed to the general hospital at Kingston. The top of the car was smashed to such an extent that police wondered how he escaped alive.

LIFEJACKETS IN BOATS

Tourist operators of Prince Edward County are protesting to Hon. George Marler, Minister of Transport, against one phase of the recently announced safety regulations governing the operation of small boats. All boats must have government-approved life-saving equipment. Motorboats up to 25 feet in length used exclusively for pleasure must have one lifejacket or lifesaving cushion for each person aboard. Owners of the boats are responsible for providing this equipment. The Prince Edward tourist operators feel that this responsibility should be placed on the person operating the boat.

In their letter of protest to Mr. Marler, the tourist resort operators and boat livery proprietors raise several points:

"Application of this regulation as it pertains to open boats of 18 feet and under in length is impossible for the following reasons:—

"First: It is unrealistic of conditions prevailing during the tourist season.

"Second: It is impractical in the mechanics involved.

"Furthermore, it will not achieve the desired purpose regardless of what we do.

"For this regulation to be truly effective, to save lives in an emergency, the boat occupants should wear the life jackets at all times, as with accidents involving small boats the occupants are usually thrown instantly into the water with no time to pass around and put on the life jackets. This (wearing the jackets at all times) we cannot compel our guests to do."

The letter also raises the question of storing the lifejackets, the fact that children play around beached boats and might swim with jackets and the difficulty of keeping the jackets dry and free from grease.

"The only sensible and practical approach to this problem is for the party renting the boat to provide their own life-saving equipment," argues the letter. "Our responsibility should end with providing a seaworthy boat."

This is a question on which opinions are likely to be sharply divided—and to be staunchly held.

The truth of the matter, though, may well be that we have here a problem to which there is no ideal solution, and in which there is room for "give" on both sides.

First, there can be no question but that the tourist operators are correct when they say that many fishermen will not wear lifejackets, even if they are provided. It is also true that many accidents happen suddenly, with no time to don jackets. But a loose jacket in the boat, tossed from a boat, might serve to support a person until rescued. A reasonably efficient swimmer might be able to thrust his arms through the loops and use the jacket to support himself long after he would have been too tired to hang onto an overturned boat. The question of jackets becoming soiled appears inconsequential in the light of the fact that lives are at stake in this issue. Moreover unless the jackets are worn throughout the boat ride, nobody is going to worry about the jacket which saves him being greasy or covered with the remains of fish worms. Those who rent boats should be able to exert themselves sufficiently to keep them from the bottom of the boat so that children would not remove them from the boats.

If there is one thing "unrealistic" about this whole controversy, it is the suggestion that every person who rents a boat should provide his own lifejackets. How many people who rent a boat once or twice a year, during their vacations, are going to equip all members of the family with lifejackets? Either the boat owners propose to shut their eyes when they know the law is being broken, or else they are going to have to continually refuse to rent boats to persons without lifejackets, thereby unnecessarily reducing their income by far more than the cost of lifejackets.

On the other hand, there are some persons who rent boats who have come to accommodate the occasional visitor than to make a living. A man who has two or three boats and charges 50 cents for three or four hours' fishing can hardly be expected to provide lifejackets. If he is forced to do so, he will just quit renting boats. Many fishermen, quite able to take care of themselves on the water, will be deprived of many hours of pleasure.

Above all, is the nature of the waters in which the boat is operated of paramount importance? On the Bay of Quinte or a big inland lake, where a squall may quickly stir up waves, the provision of lifejackets is certainly desireable. But on quiet-flowing rivers, the same urgency does not exist.

Perhaps modification of the law would be possible. But, where boats are rented to people accompanied by children, where they operate on waters which quickly become rough and where the operator makes his living, or a major portion of his living, from the rental of boats, surely it is not too much to require that he be compelled to provide his customers with adequate safety equipment?

THE WISER WAY

The rich man said: "I'll smooth his way.
The cares I knew when I was small
And all the tasks which spoiled my play
My son shall never know at all."

An older man looked up and said:
"What's wrong with having work to do?
What's wrong with going tired to bed?
"Twas this that made a man of you."

If for the answers he can turn
To you in each day and year
Hope that youngster ever learn
Just what to do when trouble comes Suppose sometime alone he roams
Where you can't hear his cry for aid,
Will he not hate those soft white hands
Which love and luxury have made?

Shield him from all the tasks you had,
Which now you catalog as wrong,
And selfishly you keep the lad
From coming into manhood, strong.

You cannot guarantee his joy.
This is the wisest, surest plan
So to, equip and train the boy
That he can leave him here, a man.

Railways Like Snerd?

(By I.N.S. in the Ottawa Journal.)

Mortimer Snerd, wasn't it, who used to say that to be so stupid he had to work at it?

Some of our railway schedules invite the same respect. They couldn't really be that inconvenient unless imaginative men like Donald Gordon and H. R. Crump really concentrated on their mischief.

Ottawa people art familiar with the old Ottawa-Montreal railroad timetable which features a spectacle wherein each line beats its brains out at approximately the same time each day in costly duplication. I won't rant on that one. We also have been raised on the tedious Ottawa-Toronto schedules which explore hill and dale in about the same time as you'd need in a Model T. There's nothing new to be said about those two advertisements for air travel.

Ring, rather, of the relish with which Donald Gordon and Crump have devised the obstacle course between Ottawa City and Ottawa. It is a monument to their conviction that the way to maintain passenger traffic is to discourage it.

Say I go on?

Well, let it first be understood that I have no beef about those two points it requisites to get from Ottawa to Montreal. By night train enabling one to drowse off in Ottawa and waken in Quebec City is the best way from the other direction either.

Okay, what about those points must be done with the eyes open.

As a gesture to co-operation—or monopoly—the two lines "pool" between Ottawa to Montreal. Buyer beware.

You can leave at seven a.m. but that's a slow local through the city and you and me leave on the "fast" train, CPR, has first departure at quites ago. So sorry. Next one goes at 9.30 a.m. three hours and three quarters later.

Okay, what about CNR—since you've gone in the "pool" from Quebec. Well, it's odd you should mention that. You said on both that the CN pulled out to Ottawa half an hour ago. A very good train too, a pity you couldn't ride it. Next one? Oh, not until eight, ten hours later.

Now mind you here's one thing a fellow could do. He could get the train from Quebec at the Montreal suburb of Park Avenue at 4.45 and pick up there the CPR North Shore line that's just pulling out of Montreal for Ottawa, and which will stop at Park Avenue in half an hour.

Fine, why not?

Well, in the first place it's a milk train that takes three hours and a half Montreal to Ottawa instead of two hours, 10 minutes.

In the second place, it has no dinner or club car on it. No exis whatever.

Well, perhaps that's no great hardship, but you've in mind that by stomach time it is now six p.m. not five as the railway clocks say. And you don't reach Ottawa until 10. All that railroading on an empty stomach a fellow shouldn't oughter.

So—you're on your own in Montreal with hours to wood on the finest railroad service in the world.

A meal sools the ardor of your peeve and you begin to make excuse for the railroads.

After all, probably those trains that rushed off to Ottawa without waiting for the "pool" train from Quebec for the 25 or so clear to Vancouver and make connections all the way. Even the diner Pales as a chocolate bar wrapper. Both those CP and CN trains ground to a dead and final stop. Which is proud as punch at giving us the slip.

Or about that supper-less train to Ottawa along the North Shore—maybe the railways are short of dining cars. True or False as the fo'cscy, for the 5 and 8.00 evening trains both carried diners out of Montreal, which our time is 5.45 and 8.00 and you know how many Canadians prefer supper at 8 9.00 to 10.00 after dining cars on these late trains just go along for the ride, getting ready to serve breakfast 2 hours and 500 miles later!

Things being as they are and the TCA waiting list being as it is your motoring correspondent has his supper, counted the spoutles inside the roof of St. Lawrence Hall, noted that both CP and CN trains were wrestling Union Jacks—and took his seats smilingly on the 8.00, reaching Ottawa at 10.35.

Which, by my watch, is two hours and 25 minutes for 389.7 miles. Or 96.3 miles an hour.

Not, mind you that I think I might have walked it faster, but it does make you want to raise your hat to Messrs. Gordon and Crump. It can be easy to run one great sleek demon streamliner monsters that slow that far, and not easy to have those same trains scamper out of stations just in time to leave the incoming trains load of passengers holding the bag. As Mortimer said, a fellow's got to work at it.

Why Change A Good Story

(Brockville, Recorder, and Times)

While Hollywood has improved the quality of motion pictures to a considerable extent during the past half dozen years with a view, no doubt, to recapturing former audiences who have become addicted to television, we are inclined to think they have to "change" so many perfectly good books or plays for the movie versions.

Audiences who have enjoyed a book or play and have created a lovely look forward to the screening of their favorite story — and about 75 percent of the time it is despite the lavish production, they are disappointed with what the Hollywood result. Somehow movie makers lose sight of the whole point of the story and rewrite the whole screen version around a leading actor, who usually bears little resemblance in age or appearance to the character in the original story.

It must be singularly galling for the author of a best seller when Hollywood has done to their brain child. It must be galling, too, when a resemblance between the movie and the original story is the name of the title, and other that is changed to a more eye-catching phrase to attract the public.

Rather than state the usual "Any resemblance to situations or persons living or dead is strictly coincidental." — the movie makers might better print the explanation, "any resemblance to the original story from which the idea for this picture was coined, is strictly coincidental and unintentional!"

On the other hand, some of these movie versions are excellent film entertainment in themselves — if the movie goer has not already seen the play or read the book!

An Occidental Slant

(Manchester Guardian)

News comes from Japan that about half a million women have had a plastic operation on their eyelids by which a "Western" look is made with plastic thread. The surgeon apparently charges about £4 for the job.

As the latest-eyed Oriental look" is at present in favor in this country, even though it is not to be had on such easy terms and off at night, it seems that plastic surgeons over here could do quite well in unfolding Western eyes.

Greta Garbo Now Unknown

(Edmonton Journal)

...ow fleeting is fame?

Consider, for instance, the case of Greta Garbo, whom Canada's Swedish actress has not made a moving picture recently, she was a "big name" in Hollywood for many years and was generally regarded as a great performer. Her famous phrase, "I want to be left alone" has been alluded to as a subject of parody as Charles Boyer's "Come to the Casbah."

Some time ago an uncle of Miss Garbo died in Sweden. By his will she was left a trifling of 600. An executor confidently dispatched a cable to the famous actress with the simple address of Hollywood in the U.S.A.

Imagine his surprise when it was returned from a film colony office stamped "Not Known in the U.S.A."

Incident reported in the Canadian publication, Popular Stamps, is the worst blow to Swedish pride since the defeat by the Russian army at Poltava in 1709.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CHARACTER IS EVERYTHING

Character is the sum total of all that a man is. It is himself, and as such he is appraised. The commercial work of the world is based on because there must be character in it. A nation without character is destined to stumble and finally to fall. Read your history. Learn of those nations that faded away for lack of character. Others there have thus been smothered. I often think of the character which made the millions of bank checks that pass over the counters of banks each day. Rarely is there a bad one. Loans are made largely on character. The economy of a nation would get into dire straits if the banks did not believe in the character and backing in securities which are the life of trade and good will. There is more involved in common stocks today than ever before because investors have learned to have confidence in the character of management.

Look to character. There is no better security in the world! Never have so many stockholders attended the annual meetings where there is frank and honest discussion between the owners of stocks and the management. Attractive terms are made by great corporations today to their employees to buy stock in the concern where they spend so much of their life. It is a good sign. Character is the foundation of the elder J. P. Morgan, who once stated that he often loaned a million dollars on the character of a man, rather than his securities. Millions could not be spent for life insurance if people did not have confidence in the character of our great insurance companies.

The best thing that a salesman carries with him to a prospective client is the character of the salesman. It is not him leave a trail of trust behind him at all of his calls and he will return many times later, each time to reap more for his company—and himself.

New Westerns Annoy Britons

(Montreal Gazette)

The modern attitude toward the drama, the realization that people's characters are seldom all black or all white, that good men have faults and bad men virtues, has invaded the Western movie. In at least one quarter, the revised attitude is unwelcome.

British viewers, avid fans of the horse opera, are indignant. In these modern Westerns, they complain, they tell the "good guys" from the "bad guys" and British audiences don't like it. Hence, the Canadian Film Bank a lush field for Western fiction that the Western movie is at last getting, produces Westerns for British readers. Few of them have ever been to the West, but they get their ideas on American Western movies and Western fiction, the critics assert.

So Britons, desperate, are doing the only thing they can; they are writing to The Times. Some of the complaints, as they have appeared in that August journal:

Since the first Western, writes British Screenwriter B. B. Clarke, good men have had white hats and bad men black hats. "It is unfortunate to find them no longer paying such meticulous attention to their dress." It's confusing, too, he adds.

John Calle was "horrified" to see a hero ducking a villain's blows and hitting the villian two-for-one, another trick, he complains.

Another writer declared that "surely a distinguishing characteristic of a good man is his ability to discharge up to 40 shots from a six-chambered revolver" without reloading.

And bowl over six Indians with every shot, too.

Go to it, Deputy Sheriff John Bull! So keen the Western tradition! Methinks it went thataway.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Progress Is Generally Painful

The trick specialists and 'clinic' reducers are not going to like this—but I predict I'll listen with great concern and respect to anything a real doctor may say about it, either in the public prints or in a confidential communication to me. One Dr. John H. Burkhart tells the Knoxville Journal readers that "this man Brady's articles are obviously inaccurate and unsensical. But the height of effensiveness was reached when an article entitled "Those Still the Best Place to Have a Baby, followed by another entitled This Mother Prefers Home Delivery' completely inaccurate and without foundation whatsoever."

My stars, it sounds as though it is illegal and maybe indecent for a Knoxville baby to be born at home.

If the amiable Dr. Burkhart can cite any statistics to show that home is not the best, the safest place to have a baby, or that a hospital is better than home, I'll publish in my column an apology for my error and a summary of the statistics that show home is not as safe as a hospital.

If such statistics were available, I should think it would be easier for me A M A and the trick specialists to settle my hash by publishing them. If they just sit back and wait for me to have up to toes, they're going to have a much tougher time keeping the customers in line. For as long as my newspaper continues to use my service I shall continue to recommend these modern departures:

(1) Childbirth at home rather than in an institution.

(2) Natural childbirth—if you know what I mean.

(3) Rooming-in. If you can't afford to have your baby at home.

The spirit of Dr. Burkhart's diatribe, whether the good doctor speaks for himself or as a cat-paw for the A M A, is remarkably like that of the two great professors of obstetrics, Hodge of University of Pennsylvania, Meigs of Jefferson Medical School, auctorats of their day. Before the A M A was founded. These two typical medical authorities used satire, ridicule, invective and abuse in their attempt to nullify the teachings of Oliver Wendell Holmes, M.D., about "The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever." The name then used for senile septicemia (blood poisoning) in the young mother following childbirth. Holmes's paper on this fell classic of medical literature. Oliver Wendell Holmes was right. His traducers were tragically wrong.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

MEMORIES—DEPRESSING AND INSPIRING

St. Paul gave expression to a gallant truth when he declared, toward the end of his life, that forgetting the things that were behind and reaching forward to the things that were before, he pressed on toward the mark of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

There are millions of people who cannot forget the past. The power of memory is clogged with ugly, embarrassing, sorrowful thoughts about things that happened years ago: Psychologists tell us that nothing is ever entirely forgotten that we have ever done or said or thought passes into the deeper recesses of the mind, there to influence our moods and behavior.

Certainly it can be said of millions of people—perhaps of the majority of people in every nation—that the past burdens them heavily. The burden of regret for things that can never be changed. Some of the worst choices appear so, which has taken the brilliance out of life. Still other kinds of good things they might have done and not; and the great majority probably feel sad at the many things that actually did and are now sorry about.

Christianity has, from the beginning, been doing what psychology has only recently come to claim today they can do and has been doing it better. When we remember that the greatest reality in life is God and that the most inspiring thing about God is his forgiving love then the past takes on new aspects.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Tourists and sportsmen are finding out to their dismay that in a half many parts of Canada the guides were not what might be called union hours, though they don't belong to an association. Or let us say the guides work on "modern" hours. That is, they quit time to be back at camp by noon or sort by 5 p.m. And of course the best fishing of the day is often between 6 p.m. and dark.

A few years back, guides were a class of men apart in this matter—artistic age and country. They belonged to the same breed that some serving man or even a slave, to their master for the day at a time. They appeared at daybreak, ready to go long before the sportsman. They toiled all day with paddle and steerdoors, paddling, portaging, carrying heavy loads, preparing meals, demonstrating shrewdest knowledge of where the fish or game was; and on top of that, often showing considerable talent as would readers, adapting to their wish or whim of their masters. Such guides are still to be found in some of the more remote backregions of Canada.

But the modern guide on duty at a great many of our liveliest tourist resort areas is an emancipated man. His wages are usually double, the former rate, with expectations of tips added, if he delivers the goods, and he quits in time to be home for supper. He is, in other words, hep to his age and generation.

This is not a bad thing. For the sake of conservation of our fish resources such as game fish and deer during the season, but also of all those swarms of tourists, blessed though they be with contribute to be such a source of revenue, a quit fishing or hunting just about the time the fish or game begins good. A wise old fish, of the size and quality to be stuffed and mounted, can spend half the distant rumpus room, lies doggo all day and some deep pool where some sheltering ledge, and does not come forth to feed until dusk approaches and all the noisy tourists have retreated the anglers home. It is towards dusk that the fish are getting quite his belt to start roaming in the grooming.

It is only right that in view of the enormous increase in the skee game was; and on top of that, the ease of transportation with outboard motors, aircraft and motor cars into the fastnesses of the north, something should make it harder to kill the fish and game, and more sportsmanlike, are providing the handicap.

PICTON

Assaults on World Records Will Be Made on Picton Bay

PICTON — Assaults on world records for the measured mile will be made on Picton Bay Saturday and Sunday. At least two 266 cubic inch hydroplanes and dozens of small outboards have advised Prince Edward Yacht Club officials that they will be here for trials. With some of the best outboards from Canada and the United States competing, new records are likely to be established.

The trials are run under the direction of the Canadian Boating Federation of which Robert Finlayson is Commodore. He states that between 100 and 150 craft may be here for the trials.

Prince Edward Yacht Club will provide facilities for launching the larger craft while the outboards will put out from Glenora road shore.

Chief among the 266 hydroplanes planning to come here is "Miss O'Keefe", owned and driven by boat operator Bill Hodgson of Toronto, who has driven other boats in regattas on the bay.

Another contender for Canadian and world honors for the measured mile is "Escapade," driven by Francois Lavigne of Montreal. Other 266 class boats may decide to take the opportunity to show their wares.

Commodore Finlayson has advised the local yacht club that the inboards will race Saturday and the outboards on Sunday. They are planned to start at six o'clock in the morning, when atmosphere conditions are at their best. The course is on the High Shore road, five miles east of Picton.

Unlike "Miss Supertest," "Miss O'Keefe" is not an unlimited class hydroplane and therefore not a contender for the Harmsworth race.

These races will be over a measured mile course. To establish a record the boat must travel in both directions over the mile. Speeds are then averaged, to arrive at the official speed. A contestant must make the runs consecutively within a reasonable time and cannot return to the pits for repairs, but may make minor adjustments on the water. He is allowed three attempts at the record during the 24-hour period the trials are held.

BOAT OF RADICAL DESIGN

Much interest will centre on "Miss O'Keefe," which is of radical design. Unofficial test Hodgson has driven his craft at 143 miles an hour. This exceeds the world record of 130.73 mph, held by Robert Sykes of California. Hodgson took the boat to Salton Sea, California, for trials on salt water which has some advantages and is confident that there he can establish a record of 150 mph. He appears to have reason for optimism. Miss O'Keefe is powered with a 225 horsepower engine which develops 9,000 rpm prop speed, about one-third more than the usual hydroplane.

Built especially for racing, this craft measured 18 feet 9 inches from bow to stern, has a beam of 8 feet 6 inches and weighs only 2,000 pounds. The sponsons are only 50 feet apart which give great speed on the straightaway, but less stability when turning. There is a stabilizing fin to prevent kiting in the stretches.

When racing, only the last two inches of the sponson and one tip of the double bladed propellor are in the water, the remainder of the hydroplane is airborne. The underside of the boat is slightly convex and built deeper on the right side to counteract the torque of the motor. The foredeck is also curved to create air pressure which holds the boat in the water.

Bob Sykes, who established the world record, is giving Hodgson assistance with the local trials. He flew to Canada from California and has been working this week on the challenger's motors at Lake Scugog.

While not as much is known about Escapade, she is considered a threat and driver Lavigne is well known in racing circles. He had also driven at regattas on Picton Bay and was impressed with the perfect course and water conditions.

RECOVER HUNTER'S BODY

BANCROFT (CP)—The body of a deer hunter who drowned last Nov. 14 was found Wednesday on nearby Weslemkoon Lake. Clayton Appleby, 38, of Frankford was drowned with his son Gerald, 33, when their boat capsized while they were hunting in this area 30 miles north of Peterborough.

PICTON

Water Skiing Popular Sport Around Bay

PICTON — Add water skiing to sports on Picton Bay. A group of local enthusiasts have organized a water carnival which will take place on Sunday, Aug. 5. This will be over a 35-mile distance, starting at Willow Cove resort at Waupoos and to Picton harbor. First part of the course is over Lake Ontario and participants can expect some rough going there.

Already eight entries have been received by John Sibthorpe and Jack Lyons of Picton who are in charge of the marathon. A special trophy is being awarded the first lady to finish. The race is scheduled to start at 12 noon. Following completion of the race a water show is being presented in Picton harbor.

Sports fans here are being given a variety of water sports this year. There were mile trials by unlimited hydroplanes, the regatta, marathon swim from Deseronto to Picton, the coming mile trials for world records on Lake Ontario and Sunday, and now a water-ski carnival. Add the big fish being caught, and the Bay of Quinte is on the map.

County Fair To Be Held At Early Date

PICTON — One of the first of the agricultural fairs in the Province this year, Prince Edward County Fair at Picton is being held at Picton on August 3-4-5. Final details were discussed at a meeting last night presided over by president Willis Sills. He reported that many entries have already been received and an excellent exhibit is expected in spite of the backward season.

Committees were named to look after the various entertainment features, with Brian Dodds in charge of the midway; Murray Ferguson the horse shows the first two afternoons; C. R. Widdifield the horse races on August 4; Creighton Lockyer the professional wrestling on the night of August 3; E. W. Henderson and A. McCormack the triple thrill car show on the night of August 4 and also the Texas rodeo on the afternoon and evening of August 6, Civic holiday; James Bird in charge of the school fair section; Mrs. Marion Smith, the girls' clubs; C. Lockyer and secretary Phil Dodds, bands and entertainment; Leland Doxsee the black and white show; John Jones, sheep and swine; W. Willis and W. F. Marvin, poultry; Mrs. E. Hinman, ladies' work; Harold Spencer, grandstand.

The County Fair at Picton is a Class "B" exhibition and all proceeds of this year's event are being donated to the fund to help install artificial ice into the Society's Agricultural Centre to made it into an arena.

Weddings

WEALEN—WALSH

A pretty summer wedding took place on Monday, July 2nd, at 10 a.m., in the Holy Name of Mary church, Marysville when the Rev. I. F. Donoghue of Marysville, united in marriage Mary Josephine Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Walsh of Marysville, to Walter Hilarian Wealen of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Whalen of Stoco. The nuptial wedding Mass was said by the Rev. Brleeland of Peterboro. Also present in the sanctuary was the Rev. C. Baker of Stoco. Pink and white snapdragons adorned the altar.

The Rev. Sister M. Wilhemina of Belleville, provided the traditional wedding music, accompanying the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, in his rendition of "Ave Maria". The Wedding Prayer" and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy".

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edward Walsh, the bride was radiant in cocktail length lace embroidered nylon tulle, with gathered strapless bodice, and bolero jacket buttoned in front with Peter Pan collar and pointed sleeves. The skirt was in four tiers of Swiss embroidery over a satin bouffant crinoline. She wore a fingertip veil held in place by a headdress of sequins and pearls, and carried a crescent bouquet of Sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Attending the bride were her three sisters, Miss Helen Walsh, as maid of honor, and Misses Joan and Dorothy Walsh, as bridesmaids. They were becomingly attired in dentil blue and pink nylon chiffon, with gathered bodices flowing into full cocktail length skirts. They wore matching headdresses and carried nosegays of 'mums and sweetpeas.

Mr. Ray Whalen of Brockville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Messrs. Allan Vance of Stoco, and Vince Dowling of Enterprise acted as ushers.

The reception was held at Club Cedars, Belleville, where the tables were tastefully decorated with white and pink peonies. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, surrounded by red roses and 'mums.

The bride's mother, wearing navy blue sheer with pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in gray flowered silk, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, Utica, New York, Michigan and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a pink linen sheath dress with matching duster, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Guests attended from Brockville, Belleville, Trenton, Bataws, Enterprise Peterborough Oshawa, and Toronto.

Mother Doesn't Always Know Best About Child

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. W. E. Blatz, director of child study at the University of Toronto, says mother doesn't always know best.

Lecturing at the University of B.C. summer course here Wednesday Dr. Blatz said "a child of two is old enough to decide what he wants to eat." There was no use getting worried if the child goes on a hunger strike for a short time.

The doctor, grandfather of two small boys, thinks parents are still too rigid in their thinking about children.

"At eight or nine," said the doctor, "a child should be able to choose his friends and hobbies. At 10 he should have the freedom to spend his allowance in his own way, and at 12 he should choose his own clothes and at 16 his career."

"Between 18 and 20, he is old enough to choose a marriage partner."

Chatterton W.I. Enjoys Talk On 'Education'

The July meeting of Chatterton W.I., was held at the home of Mrs. Lorne Reid with an attendance of 15 members, one visitor and three babies.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Berson Mitts, and the subject was "Education".

Three of the members went to Ottawa to hear Mrs. Berry. Her subject "Throw Open the Windows. Let the World Come In."

Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. H. Reid and Mrs. Ben Bleecker were those who were fortunate enough to go there. The ladies were interested with their trip and hearing Mrs. Berry and Mayor Whitton.

The sewing of home-made articles for Belleville fair was looked after.

Mrs. Ed. Emerson was convener, and took charge of the program.

She managed Current Events by cutting out clippings from newspaper and passing them around some being read by the members as they were passed.

Mrs. Floyd MacInnis read a reading on "Happiness" and Mrs. A. Dixon on "Change of View".

Mrs. Ed. Emerson gave an interesting paper on "Women in Closer Touch with the Schools."

"We, as citizens, sometimes show a strange sense of values. If we were asked what is our most precious possession, we who are parent, would say our children. We claim we want the best for them, yet we complain when our school tax goes up. We are inclined to forget that the greatest wealth is our children. If we neglect the development of our human resources, then what hope is there for the future of our country?

"This development requires adequate school accommodation, equipment and teachers. Undoubtedly, it will cost money and it does. Education is big business. Over 100 thousand teachers provide instruction for three and one-half million students in Canada. Annual budget for building, for maintenance, and for operation, amounts to about $50 a year for every Canadian from the youngest infant to the oldest inhabitant.

"We women believe we are good citizens; we are interested; it is keeping in closer touch with the school as suggested by our topic. But what can we do? How can we help?

GREAT ENTERPRISE

"Always remember parents and teachers are partners in a great enterprise. Be loyal to your teacher; look for the good and temper criticism with praise.

"Playground equipment, a gift from the Institute, would undoubtedly be appreciated. A croquet set; sand box; volley ball or basket ball hoops, could be used to advantage in our generous school grounds.

"We women, by keeping in closer touch with the school, can help it along the road to progress."

Mrs. Gerald Irvine gave a reading and Mrs. Harry Reid read one of the Hazel Kirk poems.

The hostess, Mrs. Lorne Reid, served refreshments.

25th Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. George Sarles, RR 2, Stirling, were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening when 40 of their relatives gathered for a surprise party in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary which was on Sunday, July 8th.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all and the bride and bridegroom of 25 years received many useful and lovely gifts.

Bounteous refreshments were served including an anniversary cake, a gift of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haggerty.

On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Sarles, their immediate family, and Mr. and Mrs. Orla Reid of Madoc, their attendants of 25 years ago, motored to Picton and had dinner at the Royal Hotel.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IT'S LIKELY SHE JUST WANTS FREEDOM

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 23 year old and have been engaged to a girl, 18, for six months. We had planned to be married this summer, but a few weeks ago she told me she would have to break up with me. She doesn't give me any real reason, but I've a feeling her girl friend is to blame.

The thing is, that I have a job which requires me to work from four in the afternoon until midnight, so it's not possible for me to take her out except on weekends. Since I can't take her out in the evening, she goes out with her girl friend, and she is always telling me about the fun they have.

I love this girl very much, but I'm wondering if I should just let her go instead of trying to get her back.

What do you think?—Al.

Dear Al: What I think is that your girl friend isn't ready to get married to anyone. What I think also, that it would be asking a great deal of an 18-year-old girl to expect her to spend every evening at home alone because it's not possible for you to be with her, but rather obvious that she is more interested right now in being free to have all the good times she can, than in being married. Which, for the average girl her age, is perfectly natural.

However, if you care so much about this girl that you don't want to give her up, why not try to find a job in which you could work days instead of such awkward hours? Why not ask her if she'd feel differently about things if you did this? You could also try to make you understand how she feels; that you're willing to wait awhile and give her a chance to find out just where her real interests lie, that you don't want her to feel tied down and you don't intend to bother her, but that you want her to know you're there in case she'd like to go out with you now and then.

If you were to take an understanding and broadminded an attitude as this, it might be that eventually, she'd come to the conclusion, after all, that you were the sort of chap she really wanted.

JEALOUSY ALWAYS SPELLS TROUBLE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 25 years old, and while I was in army service, I saw a good bit of the world. However, I've found my dream girl right here in the United States. She seems to be the ideal of me as I am of her, yet I hesitate to ask her to marry me because she has shown me that she is a very jealous type.

Do you think this trait can be overcome, or do you think it might cause trouble between two people after they were married?—R.E.

Dear R.E.: It's certainly a very wise thing for you to "stop, look and listen" before proposing marriage to a girl who seems to be the jealous type. For there is no more miserable situation for two people to find themselves in than a marriage where one or the other will continually be forced to cope with a jealous mate.

In your case, here is a girl who shows signs of jealousy even before you've asked her to marry you. This doesn't look too good. For unless a woman is intelligent enough to recognize her tendency toward jealousy, to understand it and overcome it, it's virtually impossible to cure her of this trait, and that spells misery all around.

Some people have the distorted belief that when one person is very jealous of another, it's a proof of real love. Actually, the exact opposite is true, because true love implies trust of the other person, whereas jealousy implies mistrust and suspicion. Moreover, jealousy indicates that the woman who feels it, has no confidence in herself and is afraid she can't hold her own in competition with other women. A woman who has real confidence in herself, and confidence in her husband's love for her, is never unduly jealous.

What this all boils down to, in your particular case, is that unless this girl can revise her ideas so she can see jealousy for what it is—a lack of confidence in herself, which, in turn, creates a lack of confidence in others—she is not likely to be a very good bet as a wife. I'd advise you not to be in a hurry to propose to her, but to wait a sufficiently long time to find out whether or not she is intelligent enough to see her own shortcoming and to learn how to correct it.

Baked Beans for Summer Outings

By Mary Moore

When I was young our family did not go in for baked beans, and when you are not used to a dish in your childhood it always seems a mite strange.

When we went to school in Missouri my first experience with the new life was a bean bake for the new students, in a hickory nut grove. Those southern girls knew how to bake beans that made them seem like something really elegant and to be anticipated. From them I learned to bake beans. There were plenty of Down-East students at this Mid-western college and they are baked beans experts, or pose as unassailable critics, and they sure has made a pot of beans every other week—not to stretch housekeeping money as much as to please her bean-hungry family.

Then Marianne came home from Castlegar, B.C., to tell me Herbie's mum had made wonderful baked beans while they were at their summer camp on Kootenay Lake. Before the summer is much older no doubt you will have a large crowd to feed, and may thank me for these

NEW ENGLAND BAKED BEANS
(Serves eight to ten.)

Two lbs. navy beans, 7 cups water, 1-4 to 1-2 lb. salt pork, 1-3 cup each chopped onion, molasses, brown sugar, catsup 1 tablespoon each prepared mustard and salt (or less salt if pork is heavily salted) 1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper. Wash and pick over beans, cover with the water and soak overnight. Simmer in the same water until beans are just tender, covered. (The skins wrinkle when exposed to air.) Pour some boiling water over the pork and scrape the rind until it is white, then with sharp knife score into 1-2-inch strips and bury in beans leaving only the rind exposed. Mix together all remaining ingredients and stir into beans. Cover and bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 5 or 6 hours. If necessary add water to keep beans covered during baking period, and remove lid during last 1-3 hour to dry off top—also lift meat to surface to crisp it.

If you want to keep this meal simple serve with the beans a crisp cole slaw and a cake with a broiled topping and coffee. If you want to make it more elaborate add cold cuts, a tomato aspic salad ring in which to serve the cole slaw and some of that pale foamy applesauce made from the first summer apples.

This is a good basis for a buffet spread either in summer or winter.

HELPING MUMMY is clean fun for your toddler if you let him use a small bottle with a little water, and a rag. While you're busy in the kitchen, fill water bottle, accompany as he sprays and scrubs washable surfaces. Of course you'll want to point out spots that are off limits for watersprays.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

SHAKE HANDS WITH EVERYBODY IN RECEIVING LINE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When one goes down a receiving line (as at a wedding reception, or say at a formal dinner-dance given for charity, or at graduation exercises) should one, besides greeting everyone in the receiving line, shake hands with each one?—A.L.

Yes, this is the courteous and gracious procedure.

MAN SHAKES HANDS WITH BOY WHEN INTRODUCED

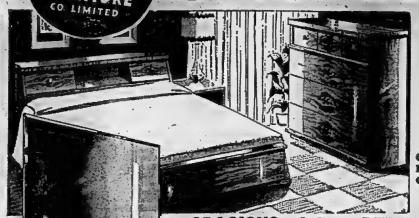
Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When a young boy (in this case, my son) is introduced to a man (in this case, an acquaintance of our family), should the man hold out his hand to shake hands with the boy as he would hold out his hand to shake hands with another man?—Mother.

Yes, certainly. A man of any age shakes hands when acknowledging an introduction to another man of any age, a very-young man or older man. And this courtesy shown by a man to a boy is very important.

WHERE SHOULD DIVORCEE MARRY?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:



A dear friend of mine has asked me to solicit your advice about her second marriage. She was married by a Justice of the Peace about sixteen years ago, has been divorced for five years, and now is to be married to a man who has not been married before. She feels she doesn't know whether to be married by a Justice of the Peace again or in church. What is your advice?—Reader.

Your friend sounds extremely vague, and I believe you are unwise trying to take over any responsibility that is certainly her personal problem. If she has it in mind to be married in a church, and this is possible, the real advice to give her is that she should at once go to consult with someone in authority in the church she has in mind.

Women's Institute

UNIONDALE W.I.

The July meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Pollard, in connection of Sidney, with 30 members and six visitors present. Correspondence was read by the secretary – treasurer, Mrs. George Striker, which included, "Thank You" notes from the Salvation Army, Helen Dafoe and Mrs. Pollard.

Business notes were from P. I. Simmins (for the blind); extension service, G. Maynard and home economist, Miss Sandra Shibadeau who is replacing Marvine. Wanda Mallory, 4th convention of Sidney, was named a delegate to represent Uniondale Women's Institute to the Folk School at Coe Hill.

A committee was planned for Belleville Fair on August 13-18 serving on August 15 will be Uniondale W.I.

Mrs. George Striker finished the notes of her last day at Sunlight How meetings should be carried on; give roses while still living, do not wait until death; plan your environment for children and be leader in the home.

Mrs. R. Sine gave a report of Home and Country stressing each member read Home and Country from cover to cover. Mrs. Pleming gave a paper on "Holland at Home in Canada"; Mrs. B. Bush, "Never Despair," on the life of Helen Keller; Mrs. A. Sine gave a paper on teen-ages needs. "A Model not a Critic. Have confidence in your children; Have a humorous surrounding. All these make them feel they are appreciated and as parents it is your duty to make things such.

A sing-song, "School Days" was led by Mrs. Grilla. A demonstration of a cushion cotton apron, suggestions of a summer drink, short cuts made from bun dough by Mrs. Wilmot and made a strawberry jam recipe without the use of "Certo" by Mrs. Pipeline.

Each convener gave a report in the form of poetry or prose, and the difference of good wording in the writing of resolutions.

The August meeting is to be at Mrs. G. Halsall's in Frankford.

Fashion Flash

Cheers are in order for the cheerful rainwear being readied for next season. Leopard printed velveteen appears frequently and is very attractive as are white coats with black wool jersey linings. Velvety corduroy, both narrow and wide waled comes in delicious colors and there are some handsome iridescent cottons.

BEAUTY

CHOOSE A BATHING SUIT THAT FLATTERS YOUR FIGURE

Even if you have a bathing suit, as you probably do by this time of the year, if you're vacation bound, you'll probably need — and should have — another. And, it goes without saying, you'll want one that flatters your figure. After all, a girl wants to look her best on vacation days. "But," you may say, "I'm not sure just what is the right type for my figure. "Well, one of the nation's biggest manufacturers of bathing suits has come to the rescue with a lot of advice for ladies looking for bathing suits.

"If you have an average figure," they say, "that is, a silhouette featuring full hips and plump thighs, choose a suit with a built-up bosom and one which has gatherings and shirrings. Trim on the hips will be flattering, too. Select short boy legs rather than a suit which has tight-fitting legs, as these will make thighs bulge."

For a top-heavy figure, the manufacturers recommend a suit with elasticized bra lining which adjusts to any size to control the bosom line. A high underarm cut with side stays is excellent. Suits for this type of figure should be tailored and in a dark shade rather than in a striped tone or print.

If flesh is flabby, as it is inclined to be in the mature figure, be sure to acquire every control by selecting an elasticized suit. Stayed bra and skirt styles will provided needed firming. The princess line is highly recommended and the suit should, of course, be in a dark, solid color.

If you have a tall, slender figure, characterized by a long waist, choose a suit with vertical shirring at the waist. It will give enough to cover the span there. This type of figure also looks well in a two-piece suit. Fabrics with bold, horizontal stripes, checks or plaids are good.

If you have a junior figure, you will be glad to know that most companies put out suits especially cut for short-waisted girls. The junior figure should not hay a suit in standard 12 to 14 sizes as you will get a buckling at the waist. It would be well to remember that "junior" is a size, not an age, so, whether you're 16 or 60, if a junior size fits, that's what you wear.

Before purchasing a suit, try this action test to see if the fit is really good—and comfortable:

Unfasten straps, raise arms above head. The bra should ride neither up nor down. Sit down. Suit shouldn't hike up, bind legs or strain at the seams. If it does, the size is not right for you. Try again. Take your time and make the correct choice, then you'll look your best when you get into the swim.

UNITED CHURCH W.A.

FOXBORO — The July general W.A. met at the home of Mrs. C. LaRue last Wednesday afternoon with 20 members, one visitor and three children present.

Mrs. LaRue opened the meeting with a reading followed by prayer.

Group 2 was in charge of the devotional and Mrs. Wilson gave a reading "Legends". The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. Johnston from the 85th Psalm. Mrs. Simmons favored with a solo.

In the business, a discussion about moving the organ took place, but it was pointed out that this had been discussed at time of building and it was placed in the most suitable place.

The Report on W. A. convention, held in Tabernacle Church on May 24, was given by Mrs. Darbe. Belleville Presbytery is the 7th largest in Dominion of Canada. It was recommened that the executive look after business and thus give more time for devotional and program at meetings. Each member of the W.A. was urged to write a personal letter the M.P. stating that they did not want beer sold in grocery stores. It was decided that collection be taken at general W.A. Collection for this meeting was $5.05.

Treasurer reported that Group 1 had handed in $13.5; Group 2 $12.00, and Group 3 $84.

There was a discussion concerning the cleaning of the church, group 1 is to look after this for July, group 2 for September and group 3 for October.

Flowers were looked after by group 1 for June. It was also decided that the W.A. literature be paid for from the general fund.

Group 3 had charge of the program and gave an interesting skit on "Citizenship" those taking part were: Mrs. Reber; Mrs. Dafoe; Mrs. Stewart; Miss Pratt; Mrs. Simmons, and Mrs. LaRue.

After the meeting closed, group 1 served refreshments.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By CHRIS LEGGAT

Scouts of the 2nd Belleville recently spent an enjoyable and interesting weekend at Keasey Lake in Algonquin Park. This lake is reserved for church and scout groups.

As soon as the opening ceremony of the week was concluded the boys rushed over to introduce themselves to the 57th Newport troop, from Kentucky, who were already there. The business of trading, bartering and exchanging souvenirs, dear to a Scout's heart, was promptly entered into.

The 57th troop, 28 Scouts under Scouter Ray Dietsch, entertained the 2nd at a camp fire on Saturday night, with hot dogs, marshmallows and cokes.

Some of the proposed activities had to be curtailed because of adverse weather. Under the leadership of group men Mr. Peden and Mr. McMurray and Scouters Ron Lane and Doug Burns, the troop were taken by patrols on nature trails, museum, canoeing and swimming. Scout Dale Burley discovered "a very beautiful place in the bush where he erected an altar for a Scouts Own Service. The 57th Newport joined the 2nd Belleville and were piped to the service by Doug Burns. Ron Lane delivered a very inspiring address.

On Sunday evening the 2nd were hosts. In heavy rain, hot cocoa and cookies were served and a general sing-song enjoyed by the boys.

At the closing horse-shoe, noon Monday, troop leader Burley thanked group members Mr. Peden and Mr. McMurray for providing transportation, supervision and general interest in the troop. These gentlemen were paid the high honour of being made Assistant Scoutmasters. They believe in the saying, "While it is fine to be good, it is much better to do good."

On this pleasant note the flag was piped down and the camp officially closed. A wooden plaque bearing the name of the troop and the date, made by P. L. Martin Hughes, was lashed to the flagpole.

Members of the 2nd Belleville were: Patrol leaders Martin Hughes and Dale Burley; Scouts David Fisher, Norman Pill, Ron Munro, Larry Luther, Tony Wright, Ted Blaker, John Moore, Charles Hughes, Rich Rowbotham, Ron Galpin, Paul Peden, Harry Hilchon, Roger Orvell, Wayne Cummings, with R. M. Ron Lane and A.S.M. Doug Burns.

They thoroughly enjoyed the company of the Kentucky Scouts and wish to convey to them their best wishes and an invitation to re-new the visit wherever they feel like camping on green grass instead of blue grass. U. S. Scouts are always sure of a hearty welcome in Canada, chiefly because they are all Good Scouts.

will be landed by plane on Hazen Lake and supplied by RCAF aircraft from Resolute on Cornwallis Island.

One of the main objectives of the expedition is to record the status and behavior of glacial ice sheets. Nobody has ever been on the Ellesmere Island icecap before.

T. A. Harwood, chief of DRB's geophysical section, explained in an interview that the Ellesmere and Greenland ice sheets affect the earth's climate. Glaciers are sensitive to meteorological factors and give evidence of climatic changes.

Mr. Harwood said the history of climate in the last 3,500 years may be locked in the glaciers. A study of them might enable scientists to draw conclusions about the earth's climate generally hundreds of years from now.

33 ESCAPE UNDER FIRE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—Thirty Roman Catholic refugees crowded into a small river-boat sailed safely through Communist gunfire to freedom in South Viet Nam, officials said Wednesday. The escape from Communist North Viet Nam was organized by a 33-year-old woman trader, Hoang Thi-phue, owner of the boat.

FRANKFORD

Four Generations Present at Moran Reunion

FRANKFORD — On July 15th, a reunion of the Moran family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moran, of Frankford. Among the 30 members of the family present, four generations were represented: Mrs. K. Moran, her son, Mr. Ray Moran, his sons, Claude and Frank Moran, and their daughters, Kathy and Debbie Moran.

Those present from out-of-town were: Dr. and Mrs. Pottle and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elliott; Mr. and Mrs. Don Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Cumberland and Susan from Toronto.

After sitting down to a bountiful picnic dinner, birthday wishes were extended to Mrs. K. Moran who celebrated her 83rd birthday Wednesday, July 18th.

BLAST WRECKS HOMES

NEW YORK (AP)—An illuminating gas explosion, which may have resulted from a suicide attempt, took an infant's life and wrecked three two-family homes Wednesday. Five persons, including the baby's mother, were injured in the blast near the East River in Queens. One of the injured was a motorist who fled from his car as debris began raining around him.

TRENTON NEWS

Fuel Conservation Board Will Examine Natural Gas Well

TRENTON (Special) — Natural gas has been discovered just north of the town limits. Broders Summers, veteran driller from Colborne and western Canada believes the find warrants further investigation. A member of the Fuel Conservation Board of Ontario arrives here this weekend to make an examination.

Drillers were probing for water on the Holsey's family property on the Wooler Road, R.R. 1 Trenton, in Murray township. At 50 feet there was no water but an indication gas was present. Drilling continued to 96 feet, when the pressure became so great that the younger Arthur Holsey called off the drilling fearing the worst if the well blew in. Monday the gas flowing from the top of the pipe was lighted and burns, excepting at night when the flame is extinguished for safety reasons.

Yesterday the flame was used to cook eggs and the Holsey's evening lunch outside the back door of their modern home. The younger Holsey, a hardware clerk in Trenton, hopes good fortune has been kind enough to provide him with heating and cooking fuel.

CATCH DISCOVERY FEVER

At the same time neighbors and other interested parties have caught discovery fever. One of them, familiar with gas well drilling, claims the Holsey's well would be worth $50,000 at least if the pressure keeps up for another week.

One of the biggest landowners in the area is Trenton real estate agent Frank Barry, who is associated with Frank Follwell, MP, of Belleville. He owns 125 acres and tried to turn it into a subdivision without success. Now he speculates what the future will bring. If Lady Luck was on his side after all.

Last word received from the Holsey home today indicated that a strong flame was shooting out of the pipe tapped into the mainline from the well. The gas burns blue and that seems to be a good sign, according to one older onlooker, standing beside the well.

The Holsey home, acquired only a year-and-a-half ago stands on a piece of land 150 x 100.

Plan to Make 35,000-Mile Trip in Covered Wagon

MONTREAL (CP) — A make-shift, horse-drawn covered wagon rolled away from the steps of City hall this morning, carrying three young adventurers on an-other lap of a planned 35,000-mile tour of the Americas.

Paul Lapointe and his two com-panions, Rene Flourde of Jon-quiere, Que., and Hubert Cote of Pointe-Riviere, started out June 13 from Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Que. The covered wagon is a con-verted hearse christened Castor (beaver).

Lapointe said he and his part-ners will head from here toward the Eastern Townships and the United States border. He antici-pates that the trip, described as a "adventure for experience's sake," will take from three to five years.

Lapointe a year ago was in a group that attempted to sail from here to Europe on a raft. The trip ended when the raft was smashed by the shores of Newfoundland.

Lapointe decided against joining others this year in a new attempt now being made to conquer the ocean by raft.

OFFICERS GAS "RAIDING"

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph J. Hedrick of Chicago, president of the Natural Gas Pipeline Com-pany of America, says he is op-posed to "natural gas coming from Canada to the United States for the purpose of raiding Chicago and the area we serve." Hedrick Wednesday said neither he nor his company is opposed to Canadian gas coming to the United States, but that their opposition lies in the coming to areas now being "ad-equately served."

The committee said the parole board, during a transition period, should be built up from the ad-mission service of the justice de-partment. The service now re-views prisoners' applications for paroles or tickets of leave and makes its recommendations to either the justice minister or the solicitor-general.

AUTOMATIC REVIEWS

Concurrent with the establish-ment of a parole board, the com-mittee said there should be auto-matic periodic reviews of prison-ers' sentences.

Perhaps the report's most ra-dical change is the proposal that offenders sentenced to terms of more than six months be kept in Since 1869, the dividing line has been the two-year term, those serving shorter terms going to provincial jails.

At any given time, the popula-tion of Canada's nine penitentia-ries and one federal training cen-tre at St. Vincent de Paul, Que., is 5,500.

COULD DOUBLE

How many persons in provin-cial jails—the number varies be-tween 10,000 and 11,000 — would be affected by the shift in respon-sibility is not known. But it is con-ceivable the federal penitentiary population would double.

Penitentiary accommodation is strained and the federal govern-ment is planning to build three more institutions.

The committee recommended that the federal and provincial governments consider expanding their institutions to provide segre-gation of various types of prison-ers and treatment for alcoholics, drug addicts, sex offenders and psychopaths.

SINGLE STATUTE

As part of its recommendation for an over-all system of paroles, the committee recommended re-peal of the Ticket of Leave Act, under which paroles are granted, the Prisons and Reformatories Act and parts of the Penitentiary Act. The provisions in these stat-utes would be incorporated into a single piece of legislation.

The committee said that "in the interests of uniformity in the ad-ministration of criminal justice" federal provisions permitting the imposition of indeterminate sen-tences in addition to determinate sentences should be abolished.

Such indeterminate sentences now are passed in Ontario and British Columbia, the only prov-inces with provincial parole boards. Again for the sake of uni-formity, the committee recom-mended abolition of provincial pa-role boards.

It proposed wider use of proba-tion systems as an alternative to imprisonment. "It is our opinion that adult probation is the area . . . where the most significant ad-vance is required to be made."

The committee said the courts should have wider powers to sus-pend sentences and should have the assistance of pre-sentence re-ports on an offender's past history before passing sentence.

No prison under 16 years of age should be committed to penal in-stitutions where adults are con-fined, it said.

Had Backache; Food Upset Stomach, Always Tired

"Many Days I Ached All Over", Says This Man. Tells of Relief by Taking Syntona.

"There is a definite improve-ment in the way I feel since I've been taking Syntona," said Mr. Maurice Verbrugge, 43 Cross St., Chatham, Ontario, in a recent re-port.

His Experience

"Previously I had to be careful of what I ate or I would suffer with gas, indigestion and sour acid risings after-wards. I became troubled with back-ache and rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles. My nerves seemed to be all on edge, so I couldn't get my proper sleep at night. I was always tired and subject to throbbing headaches.

"But this is all changed since I've used Syntona although I had been under the impression doesn't trouble me, backache and the other pains are re-lieved and my nerves are calmed down. As a result I sleep better at night and am not always tired as I was before."

Easy to Take

Syntona is mild and pleasant to take and you will be delighted to find how it puts you on your mettle within an hour or so each. Kidneys, liver or bowels and are nervous, tired and rundown try Syn-tona a few days. The chances are that you, too, may find it just what you need.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Delan The Drug-gist.

One Of Giant Piers In Span

One of four giant piers that will hold mammoth superstructure. Each contains 1,200 tons of concrete. Stubborn river currents hindered installation and threw steel erection schedule out of kilter.

Company Holds Contracts For Other Spans

Teams of welders like these shown outside at south end of Trenton bridge company's premises worked on big job of fabricating structural steel requirements for super span. The company is committed to provide steel for bridges on the Salmon River east of Belleville and the Gananoque River east of Kingston.

View Of Site Of Million Dollar Span

Central Bridge Co. of Trenton Ready to Erect Super Span; Stubborn Trent Delays Piers

TRENTON. (Special.) —Mother Nature has played strange tricks on the engineers and construction men who planned the super bridge crossing the Trent between No. 1 and No. 2 dams north of here.

But men and machines are slowly and surely winning the struggle against the relentless current of the historic river that runs along beside the famed Iroquois trail first followed by a white man centuries ago when the illustrious French explorer Samuel de Champlain tracked through eastern Ontario and ventured into the northern United States.

Unintentionally steel erection was set back three months and now is likely to begin in late November unless something again unforeseen happens.

The installation of piers, four in all, and two abutments, is behind schedule because fast moving water has caused numerous disappointments. At times it seemed improbable forms could be placed into exact positions. Tolerant, persevering concrete workers finally won out however although each new conquest presented an individual problem.

The four-lane super span with its approaches north of Trenton is being built at a cost of one million dollars. Arteries running out from it will service Picton and communities to the south and towns and villages on highway No. 33 to the north. It will be the junction for traffic from four adjoining counties as well as an important link in the 401 highway system.

From the standpoint of Trenton and district economy it is significant that a local firm of bridge builders —Central Bridge Limited, Trenton,—procured the contract to provide the structural steel requirements.

(The Department of Highways of Ontario designated this contract as the largest so far let on Route 401.)

The order for 1,822 tons of fabricated beams and integral pieces amounted to $792,857 including the cost of erection. Delivery to the site was to start in September.

G. Eric Ellsworth, president of Central Bridge fabricating structural steel for Trent River super-highway bridge.

Central Bridge has specialized in bridge building since 1932 with a lapse in this field during the period of World War II when the company went all out to build ships, the bulk of them for Canadian and other governments. Hence it did not appear strange for the original bridge builders to return to their first love of fabricating structural steel after the shooting war stopped.

Notwithstanding earlier accomplishments it would be neglectful not to mention the excitement and new enthusiasm that surged through the offices and plant here when the company officers received the news they had been awarded the Trent bridge job. Moreover this stroke of good business apparently fastened a series of successes that has placed the firm in the envious position of having several million dollars of orders at hand. For example subsequent awards included: Salmon River bridge east of Belleville on Highway 401, 825 tons; [illegible] at Trenton; Gananoque River bridge east of Kingston on Highway 401, 1,069 tons worth $449,323; American Smelting and Refining mill building at Black Lake, Quebec, 1,700 tons; Canada Cement building at Zorra near Woodstock, 1,200 tons.

Central Bridge, playing an important part in the unprecedented growth of Canada, employs 240 people in the office and plant here, another 50 on the payroll are with erection crews in different places across the country. The top direction comes from G. Eric Ellsworth, president of Toronto Iron Works of which Central Bridge is a subsidiary. He follows in the footsteps of his father who was the chief executive of the Iron Works when he died. In charge of the Bridge company operation is the new General Manager, William Macadam, a native of Scotland who gathered much of his knowledge and training in the old country. His energetic experienced staff includes: Jim Duncan, assistant manager; Grant Shorey, plant superintendent; Lloyd Worrall, controller; Mac Cameron, sales manager; Dick Barnett, chief draughtsman; Grant Gooding, chief estimator; Ray Muir, erection superintendent. The company's slogan: "Big enough to tackle any job, yet young enough to give every job our best," exemplifies the company's present and future undertaking.

Man's progress does not happen without changes in the physical aspect of things. And that is just what is taking place out along the river north of here. Countless man hours, some 6,000 tons of concrete, great quantities of sand and gravel pushed around according to plan, are bringing about a transformation that people of this district will likely never see again in their lifetime.

General Manager William Macadam, native of Scotland, is in charge of bridge building firm's operations.

Father Admits Whipping Sons, Gets Five Years

MONTREAL (CP)—A five-foot father, who admitted whipping his four young sons while they hung by the neck with only their toes touching the floor, has been sentenced to five years in penitentiary.

Judge T.A. Fontaine Wednesday termed Albert Lachapelle, 35, a "drunken, denatured father" and told him he deserved the lash. The diminutive Lachapelle wept profusely when the judge displayed a hand-made leather whip used on the boys.

"I didn't want to hurt them, only scare them," he said. "I tried slapping them to punish but that didn't do any good."

Judge Fontaine called Lachapelle "a brutal father, and a children's hangman."He recalled Lachapelle had numerous previous convictions for assault, including a chain-whipping of his 15-year-old daughter and an assault on a police officer who spent four months in hospital as a result.

Lachapelle, father of 11 and unemployed for three years, pleaded guilty two weeks ago to assaulting sons Elmo, 14, Real, 11, Edouard 12, and Rene, 15, with whip, fists and feet.

Male Lion Shows Who Is Boss

QUEBEC (CP) — There's no doubt who wears the pants at the Quebec Zoo lion house.

Reporters went along to see the zoo's four-year-old nubian lion introduced to his new mate, Ira.

When the connecting door from her own cage was opened, Ira leaped into the male lion's cage quickly enough. Then she probably wished she hadn't.

The male greeted her with a deafening roar. He knocked her down a few times and Ira had to resort to feminine strategy. She quickly sat down at her intended's feet.

Having proven who was boss, the male let her stay.

CPR Charges Transport Controller's Viewpoint Wrong

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The CPR has accused Transport Controller Roy Milner of approaching his national transport job as a "typical terminal elevator operator," always asking for more boxcars and not caring whether they are wasted.

Company solicitor Ian Sinclair, answering Mr. Milner's charge that he had been let down badly by the CPR when he appealed for more grain cars last spring, countered Wednesday by saying Mr. Milner failed to use his powers to force prompt return of cars from Lakehead elevators.

"The fact is that Mr. Milner had proved to the railway that when he asked for cars, he did not know where he was going to put them," Mr. Sinclair told the Commons agricultural committee which has been investigating the controller's allegations.

MILLNER NOT PRESENT

The CPR attack was launched after Mr. Milner had left the committee chamber after appearing before it again to support his July 6 charge against the company.

Mr. Milner earlier in the day read into the record an exchange of correspondence with CPR President N. R. Crump. He said he told the company that during the critical period of March 15-April 30 the number of CPR grain cars in the West had declined but those of the publicly-owned CNR had increased.

More cars were required, he maintained.

However, the CPR said there was no shortage. The essential need was to speed up unloadings of cars at the Lakehead terminals so they could be moved back to country points for more grain.

R. A. Emerson, CPR, vice-president in charge of operations, told the committee that during March the Saskatchewan wheat pool held CPR cars an average of 20.6 days. The cars should have been unloaded in 2.5 days. The pool had obtained the use of CPR cars for train storage but the CPR had received no payment for such use. Mr. Emerson said this was wastage of rolling stock.

Mr. Milner agreed that some wastage was involved. But the railways had agreed to 8,000 cars in transit and at the elevators for unloading just before the opening of spring navigation. The cars held by the pool and other terminal elevators had been well within this ceiling.

Mr. Sinclair said Mr. Milner actually had requested several thousand more cars for transit and unloading than were required. Mr. Milner said he had done everything in his power to get unloadings speeded up, but Mr. Sinclair said he had not.

CHARGES OUTSIDE WRONG

The 64-year-old Mr. Milner, a pre-war president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and veteran of the grain trade, had approached his job as a terminal elevator operator, Mr. Sinclair said, always asking for more cars than required.

"What Mr. Milner forgot was that as tradeport controller he was no longer a terminal operator."

The statements of Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Emerson drew some reaction from committee members.

J. A. Gour (Russell) said Mr. Milner had appeared many times before the committee and his statements had not been questioned before. He was not so sure Mr. Sinclair's statements were factual.

Wage Increases For 1,200 Men Recommended

MONTREAL (CP)—An arbitration board report has recommended wage increases for 1,200 employees of the Canada Paper Co., at Windsor Mills, Que.

Canada Paper, a subsidiary of the Howard Smith Paper Co., manufactures fine and kraft paper and paper products. The employees are members of the National Syndicate of Pulp and Paper Workers (CCCL).

The majority report recommended an hourly increase of 10 cents for the current year, retroactive to May 1, and a five-per-cent boost for the second year. Also recommended was a reduction in work week from 44 to 40 hours without loss in pay for workers in the paper mills, and three cents an hour as compensation for loss of pay resulting from the shorter week for employees in the paper products department.

Try to Discover Living Conditions In 6 Communities

TORONTO (CP) — The University of Toronto School of Social Work has announced a two-year sociological study of six Ontario communities designed to discover living conditions amid industrial expansion.

Professor Charles E. Hendry, school director, said Wednesday the project is already under way.

Communities selected are the Cornwall stretch of the St. Lawrence seaway project, an area is the process of change caused by large industrial development; Iroquois Falls, a community dependent on a single industry, pulp and paper; Blind River and neighboring Elliott Lake, two uranium boom communities; Malton and surrounding communities, home of workers from a single large company, A. V. Roe; Scarborough, an area of diversified industry; Toronto's Regent Park, a large redevelopment project.

A total of 120 leaders of business; industry, labor and government will participate in the study of three round-table discussions.

They are to visit the communities and suggest topics for study, and later meet to consider results, with a view to producing a report in 1958.

Professor Hendry said the aim of the study is to enable "industry, labor, government and other community leaders to work towards conditions that will guarantee not only greater productivity, but also larger life satisfactions for all concerned.

Little Fellow Has Charmed Life

SEATTLE (AP)—Kirk Norby is a little fellow with a charmed life.

Kirk, 14 months, was run over by his father's ten truck Tuesday. A wheel passed over the small of his back, just above the hips.

A doctor said the tot apparently was "squeezed and unsqueezed" like a rubber ball. A tire left its imprint across his back.

The little fellow sat up in bed Wednesday. He had a hearty appetite that astounded the nurses. A doctor said he might be able to go home today.

An examination showed bruises on his stomach and left hand and near his hips and spine. Tests are being made for possible internal bleeding.

33-Cent Gap Divides Stelco And Steel Union

HAMILTON (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America and the Stelco Company of Canada were to resume conciliation hearings today with a 33-cent gap remaining between demand and offer in their contract dispute.

The union rejected Wednesday a company offer of 12½ cents an hour package increase for a three-year contract and stood pat on its 45-cent-an-hour demand for equal pay wages with United States steelworkers, now on strike. Stelco employees are the pacesetters among workers in the Canadian steel industry.

The present base rate at Stelco's Hamilton works is $1.845 an hour. The average rate by union estimates is $1.85. The union's major demands include:

A substantial wage increase; 11½-cent raise in the job class increment; a one-cent increase in shift premiums; a guaranteed annual wage; one wage scale for Stelco plants in various cities; a supplementary unemployment benefit program; premium pay for weekends; voluntary overtime; improvements in the pension plan and a new vacation program.

STRIKE NOT IMMINENT

After the union contended the company could pay more wages and the company argued against the union's demand, both sides agreed Wednesday that a strike was not imminent.

Judge Walter Little of Parry Sound, chairman of the hearing, urged company and union not to do anything rash.

Cleve Kidd of Toronto, director of union research, said pensions, the wage administrative agreement and geographic wage differences in Stelco plants cropped up yearly in contract negotiations and should be resolved this year.

The wage administrative agreement, signed in three years ago, involves classification of jobs which are entitled to extra pay. The company has set aside $4,000,000 for back pay.

COMPARISONS OFFERED

The union brief compared Stelco's finances with that of 10 United States firms, concluding that 1955 was a good year for the steel industry in general and Stelco in particular.

The company presented a comparison of wage scales in Stelco compared with other industries. It showed Stelco at $2.58 an hour manufacturing at $1.48; durable goods $1.97; motor vehicles $1.78; and petroleum and coal products $2.

H. J. Clewett, Stelco's director of industrial relations, said that at no time in negotiations had the union brought up the question of parity with U.S. steel workers.

Witnessing the conciliation hearing were representatives from Algoma Steel, Dofasco, Sault Ste. Marie, and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, which recently signed a new contract at Sydney, N.S. Algoma Steel is in the midst of negotiations.

STORM LASHES BRITISH ISLES

LONDON (Reuters) — Heavy rains and thunder storms, the worst experienced in some parts for years, hit most of the British Isles Wednesday, causing extensive property damage and slowing traffic. Reports of houses being struck by lightning came from all parts of the country, but no injuries were received.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Mrs. Laura Sullivan of Toronto, Miss Edna Sullivan, Reg. N., of British Columbia and Mrs. Lourdon Kennedy spent the dinner hour on Tuesday with Mrs. Isabel Crawford.

At a congregational meeting of Thomasburg United Church held in the parsonage on July 11, it was decided that instead of the celebration originally planned for Labor Day following the sentennial services, a turkey supper would be sponsored on October 3.

Tentative plans for redecoration of the church during the month of August were made, provided a decorator can be obtained at a reasonable sum.

Several from here attended the Twelfth of July celebration at Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Porter of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Foster of Toronto, who have been visiting Miss Emma Porter, have returned home.

Everyone is glad to hear that Mrs. Fred Porter, who has been a patient in Belleville Hospital for some time, is home again, much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Calberry of Niagara Falls, Ontario, called on several acquaintances here over the weekend.

Mr. Guy Thompson spent the weekend in Orillia, Ontario.

Miss Isobel Beatty of Belleville is holidaying with Mrs. H. B. Richardson this week.

Mr. George Dyson, minister of Thomasburg - West Huntingdon pastoral charge of the United Church, suffered a nasty fall July 15th at the close of service in Thomasburg United Church.

A short flight of steps led from the main body of the church to the vestry, and in some manner, he slipped off the top step and fell hitting the bottom step with his back.

On examination by Drs. Hartt and Tweedie, of Roslin, it was found that he had sustained no serious injuries other than a bad shaking up and some bruised muscles. Needless to say, the services at all other appointments were cancelled for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Miller of Orillia, are spending their vacation in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Thompson of Trenton and Miss Doreen Lott of Plainfield were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Tavener of Napanee were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Elliott on Monday.

Hungary Gets New Communist Party Boss

By RICHARD RASSCHKE

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Ernoe Gerce took over as Hungary's Communist party boss Wednesday night and made a bid for closer ties with Yugoslav President Tito.

Gerce, who holds the post of first deputy premier, made clear his position soon after Matyas Rakosi, veteran party chief and longtime foe of Tito, resigned under fire. The hearty, bald old Red boss also quit the party's ruling politburo he had so long dominated.

In his first speech to the party central committee, Gerce denounced Rakosi's "Stalinist" mistakes and promised quick reforms. He also called for a bigger police force, strong collective leadership and rigid party discipline.

The new party boss apologized to Tito "for past slanders" and promised to seek closer political and economic co-operation with Yugoslavia.

BELGRADE PLEASED

Rakosi's fall was received with satisfaction in Belgrade. He was one of the masterminds of the move to oust Tito from the Cominform in 1948. He shrewd little enthusiasm when the Russians began the recent campaign to appease the Yugoslav leader.

Gerce also made clear he would use all means to avert any Hungarian repetition of the Poznan "bread and freedom" riots which rocked Poland and the Communist world on June 28.

"Our party must advocate broader democratization," Gerce said. "Justified criticism has become stronger in Hungary. Our party must absorb the forces which are dissatisfied with the present situation."

But along with promises of reform, the new party boss promised "iron party discipline and a fight against diversionists." As a special target he singled out Imre Nagy, former Communist premier and rallying point for party dissidents, who has stepped up reform demands since the Poznan incident.

Gerce has risen steadily through the party ranks. In 1953, he took over as interior minister and thus gained control of Hungary's secret police.

A critic of the Roman Catholic Church, Gerce was believed to have played a part in the imprisonment of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of plotting against the state.

Rakosi, who is 64, gave illness and old age as part of the reason for quitting. But Western observers had expected him to be forced out since he admitted to the party committee in May that he had been a Stalinist dictator.

Milltown Birthday Club Holds Party

SHANNONVILLE — The Milltown Birthday Club enjoyed a card party at the home of Mrs. Vernon Kilpatrick on Tuesday evening.

Three tables of euchre were played with the prizes, according to score, going to Mrs. S. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. John Vance and Mrs. Irene Cowell, who was a visitor.

The lone hand prize was won by Mrs. Josie Williams.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

The next party will be held at at home of Mrs. Don Vance on Tuesday, July 24th.

May Revive Season

NEW YORK (AP)—A possibility has appeared that the Metropolitan Opera's cancelled 1956-57 season may be revived.

The hope grew out of day-long mediation efforts Wednesday by Al Manuti, president of Local 802 of the Musicians' Union. The musicians are not directly involved in the dispute which led the Metropolitan Opera Association to cancel the season Tuesday night.

The Met blamed the American Guild of Musical Artists, which represents singers and dancers.

Manuti said the Met management had found a compromise proposal acceptable. He said AGMA promised to put the plan before its executive board quickly.

HAS A CHANCE?

The slim Brits cry with a touch of Oh Lumme in his accent and time-honored evidence of pugilistic activities on his pleasant face took his time before he answered the question.

He rubbed a pate that bears thinning grey hair, studied the Montreal Forum calendar on the wall behind the sports desk for a moment, then said, "I think Parker has a chance."

Coming from a man like Jack Jarvis, former fighter, promoter, ex-secretary to the well-known Jack Overman, Toronto boxing and wrestling impresario prior to his current Frank Tunney, and for the last twenty-five years boxing instructor at Queen's University, the opinion should carry something.

Yet it seemed Jack did not put his entire 140 pounds behind the statement.

Questioned further, Jack said, "The biggest assets in the fighting game today are a big heart and a big 'nock.' Parker has both. Besides he has youth, spirit, is strong and can punch."

"Matched against this is the craft, cunning and twenty years ring experience of Moore. Archie is a crafty veteran but when a man reaches and passes 40 there is a limit to his endurance," said Jack.

"And don't be misled if you hear that Moore is not training as hard as Parker, nor as hard as he should be," he added. Moore is a ring-craftsman. He knows better than a man of his age can easily burn himself out with too strenuous training. He wants to be just right when he enters the ring."

Jarvis who has special assignments from district dailies to cover the fight recalled the days when he was on the promotion end of the business.

"I could have had Moore in the late thirties," he said. "A promoter in Louisville offered to send him to me with another boy. Moore was a welterweight at the time. I declined because colored boys were not too popular in those days. Moore had good prospects, too, but I passed him up."

Tommy Horton of this city, who used to do a spot of boxing way back when in Calgary, substantiated this corner's statement that Arthur Pelkey and Luther McCarthy did not fight for the world championship back in 1913.

"I was doing a bit of sparring around Calgary in those days and took in the McCarthy-Pelkey fight," Tommy said, "It was fought in a small arena owned by Tommy Burns. Pelkey was a hulking Canadian who packed a tremendous wallop. He knocked McCarthy kicking in the first round."

"Strangely enough," Tommy said, "Burns arena was burned to the ground the same night. McCarthy died from the effect of injuries received in the ring, and the boys slapped a manslaughter rap on Burns and Pelkey. Nothing came of it, however."

An American sports writer using typical imagination and color, wrote: "the fight was fought in a small shanty just north of the Montana border."

COULD BE

If someone doesn't separate Dick Hutton from his "come-and-get-it" one thousand dollar bill pretty soon, the minted frame for Abe Lincoln, Father of the Greenback and statesman who carried by the long green, will perish from depreciation, or be turned in to the "mutilated" department of the United States Treasury Dept.

"However, Lord Athol Layton has other ideas. He fully intends to apply the battered old bill to the $7 millions Britain loaned the United States to help fight the Civil War. All he has to do is pin Hutton inside of twenty minutes and the grand is Layton loot.

But he'd better grindstone his jocks for this Hutton is a tough cookie who is rapidly losing his respect for the finer holds of rassledom. He can be as cornery as one of his native sidewinders, and generally is, if he as much as loosens two fingers on the G-noze. It should be quite a brawl.

Sammy Berg, "Mr. Canada" to youse gals, is back for a hassle with that mean hombre Senor Roberto Pico who has yet to be defeated here. Pat Flanagan mingles with Aldo Bogni, a gent who disdains the nicer things in wrestling.

Bosox Crowd 2nd Place Tribe Winning Ten of Last Twelve; Brooks Win, Phils Take Two

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

There wasn't a sign of a brawl Wednesday night as Milwaukee Braves downed the New York Giants 7-3 and re-established their two-game lead in the National Baseball League.

Joe Adcock, Milwaukee first baseman who was involved in a row with New York pitcher Ruben Gomez Tuesday night, played first base and had two hits.

In other league contests, Brooklyn defeated second-place Cincinnati, 4-3; Philadelphia took two from Chicago Cubs, 6-4, and 6-1, and Pittsburgh and St. Louis played a 1-1 tie. This game was stopped by rain in the top of the 10th.

Bobby Thomson drove in four runs—one on a first-inning double and two on his 12th home run in the six-inning game Braves made 11 eight out of nine. Lew Burdette breezed for his 11th victory. Al Worthington lost it, 4, for relief of 32-year-old Ruben Gomez, who was knocked out for 1,000,000 for the fourth straight season.

KLIPPSTEIN CLIPPED

Four runs in the first, with Sandy Amoros' two-run double, won for the Brooks and Carl Erskine, who needed three-hit relief help. Wally Post, who contributed a two-base error to the quick Dodger start, homered in the first. Johnny Klippstein, who has beaten the Dodgers four times lost it.

Dale Long's double tied it for Pittsburgh in the ninth against Vinegar Bend Mizell. The Cards scored in the sixth off Red Munger on Stan Musial's double and Whitey Lockman's single.

Philadelphia's two wins within five points of the fifth-place Bucs as the one-time no-hit knockout pitching punch of Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons clicked again. It was the Phils' eighth victory in 10 games and their first doubleheader sweep in 15 in this season. Roberts, now 10-10, won with a four-run rally in the second while Simmons wrapped it up with a six-hitter, not walking a man. Jim Greengrass drove in four runs in the nightcap.

RATTLERS FINED

National League President Warren Giles Wednesday fined Gomez $250 and suspended him for three days and fined Adcock $100 for their Tuesday night actions.

Gomez and Adcock both agreed to forget about the incident, which followed a pitch from Gomez which knocked Adcock's wrist. After words had been exchanged, Adcock charged the mound. The 195-pound Gomez threw the ball he had been rubbing up, hitting Adcock on the thigh. His third, second for the dugout with the 210-pound Adcock and a swarm of Braves in pursuit. No punches were thrown and the umpires ejected Gomez and Manager Dark after some wild milling at the dugout steps.

Asked Wednesday if Gomez had apologized to him, Adcock said: "Apologized to me? Maybe he should apologize to him. As far as I'm concerned I'm forgetting the whole thing."

Gomez, reached at the Giants' hotel during the night said, he said "I've forgotten about it already."

CAPOZZI SPURNS OTTAWA

MONTREAL (CP) — Herb Capozzi, Montreal tackle claimed on waivers by Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, says he will not report to that club.

Capozzi was put on the waiver list after he failed to come to terms for the 1956 season with the Alouettes. He said Wednesday he has never considered going to Ottawa.

"I'll just hang them up for the present," he said.

Boston Red Sox appear to be on their way at last, just as Ted Williams predicted a couple of weeks back. Trouble is, they're sprinting on a treadmill in that American League race.

Williams, blaming early Boston disappointments on injuries, illness and sore arms, figured the Red Sox were healthy and ready to go. And after being sidetracked by New York, the Sox now have won 10 of 12, stepping past Chicago into third place and to within six points of runnerup Cleveland.

They closed in on the Indians Wednesday by beating Kansas City 7-3 as Mel Parnell followed up his Saturday no-hitter with a seven - hit job that was good enough.

TIGERS STOP YANKEES

The Yankees, however, still lead the pack by a plush 9½ games—and Detroit ended New York's winning streak at 11 games with an 8-0 and 4-3 doubleheader sweep. Cleveland split at Washington, losing 7-6 and winning 11-1.

And the White Sox made it three off by Baltimore 4-3 for their 11th straight defeat—longest slump in the majors this year.

The Red Sox, enjoying their best surge in Boston since 14 of 15 in June of 1955, have gained only a half game on New York but have notched another 1½ of 11 on Chicago and 4½ against Cleveland.

A four-run eighth inning against Tony Kubek's bat kept Parnell going Wednesday. Parnell won his fourth, but lost his no-hit touch when Kubek, Yogi Berra and Enos Slaughter faced singled.

Paul Foytack and Frank Lary, two righthanders, chilled the Yankees, with Lary beating them for the fourth time among his eight victories. Al Kaline made a leaping stab of Mickey Mantle's drive out, two-on liner in the ninth inning of the nightcap to protect the slim lead he had provided with his 16th home run in the sixth off Maury McDermott.

MANTLE HITS 31ST

Mantle, playing without a brace on his right knee for the first time since July 4, hit his 31st home run in the first inning of the opener—putting him eight behind Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. But his Tigers' wrapped it up with six runs in the sixth against Tom Sturdivant, now 8-3.

The Indians swept the twinbill easy in the nightcap, but lost right hander Early Wynn in the seventh inning when he was socked on the shin by Jose Valdivielson's liner drive. Sixteen stitches were needed to close the gash. Pete Runnels and Jim Lemon homered for a 4-0 lead before Herb Score could get a man out in the opener and Ed Fitzgerald then homered in a two-run seventh that won it against Cleveland's Ray Narleski. Wynn Wertz hit his 20th and 21st home runs for the Tribe.

A bases-loaded, two-out error by third baseman Fred Hatfield gave Baltimore a two-run lead in the ninth for the Birds' sixth straight victory. Marion Fricano got the win. White Sox, won in relief after stopping a tying Chicago rally in the ninth. The Chicago threat is the league's longest since Baltimore beat 14 in a row during August, 1954.

UNDERDOG WEBB WINS

CHICAGO (AP)—Spider Webb of Chicago, an 11-3 underdog only two months out of the army, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over a seemingly bewildered Holly Mims in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Webb, 25, the 1952 Olympic champion at 158 pounds, registered his first straight triumph since receiving his military discharge in May.

Softball League Postponed Games Must Be Played

Six postponed games remain to be played in the Belleville and District Softball league following the conclusion of the regular schedule last night.

The final standing cannot be released until these games are played since they will have a very definite effect on the playoff positions.

Belleville Bobcats and Frankford Merchants are in a close battle for the runner-up and third positions. Trenton Juniors and Madoc, who play each other twice, are gunning for the fourth and final playoff spot. Only the loop-leading Point Anne Club is assured of its position.

Following is a list of the postponed games: Trenton at Point Anne, Point Anne at Bobcats, Bobcats at Frankford, Madoc at the runner-up and third positions, Trenton at Bobcats.

Toronto's Lumsdon Edges Park By Half-Stroke In Atlantic City Swim

Dramatic Neck-and-Neck Race Decided by Finishing Kick; Danish Swimmer Leads Women

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—In a finish that looked more like a 25-yard sprint than a 35-mile marathon, Toronto's Cliff Lumsdon of Weshawken, the first Atlantic City swim in three attempts as he edged defending champion Tom Park by the barest of margins.

Lumsdon, who has beaten Park in Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition swims but finished second behind the transplanted Hamilton swimmer, now U.S. citizen, in both previous Atlantic City contests, turned the tables this time by one-fifth of a second.

The half stroke that separated the two leaders meant a difference of $3,000 to the Toronto veteran, whose finish money was $5,000 compared to Park's $2,000.

Ahead of both men at the finish was Greta Anderson of Denmark, who had a 30-minute head start as did the other eight women in the field. But in elapsed time she was fourth behind the two leaders and Steve Wozniak of Buffalo.

The winning times: Lumsdon 9:31, Park 9:31:00.2, Wozniak, 10:09.36. Miss Anderson 10:17.

Muriel Ferguson of Toronto, making her first attempt at professional, won $750 as the second woman to finish and was seventh in the overall standings with a time of 11:06.50.

Right behind her was last year's women's winner, Lisa Put Jannicy of Montreal, who collected $500. Finishing at all and fourth among the women was Vivian King Thompson of Winnipeg, who won $250.

Bill Tremblay of Montreal was 11th and last of the 22-man field to finish but collected no prize money.

Twenty-year-old Jean la Courdesse of Rosemount, Que., was pulled out near the finish suffering from abdominal cramps and was treated in Atlantic City Hospital. He was released later in evening.

The youngest competitor, 14-year-old Alcina Keen of Montreal, was 1½ miles from the finish line and still swimming strongly when she was taken out, having lost her chance to finish among the money-winners.

Despite the calm weather, both Lumsdon and Miss Anderson were well over the Atlantic City women's records for the swim around Absecon Island. Both of the old marks blamed contrary tides for the relatively slow times.

Park set the overall record, a full half-hour faster than Wednesday's winning time, in 1955. The record for women of 10:07:32 was set the same year by Toronto's Marilyn Bell, now training for an attempt to cross the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

It took the officials more than a minute to separate Lumsdon and Park as the Torontonian barely managed to dethrone the champion with his finishing kick.

Park had led Lumsdon by 300 yards at the 15-mile mark.

Several contestants came into painful contact with jellyfish during the race. More alarming was the presence of a couple of five-foot sharks, not man-eaters but hard on morale. They were beaten off with oars by the boat crews.

Madoc Defeats Bobcats 11-6 For Third Win

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Madoc closed out the Belleville and District softball league's regular schedule last night by racking up an 11-6 decision over the Belleville Bobcats. It was Madoc's third consecutive victory against 11 setbacks.

The winners tallied five big runs in the initial frame last night as the Bobcats could do nothing right. Madoc went on to take an 11-3 lead by the eighth as Belleville committed six errors in the book and played poor ball in general. In a rally in the last inning which netted the city crew four runs but the margin was too big to overcome Ken Pigden went the route for the winners, allowing eleven safeties. Three of these came in the third and four in the ninth, but he stopped the rally cold the rest of the way. He fanned two while walking only two. His mates also backed him up with a good night not costly.

Bill Allan made his first start of the year for Belleville and took the loss in three innings plus. He was tagged with eight runs off six hits, whiffing one and passing two. Jerry Anderson gave up two hits over the remainder. He fanned six while walking none but had poor support.

Nine men paraded to the plate in Madoc's half of the first. Two walks, one error, Hagerman's two-run single and Reid Semark's two-run double accounted for the five markers. Several fielder's choice plays which backfired did little to help the losers' cause.

Batchelor's single and Don Ogden's two-bagger got one back in the third. Three Madoc errors and Batchelor's base-hit added another in the fifth but the homesters had brought home three meanwhile. Singles by Burnside, Whiteman and Caswell chased Allan and scored two while Hagerman doubled home Carswell later.

Three errors gave Madoc another and Devolin homered in the seventh. Two more miscues netted the final. Belleville hit hard in the eighth with one error helping Madsen singled, Batchelor doubled, Ogden singled and Bob Brooks drove home a pair with a solid base knock before three were out.

Doug Devolin led Madoc with the wood, slamming a homer and single, while Clare Hagerman doubled and singled. Serdack had a two-bagger with the other hits going to Doug Burnside, Whiteman and Ernie Carswell.

First-sacker Teddy Batchelor polled a double and three singles in a losing effort. All Bobcat hits were divided among five players as Don Ogden had a double and two singles while Bob Brooks singled twice. Madsen and Allan got the others.

Lineups: Bobcats: Batchelor, Culkin, Wolfe, Ogden, Casey, Brooks, Bensbury, Emery, Allan, Madsen. Madoc — D. Burnside, Whiteman, Cited — Wolfe, Hagermah, Ray, Bateman, Devolin, Semark, Pigden.

Umpires — Carson (P) and Bawden (B). Time — 1.35.

Kaline's Magnificent Catch Robs Mickey of Home Run

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The clubhouse attendant couldn't believe his eyes and ears as he watched the jubilant Detroit Tigers come storming into the dressing room, laughing and cheering.

He stared open-mouthed for several seconds and finally blurted out in a shocked tone:

"How can you guys be so happy when you have a sure win snatched right out of your hands on a Mickey Mantle home run with two out in the ninth?"

"Homer? What homer?" yelled Ray Boone, the Tigers' third baseman. "We just beat the Yankees in a doubleheader."

"But," stammered the attendant, "I was listening to the radio right here in this room. They had two on and two out in the ninth with Mantle at bat. You were ahead 4-3. Then I heard with my own ears the announcer scream that Mantle hit a home run. That makes them win 6-4, don't it?"

That's the way it looked to practically all of the 22,139 spectators at Yankee Stadium. And that's the way it looked to Al Kaline, Detroit's brilliant right fielder. But Kaline went after the ball anyway and, with a mighty last-second leap, he speared the ball in his gloved hand just as it seemed about to clear the netting for a home run.

"When Mickey hit it," Kaline said later, "I was sure it was a home run. But you don't give up until it's over the fence. It was not until the last second that I realized I had a chance to get it. I jumped as high as I could and the ball landed in the glove. I don't know whether the ball would have gone over the netting or not, but I do know I hit the scoreboard with as I came down."

The magnificent catch climaxed a thrilling afternoon for the Tigers who captured both ends of a doubleheader from the league-leading Yankees 8-4 and 4-3 behind Paul Foytack and Frank Lary. It was the second time this season the Tigers had swept both ends of a twin bill at Yankee Stadium.

Trailermen Trim Monarchs 11-6

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen defeated Long Branch Monarchs 11-6 Wednesday night to gain sole possession of second place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior standings.

Rocky Batley paced the winners with three goals. Teammate Curly Mason scored two, Ike Hildebrand Dan Quinlan, Bob Curtis, Red Howell, Jim Hefferman and Bev Groves all scored singles.

Ed Pulford and Ralph McCormick each scored two goals for Long Branch. Howie Smith and Jimmy McIntyre were the other scorers.

WANTS CLEAR FIELD

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana Boxing Club has asked the state boxing commission to call a two-week delay in its world championship bout between lightweight king Wallace (Bud) Smith and Joe Brown. The original Aug. 10 date would conflict with the scheduled College All-Stars vs Cleveland Browns football game in Chicago.

Request For Interlocking "Sked" Deferre

Belleville's entry in E Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey league is now a definite reality, according to Area Commission chairman Alde man C. D. Tice.

At the meeting of the On tario Hockey Association senior "A" council held in Toron last night, the parent body d cided to defer its decision o the request of the eastern gro up for an interlocking schedu with western Ontario.

The decision deferred unt August 1 was complicated b the fact the Stratford ag has not yet decided to enter team, and also the weste grouping has already asked th area an interlocking schedul with the Northern Ontario Ho key Association senior "A" southern group.

OHA business manager Jo Worley said it is probable o request for an interlockin schedule will have to be ta en down.

Moore Claims Title

Medical Check Was Peaceful Then Someone Posed a Query

TORONTO (CP) — The protectors took the play from the fighters when Archie Moore and James J. Parker checked in for their pre-fight medical checkup Wednesday. Moore and Parker were pronounced fit for the 15-round bout, ballyhooed as a world title scrap.

The two heavyweights posed together for photographers, shook hands, withed each other luck and that was that.

But the goings-on were too tame for the managers and promoters.

First, a small argument popped up over the fight gloves. Then, the umpteenth time in recent days someone raised the question: How can the fight be called a world championship bout without recognition from any boxing association or federation in the world?

MOORE STATES CASE

Moore, who recorded the talk on his portable tape-recording machine, had his say.

"I claim the world heavy title. Now I'm ready to dispute it with my fists," said the world light-heavyweight titleholder and No. 1 contender for the vacant heavy crown.

Commissioner Murry McKenzie of the Ontario Athletic Commission told the promoters:

"... go along with whatever the Canadian Boxing Federation rules about the fight. If the federation says it will recognize it as for the world title, I'll do likewise. If the federation says it isn't a title bout, I'll go along with that, too."

Three years ago Lou Marcelle, boneau, commissioner of the CBF, said the federation has no authority to sanction a world title bout. He added his body could only go as far as recognizing the winner as the "best uncrowned heavyweight champion in the world." The CBF has not changed its attitude.)

GLOVE HASLE

The physical examinations were hardly over when the verbal byplay started. Bill Daly, manager of Parker, wanted to allocate the six-ounce fight gloves.

Charley Johnson, manager of Moore wouldn't go for it. That should be done next week, he contended. He won out.

Promoter Jack Solomons of London broke it up with the observation: "Let's not have a fight so soon, fellows. Let's save it for the ring next Wednesday when people will pay to see it."

Papa Russia Spanks Naughty Athlete Son

LONDON (Reuters) — Russian oarsman Yuri Tuksilov, dubbed "the spoiled boy of Soviet sport" denied Wednesday in a Moscow radio interview that he had been publicly chastised for losing the 1954 Royal Henley Regatta.

The 26-year-old Soviet Olympic champion denied an American magazine's charge that he had been publicly reprimanded following his 1954 defeat at Henley by a Yugoslav.

He said the magazine Soviet Sport had criticized his tactics—"and correctly so."

"It's true my pride was hurt, but you certainly can't call that public chastisement," he added.

Soviet Sport charged him with vanity and conceit. It said he had "declined from a high - class sculler into a spoiled boy."

Lake Ontario After Fuca

VICTORIA (CP)—Ben Laughren of Victoria announced Wednesday he would head straight for Lake Ontario if his Saturday bid to conquer the Juan de Fuca Strait is successful.

Laughren, 280-pound chef, said: "We have high hopes for Saturday and if we make it we head right for Toronto . . . to try the lake."

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Friday, July 20, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—A day for hustle and bustle if you want it that way, or it can be serene, calm. But either way, you should make progress in whatever your program and required duties.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Collections, paying debts, consolidating matters, furthering friendly relations between employer, employee, and among the family are favored now. Handle inconsistent matters where possible.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Spend wisely but do spend for essentials, for family and personal needs, and for some good fun and recreation. Responsive rays favor urgent matters, also relaxation.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—As beneficial a day for new projects as it is for the usual routine and daily matters. Maintain an even tempo; new benefits can be gained.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—This day's aspects are so generous that you should feel brighter, younger and more full of hope and ambition, than ordinarily. Keep in tune with the influences so you can be happy, forward-moving day.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—You may not be as quick and bright in ideas as usual but you certainly can make steady headway, and have a good time in doing so, if you go along with your usual delicacy of manner and diplomacy.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Your natural gifts and desire to get ahead will pave the way for good results. Your social magnetism will carry you a fine future gains, too.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Friendly rays linger from yesterday... The ambitious and eager never lose out really, if their intentions and desires are unselfish and soundly purposed.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Duties, obligations first! Then look forward with pleasure to free hours and less strenuous activities. Wholesome sports and recreation in order.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—You don't have to search for opportunity. It is within reach of all who choose to use it. And you constant folks should be the first to take advantage of real benefits, gains.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—A benefic time for steady, purposeful action. Sudden decisions or actions not advised. Forethought, careful calculations in all things urged. Enjoy some diversion.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Again sensible care advised in activities connected with water, chemicals, all liquids, confidential matters. But it is an encouraging day for regular duties, business, work; family affairs.

You born today are a clever, native, imaginative, intuitive, sensitive; clever with hands and brain. You sometimes worry too much and needlessly about family and personal affairs. Be sensible in this department and know that you must trust in God's help. Develop and use to advantage your fine inherent talents and skill. Seek the advice and help of those qualified to give it. Birthdate: Francisco Petrarch, Italian poet, scholar.

SPECIALIST DIES AGED 79

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. Septimus Thompson, internationally-known eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, died Wednesday. He was 79.

Writing Expert Heard in Fraud Case

TORONTO (CP) — An RCMP advertising expert testified Wednesday that Harry Hoffberg, 38, one of three men charged with defrauding 38 stockbrokers of more than $80,000, "probably" wrote stock cheque endorsements under at least 12 different names.

Hoffberg, along with Michael Benstel, 36, and Albert Kitchener, 39, are charged with trying to cheat stock prices during a two-year period by telephone dealings in big blocks of shares under assumed names.

Sgt. Roy Hoffer of the RCMP said endorsements on brokerage cheques totalling many thousands of dollars bore assumed names. In nearly all were accompanied by the endorsement "A. Kitchener."

Sgt. Hoffer said the handwriting on the signatures was similar to the known signatures of Hoffberg.

Tommy Douglas Asks CCF Rewrite Regina Manifesto

SASKATOON (CP) — The only CCF premier in Canada has told the party it should rewrite the basic manifesto of the party set down in Regina in 1933.

T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, head of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation government in Saskatchewan since 1944, Wednesday put in almost-blunt terms what party speakers had been hinting at in many recent speeches.

He expressed the hope that "a clear-cut statement of the CCF policy in the light of present-day conditions" would come out of the Winnipeg convention in August of Canada's third largest political party.

NEW EVILS

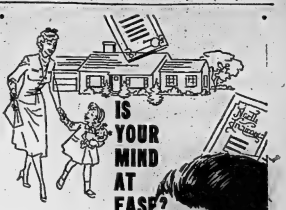
"The manifesto was never thought of as an inspired document which laid down the truth for all time," he said. "It was a political document, analyzing the capitalist society of the 1930s and the evils which had followed in its wake.

"Some of those evils have been eradicated. Others remain and some new ones have been added. I think we need a clear-cut statement of the CCF policy in the light of present-day conditions."

Mr. Douglas also suggested in a keynote speech to the CCF Saskatchewan convention that the Social Credit party had been backed by "certain powerful business interests" in the June 20 Saskatchewan election because the "interests" realized "the Liberal party is a spent force in Saskatchewan politics."

He said opponents of the CCF are trying to make a great deal of the concluding sentence of the famed "Regina manifesto," which reads:

"No CCF government will rest content until it has eradicated capitalism and put into operation the full program of socialized planning which will lead to the establishment in Canada of Co-operative Commonwealth."



Mr. Douglas said it is significant that those who quote the phrase "no CCF government will rest content until it has eradicated capitalism" did not finish the sentence, which said, "and put into operation the full program of socialized planning which will lead to the establishment in Canada of the Co-operative Commonwealth."

Accused's Sister Tells Story Of Attack On Recluse

Says She Saw Brother's Wife Hit Man On Head With Shoe

Wages Unchanged Since Civil War Says Field Driver

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP) Paul Kemp, who holds the position of field driver of the rounds up stray cattle and such), thinks he should get more money. His wage level has been unchanged since the American Civil War, he said.

Kemp gets 10 cents a cow, sheep or goat recovered. But if he rounds up more than 10, the rate goes to a nickel each. And he gets only four cents each for any animal he keeps on his farm until the owner shows up.

"That's four cents, period," Kemp points out, "not four cents a day."

ESPANOLA (CP)—Eli Guay, 27 and his 21-year-old wife Christine were committed for trial last night to stand trial in the fall for the murder of an aged recluse who was beaten to death in his shack.

The squat, powerfully-built bushworker sat stony-faced throughout the joint preliminary hearing before Magistrate Roy McAndrew of Sudbury.

The body of Frederick Snider, 78, was found June 25 by a census taker who rapped at the door of his lumberjack home on the Spanish River, near this town 30 miles west of Sudbury.

HELD IN JAIL

Guay and his wife are being held at Sudbury where the trial will be conducted.

Guay's sister testified Thursday she saw Snider in the shack on the Spanish River a week before Snider's body was found while her brother and his wife attacked the old man.

At another point in the hearing it was disclosed that a railway union leader was found in the shack. Guay, the court was told, at one time worked for a section hand for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Miss Guay said her brother invited her to drive to the Spanish River. While they drove, she said, Mrs. Guay donned a mask, saying it was "just for fun."

MAKES SUICIDE ATTEMPT

This testimony caused Mrs. Guay, who maintained a lively interest in the proceedings, to break into laughter. Her husband, a squat, powerful bushworker, stared impassively ahead.

When they got to the old man's home, Miss Guay said, she saw her brother rush into the house and grab Snider. She said he cried out twice and Mrs. Guay struck him on the head with a shoe and then over the head with it.

At this, the witness said, "I got scared and ran back out to the car."

Miss Guay was taken into custody as a material witness shortly after the body was found and then charged with their seven children in a tourist camp on North Bay. The car was loaded with household possessions and Guay said they were on their way to a new home.

During his testimony, the witness said she walked around the car for a half-hour, and heard noises from the shack. Then her brother and his wife came out, she said, and she asked them if they had hurt Snider. They said they had not.

DRANEW AWAY WALLET

On the ride back to Espanola she said they drank beer and she saw a wallet on the floor of the car. She said she looked through the door of the shack and saw "a still form on the floor."

Guay's next trip was to pick up Joseph Dupuis, who was arrested as a material witness with her. She said the Guays told him "You remember where we wanted to go one time? Well we went there last night." She said they told Dupuis to say nothing about it.

Nehru, Nasser, Tito Again Call For A-Bomb Ban

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (Reuters) The leaders of India, Yugoslavia and Egypt today repeated their call for a ban on international weapons, expressed their opposition to power blocs and reaffirmed their desire for a settlement of the Algerian problem.

In a statement after two days of talks here President Tito of Yugoslavia, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Prime Minister Nehru of India also called again for Communist China's admission to the United Nations and for a nuclear-weapons-free zone in the Middle East.

The three statesmen, champions of non-alignment, met on Marshal Tito's island of Brioni Wednesday and Thursday. Nasser and Nehru flew to Cairo early today for further talks.

In a 1,500-word statement they noted "with satisfaction" that their countries' policies had "contributed to a certain extent toward the easing of international tension."

They reaffirmed their belief in the principles of international relations laid down at the Bandung conference of Asian and African nations last year.

PERPETUATE FEARS

The leaders said the division of the world into powerful blocs tended to perpetuate the fears dominating the world.

"Peace has to be sought not through division but by aiming at collective security on a world basis . . . and by ending the domination of one country over another."

Progress towards disarmament was essential. It must be made within the framework of the United Nations and should include atomic and thermonuclear (hydrogen) weapons, the leaders said.

"Explosions of weapons of mass destruction, even for experimental purposes, must be suspended pending the conclusion of agreements to limit and control the dangers to humanity in polluting the atmosphere . . . and they are violations of international morality," they said.

They stressed deep interest in full and equal international cooperation in the peaceful use of atomic energy which, they said, should be organized in the framework of the United Nations.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Scattered showers and thunderstorms occurred this afternoon in the Windsor area and in southern Michigan. Similar showers in southern Ontario today and tonight. Clearing will follow on Saturday beginning in the west in the morning and in the east in the afternoon.

The showery weather will be accompanied by slightly cooler temperatures in southern Ontario but little change is expected in the summer maximum range in the north. However, in that area a few isolated thunderstorms should be expected late Saturday.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) New cloudbursts and thunderstorms struck parts of Germany today in West Germany. Damages to crops and livestock ranged into the millions of dollars.

German police and fire brigades, backed by British and French civil and Belgian troops, pushed relief operations.

There were no new reports of fatalities. At least 10 people died last Saturday and Sunday when torrential rains swept much of both West and East Germany, causing heavy damage.

Across the English Channel, heavy rains also struck southeast by more than an inch of rain in more than four hours. It caused the total for July to 4.26, the highest for the first 20 days of the month since 1875. Many roads were flooded, production was retarded in some factories and workers had to be taken to their homes.

Heavy floods in Germany ranged over vast sections between Cologne in the north and Zdenen, Germany's biggest water reservoir. They drowned hundreds of cattle, knocked out electric poles, disrupted communications and blocked railroads and highways.

Some parts of the health resort of Bad Herzfeld were under 10 feet of water.

Authorities said that in most areas the flood waters receded quickly as it came. But crops in some districts were considered a total loss.

PEARKES URGES CANADIAN FORCES BE BROUGHT HOME

Asks Govt. To Reassess Its Defence Policy

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has been criticized to give some serious thought to bringing home Canadian forces in Europe.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative military critic, said in the Commons defence debate Thursday night that it is imperative for a complete reassessment defence policy in light of changes in East-West conditions.

Defence Minister Campbell, who has been in Geneva for the past week disclosed that the navy's 14 new destroyer escorts—two have been commissioned so far — will cost approximately $322,000,000, nearly three times the original estimate when the program was laid down in 1950.

MAY CONCLUDE TODAY

The Commons today may conclude its study of the 1956-57 defence appropriation of $1,775,000,000, exactly the same amount as in the previous fiscal year.

Gen. Pearkes said it is essential Canada keep up its defences "but we must be sure that our effort is certain we are not over-insuring."

He did not wish to suggest defence cuts this year but there should be some next year. The trend was toward an East-West economic war rather than war of arms.

The government should take another look at its commitments in the North Atlantic alliance, Canada had paid a heavy price for its participation in West German and their excellent facilities there. He hoped this should be kept up should be a matter for serious government consideration.

SUPPORT REDUCED

Other NATO countries already were thinking of or carrying out defence reductions. The United Kingdom had only recently announced "complete" cuts.

Gen. Pearkes' suggestions about a possible withdrawal from Europe were first raised by Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (PC — Calgary East) in the Commons debate almost a year ago that at least some of the RCAF squadrons in West Germany be brought home to bolster home defences.

Canada maintains a 6,300-man infantry brigade group and a 12-squadron air division in Europe.

Mr. Campbell's only comment on Gen. Pearkes' suggestion came when he replied to a question as to the cost of maintaining the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade in Germany—$35,000,000 annually.

GIVE GERMANY CAMPS

He said the brigade camps ultimately would be returned to Germany "if we should withdraw."

Officials said there is no present intention of pulling out of Europe. Mr. Pearkes made his fairly clear in the House last month.

Mr. Pearkes, who visited the brigade last week following the Canadian contingent's participations in London, was lavish in his praise for the formation.

CBC Reports Big Deficit Due To Television Program Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC today reported a net operating deficit of $1,358,621 in 1955-56 on an income of $38,942,008—79 per cent of which came from the federal treasury.

Cost of all television and radio operations, showing a continuing rise in every department, amounted to $38,572,742, up from $29,103,387 in the previous year. Costs of the radio services increased by about $110,000 to $13,-286,387, but those for TV services jumped by more than $9,000,000 to $25,374,260.

Broadcasting as usual was the biggest single item of expense totalling $24,647,444, of which $14,-174,626 was for television and $10,-472,818 for radio. The previous year's broadcasting bill was $19,-776,236 was for TV and $8,522,016 for radio, a total of $18,298,251.

The corporation's income of $38,942,402 was up from $34,195,-788 in 1954-55, a gain of $4,746,614. A gain of almost $2,875,000 in commercial revenues, which rose to $1,230,000 in revenue from the special 15-per-cent excise tax on television sets, helped to offset the gain.

Television service income was $23,362,088, a gain from $21,375,-905, but the big increase in costs left a deficit of $1,021,781. Radio broadcasting revenues at $1,580,314 were also higher than the previous year's $13,439,363, leaving a net deficit of $288,830 after depreciation.

In 1954-55, the CBC showed a net operating deficit on radio and television operations and $484,050 on radio.

The deficit is met out of an accumulated surplus which now stands at $1,491,181. What's left was tabled today in the Commons the federal treasury at March 31.

by Revenue Minister McCann.

In its supplementary estimates for 1956-57, the government has proposed a vote of $12,000,000 to meet the anticipated deficit arising from this year's operation of the CBC-TV service.

The report said that extension of the television service, coupled with program developments, put an increasingly heavy load on the CBC's finances. Seven new privately-owned licence operations in the last fiscal year, bringing Canada's total TV outlets to 33—six CBC and 27 privately-owned English stations and two CBC and two CBC private French outlets.

The CBC's national television service averaged 35 hours a week in English and 20 hours in French.

The corporation reported total commercial revenue of $9,134,945, up from $6,363,199. The figure was arrived at after deductions of $2,704,843 for private stations carrying CBC-produced sponsored programs, $1,295,677 for agency and network commissions and $4,439,200 for direct production costs. This meant that gross billings to sponsors and agencies totalled $18,573,665.

Commercial revenue on TV operations was $8,997,438, up from $4,157,325; on radio operations $1,731,507, down from $2,105,863.

Total income from the federal treasury was $29,043,953, a gain of $2,749,714. Included in the statutory grant of $8,250,000 for radio operations and $22,798,953 for television was $4,000 collected by the revenue department from sundry TV sets.

The tax provided $17,737,991 for television and $5,051,964 for radio, a total increase in each case from the previous year.

Miscellaneous revenues, miscellaneous sources such as broadcasting licence fees charged to private stations, interest on investments and profits on sale of bonds totalled $1,-

During the year the CBC received a total of $1,-[illegible] television service amounting to $6,500,000, raising to $27,737,991 the total collected by the department.

Two Persons Killed, Two Left Critically Injured in Shootings

BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP) — Bullets from a .22-calibre revolver killed two persons Thursday night and left two others in critical condition.

Police said Mrs. Nellie Yakymwin, 34, and her 15-year-old daughter, Judy.

Mrs. Yakymwin's brother, Henry Bedyk, 28, and the man for whom she was working, Mike Kowalchuk, 50, are in hospital in nearby North Battleford. An RCMP officer is standing guard at the hospital room to say if he was keeping a perimeter watch on the area.

Police said Mrs. Yakymwin and her daughter were shot in the head. Bedyk was shot in the abdomen and Wojewodo had three bullet wounds in his chest.

The shooting took place in Wojewodo's two-room frame bungalow on the main street of this city's business district of Saskatoon. G. Beaudry, police chief, narrowly missed being shot when he was called to investigate.

First news of the incident came when a man knocked on a neighbor's door in the house in which Mrs. Beatrice Brookman, a tenant, said he had been shot. Mrs. Brookman's 13-year-old son brought her, notified police.

Police said there is no known motive for the shootings.

Final Approval Given Draft For West Germany NATO Army

BONN (AP)—The upper house of the West German parliament today put final legislative approval on a bill to draft men for West Germany's NATO army. The vote in the lower house is due Jan. 17. The lower house gave its final approval July 7.

Final passage of the conscription bill—which by such a close vote—is a major victory for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's policy of arming West Germany in close Atlantic alliance.

The bill has been bitterly disputed and the Bundesrat was bitterly disputed and the Bundesrat was the last hurdle. Nineteen members took.

The 80-year-old chancellor warned on the eve of the bundesrat action against the current trend to reduce the manpower of armed forces and to rely on tactical and other modern weapons.

The bill provides that 500,000 West German men between 18 and 45 liable for compulsory military service in the present. Only youths who have passed their 19th birthday will be called up at one time, men up to 60 could be called up.

The bill does not set the length of military service. The Bundestat previously voted for 12 months. The government favors an 18-month period. A later measure will fix the length of service.

Adenauer's commitment to create a West German army has aroused fears in the North Atlantic alliance hinges squarely on the right to draft youths. Three-fifths of the total for July to 4.26, the high-

Woman Forgot She Was Elected Mayor of Town

MADONNA del SASSO, Italy (AP)—Forgetful Fanny Crespi finally is mayor of Madonna del Sasso.

BANK COMMITTEE HEARS PRESIDENT OF LOAN ASSOC.

C.M. Cawker, Belleville Opposes Amendments

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians who borrow from small loans companies make an average monthly payment of $18.33, including principal and interest, the Commons banking committee was told Thursday night.

Charles M. Cawker of Belleville president of the Canadian Consumer Loan Association, said the average loan in 1954 was $224. The average monthly income of the average borrower was $300.

Mr. Cawker was a witness before the committee which is considering amendments to the Small Loans Act. The amendments would extend federal control on loans from the present $500 ceiling to a new maximum of $1,500 and reduce interest rates on loans over $500.

GIVES BREAKDOWN

Mr. Cawker said skilled workers, clerks and the like receive 30 per cent of the loans and unskilled workers and labourers a further 45 per cent. Less than 2½ per cent of borrowers have a monthly income of between $200 and $300 monthly, 18½ per cent from $300 to $400 monthly, 28½ per cent from more than $400 a week a year. Less than three per cent earned under $2 weekly.

Mr. Cawker said Canadian-owned small loans companies declined 15 to 18 per cent of the business transacted by this type of loan in Canada. The remainder was by American-owned companies.

OPPOSES PROPOSED RATES

In a brief to the committee, the association endorsed the extension of federal control to interest rates on loans of more than $500 but opposed new government-proposed rates on such loans because they would drive away investment capital.

The association is made up of small loan companies and the second money lenders conducting about 40 per cent of business regulated by the Small Loans Act.

The association said amending the act to cover loans above $500 would eliminate an "undesirable competition" from unlicensed banks and borrowing from unlicensed lenders. It said these lenders start to advertise and start loans that are not required to meet the qualifications of experience, character and general fitness required by the act."

Britain Studies Russian Appeal To Ban Tests

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Eden and the British government is studying the statement of Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov on nuclear explosions.

Shepilov said Monday that Russia was ready to discuss the issue immediately with the United States, Britain and the top heads of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Eden, answering a question in the House of Commons Thursday said Shepilov's statement has not been officially communicated to Britain.

"But a ban on tests . . . offers no safeguard against the country acquiring or maintaining an advantage over another."

New Soviet Drive To Win Influence In Egypt Likely

U.S. Decision To Withdraw Aid For Dam Sets Stage

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Russian drive to expand its influence in Egypt and the Arab world was foreseen today as a probable consequence of American cancellation of an offer to help Egypt build its proposed Aswan dam.

The United States' decision was announced to Egyptian ambassador Ahmed Hussein by State Secretary Dulles in a 30-minute meeting Thursday.

The next moves in the tough diplomatic struggle for power are clearly up to Cairo and to Moscow.

Russia has made several offers to help Egypt build the dam, to provide irrigation and electric power. Some officials think she now will push harder. Others are more doubtful, saying that even if Russia does agree to back the project she would be able to make good on it.

WEIGHED DANGERS

Dulles and his top policy advisers were reported to have weighed carefully the risks of not cancelling the offer and to have decided that under the circumstances it was better to take a calculated risk in order to achieve the U.S. objectives.

Among these purposes, highly placed informants said, was the desire to put a brake on the ever growing in many neutral countries of the Middle East against the playing off the U.S. and Russia against each other.

The decision was also thought with the Aswan dam deal was defeated, its state department quarters as a "stiff warning" that the U.S. will not submit to bargaining or "blackmail."

CITES TWO REASONS

The formal statement said that "upon full study" the government has concluded that it is not feasible to participate in the project.

Two reasons for this conclusion were stated in general terms. One was that Egypt has not reached agreement with other states, notably the United Kingdom and the World Bank Bank, on the financing needed to complete the project.

The second was that Egypt has not yet made definite arrangements to carry out its $900,000,000 share of the project, which involves construction of an earth embankment across the Nile River waters to be impounded by the $1,300,000,000 high dam. Egypt has said it will be able to carry out its $900,000,000 share of the project from its own resources.

TWO NICE 'LUNGE CAUGHT IN MOIRA L.

Two 16-pound lunge have been caught in Moira Lake in recent days.

Lucky fishermen were Don Herrington, of St. Catharines, who hauled out a lunge measuring 34 inches and Mrs. Claude Keller, who fished out a 35-inch 14-pounder.

Mrs. K. Glancey Again Remanded On Theft Charge

Mrs. Kathleen Glancey, 34-year-old ex-teller at the Bank of Montreal here who pleaded guilty to theft of $10,000 from the bank, for the 4th time was remanded until Tuesday by magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Mrs. Glancey was first called in court and is at present under medical care in hospital here.

Arrested July 9th by city police inspector Hayes following an investigation by the provincial police, Mrs. Glancey, mother of three young sons, appeared in court on Tuesday and Friday of last week and was remanded in custody each time.

This morning defence counsel J. D. O'Flynn intimated a civil court suit might arise out of the case.

Last Friday a letter signed by Mr. Harold Glancey, the accused's husband, offering restitution of $50 per month was received. This would take 18 years to clear the $10,000 taken by his wife.

Magistrate Wills today told Mr. O'Flynn he was not interested with any offers made in the matter as an actual deal.

"I am only concerned with an unconditional offer of a sum of money now, or over a period" of time as an indication of penitence.

"I am not concerned with bargaining and agreements," he said.

"I am concerned with the mental attitude of the defendant whether she wants to make amends for her wrong."

Natural Gas Find May Heat Trenton Man's Home for Years

TRENTON. (Special.) — Art Holsey's natural gas discovery in his own backyard — not in any commercial value as yet, but it will give him free heat for his home for years to come.

This was the indication yesterday following an inspection of the gas well by Ontario Fuel Board officials.

A. R. Crosier, fuel controller for Ontario and field officer G. E. Smith, Port Colborne, yesterday visited the Holsey home at R.R. 4, Murray township, and made several tests.

Before they left Mr. Smith told Holsey that at present there is a sufficient reserve of gas to heat his home for a good number of years. He suggested Mr. Holsey take a gamble and drill deeper, since the well may be on the edge of a gas field.

The fuel representatives were satisfied with the quality and steady pressure of the gas escape.

The well now has been burning for four days. It was accidentally covered at a depth of 96 feet while Holsey was drilling for water.

John L. Good, Stirling, Named District DDGM

At the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons held in Toronto this week, Mr. John L. Good of Stirling, was elected District Deputy Grand Master for Prince Edward District.

Mr. Good, principal of the Stirling high school for the past 29 years, has been a member of Stirling Lodge No. 359 A.F. & A.M., and served as First Principal in 1948. He is a past president of the Past Principals' Association and a past vice-president of the Past Masters, Masters and Wardens Association. In addition to his Masonic interests he has been active in Rotary and his election to this important office is being well received by members of the Craft.

Past Noble Grand of Eureka Lodge in this city were honored at Grand Lodge. Stanley H. Edmonds was elected as Grand Steward and will take the title Very Worshipful Brother, while the same title will be bestowed on Robert J. "Scotty" Orr, who was appointed as assistant Grand Secretary.

Both brethren have compiled excellent records in their mother lodge and will be a distinct asset to the holders of office in Grand Lodge.

Drury Denyes Named Manager Hockey Club

Drury Denyes, city treasurer, has been named team manager of the Belleville senior hockey Club, it was announced today by Arena Commission chairman, Alderman Claude D. Tice.

The appointment was made at a special meeting of the commission held yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Dennis F. Herring, city manager, has approved the appointment and has assured Mr. Denyes the full co-operation throughout the hockey season.

Interviewed this morning, Mr. Denyes said he hoped to announce the appointment of a playing coach for the club within the next ten days.

Mr. Denyes said he will make further announcements regarding the club, players, etc. from time to time.

Theft of Money Brings Sentence Of Six Months

Roy Donald Hay, 20, today was sentenced to six months in the common gaol for theft of $104 from P. Emile Martel, restaurant and service station operator on Point Anne road.

Yesterday, Hay pleaded guilty to the charge but requested magistrate T. Y. Wills if he were sentenced it would not be to Burwash.

"I won't stay there if I am sent back to Burwash," he told the magistrate.

"What's the matter with Burwash?" the magistrate asked.

"Well, they treat you like a two-year-old," Hay answered. "I want to go some place where they treat you like a man—if I have to be away."

OPP Corporal Ray Kowal, who investigated the theft, told the court the theft occurred July 3rd when the service station proprietor left Hay in charge of his store with $104 to pay for delivery of gasoline. When he returned Hay had left with the money.

Hay then went to Detroit but was recognized and picked up July 11th, in Belleville by OPP Constable Gord Oliver, after his return.

Sir H.A. Caccia Named British Envoy to U.S.

LONDON (CP — Britain today named Sir Harold Anthony Caccia — an old friend of President Eisenhower — ambassador to the United States. He will succeed Sir Roger Makins.

Caccia, who pronounces his name "catchia," is known as what is regarded as the top job in British's overseas diplomatic service.

A career diplomat since 1929, with a record as a brilliant thinker on foreign relations, he is at present deputy undersecretary of state in the foreign office.

The 50-year-old diplomat was a member of Eisenhower's staff at supreme headquarters during the Second World War. From June, 1950 to November 1954, he was British high commissioner and minister to Austria and had a leading role in the negotiation of a treaty of independence for that country by the four occupation powers.

He accompanied Prime Minister Eden to the Big Four summit conference in Geneva last year and has attended the main international conferences in which British was represented at that time.

Makins, 52-year-old present ambassador in Washington, is coming back to London to take a major role in Sir Eden government's battle to strengthen the national economy. He will be chairman of the national economic planning board and head of the home and overseas financial departments of the treasury.

Hammarskjold Sees Ben Gurion

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general, Thursday had two meetings which together lasted more than four hours with David Ben Gurion, the Israeli prime minister.

In between, he crossed into the Jordan sector of the city where he spent an hour, calling on the Jordanian governor, Hassan Kateb.

No statement was issued after either of Hammarskjold's meetings with Ben Gurion.

After Two Years Canadians Still Busy in Indochina

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — This is the day Canadians in Indochina had hoped to be packing for home.

Instead, the 130 men, mainly soldiers, helping to supervise the truce in the three associated states of Cambodia — Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—are still on the job with no indication when it will end.

Two years ago today, at Geneva, an armistice was signed between the French Union forces and the Communist Vietminh. They had been fighting for eight years. Viet Nam, the most important state, was divided at the 17th parallel into the Communist North and non-Communist South.

Canada, India and Poland were selected to supervise the truce. The country accepted with some reluctance. Finding the required number of personnel made a big hole in the army's staff.

The three supervising nations set up a truce commission in each of the three states. But the job in Viet Nam was by far the most ticklish—even dangerous.

Under the truce agreement, refugees in Viet Nam were to be permitted to move to the North or South by their own choice. Some 900,000 fled Communist North Viet Nam, mostly Catholics. Another several thousand moved from South to North.

The truce commission in Viet Nam had to investigate hundreds of complaints that refugees were being coerced into remaining where they were. One minority report on the Viet Nam commission's work, Canada assailed the Communists for their tactics in preventing refugees, mainly Roman Catholics, from going to the non-Communist South.

At Canadian insistence, the deadline for refugee movements was extended and more thousands were able to escape Communism.

Under the Geneva truce, elections to unify Vietnam and Viet Nam were to be held this month. But discussions leading to an election have not even started and there is little immediate prospect that they will.

External Affairs Minister Pearson has said Canada will stay in Indochina as long as it feels its presence there is useful. But it was not intended that Canadians remain there indefinitely.

The Canadian delegation in Indochina are serving in Viet Nam, Prime Ministers Louis St. Laurent of Canada and there are some 30 in Laos.

The Canadians serve for one year and the third group now in en route there by RCAF transport.

Want Faster Paper Delivery To Servicemen

OTTAWA (CP) — Three Opposition members have urged faster delivery of Canadian newspapers to Canadian servicemen in Europe.

Alistair Stewart (CCF) —Winnipeg North said Thursday night a lack of home news was a major complaint he heard on a visit to the Canadian brigade group in Germany last year. He had been told newspapers arrived three to five weeks late.

Ellen Faircloth (PC-Hamilton West) and Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary North) agreed.

Defence Minister Campney said the problem has been studied. He did not know what more could be done, but he would look into it again.

IN MEMORIAM

BRAY — In loving memory of a dear son, Bobby Bray, who left us July 20th, 1953.
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why some things have to be.
But in His wisdom God has planned,
Beyond our powers to see.
A day of remembrance sadly recalled
Without Thee, dear son, at all.
To be with us in the same old way,
Thou art missed, dear Bobby, today.
Sadly remembered by mother, brothers and sisters and families.

BRAY — In loving memory of my dear brother, Lawrence (Bobby) Bray, who passed away July 20th, 1953.
He had a cheery smile and pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew;
But God thought best to take him home,
And so his memory we keep.
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
Too early loved to be ever forgotten by his wife, Mabel.

GOODMAN — In loving memory of a dear brother, Harvey, who passed away one year ago, July 20th, 1955.
Sadly missed by his brothers and sisters.

GOODMAN — In loving memory of a dear son, Harvey, who passed away on July 20th, 1955.
One year today our beloved son was called to his eternal home.
Gone where the angels sing so sweet.
God took him with God knows best.
We miss him here so very much.
His pleasant smile, his cheery voice.
But we all hope in heaven to meet.
Sadly missed by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

SWEET — In loving memory of Mary Ann Sweet, who passed away on July 20th, 1954.
Sweet memories linger with us the day,
How dear she is to us always.
And breathes the long, long night in silence.
In statue-like repose.
Illumined the eastern skies;
Her spirit passed away this morning at nine.
And ascended in Paradise.
Always remembered by her son Leonard and Jean and grandchildren Janna, Jackie, Billy.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the many kind friends who remembered me while in hospital with cards, letters, flowers and visits. Also to Dr. Gallagher, Dr. Gilmour and Mrs. McKee for their kindnesses. Also Miss Scott and Dr. Potter and my special nurses Mrs. H. A. Hutt and Mrs. Bell for their kind care, and all the nurses and attendants of the 3rd floor. Also the hospital who contributed to my stay. Thank you all. Mrs. Ernest Simmers "thank you" to all.
—Mrs. Harry Farnham.

U.S. 'Localizes' Deadly Fallout From Atom Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has announced progress in "localizing" deadly radioactive fall-out — the first "humanitarian" turn yet taken in the nuclear weapons race that many have feared may lead to the death of civilization.

Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission made the announcement Thursday night.

He said current Eniwetok test blasts have confirmed it is possible to set off a great nuclear blast that will produce effects in the immediate area of a target with minimum widespread fall-out hazards.

"We are convinced that mass hazard from fall-out is not a necessary complement to the use of large nuclear weapons," the announcement said.

The commission said "there will be any further comment or amplification" on this statement.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were uneven, fully steady to fully 50 cents lower on the Toronto livestock market this week. Calves were a trifle dollar higher. Hogs steady. Sheep and lambs held steady.

Cattle receipts were 3,150 head less than last week. Western receipts totalled 1,232 head, an increase of 305 over last week. The westerns were mostly replacements.

Shipments to eastern Canadian slaughterers were sharply lower at three carloads. This compares with 11 cars last week. There were no exports to the U.S. It was estimated 800 head would be unsold at the close, all stockers.

Grass fed cattle were showing up in increasing numbers that lacked a definite grade. Good and choice steers and heifers, and more particularly the top grades in yearlings, were actively sought at strong prices.

Lower grades were slow. Cows estimated 800 head would be unsold at the close, all stockers.

Calves and bulls were generally unchanged.

Prices

Choice steers $21.50-22.50; sales to $22.75; odd extreme top at $23; good steers $20.50-21.50; medium $18-20; others $16-18; good heifers $19-19.50, choice to $20; medium $17-18; others down to $16; common steers and heifers $13-15; choice fed yearlings $21.50-22.50, sales to $22.75, odd steer sold to an extreme top of $23; good fed yearlings $20.50-21.50; medium $18-20; good cows mostly $12.50, sales to $13; good light heifery cows to $14; medium $11-12; common $8-11; canners and cutters $7-8; heavy bologna bulls mostly $14; common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: This class continued to fall slowly with prices lower by up to as much as $1, a hundredweight lower. Good calves $19-19.50, odd extreme tops to $20; medium $17-18; common $16-16.

The light run of calves strengthened prices fully $1 a hundredweight. Choice vealers $22-22; good vealers $18-22; medium $14-18; common $10-14.

Grade A Hogs $28.75; sows $17 and stags $13—the latter two on a dressed weight basis.

Lambs steady with choice ewes and wethers a hundredweight, bucks discounted $1, medium and good lambs $20-24, cull lambs down to $16; $9-20 pound feeder lambs $15-18; sheep $3-9 according to quality.

Three Drowned

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Two young brothers and a woman were drowned Thursday in separate mishaps in Buffalo harbor.

Robert L. Richardson, 10, and his brother, Donald, 11, were paddling a raft when they slipped into the water and disappeared. Mrs. Margaret Kinds, 37, was drowned while swimming.

Twelve Members Wrangle Over Animal Mascot

OTTAWA (CP)—A white goat kindled political warfare in the Commons Thursday and sent two sharp-tongued Quebec members, J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC—Quebec West) and the first shot in a running battle over the care and upkeep of the animal mascot of the famed Royal 22nd Regiment.

The Canadian Army has a goat on the payroll, declared. It received room and board and a special $1,500 board has been built for it. A corporal and two men looked after it. The whole expense was "ridiculous, absurd and useless."

At the night sitting Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative military spokesman said Mr. Dufresne's remarks, inas much as they reflected on the Royal 22nd, were shared by the majority of Opposition members.

PAID BY SOLDIERS

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L — Portneuf) replied to Mr. Dufresne that all upkeep costs come from a regimental fund maintained by the soldiers themselves. The fund finances the goat, which cost only $120. A corporal, who volunteered, cared for the goat in addition to his normal duties.

"No!" said Mr. Dufresne.

"Yes!" said Mr. Gauthier, who said he got his information from the officers commanding.

Then the political infighting began.

Dr. Gauthier said the goat was presented to the regiment by Governor - General Massey last October as a gift from the Queen. It came from a crown herd in Britain.

"So Her Majesty's loyal Opposition should take it more seriously," he said softly.

LIBERALS BLEAT

Liberal members bleated joyfully at Mr. Dufresne.

He asked why Mr. Dufresne "picked on the goat." Tried to make a farce of it."

Mr. Dufresne jumped to his feet to the applause of renewed Liberal bleats.

"Now shut up a minute," he shouted.

He said he wasn't attacking any member of the regiment. He was proud of it. He was certain his $1,500 figure for the cost of the house was correct. And Dr. Gauthier should withdraw the statement that he was picking on the regiment.

Dr. Gauthier threatened him with worse.

"I have in another epithet to replace it and the house wouldn't like it," he said. "Shall I withdraw?"

Mr. Dufresne said it was up to him.

Resources Minister Lesage said Mr. Dufresne was making a goat of himself.

"If the minister will look at himself in the mirror I think he will see two goats," shot back Mr. Dufresne.

Mr. Dufresne had the last word when, as he stood to leave the chamber, a new chorus of bleats came from the Liberals.

"Now I know where the goats are," he shot back.

Quebec Swimmer Pulled From Lake

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP) Lorenzo Lamontagne, 34-year-old Sherbrooke, Que., marathoner making his second attempt to swim Lake Ontario, was pulled from the water convulsed by a cramp shortly before 11 a.m. today.

Lamontagne, who dived into the Niagara River from a boat works dock near here at 6.45 a. m., lasted little more than four hours before the cramps put an end to his attempt at joining Toronto's Marilyn Bell in conquering the 33 miles of cold, choppy water.

The French-speaking Canadian covered less than 10 miles but almost until the moment he was yanked into an escorting boat he had been swimming strongly. He had showed no apparent distress from an easterly wind that whipped the lake into light froth.

Lamontagne started out at a brisk 29 strokes a minute. At 10 a. m. when he had covered seven miles, his rate was about 20.

He had been heading for the Toronto waterfront.

Lamontagne's abortive crack at the long-distance haul followed by only two weeks a similar failure by Jimmy Woods of Ashtown, N. C.

Cornwall Bridge Plans Approved

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian and American officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway have approved plans for a high-level bridge over the south channel of the St. Lawrence River at Cornwall.

This decision Thursday brought immediate protests from chairman Robert Moses of the New York State Power Authority.

Mr. Moses, in a telegram to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission which represents the International Joint Commission, said the plan would delay the opening of the seaway a full year.

WITNESSES MEET

Legal Battle In Court Martial Is Brewing

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)— A legal battle brewed here today which possibly could make or break the defence in the court martial of Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

McKeon, 31, is the former Worcester, Mass., drill instructor who led a platoon of 64 recruits into marsh - bordered Ribbon Creek, where six were drowned.

In essence, the point to be settled by the court's law officer, Capt. Irving N. Klein is this: Were the training methods employed by Marine Drill Instructors pertinent to this case?

Defence lawyer Emile Zola Berman contends they are the "only issue."

The prosecution, headed by Maj. Charles D. Revier of Jacksonville, Ill., holds that they are irrelevent.

Klein told the court Thursday the only issue is whether McKeon is guilty as charged of involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

Berman has contended that McKeon was only doing what comes naturally for a drill instructors when he ordered his men into the swamp on the night of April 8 "to teach them discipline."

If such night marches and treks into the creeks, swamps and marshes are customary at this 5,000-acre training center, Berman adds, then the conduct of Mc-Keon's behavior and the whole incident was not a legal accident.

Klein had told Berman to come prepared today to argue the pertinency of his position with points of law.

Minor Baseball

The T.P.T.'s scored a 14-7 victory over the Orphans on Thursday night in a perverse game postponed from last weekend.

Stu Muirhead, TPT catcher was the star of the game with an outstanding performance at the plate. Muirhead hammered a home run, two triples and a double and drove in a total of eight runs.

Turner and Dolan formed the winning battery, Woods and Cain for the Orphans.

CANADIAN CHEESE SALES CLIMB

Sales of Canadian cheddar cheese to the United Kingdom more than tripled last year and for the first nine months of this year exports were running well ahead of last year's figures. Those are the encouraging facts contained in a press release from the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce.

In 1955 Canadian cheddar cheese sales to Britain rose to 13,500,000 pounds, compared with 4,300,000 pounds in 1954. This increase was recorded in spite of the fact that total British imports of cheddar were lower in 1955 than in 1954. Canada, though, is still getting only a minor portion of the trade. Of the 242,000,000 pounds of cheddar which Britain imported in 1955, New Zealand supplied 75 per cent and Australia 18 per cent.

The fact that New Zealand and Australia are in the sterling bloc, so that cheese purchases from them do not involve expenditure of Britain's scarce dollars, is a major factor in their dominance of the trade. Then, too, there is the advantage which New Zealand and Australia enjoy as the result of their milder climates, which relieve the dairy farmer of the necessity of stabling his herd during the winter months, an expensive operation for Canadian dairymen and one which also reduces production of milk below that enjoyed when the cows are on grass.

For the twelve months ending June 30 this year, Britain allocated a million and a half pounds sterling, or approximately $4,200,000, for the purchase of cheddar cheese from North America. Canada's share allocated a similar amount for purchases during the year beginning the first of this month. Canadian cheddar, says the Canadian Commercial Secretary (Agricultural) in London, can be sold at a fair premium over other cheddar. During the last twelve months the prices for Canadian cheddar rose from $31.89 to $39 per hundred pounds. A typical quotation for Canadian cheddar was 320 shillings for an English hundredweight of 112 pounds, while top grade English cheese was sold for 280 shillings and New Zealand cheddar for 254 shillings.

Never before Canadian cheddar climbed in this fashion had the British bought cheese for a higher price than that offered for the finest New Zealand cheddar. At this latter was quoted at 390 shillings a hundredweight when Canadian cheese was quoted at 320 shillings. However, it is reported that cheese prices may move lower because of the current high rate of cheese imports and the prospect of a greater milk surplus in Britain leading to more home production of cheese. United Kingdom imports for the first quarter of the year were up by almost two million pounds. Canadian cheddar shipments for the same period totalled 784,000 pounds.

HANSARD FOR HIGH SCHOOLS

The Financial Post is concerned about a CCF member's plan to send Hansard free to high schools.

"The question," it says, "is whether reading Hansard would edify their (the students') minds and enhance their faith in democracy.

"The Communist can and often does reach abysmally low levels in what are pompously called debates. It is an experience which usually shakes adult and sophisticated Canadians.

"We don't like the idea of Hansard for the kiddies, until Hansard gets a great deal better."

Well, that is one way to look at the situation.

We wonder, however, if one of the quickest ways to improve Hansard might not be to let the "kiddies" get an insight into the present standard.

Few adults read Hansard and therefore its "authority" as a document can win the attention of critics. If Hansard went to every school, the number of readers might multiply. The "kiddies" might be shocked, but the teen-agers are reasonably durable and would probably survive.

It is not so certain that some of those who shocked them would also survive, not when the "kiddies" got their first votes in a few years time.

And, if the undersigned reads the Financial Post correctly, it would not mourn overlong if there were a high mortality rate among sitting M.P.'s.

HITCH-HIKING PHEASANT

Upon returning from a trip to Canada, an Indiana man lifted the hood of his motor car and a pheasant hopped out of the engine between his radiator and the front grille. The bird ran into a field nearby and disappeared. The motorist then remembered having seen a pheasant hen fly in front of his car at Port Huron, just across the St. Clair river from Sarnia, Ont., 300 miles away. (Sydney Post-Record).

Is Payday a Holiday?

(New York Times)

It was a sunny afternoon, of the type sent along at this time of year as an aid to good conversation. The youngest member of the family was discussing his future. Briskly he reviewed vocations that struck his fancy—aircraft engineer, city fireman, policeman, soldier, sailor, cowboy. There was a pause as if for reflection. His audience, warmed by the sun and soothed by the droning of the bees, sleepily turned over these trends in the mind and waited for more. The youngest member of the family presently responded, and it was clear the pause had been devoted to deep thought. "Payday," he said, "payday is a holiday." As if aware then that conversation is a give-and-take sort of thing, he added, "Isn't it?"

Now, son, it is and it isn't. It is fine indeed to feel that fat envelope on payday, and to imagine all the nice things it could bring. Those were the days, skipping over the surface of the stream, or the power saw on the too-long-prepared piece of wood, or the tiresome task of pictures of musty Presidents and the secretaries of the Treasury, that envelope contains all the desirable items shown in the Sunday ads or the commercials. In that way, for that moment, payday is a holiday. Toward the end of the day does not last, however, and in fact it goes away so fast that after the ads and commercials change their format into those of tomorrow's ads and the butcher, the man who sells insurance and the one who sells cars and the one who sells chine on twenty easy payments. That part of payday isn't a holiday at all.

Payday a holiday? To say that it is and it isn't seems somehow to avoid the issue. Perhaps the truth is that it is a true one. On a sunny afternoon, and if no outsider happens to be listening, it is perhaps permissible to mutilate a little, to examine payday in the historical sense. It is both accurate and fair to explain that payday used to be more of a holiday than it is now. Time went on and necessarily when Hamilton actually was in the Treasury and not just on the $10 bill—then almost all of the payday was a holiday. That envelope contained new suits, agreeably gaudy sport shirts, tennis balls and orchestra scores for the theater. Where are those people now who used to sit in the second seat? Running up bills, no doubt, to wreck someone else's payday holiday. Someone may be listening, so never mind.

Yes, payday was a full holiday, complete down to personal flags and bands. What has happened so that it now has become merely a weekly exercise for cynics? The finger will be pointed this sunny afternoon, even though she never has learned how to keep a budget or to live within its narrow borders. No finger will be pointed even then, however much she knows that when the old washing machine slogged it was necessary and not a luxury to have it when it resume. There is no point in saying now that the old one doesn't would have served, the old kitchen cabinet was big enough to hold the dishes, the old bed.

Shoes. That brings up another point. Is payday a holiday? That payday has run from a full-holiday to this cynics' exercise. Yet there must be room for many more increase in size until they are big enough for the Inaugural ceremony and afterward for the President whose picture will be on future payday currency. That part of it naturally is just good common sense. Is payday a holiday? That cynic with his "isn't" had been more indoors, out of the danger of the hot summer sun, than from any point of view save the wrong one, is a holiday.

What Trout Talk About

(Ottawa Journal)

As a life-long fisherman Milton disciple the countryman has no delusions about fish and fishing. He knows that, according to biological researches, trout are undoubtedly logical fish. The scientific researches tends to indicate that fish make sounds voluntarily and not by accident. The fish not only sounds scientifically the fish were held captive in tanks under experimental situations and given stimulation.

We are not sufficiently versed in scientific terminology to learn that phase to the lads and lasses who enjoy trout fishing with simple angelistic formula. What we would like to know, however, is the kind of trout they have conversation to his lady — the well-known big trout that lives in the deep hole where the overhanging clump of willows shades the water. "Look, dear. That man is here again, and he's trying to fool me. I must work hard up for something to do. Does he think I'll take a worm at this time of the year in such a critical position?"

Perhaps fish nor wives appreciate that a peaceful, sunlit meadow where there is surcease from the harsh symphony of the marketplace is much more important to a man than catching a fish.

Pasturing Is Opposed

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

The new and startling battle of theories is shaping up south of the border. The controversy is between two already pampered and expensive cows.

A new school of thought in farming circles contends that it is cheaper and easier to cut down trees, bring pasture and haul it to the animal than to turn it loose in the pasture and have it come home.

The contention is that the dairy cow and beefsteak on the hoof can be kept from tramping down and wasting their own food.

The opposing farmer theorist points out that it is too expensive to cut down trees, to cut, chop and haul grass to feedlot and silo.

Possibly only time and farming conditions will decide the controversy.

Mr. W. W. Chown has left for Edmonton, Alberta, where he will visit his brother, Dr. Chown.

Mr. Mark Willis and daughter are guests of his cousin, Mr. Stephen Burrows.

Man Is Also 'Dumb Animal'

(Vancouver Sun)

Mankind has no call to feel smug just because he's superior to the whooping crane. He, too, could be on the list for extinction.

Our end mightn't be in the savage mind over the Unconscionclear bomb, either. It could be a dreary process of slow weakening and decay of the race by slow starvation.

Far-fetched? Not so, say the biologists. Other species have faced the crisis of overpopulation of the world land, and gone under.

And, although the dinosaur and the mammoth were not reputably low IQs it can't be said that they made a monopoly on blunderheadedness.

Winston Mair, chief of Canada's Wildlife Service, drew a big slice of us out of our pushbutton age complacency when he spoke to the wildlife conference here.

He pointed out that at the rate things are now going, there'll be fingerstains that defrost themselves, stores that order by radio waves and planes that fly faster than sound he is also:

Building three trees for every two that are planted; and Changing over to the use of thin topsoil of this planet which grows our food, the scanty layer of loam which took aeons to accumulate. One-fifth of the growing land of the United States has already been irretrievably lost by man's carelessness.

Simultaneously with the depletion of potential food supplies, the world's human population will what is probably an unprecedented rate. It is following a pattern familiar to the observer of animal life—that a species always tends to increase past the safe limit of its food supply.

Our fight to save the world's fit whooping cranes from oblivion is not idle philanthropy. It is not sentimentality. It is an exercise in survival.

In the words of Mr. Mair:

"If we cannot learn exactly how to save some wilderness for the grizzlies, how to check the soil erosion and pollution that are wiping out the grayling, how to manage the grasslands so as to keep the prairie chicken around, how can we be certain of our own survival? We are the last of the condor from extinction, how can we hope to save mankind?"

Racial Strife In Britain

(Hamilton Spectator)

From a safe distance here in Canada, we would say that not the slightest harm was done by the visit of Great Britain by the Scottish Judge who sentenced a Negro wife to nine months in jail for striking an English naval officer. Strangely enough, the only British ethnic group outside this court tableau were the Irish.

Anyway, it seems that the Welshman, Gerwyn Fhnesmore, an engineer mechanic who would leave at Rosyth on the Clyde, resented an order given to him by an officer of the Royal Navy to stop singing. The resentment took the form of a blow by the fist which was deemed bad publicity for naval discipline.

One thought which comes to us is that, despite the chasm of race, the officer showed considerable courage in ordering even one Welshman to cease his singing in an order which a prudent "foreigner" (i.e. non-Celt) should hesitate to give, whether he were stiff or in Calgary. And when two or more Welshmen are singing anywhere in the world, we all know there is a chorus likely developing.

But while Engineer Finnemore was obeying his terse, Anglo-Ejstedfod council in Wales should consider conferring upon him, when he is released, one of its highest bardic degrees. A singing Welshman should not be a martyr to British naval discipline without due recognition.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At this season of the year, The Packsack usually prepares a piece that can be clipped out and stuck with thumb tacks in a not inconspicuous place on summer cottage walls.

It is about guests at summer cottages. Everybody who owns a summer cottage whether a large and modern bungalow with all conveniences, or some old shack with withered shanty, is expected by relatives and friends to have visitors. Indeed, the conception of those who don't own summer cottages is that summer cottage owners do always be full to capacity.

"Why," asks you nearest and dearest relative or friend, "are you having up to the cottage the first and second week of August?"

Now, it is a pretty well established fact amongst housewives that have the good fortune to own summer cottages that they work harder during the summer holidays than at any other season of the year including Christmas and New Year. This is because the tradition of summer cottage guests is that they be filled to capacity. It takes a pretty calm and collected woman to give herself a break, and confine her summer cottage to her own and immediate family's rest, peace and quiet.

Not merely is it the tradition to have the cottage filled, but it appears to be generally accepted by guests that they, themselves, be entertained." It is "their" holiday. And it is not an uncommon thing for them to behave as if they were staying at a resort. Oh, well, let us agree that a good many summer guests really turn in and bear their full share of the work around the cottage, helping prepare the meals, never failing to put out the verandas until the last dish is washed and the last pan hung up. While they are there, they are bathing, the women guests take broom and mop and dust cloth to the dust alone of the daily tidying up that must be done at summer cottages even as in city homes.

But it is so easy to surrender hours and days and days to others when the housewife says:

"No, no, my dear! Don't go on with the boys. You never have ten days up here, and I have all summer!"

And all summer she is working like the manager, the hostess, the dietitian and all the maids of a summer hotel.

Little Lesson in Modern Midwifery

It was a little more than a hundred years ago (1843) that Oliver Wendell Holmes published an essay on "The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever" (septicemia, acute blood poisoning following childbirth) — an essay which became a classic in medical and English literature. That was three years before Ignaz Semmelweiss, 28-year-old assistant in the maternity department of the General Hospital in Vienna, ordered that no student examine a lying-in woman until he had washed his hands in chlorine-water. In two years this precaution lowered the death rate from puerperal septicemia from 439 a year to 45 a year. But Dr. Semmelweiss was denounced and reviled, indeed hounded to death by his colleagues.

From all I have read about Dr. Holmes, I gather that he was no great shakes as a practising physician. But on matter. Even before he married he was selling stuff to magazines and newspapers, so I can well imagine Holmes got many hard knocks and also the usual ridicule and invective directed against him by the top medical authorities of the day, men of high standing and, I'm afraid, high blood pressure as well as arteriosclerosis.

Professor of Obstetrics at University of Pennsylvania, and Meigs, Professor of Obstetrics at Jefferson Medical College. These arbiters had tremendous ponderosity in their time — but there was no American Medical Association to back them up and so the teachings of Holmes became the standard practise of obstetrics.

Two or three years after Holmes made himself so unpopular with the stuffed shirts of the profession in America, young Semmelweiss in Vienna followed in his footsteps — implying, the old-timers charged, that "everyone is out of step but Semmelweiss."

Now, when it comes to winning the good will of the profession, Holmes and Semmelweiss had no thing on the conductor of this agreeable column. All they did was just insist that doctors should wash their hands before attending childbirth. I grant you, that was pretty radical teaching a hundred years ago. But, after all, many of my teachings today are vehemently rejected by the rye-men of the A.M.A. Wouldn't it be better for them to know, or, if they can, statistics to show ...

(1) That it is safe to have a baby in a hospital as it would be at home; or

(2) That an intelligent woman in childbirth should not decide for herself whether or when she shall have an anesthetic; or

(3) That newborn infants are happier and enjoy it taken out of their mothers' sight and hearing and put on the exhibition in the window nursery.

The old-timers of our day hate this sort of course, but every new departure I advocate here, in the field of midwifery, seems rapidly growing in popularity — natural childbirth, rooming-in, and home delivery.

Having babies at home will logically follow rooming-in.

In all this evolution of midwifery I am not the originator and critics remember one thing: I didn't dream up or invent any of these reforms. Indeed, I always get the credit for what goes on. If I'm inaccurate in my interpretation it is the moral obligation of the medical profession to do something now.

THE WORLD AROUND YOU

Imagine yourself to be out walking at some distance from your home. Suddenly you come upon a lovely island. You wander through the gates. The grounds are beautiful with stately trees and lovely flowers. Birds are singing on all sides. You pass by the placid mirror of a lake with a picturesque rocky cliff, and pass into the twilight restful calm of a lofty avenue of [illegible]

As you walk, you keep wondering whose this is. Who has built this wonderful estate? Your admiration and respect for the owner increase with every step.

But this is an imaginary adventure. You live in a world full of all these beauties of nature, and many more besides. It is a wonderful estate, indeed, and one that you have had from your childhood, except that you cannot remember when it was new to you. And you should, indeed, be full of wonder and reverence for its Creator.

One of the finest things about the vacations which so many families spend at the seashore or in the magnificent mountains is not only a renewed appreciation of God's world. By contrast with our sensitivity toward beauty can fail to experience a new, fresh cleanliness of soul after he has found the rapture for a while.

The world of nature is God's world, and He often speaks to us most clearly when we are in it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP CLEAN IN MIND

A clean mind goes with a clean body. It is reflected in the face. I once read that an artist with an unclean mind could not paint a beautiful face. Certainly it would lack soul. George Washington once said: "Better keep yourself clean and bright; you are the only looking glass your mother may must see the world."

Naturally people keep their thoughts in the dregs of their mind. The clean mind and the clean thoughts are inter-related. The unhealthy mind usually is accompanied by a bitter tongue that is known for its unkind and ungenerous speech.

Keep clean in mind and you will have a healthy outlook on life. Worldly fears will find no dwelling place within your mind. Each day will open with a happy and pleasurable feeling, and you will be glad that you are alive and full of hope and incentive. Work will be a joy and the meeting of friends always a part to be welcomed.

I once heard a noted lecturer exclaim: "Thoughts are deeds, and may become crimes." There is no room in the mind for unclean thoughts. A favorite poem of the great physician Dr. Osler was taught him by his mother. Such a few lines in this brief space, Here it is:

"Listen to the Exhortation of the Dawn!
Look to this day!
For it is Life, the very Life of Life.
In its brief course lie all the Verities and Realities of your existence:"

It is just as important to keep your mind clean as your body, or your automobile, or your personal appearance. Our body is the temple of God and we thought that we think or give expression to. Families is that saying, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Keep clean in mind and the blessing of Heaven will be upon you.

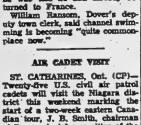
No Glad Hand For Canadian Channel Victor

LONDON (CP)—A small squall is blowing up off the White Cliffs of Dover. Civic pride is hurt because nobody was around to give the glad hand to Canadian swimmer Jacques Amyot when he conquered the English Channel.

The Daily Sketch says there now is a "row" in Dover about official receptions for those who swim the channel.

Amyot, from Quebec, made the crossing Tuesday, but he did it in almost surreptitious fashion. Buffeted by tides, he came ashore at an inaccessible cove at the foot of a 300-foot cliff, then scrambled into his trawler and headed back to Calais before civic officials—and reporters with pencils poised—could get near.

Sam Rockett, who trains many Channel swimmers, said in Dover: "The trouble is you don't know where the swimmer is going to come ashore. It would be pretty silly to roll out the red carpet in Dover and have him turn up somewhere else."



D. C. MacIntosh, entertainment and publicity manager in the Kent resort town, said "you get conflicting reports." First he heard Amyot had failed in his bid, then he was told he had already returned to France.

William Ransom, Dover's deputy town clerk, said channel swimming is becoming "quite commonplace now."

Cancer Research Machine Smokes Equivalent of 36,000 Fags a Day

TORONTO (CP) — A bare-chested professor is carrying on cancer research here with a machine that "smokes" the equivalent of 36,000 cigarets a day.

Dr. George Wrights, a professor of organic chemistry at the University of Toronto and a heavy smoker himself, is trying to find whether there is an agent in cigaret tars which causes lung cancer.

His machine, a weird contraption, is set up in an unused elevator shaft at the university. The professor doesn't have to foot the bill for the tobacco burning, about $560 a day. A tobacco company supplies him with all he needs.

The machine is composed of three stainless steel containers and a vacuum pump. The pump sucks the smoke from the burning tobacco and filters it through the three containers, where sulphuric acid traps cause it to condense on the inside of the cans.

The deposit is then removed and broken into its component parts.

HOT JOB

The whole operation proceeds with a belching, roaring and puffing, and produces such extreme heat that the professor and his assistants are forced to work stripped to the waist.

So far, professor Wright has uncovered nothing which will produce lung cancer in laboratory mice. Even if he does it will not be certain the same substance would have an identical effect on humans.

What professor Wright and his colleague, Dr. E. L. Wynder of the Sloan Kettering Institute in New York, have discovered is that a concentration of tobacco tar will produce skin cancer in some mice.

Government Can Control Interest Rates on Loans

OTTAWA (CP)—A top justice department official says the federal government could control interest rates charged by companies selling goods on the instalment plan but has not done so.

J. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, expressed this legal opinion in testimony Thursday to the Commons banking committee which is studying government legislation to lower interest rates charged by small loans companies.

He also told the committee that Parliament could control the type of advertising used by small loans companies incorporated under the Dominion Companies Act or by act of Parliament. This control would not extend to companies incorporated under provincial statutes.

Mr. Varcoe said the British North America Act gives the federal Parliament jurisdiction over interest rates.

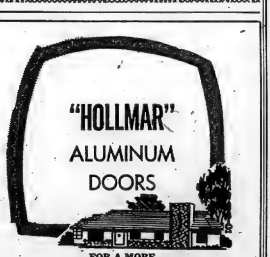
Anton Kuternoga Carried to Grave; Hunting Killer

HAMILTON (CP) — Six impassive men in blue serge suits carried Anton Kuternoga to his grave Thursday while police went without sleep in the search for the men who shot him to death last Saturday.

About 30 persons — real estate salesmen, beer-hall waiters and gamblers — attended the service for the 39-year-old Ukrainian-born victim but many of his known friends didn't show up.

Elza Kuternoga, his statuesque, German-born widow, sat dry-eyed throughout the service. She was seen to dab at her eyes during the grave-side rites later.



Seeds should be planted a little deeper than usual in hot, dry weather. Protect and maintain moisture in seeded spot with a covering of burlap, weighted down. Remove burlap as soon as seeds are sprouted. Keep young plants moist and semi-shaded.

Johnnie was the happy recipient of several fine personal gifts.

Among the adult guests present was Mr. Ben Fuller of Belleville.

Women's Institute

ELDORADO — BANNOCKBURN W.I.

ELDORADO. — The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held its July meeting at the home of Mrs. William Chambers, on Tuesday evening with 19 members and seven visitors present.

Business was discussed.

Mrs. Anglesworth gave a splendid talk on the "Tweedsmuir Book" stating what to put in it and where to put it.

Mrs. James Bailey spoke on "Emergencies and Care" in case of an attack by bombing or hurricane, and what to do.

Mrs. Nickolson showed two short films on "Health."

An auction sale of hats took place with Mrs. Frank Palmer acting as auctioneer. Each one purchasing a hat had to model it. This was much enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, and a social half hour enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess.

Fashion Flash

We're sure the millinery people would want to know about one lady who so admired her beautiful white hat with its trimming of full-blown pink roses that she reproduced it in a party cake. It looked as handsome in cake form as did the hat itself, and of course, tasted much better!

SHOW LONG LEG OF LAW

Woman Works In Box Factory For 68 Years

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Susan Scharlach, 80, who has worked at a box factory here for 68 years, says people used to be made of sterner stuff than is the present generation.

"The bosses know they can depend on us oldsters," she said. "The young ones come and go. They don't care if they work or if they don't."

White-haired and still spry, Miss Scharlach said she started working for the firm when the employers manned the office without aid and often worked in the plant, too. She has watched the company grow from 25 employees to 100, with an office staff of five.

"Jobs were plentiful in the old days but we used to mind what the bosses said," Susan explained.

WANTED: FIRST NAME FOR MR. MAGOO

Poor Magoo. He has no sex appeal, he's spindly-legged, near-sighted and more than somewhat batty.

Still, says the current issue of PHOTOPLAY magazine, which is running a contest to get the old codger a first name, he's captured the hearts of millions who have been him as one of the best-loved cartoon characters of all time.

PHOTOPLAY, at newsstands now, is offering handsome prizes to its readers in exchange for a suitable first name for Mr. Magoo and a jingle's closing line.

Bride-Elect Feted With Gift Shower

DESERONTO. — Mrs. M. J. Ryan was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. C. M. Luffman in honor of Miss Beverly Cole, a bride-elect of this month.

Several contests were enjoyed, the winners being Mrs. F. Covert, Mrs. G. Cole, Mrs. H. Bender and Mrs. M. Jendrak.

Beverly, assisted by her sisters, Mrs. S. Knapp and Mrs. J. Graham unwrapped the lovely gifts and graciously thanked everyone for their kindness.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. Kelly, Miss C. Brundage, Mrs. H. Bender and Mrs. Luffman.

New Canadians Teacher's Dream Says Supervisor

VANCOUVER (CP) —Teaching English to immigrants "is as much fun as going to a party," says Mrs. Phyllis Mendler, who teaches at evening classes from September to March.

"I'd do it even if they didn't pay me for it," she said. "Sometimes we get set out for class I'm feeling dead beat after a long day with the children, but on my way back I'm feeling as if I'd had a night out. It isn't work; it's play. New Canadians are a teacher's dream. Because they are adults, there's no discipline problem. And they're so anxious to learn that they practically snatch the words out of your mouth. And so grateful you could almost cry."

They arrive in her classes from all countries, often unable to communicate with her except by smiling.

SAMPLE COURSE

"We don't attempt to teach them perfect English, because what on earth would the rest of us Canadians think if they spoke perfect English. We just teach them to get along in the language, how to greet each other, ask directions, answer the 'phone and fill in application for employment.

"We laugh a tremendous amount in our classes. They laugh at their own mistakes and I've learned not to be gentle and refrain from hurting their feelings when they are wrong they want me to say flatly that they're wrong."

Each year she has a party for her students in her home. Every object in the house is labelled beforehand and the guests tour the place practising their pronunciation. "And, do you know, this house never saw better parties," she said.

Sunday School Picnic

If you have wi... your local Member lately, your letter found its way to the new aluminum mail box recently installed in the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa. With their attractively bevelled and sanded doors, these lock boxes look handsomely at home in the vaulted corridors of the Centre Block.

Imagination boggles at the messages of praise and blame that will flow through these boxes in years to come, to M.P.'s and Senators yet unborn. Meanwhile we find it fitting that a metal that has become such a vital part of the nation's economy should grace the nation's legislative halls.

HOSTESS TELLS GUEST TIME OF ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just received an invitation to spend a week-end next month with some friends of mine at their summer home in the country. I have several times spent Sunday with them there, but have never been invited for a week-end. The hostess' note of invitation was very gracious and hospitable. She told me what train to take on Friday afternoon, and said she would meet me. But then, to my surprise, she told me the train I am to take back on Monday morning ("this is an excellent express train, and Bill always takes this one"). I have already answered invitation, mentioning the train on which I am to arrive, and saying the Monday morning train she mentioned would be most convenient for my Monday appointment in my office. But don't you agree, Mrs. Beeckman, that this "telling" me about the train I am to take back is out-of-order and not in good taste?—M.W.

No, I entirely disagree with you, M.W. Please don't think your hostess is being over-critical of the slightest discourteous in her suggestion. She is practically taking it for granted that the hostess tell a guest the exact length of time for which she is invited. This is definiteness, instead of being discourteous, is the essence of polite consideration, for with this definite information, both hostess and guest make plans according to the time set, and there need be no awkwardness or misunderstandings.

A "week-end" is a variable period, and the practical hostess has to explain what she means by this period of time. Today's busy hostess has to schedule her hospitality and her plans most wisely to fit in with her own and with her obligations. Naturally she expects her guests to understand and gracefully cooperate, and this you must do!

HUSBAND'S TOWELS MARKED WITH HIS INITIALS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman.

My husband likes, and definitely prefers, a special kind of heavy, rugged bath-towel, in white with a wide dark-blue band about three inches in from the hem. (He had one of these left from his bachelor days, has wanted more, but until recently I have not been able to locate these.) To make them as personal as I am sure he would like to have them, I would like to have them embroidered with his initials. But I have never seen this done. All our other bathroom linens are embroidered with my initials (for example, a wash cloth

unday School Lesson

Christian Church Great Company

By ROY L. SMITH

There has been a considerable ndition on the part of historians d churchmen to speak critically the record of the Christian urch, and that some of its pages e badly blotched must be freely nitted. But the truth is that, in ite of its faults, it has been a eat company down through the MANY

AULTS BEEN MANY

Perhaps we should confess the ts of the Church at the outset. here have been many times when has been unworthily led; there ve been times when it has set ell determinedly against the uth; there have been times when has appeared in the role of leader of injustice. There have en other times when it has exhibited a quality of greatness that s nothing less than despicable. here have been still other times, hen, in truest contrast to her ord, the Church has been actual- outwardly.

ULTS OR FAILURES

But we are at all times under necessity of drawing a clear e of distinction between faults d failures. A physician, for exmple, who knows what the rules f good health are, and deliberatly violates them, is guilty of a ult. But that other physician who gives his best and most conscientious effort, and fails, is uilty of nothing worse than fail-

In Jesus of Nazareth the Church olds up to the world a perfect xample. To fail to reach the goal f perfection may be very disappointing, but it is not indicative f hypocrisy. It may mean nothing worse than that the Church is weak, inefficient, or bewildered. nd who among us has not shared hese common "sins" more often han we like to think?

AVE BEEN SUCCESSES

With all the failures and faults reely confessed, it can still be laimed that the successes of the hurch have been nothing less han magnificent.

One of the first evils of the ancient Roman world which went down under the condemnation of the Christian Church was the unspeakable sport of gladiatorial combat. Unless it be the beating of one another into insensibility which has been introduced inside the home circle for the entertainment of little children, men have never invented a more demoralizing "sport" than that which entertained the nobles of ancient Rome. And it was ended by the heroic action of a priest named Telemachus, who gave up his own life for the cause.

The list can be lengthened almost interminably — Fights have been insured for women and children, the lot of the aged has been made easier, courts have been established on a democratic basis, and a long list of rights has been established and wrongs have been overcome.

THERE HAVE BEEN SAINTS

Thomas A. Edison performed nearly 30,000 experiments, it is said, in his effort to find a material that would serve as a filament for his incandescent lamp. We do not judge him by those 30,000 failures, but we hall him because of his one great success.

> The Uniform Sunday School lesson for July 22: "We Belong to a great Company." Acts 2:44-47; Hebrews 10:19-25; 11:1-13:2.

It is a mistake in logic and justice to blame the Church for all of us who fail, when such great souls as Albert Schweitzer, Toyohiko Kagawa, Sir Wilfred Grenfell, Cardinal Mercier, Father Flanngan and Bishop Bergrave have been produced. Suppose we judge an orchard by its windfalls instead of by its prize-winning beauties!

In every community there are those Christians to whom the neighborhood points with pride, saying, "Yes, but they are really different." They too are the Church.

The Road To Yesterday

Seeking the road to yesterday
They come from far away,
The businessman, the worldly wise,
And some all bent and grey;
They seek the old ancestral home
Where the maple tree,
And live again the days of youth
In blissful memory.

But oh! a mist obscures the way,
The road they fail to find,
Though friends outstretch a welcome hand
And speak in greeting kind;
The road to yesterday's closed,
Tho' near it sometimes seems,
For those who seek this long-lost road
Find it alone in dreams.

—Helen B. Anderson.

The summer calls us, not only to seek new sights and new scenes, but it also calls the wanderers home. The latest arrival here is Mr. James Wickson, a resident for some years at Consecon Lake, but who, four years ago, went to California and who returned last weekend with his bride, a fine-looking lady from San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Wickson are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton and other friends. Mrs. Wickson likes Canada very much and seems very interested in this country. With Mr. and Mrs. Morton, the bride and groom called on on Monday afternoon. We are hoping to see them again.

SEEKING A HOLIDAY

Miss Dorothy Taylor, Toronto, who spent last week the guest of Miss Marjorie Blakely, left on Saturday for home, meaning to visit her sister near Bowmanville enroute. Later she will spend three weeks with a lady friend on a motor trip to Nova Scotia and hopes to visit Prince Edward Island and Green Gables, the home of the Canadian writer, L. M. Montgomery.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders were Mr. Ron Mount and Miss Wendy Russell of Toronto.

HOLIDAYING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Douglas and three children of Ottawa, who arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater, are spending holidays in a cottage on Frank Loyst of Claremount is returning home today after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. A. Vandewater. We are sorry to report that Mr. A. Vandewater is still in hospital but glad to hear that his condition is no worse and sincerely hope that he may soon be better.

Miss Mary Jane McArthur, of Welland, is the guest this week of her aunt, Mrs. Edna Platt.

Mrs. Alice Goodmurphy is spending a few days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cleave, Gilead.

Rev. and Mrs. Heaven have moved to their new home near Belleville. They will be kindly remembered by their many friends here.

Mr. Don Tripp, a well-known and respected resident, passed away last week at his home on Consecon Lake after a long illness in hospital for some time. Burial was made in Hillier cemetery.

A visit to the old U.E.L. cemetery and to the old Hay Bay church was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur, also S. K. Blakely, Miss M. Blakely and Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, ending with lunch at Lake-on-the-Mountain.

THE BEAUTY OF NATURE

Impressed by the beauty of nature about me this morning, I thought what a beautiful world it ours! Although we have not the extended view the country gives, we have the golden sunlight, the shining foliage of the trees, and the flowers. With the peonies and the roses and other flowers still in bloom, God seems lingering in the lap of July. A neighbor, Mr. Fred Ford, who has a beautiful flower-garden, showed me some beautiful cards, pictures taken of his blooms in color. They were fine.

Enjoying the beauty of the flowers here I feel grateful to the former owners who left us such a fine legacy.

RECEPTION FOR NEW RECTOR

A reception was held Saturday evening at the rectory for the new clergyman, Rev. C. R. Gale. Members of St. Andrew's Church and of Christ Church, Hillier, and friends of other denominations, assembled to welcome him. Dainty refreshments were served. Sorry I was unable to join in the welcome but grateful to the ladies who remembered me by the gift of several dainties.

Sorry to report that Mrs. K. Bryant is in hospital after suffering a fall. Friends extend deepest sympathy.

A NEW RESIDENCE AND COTTAGES

Mr. Charlie Bailey, having sold his residence on Noron Street, is erecting a fine residence on the south shore of West Lake, also two summer cottages near it. Welling-ton attracts many in the summer.

COCKFIGHT CRACKDOWN

BORKTON, Eng. (Reuter)—Magistrates decided Wednesday to issue summonses against several local persons including farmers, a veterinary surgeon and two women, for taking part in cockfighting at a nearby farm.

PEARKES URGES

He said it is the equivalent in fighting strength of a division in any other NATO army in Europe. It was well trained and in good heart. German civil authorities were loud in their praise of the conduct of Canadian troops.

"I can't speak in too high terms of the high regard in which our troops are held," he said to applause from all sides of the house.

LIONS INSTRUCTORS

He also said the brigade is lending instructors to the new German army and that German officers are invited to brigade messes where they discuss common problems with Canadian officers.

Gen. Pearkes said he welcomes this as evidence that old hatreds are dying out.

Discussing navy estimates, Mr. Campney said the anti-submarine destroyers will cost an average of $17,000,000 each plus another $6,000,000 apiece for armament and electronic equipment.

When the destroyer program was laid down six years ago, cost of each warship was estimated at $24,000,000, including gear.

QUESTION VALUE

Lt.-Col. Harkness and Lt.-Cmdr. Wallace Nesbitt (PC — Oxford) questioned the value of spending $5,500,000 each to convert and re-equip 20 Second World War frigates.

They said they don't believe the frigates could catch the latest Russian submarines.

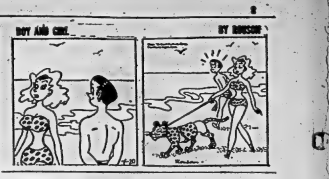
Mr. Campney declined to give the speed of the frigates on security grounds or number of escorts intelligence reports say about the speed of Russian submarines.

However, he said Canadian navy frigates could catch existing submarines.

Thomas Bell (PC—St. John-Albert) a merchant seaman during the Second World War, said he can't understand why Canada is building a large number of escort ships when "we haven't got a bloody ship to escort." He was referring to the Canadian merchant fleet, now down to about a dozen ships.

Mr. Campney said estimated cost of the new aircraft carrier Bonaventure is $26,500,000 "at the moment." Planes for the carrier, scheduled to be delivered this fall, would cost $15,000,000.

ARMY FORMATION BAN



Owen L. Jones (CCF — Okanagan-Boundary) a soldier in both world wars, said tight formation flying by the RCAF should be halted because it risks lives.

He referred to an accident in France earlier this year in which four RCAF Sabre jets flying in formation crashed, killing the pilots.

Mr. Campney, an airman in the First World War, made no immediate reply.

Another CCF member, H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West, asked that the defence department bar Sgt.-Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer from camps of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade in West Germany.

Mr. Herridge, a First World war veteran, said he knows Meyer has served his sentence but more evidence should be shown for the feelings of next-of-kin of the murdered soldiers than for a German war criminal.

WORLD RECORDS

Dawn tomorrow may not come with its storied hush on Picton's famous nautical raceway on the Adolphustown Reach, 5 miles along the high shore east of Prince Edward's pretty county town.

It might be shattered with the crackling roar of mighty marine engines as two of Canada's crack 266 cubic inch hydroplanes skim over hoped-for ideal water in world-record smashing attempts.

"Miss O'Keefe" of Toronto and "Escapade" out of Montreal will line wave splitting bows on the world record of 120.75 miles per hour at present held by Robert Sykes of California.

The attempts may be made at dawn or at any time after that, all depending on water conditions. A six-inch ripple is said to be ideal for racing purposes for this type of speedcraft.

The world record attempts by the .266-crs will presage other efforts for world marks in a regatta which includes inboards, outboards and "seaflea."

According to Commodore Robert Finlayson of the Canadian Boating Federation some 150 craft will race in inboard classes Saturday and outboard classes on Sunday.

Most attention will focus on the large 266 cubic inch inboard hydroplanes. Canada is given a good chance of claiming a world championship in that class. Racing experts agree that Bill Hodgson, Toronto, with "Miss O'Keefe," or Francois Lavigueu, Montreal, in "Escapade," will probably beat the present world's record of 120.75 mph. To break the record officially a boat must run each way over the measured mile, times are taken and averaged to arrive at the official speed. A contestant must make the runs consecutively within a reasonable time, cannot return to the pits for repairs, but may make minor adjustments on the water. He is allowed three attempts at the record during the 24 hour period the trials are held.

Hodgson has already exceeded the present record held by Robert Sykes of California. In unofficial trials at Salton Sea, California, he was clocked at 142 mph. This speed was recorded in salt water which gives extra buoyancy to the boat and allows greater thrust from the propeller.

Ironically Bob Sykes arrived in Canada July 17 to act as chief mechanic for Hodgson. He has flown in from Long Beach and has worked on the "Miss O'Keefe" motors this week at Lake Scugog. The "Miss O'Keefe" is powered with a 325 horse power engine, develops 4,000 rpms prop speed, about one-third more than other 266 cubic inch hydroplanes.

The craft was built especially for racing, measures 18' 9" from bow to stern, has a beam 8' 6", weighs only 2,000 pounds. The sponsons of the craft are narrow, only 50" apart, giving great speed on the straightaway but less stability when turning. The "Miss O'Keefe" carries a stabilizing fin to prevent kiting in the stretches.

TRACK DAY AT THE FAIR

Augmenting the annual Mead Mile, now a first-day feature at the Belleville Fair will be a miniature "track day"-for others than mile runners.

The Mead Mile will top a new four-race program inaugurated this year and which it is hoped, will become an annual attraction.

Featured will be a two-mile relay open to any and all relay teams of the city and district, regardless of affiliation. Two special events for public school students round out the program. These include two dashes, one at 220 yards, the other at 100 yards.

It is important that all entries be forwarded to Lloyd Doran, city recreational director at the City Hall on or before August 2. The races will be held on the afternoon of the first day of the fair, August 13.

Sportsmen of the city have donated cash prizes. The first five finishing in the Mead Mile will receive these prizes with, of course, the winner getting the Mead-Johnson trophy, won last year by Bill Gault. The first two in the relay race; first five in the 220 and the first three in the 100 will receive cash awards and crests.

The public school events are open to students of all schools in the city and district. Better get those entries in immediately.

And don't forget that international incident at Memorial Arena tonight when Britain's Lord Layton clashes with America's Dick Hutton with a $1,000 bill as the main attraction. Layton is popular here and will carry the majority, if not all, of the faithful's support.

Has 2 Homers, Double, Single For Season Mark of 8 RBI's; Indians, Boston, Chisox Beaten

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's robust Redlegs, for all their power hitters, are two games behind National League leading Milwaukee and one big reason is Joe Adcock—the one-man gang Cincy traded away to the Braves.

Figure it from last week's all-star game. Cincinnati's fabulous five—Wally Post and all-stars Gus Bell, Frank Robinson, Ted Kluszewski and Ed Bailey—have hit nine home runs and driven in 26 runs among them, while the Redlegs have lost four of nine and blown a 1½-game lead.

Adcock, the 28-year-old first baseman ordered back when the all-stars were selected, has done almost as well all by himself. He's walloped seven homers and driven in 21 runs, while the Braves have nine wins at 10. The only game Milwaukee lost was Tuesday night's battle with New York which Adcock sat out after a run-in with pitcher Ruben Gomez.

DRIVES IN FOUR RUNS

Adcock, who went to the Braves in a complicated seven-man, four-club swap in 1953, warmed up Thursday as Milwaukee clobbered the Giants 13-5. He smacked his 18th and 19th home runs, one a grand-slammer, a double and a single to become the first to drive home eight runs in one game this season in the majors.

Cincinnati managed to keep pace by beating third-place Brooklyn 7-2, as Bell unloaded his 18th homer with a man on. Chicago's Cubs, with no homers, beat Philadelphia 4-3 in 10 innings on Dee Fondy's fifth home run of the year in the only night game scheduled.

Adcock smacked his second bases-loaded home run in seven games during a five-run first inning against New York's Ruben Gomez. Later he singled home a run and connected with two on off Warren Spahn won his ninth in a breeze, giving eight hits and striking out four.

Gil Hodges' 20th home run gave Brooklyn, in sixth place, a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning, but before the frame was over Bell swiped it out with his shot off Sal Maglie. Four runs in the seventh put it away, Hal Jeffcoat getting his second, coming within one out of his second complete game and first since 1954. Flieger hitters knocked out the ex-outfielder, who has seen mostly relief work.

Jim King and Walt Moryn also homered for the Cubs. Moryn's had tied it in the ninth after Gran Hamner gave the Phils a 3-2 lead in the top of the ninth with his third homer. Turk Lown was the winner, Bob Miller the loser—both in relief.

Quinte Tennis

Quinte Q tennis team defeated Trenton four matches to one in a Bay of Quinte Tennis League fixture on the Quinte courts last night.

The results:

Men's (1)—Ken Woodley and Tom Woodley, Quinte Q; Bill Templeton and Jerry Ireland, Trenton. Won by Quinte Q 6-4, 6-2.

(2)—G. Bell and Dave Pullan, Quinte Q; Bill Mullinger and Wayne Fairman, Trenton. Won by Quinte Q 8-3, 6-4, 6-2.

BUZZY III CHRISTENED

TORONTO (CP)—Buzzy III, the first six-metre yacht built in Canada, was christened at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club Thursday and presented to the RCYC by owner Bryan Newkirk of Toronto.

Mr. Newkirk said he donated the 36-foot racing sloop in an effort to stimulate interest in Canada in the six-metre racing class.

ESCAPES JAW FRACTURE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a marvel, says Early Wynn, he didn't crack from the impact of a screaming line drive that socked him last night.

Wynn, who started the second game of a doubleheader for Cleveland, was clipped on the chin by Washington shortstop Jose Valdivielso's smash in the second inning. Sixteen stitches were required to close the gash, but x-rays Thursday showed there was no fracture.

Where to Fish or Hunt
SOLUNAR TABLES
by John Alden Knight
The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times; if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.
The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half to two hours after. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.
The following chart is for the period from Saturday, July 21st, through July 29th.
All times are Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

Bedard Wins Singles Crown Named to Canada's Cup Team

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian champion Bob Bedard soundly whipped Paul Willey of Vancouver, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1 to win the men's singles crown on the final day of the Ontario tennis championships.

The Shertbrooke star, who lost his service only once in winning the 40-minute match Thursday, was named to Canada's Davis Cup team along with Willey, Don Fontana of Toronto and Lawrence Barclay of Vancouver.

Barclay is the only newcomer to the team which meets the United States in the second round of the North American zone finals at Vancouver July 27-28.

The fifth-seeded Barclay replaced Bedard in the singles title with a 9-7, 6-3 decision over Ron Cooke of Toronto.

events from which team selections are made. The others are Eastern Canada and Quebec Open, were placed last week.

Bedard made a clean sweep of his events, pairing with Fontana to win the men's doubles and with Ann Stacey of Halifax to capture the mixed doubles.

Bedard and Fontana defeated Willey and Barclay 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 5-7, 6-4 in the event's closing match that lasted more than two hours.

Bedard and Miss Stacey defeated Willey and Eleanor Dodge of Montreal 6-3, 7-5.

In senior men's competition, open to men over 45, Ottawa's Ed Bedard won the singles title with a 9-7, 6-3 decision over Ron Cooke of Toronto.

Leafs Regain Top of Heap; Marlins Move in

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs were back on top in the now-pure-it International League pennant race today but Miami Marlins had moved with 2½ games of the top to make the scrap a tight four-team affair.

The Leafs took command Thursday night when they edged Buffalo Bisons 3-2 and received an assist from the third-place Montreal Royals, who finally beat Rochester Red Wings 8 - 4. The Wings' defeat dropped them a half game back of Toronto with the Royals a game off the pace.

Meantime, the surging Marlins dumped Richmond Virginians twice, 6-3 and 3-1. Columbus and Havana were not scheduled.

Lynn Lovenguth checked the Bisons on his 11th for the 10th victory but the Leafs had to come from behind. Lovenguth yielded three of his hits in the first inning, which coupled with a walk, gave Buffalo two runs.

Mike Goliat got one of them back for Toronto in the fourth with his 19th homer and back-to-back doubles by Ed Stevens and Earl Battey tied the score in the fifth.

It remained deadlocked until the eighth when Sam Jethroe tripled and scored on Hector Rodriguez' sacrifice fly.

After being beaten eight straight by Rochester, the Royals salvaged the final game of the four-game series. They took an early 6-0 lead only to have Fred Kipp driven from the box in the fifth under an assault that included three homers. Jack Spears and Clete Boyer paced Montreal's 13-hit attack with three hits each.

Miami's two victories gave the Marlins a record of 12 triumphs in their last 15 outings. A two-run homer by Ed Bouchee in the sixth inning definitely decided the seven-inning opener after the Marlins had come from behind with four runs in the fourth.

Three walks, a wild pitch, Yoyo Hernandez's double and a sacrifice fly gave Miami single runs in the first and seventh innings of the nightcap.

Swim Committee Accepts Offer Of $27,000

TORONTO (CP) — The newly-formed Lake Ontario marathon swimming committee Thursday accepted a $27,000 offer to put on a swim offer, but proclaimed itself "entirely independent" of the sponsor in setting up the swim.

Meeting for the first time, the committee decided to hold the 1956 Lake Ontario marathon swim "probably" the first week of the Canadian National Exhibition Aug. 24-31, with the starting point at Niagara-on-the-Lake, and the finish at the CNE grounds.

It also decided to make the cross-lake marathon an annual event open to all swimmers who meet committee standards.

The committee said its main purpose would be to promote professional swimming in Toronto, to lay down rules and regulations governing swims, and to encourage sports-fishing.

The committee, organized after Brodings Breweries offered $27,-000 in prize money, decided to seek additional funds to make certain the swim is an annual event.

Dodgers Hurl Balls at Clock, Take Time Out

CINCINNATI (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers are in the limelight again today—this time as the question of who broke the big clock at the Cincinnati Redlegs' Crosley Field.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds, says he understood veteran pitcher Sal Maglie threw baseballs at the clock Wednesday night.

The clock, atop the scoreboard, quit and is in need of an expert to get it back to work.

"It is hard to understand what possessed a Brooklyn player, whom I understand to be Sal Maglie, to commit an act of vandalism by putting the clock on top of the scoreboard out of commission," said a reporter.

Reached by telephone, Maglie laughed at the statement and said he didn't understand why it was quizzed.

"He (Paul) is just trying to get some publicity on a thing like that and with all those kids around," he added.

He was referring to the "little leaguers" who came to the ball game.

Spectators said they saw several players throwing baseballs at the clock.

Durelle Whips British Boxer

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Canadian light-heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., knocked out Wilfred (Tucker) Picot, of Dorchester, Mass., at 2:59 tel the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round boxing bout Thursday night.

The champion weighed 177 for the non-title fight and Picot 170.

The fight was one of the roughest seen here in years with both boxers clinching it freely. In the fourth Durelle landed several rights and lefts before sending Picot to the floor with a hard right to the face.

Blue Hill Course Rugged Test For Pro Golf Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

CANTON, Mass. (AP) — An almost incredible amount of work has been done to get the Blue Hill Country Club course ready for today's opening of the 38th Professional Golfers Association championship.

But it still leaves a few worried looks on the faces of officials who have the responsibility of planning future championships.

Naturally, they're not saying much about this. They don't want to put the rap on their own tournament. Neither do they want to injure the feelings of a lot of people who have done their best to turn this tight little 6,434-yard course into a championship test.

This annual affair is the showpiece of the vast PGA organization and the harsh fact is that the officials will have to do something about securing better sites and about getting more of the better players into it.

NOT UP TO PAR

Blue Hill, for example, is an old-fashioned New England country course. It has some fine, testing holes cutting through the woods and it should be adequate for this all-match-play tournament. But it isn't the kind of course the fickle U.S. Golf Association would pick for one of its major tournaments.

In addition to replacing the clubhouse, burned down last New Year's eve, with a modernistic $1,000,000 building, Blue Hill has to build roads and walk-ways over swampy areas and replace damaged greens to make the course satisfactory for players and spectators. There still are a good many unplayable spots.

The rather rugged situation may make the competition more interesting. In the 18-hole medal-play matches which make up the first five rounds, one bad shot into the rocky woods or to a soggy spot could mean the difference between winning and losing.

Blue Hill with its 36-35—71 par, is a course for accurate drivers. That could make it tough for players like three-time champion Sammy Snead, who hasn't been playing well anyway or Chick Harbert, another wild-hitting ex-champion. Experts trying to pick the winner lean toward steady shooters such as defending champion Doug Ford, Masters winner Jackie Burke, or Ted Kroll, who blew his big chance for the Open championship this year on one horrible hole.

Lumsdon Will Help Marilyn; Try Fuca Swim

VICTORIA (CP)—Cliff Lumsdon clubmate of Marilyn Bell and winner of the 26-mile Atlantic City swim Wednesday, is coming to Victoria to assist in Marilyn's training and to prepare for a June de Fuca Strait bid of his own.

Arrangements for the burly Toronto swimmer to come here was reached after he spoke by long distance telephone with coach Gus Ryder, in Victoria training Marilyn for her attempt on the strait.

Ryder, overjoyed with Lumsdon's Atlantic City victory, wants to link his two top swimmers in training for their mutual benefit. Ryder coached Marilyn and Cliff together during the spring but was unable to accompany Lumsdon to Atlantic City because of commitments in Victoria.

Many Professional Actors Will Not Attempt Live TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Every engineering device conceivable by man is always ready to prevent mechanical failure in a live television program. But no one ever can invent any device to prevent an occasional sudden failure in the human system.

That is why any live television program can be as risky as a tightrope walk across Niagara Falls. To Ralph Bunker a fantastic program is a routine, casual feat. It doesn't seem possible to him that the rope could creak.

Yet there are other professional actors who consider the rope too frail even to attempt a role in live TV drama. The tension, they say, is too much.

Bunker, a relaxed and pleasant veteran of more than 30 years in the theatre, movies and television, had a character role last Monday in the Robert Montgomery Show (NBC-TV, 8:30 p.m. Monday). In Day of Grace, a fantasy, he played the role of Josiah Mr. Angell, the editor of a religious publishing house.

On Monday the technical rehearsal of Day of Grace went off flawlessly. The cast took a short break. During the break Bunker ate a tuna salad sandwich and drank a cup of black coffee. The cast returned and went through dress rehearsal with every line, every bit of stage business perfect.

They rested briefly, waiting for the live show to begin, when "I began to feel dizzy," said Bunker. "I had no nausea, but everything around me seemed to be growing darker and darker. I scarcely knew where I was. I couldn't remember a line. I didn't even know my own name. Then, as in the distance, I heard someone say 'You're on' and I knew I had to go on and I did.

COVERED FOR HIM.

"My scene was with John Gibson, a wonderful actor with a great future. I didn't know what I was saying, but I remember seeing the stage manager mouthing lines to me—but I couldn't understand what he was saying. I knew I was only three eastern brookies weighing 10 pounds or better have come to its attention in the last 23 years. The most recent was a fish of 19 pounds, two ounces from Ontario's Lake Nipigon in 1950. The world's record is a 14½-pounder caught in 1915 in the Nipigon River, which runs from Lake Nipigon into Lake Superior. (Last year Field and Stream discarded only four eastern brook trout in eight pounds or better, including the open winner. They were caught in Ontario, Quebec and Labrador.)

Betts hooked the big one with a Gib Stewart lure on a 10-pound-test line. He had no idea how long he played the catch—"you don't look at your watch at a time like that."

Betts had caught a dozen "pretty fair fish" on the Saturday and went back morning for another try. He spotted the big one in a deep pool and saw another angler approaching in panic. The big one gobbled up the lure moments after it hit the water.

One theory on the prevalence of tackle-busting fish in the creek is that they run up from Burntstick Lake during occasional high-water periods and get trapped in the pools.

Burntstick Lake is reached by automobile by driving 35 miles north of Calgary to Innisfail, 25 miles west to Bicinus and 10 miles south on a new forestry conservation road.

Nine Pounders Common

Foothills Creek Trout Mecca Brookie Weighs 10 Lbs. 10 Oz.

CAROLINE, Alta. (CP) — A small Creek in the Rocky Mountain foothills has become just about the most sizzling stretch of angling water in North America.

Upper Stony Creek, about 90 miles northwest of Calgary as the crow flies, has given up in the last two months three eastern brook trout all substantially heavier than the biggest of the species recorded on the continent last year.

The creek, cluttered with beaver dams and heavy willow growth, feeds into Burntstick Lake 30 rugged miles west and south of Caroline. It seems an excellent bet to produce the winner in this year's fishing contest sponsored by Field and Stream magazine, recognized authority for angling records, and crack casters Canada's recent monopoly on prize-winning brookies.

Ivor Hordliffe of Red Deer, Alta., started the stampede with a nine-pound, two-ounce brookie. The fish also got catalogued and recorded in the book.

Experts thought he had top honors all sewed up.

As Hordliffe's fish was being mounted, Ted Betts of Caroline caught a nine-pound, five-ounce trout in the same creek.

Then Betts landed a monster weighing 10 pounds. One ounce—full 2½ pounds heavier than Field and Stream's North American open winner in 1955.

(In New York, Field and Stream said only three eastern brookies

Offspring of Famous Star Makes Leap Into Bigtime

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Still another offspring of a famous star has made the leap into the big-time. This time it's James Mason and Arthur, adopted son of Helen Hayes.

Jim, 19-years-old and soon to enter Harvard, joins many other second (or more) generation players. Among those we've been seeing lately: Tony Perkins (son of Osgood), Pat Wayne (John's sprout), John Barrymore Jr., Elizabeth Montgomery (daughter of Robert), Robert Dix (Richard's son).

Young Jim has rugged good looks, a curly crew cut, a nose that may have been some battering on the football field and a medium but solid build.

What does his mother feel about his acting career?

"She was against it," Jim replied flatly, "She was always discouraging me from becoming an actor. She's not my father."

This is common among parents in show business. The theory seems to be to discourage the kids as much as possible from an acting life. If they have the driving urge despite such discouragement, then maybe it's okay for them to become actors.

Jim's father-in-law has proven a big step toward prominence as an actor. Previously he had done only a few small parts in summer stock.

"Then I got acquainted with Herb Mamlin, who was producing a Producer's Showcase show my mother was on," Jim recalled. "He was doing a drama called Strike a Bell on TV and asked me to read for it. I didn't get the part.

"Later he went to Hollywood and asked me if I'd like to try out for the part again. It was a free trip to California, so I decided why not?"

He won the role that time. He made a big enough impression so that how as signed to repeat the role in the film version for RKO. that he was signed to repeat the Stranger, and he co-stars with Kim Hunter and James Dalely.

But that doesn't mean that his film career will now blossom.

"I'm going to college first," said Jim. "I'll finish school before I decide about an acting career. I'd like to finish or my mother would blow a fuse."

British Promoter Insists Fight Is for Title

MONTREAL (CP) — Jack Solomons, the jovial British fight promoter, says that as far as he is concerned the new world heavyweight champion will be crowned in Toronto's Maple Leaf Stadium July 25.

Solomons, who has a 50-per-cent share in the Archie Moore-Jamel Parker bout—hit pay television revenue in Canada — made the statement Thursday night.

"Personally," he said, "Parker is a very much improved and different Parker than when I first laid my eyes on him and I really think he's going to win.

"Everyone told me Randy Turpin had no chance with Ray Robinson, but Turpin won the middleweight championship of the world in their first meeting."

Of the Toronto fight, he said: "Can you tell me who hasn't recognized it? The public is buying the tickets. Writers from England and New York and other places are coming for the fight. Everyone recognizes it except maybe the International Boxing Club.

"If Parker wins, he is prepared to defend the heavyweight title against Floyd Patterson either in Toronto or London."

ASKED ERROR COUNT

BOSTON (AP) — Kansas City first baseman Eddie Robinson has been charged with an error—at his own request.

Robinson Thursday told the official scorer in Wednesday's 7-6 Boston victory that he should have caught a throw from short stop Joe Demaestri in the fifth inning.

Demaestri originally was charged with the error on his throw to first in an attempt to complete a double play. A run scored on the error.

Plans to Swim Lake Erie In Handcuffs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP)—Wesley R. Struble of Rochester, N.Y., has the newest stunt in his aquatic swims. He plans to swim Lake Erie Saturday—handcuffed.

The 30-year-old Struble is to enter the water at nearby Angola and make for the amusement park at Crystal Beach, Ont. The distance is 12½ miles and he expects to cover it in less than 10 hours.

Struble is no newcomer to handcuffed lake swims. He once swam 4½ miles in a strait-jacket. That was in Lake Ontario, from Sea Breeze, N.Y., to Ontario Beach Park near Rochester.

For Saturday's feat his manager, Arthur Kinsfall, says the father of four will lie on his back for part of the crossing, and probably will have his upper attached to his feet.

Struble made a flipper-aided attempt to cross Lake Ontario last September from Youngstown, N.Y., to Toronto. He was hauled out after 19 hours in the water, only two miles from his goal.

Unconscious when his handlers pulled him out, he needed inhalator treatment for 15 minutes before regaining consciousness.

Three weeks before he tried to cross at the lake's widest point, between Rochester and Wicked Point, near Picton. The distance there is 48 miles, as opposed to the 40 miles from Youngstown to Toronto. Before giving up, he covered 12 miles in six hours.

Maracle Blanks Frankford 5-0 In Exhibition

Johnny Batchelor's pair of two-run homers sparked Point Anne Cementmen to a 5-0 exhibition victory over Frankford Merchants at the village last night.

The second-sacker followed Dave Boyd' single with his first blast in the initial frame. His second came after an error in the seventh. Pat Gilmore drove home the odd tally.

Pat Maracle hurled six-hit ball for the winners while Bob Hunter surrendered seven safeties for Frankford.

Roger Mallory, Dave Jones, Pete Green, Pat Gilmore and Lloyd Maracle had singles for Point Anne. Bill Hankin's three-bagger singled for the homesters with base-hits going to Mike Cosgrove, Harry Wilson, Bob Hunter and Doug Armstrong.

Pitching: Jimmy Piersall, White Sox — Ended Chicago's losing streak at 11 games with a six-hitter last night, driving in 3 runs, striking out nine and walking two.

Hitting: Jose Adcock, Braves—Became first major leaguer to drive in eight runs in one game this season, hitting three home runs, one a grandslammer, a double and single in 13-3 romp over Giants.

WINS SENIORS

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — John Chipman of Toronto shot a six-over-par 76 to lead the London Hunt Club's 12th annual seniors tournament today.

The 62-year-old Chipman, who won the Ontario seniors title three years ago, had to beat a competent field of veterans including

AT THE CAPITOL — "Break Your Bones" — These words are Lee J. Cobb's exhortation to his drivers as they enter the famous European speed classics. Here he is shown with Kirk Douglas just before the start of the Mille Miglia in "The Racers", a spine tingling drama about sports car racing, which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre today and Saturday. Douglas stars with Bella Darvi, Gilbert Roland, and Cesar Romero in this Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production in color by De Luxe. On the same program in CinemaScope and Technicolor "The Left Hand of God" starring Humphrey Bogart, Gene Tierney and Lee J. Cobb. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00. Doors open at 12.30.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

AT THE BELLE — "Wee Geordie", hilarious Bill Travers as Geordie, Alastair Sims, Nora Gorsen, in Technicolor — 2.30-7.30-9.35.

AT THE CAPITOL — All CinemaScope Technicolor show. "The Left Hand of God" starring Bella Darvi, 1.00-3.15-5.30-7.45-10.00. Humphrey Bogart, Gene Tierney — 2.50.

AT THE McCARTHY — "Congo Crossing" — Technicolor — CONTINUOUS SHOWS FROM 1.00-7.00-9.00 — Vera Ralston, Color Corby, Michael Rennie, Lon Chaney — 3.25-8.25.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, July 21, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—When work and essentials are over, enjoy real relaxation. Don't be an over-doer! Romantic and family interests top the favored list. Avoid too much pressure physically or mentally.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Unless necessary, sidestep long and tedious activities now. They help neither disposition nor mentality. Supplement outdoor pursuits with some good reading.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Make practical plans for the future. You can think best when not distracted by outside interests. Self-control and concentration

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Direct efforts (business or recreational) along familiar paths for best results. Your exuberance is infectious and is a good salesman for you. Use it effectively, but in an unaffected manner.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Powerful influences predominate. Don't try to swim against the tide of righteousness or honest public opinion. Your innate good qualities should be brought to the forefront, made to count.

August 24 to September 23—(Virgo)—Don't waste time on trivialities. Extend some of your thoughts and desires beyond usual channels. Something new, different and worthy of you is called for. Curb an inclination toward egotism.

September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—There are tendencies toward procrastination now. Don't yield to them. If your goal is a distant and difficult one, do not become discouraged, extended effort

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—Energizing rays suggest that you be up and doing—not necessarily in strenuous activity but something "different". Park your worries elsewhere. Enjoy wholesome, entertaining interests.

November 23 to December 21—(Sagittarius)—Don't become involved in situations that are snowballing with detail. Plan activities so that you have some free time for recreation. Visit with friends, relatives, neighbors.

December 22 to January 20—(Capricorn)—Co-ordinate ideas so that you may reap the full benefit from efforts. A lost day can never be relived. Chart your program with zest, discernment, conscientiousness. Keep a watchful eye on your goal.

January 21 to February 19—(Aquarius)—Capitalize on your talents. They will not develop unless exercised. Look to old friends for advice when troubled. Have faith in your ability to cope with problems. Fact!

February 20 to March 20—(Pisces)—Generate the enthusiasm needed for day's schedule (work or play). A "wet blanket" is never popular. Harmonious surroundings are helpful. Avoid a tendency to make caustic remarks, criticize unjustly.

MENTAL TESTS ORDERED

MONTREAL (CP)—Social welfare court Wednesday ordered mental tests for a 16-year-old boy who was held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the slaying of nine-year-old Bobby Jones. At the end of the tests, which usually take about 10 days, the court will decide whether the boy is to be handed over to criminal court for arraignment.

Adenauer Opposes Any Cut In West's Conventional Arms

West Germany Is Alarmed By British and U.S. Plans

BONN, Germany (AP) —West Germany announced Friday she will resist any move to reduce Western troop strength.

A spokesman said that the government will oppose any effort by NATO to reduce conventional arms and military manpower.

This press-conference statement by press chief Felix Von Eckhardt reflected the government's alarm over reports that the United States and British are planning to reduce their conventional arms and bring home some of their divisions from Germany.

The German ambassadors in Washington and London, Heinz Krekeler and Hans Von Herwarth have been asked to hurry back to report to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Bonn's objections to arms cuts will be given to the NATO permanent council in Paris next Wednesday, Von Eckardt said. He said Adenauer believes such reductions would increase the danger that any conflict around the world would explode into atomic war.

Adenauer considers the most effective step toward warding off this would be controlled reduction of armaments, not a cut, the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, President Theodor Heuss' chancellery in Berlin said Russia was making 12,000,000 West Germans liable to compulsory military service.

The bitterly opposed bill was given final parliamentary approval by the Bundesrat (upper house) Friday.

The government plans to begin registering youths for the draft in September and call the first call-up papers next April.

Ontario Couple Plunges to Death In B.C. Mountains

TUPPERVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Trucker Jack Wills, 70, and his 67-year-old wife Rose, were the victims of a 300-feet death plunge when their car ran off a road in British Columbia's Rocky Mountains, relatives here were informed Friday.

Police said the body of a woman believed to have been that of Mrs. Wills, was found at the foot of a cliff 25 miles north of Revelstoke, B.C. Friday and was buried without an inquest.

Police added the divers were still seeking the body of Mr. Wills in the Coldstream Lake, into which the car plunged from Big Bend Highway.

The car is believed to have crashed last Friday. A passing motorist found the woman's body. A car licence plate recovered from the river is registered in Mr. Wills' name.

Attempts to raise the car with chains and cables were hindered only broken pieces.

The vehicle was believed to contain another body. There was no clue to the identity of a possible third person.

RCMP recovered a border-crossing card bearing the inscription "Wills, Tupperville, Ontario."

The hats were identified by Bill Wills, 46, one of the couple's four sons.

He said he last received a postcard from his parents from Kelowna, B.C., 175 miles south of the death scene, dated July 7.

Tupperville is 30 miles south of Sarnia.

At Revelstoke, RCMP said they were still attempting to hold an inquest into Wills' presumed death.

Inco May Launch Big Development In North Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Officials of International Nickel Company began arriving here Friday for a round of conferences which may lead in a decision to launch one of the biggest mining developments in Manitoba.

R. D. Parker, vice - president and general manager, conferred with D. M. Stevens, chairman of the Manitoba Hydro Electric Board, on details of a power supply for the company's property in the Lynn Lake-Moak Lake deposits 425 miles north of Winnipeg.

Next week H. S. Wardle, president, will arrive from New York for a conference with Premier D. L. Campbell and the Manitoba cabinet.

It is believed that a combined development—mine, power plant and possible ore-processing facilities—could mean an investment of more than $200,000,000, largest in Manitoba's history.

International Nickel has studied the Mystery Lake-Moak Lake deposits for many years. A 1953 exploration shaft was started last year at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. The company has kept its operations secret. Grade of ore is not known publicly.

Power is a key factor.

STORY of MARCH SGT. ORDERED TOLD IN COURT

Defence Lawyer Takes Quick Mystery Trip

By REM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—A mysterious trip by defence lawyer Emile Kola Berman left the court-martial of Marine Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon in weekend recess today.

McKeon is on trial following the tragic night search he led into a swamp here April 8. Six of the 74 recruits on that march were drowned.

Berman asked for and got yesterday a cancellation of today's scheduled session to make a flying trip in connection with the case.

A defence spokesman declined to say where Berman was going or whom he will see.

MARCH STORY TOLD

The story of the march that McKeon ordered ended from the stand Friday in the commanding voices of Marine combat veterans and the bloodied fists of youth.

Specifically McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

If convicted, the 31-yerald father of three faces a dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of pay and a third—could receive a maximum sentence of perhaps six years and seven months' confinement.

Pte. Earl Grabowski, 18, of Cleveland, Ohio, told of coming back from evening chow and smelling alcohol on McKeon's breath. "Could they have been beer or something." The government says it was vodka.

When McKeon broke out the pistols for the disciplinary march Grabowski related, "he told us we were going for a swim."

Grabowski said the march went about two feet straight into the water, turned left for about 40 feet on a course paralleling the bank.

There, he related, McKeon ordered another column left and moved out into water deep enough. After moving a distance Grabowski estimated at 12 feet, McKeon ordered the recruits to left and moved again on a course parallel to the bank.

"That's when I dropped into a hole," he said. "That's when the panic broke."

The rest was a story of men grabbing each other in the darkness and struggling for survival.

See Next Move up to Russia In Struggle for Middle East

LONDON (Reuters) — Diplomatic observers today foresaw a new round in the struggle for influence in the strategic Middle East following withdrawal of American and British offers to help Egypt build the giant Aswan dam.

The next move is up to Russia. Diplomatic attention now centres on possible Soviet moves to step in and finance the sheet-anchor scheme of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser for irrigating much of Egypt's desert land.

The abruptness of the U.S. and British decisions to drop offers of assistance in financing the first phase of the $1,300,000,000 construction scheme came as a surprise to diplomatic and political circles here.

It was unanimously agreed that the step was a bold one in the tense complexities of the Middle East scene.

As far as the British government is concerned, the move is expected to win the general approval of the country as being overdue in the face of insistent Egyptian propaganda and machine has flung at Britain over the last year or so.

The approval was reflected in today's British press.

Most newspapers welcomed the withdrawal as being a lesson to Nasser in trying to play off East against West. All agreed the West was taking a calculated risk in leaving the field open to Russia.

The Daily Mail says a joint Anglo - American statement of would have given the impression that at last Britain and the United States had some sort of united policy in the Middle East."

The paper fretted: "Why was it left to the Americans to call his (Nasser's) bluff!"

The U.S. announced her withdrawal first and was followed by Britain.

Both the U.S. and British governments carefully attributed their withdrawal of $70,000,000 in aid offers to decision that Egypt could carry its own burden by sharing the cost of the 10-year plan.

The force of this argument is generally accepted, paticularly since Cairo's economic commitments under its big arms deal with Czechoslovakia are unknown.

But the Anglo-American move is widely interpreted here as a political one. It is taken as the first clear indication that the Western powers are not prepared to indulge in bidding against Moscow to win the sympathy of a state which appears to seek the best of both worlds.

Some observers believe the Russians will take the opportunity to establish their influence in Egypt. Others think that Moscow, silent so far, will be content merely in helping its fellow - Communist states to develop their economies, will find the project too big to undertake in its present form.

Most independent Scotsman declares that the western powers "have rightly taken that "kicking them in the teeth" was not a sure way of getting aid from them.

The Manchester Guardian: "Col. Nasser can hardly complain if he is found entitling a recipient of aid even by the standards of a sympathetic outlook towards neutralism."

HOUSE APPROVES $1,775,000,000 DEFENCE PROGRAM

Air Force Gets 42 P.C. Of Money Allotted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's $1,775,000,000 defence program for 1956-57 has been approved by the Commons. The amount it the same as in 1955-56.

The Commons, in its first Friday night sitting of the session, completed its Resupply debate and the appropriations which again place heavy emphasis on the air force, held the line at the 1955-56 figure—two days last month and three days thi week.

On Monday the Commons resumes its estimates legislation to take up the Dominion-Provincial tax-sharing proposals. It will sit a total of 41 hours next week, including Saturday, in a drive toward prorogation early next month. On July 30 It will have equalled the modern record of 140 sitting days.

RCAF GETS MOST

Of the total defence appropriation, the RCAF gets $672,000,000 or 42 per cent, as much as the other two services combined. The army gets $471,000,000 or 34.7 per cent and the navy $325,000,000 or 17.6 per cent. The remainder is for the Defence Research Board is $79,000,000, a 10-per-cent increase over last year's amount, and for NATO mutual aid $143,-000.

Main portion of the increase for Defence Production, said Brooks, is for the supersonic CF-105 jet interceptor project and development of the Canadian Sparrow, an air-to-air guided missile to arm the CF-100 jet now in squadron service.

Defence Minister Campeey, who headed his departmental estimates through the Commons with comparative ease, said that between $10,000,000 and $11,000,000 will be spent on air-to-air guided missiles in the fiscal year.

FINISH "VELVET GLOVE"

Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 would be required to close up the project involving Velvet Glove, the Canadian designed air-to-air weapon accepted in favor of the Sparrow. The project has already cost $1,000,000 since 1950.

Mr. Campeey added that about $2,000,000 will be spent to obtain Sparrow missiles from the United States —the Sparrow was developed by the U.S. Navy. Production facilities will be for tooling up for Sparrow production by Canadian plants, including Canadair, Montreal, Canadian Westinghouse, Hamilton, and A. V. Roe, Malton, Ont. Each plant will combine in production of the missile.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) said most of the $24,000,000 spent on Velvet Glove was money down the drain.

NOT DEAD LOSS

But Mr. Campeey said the government doesn't regard the project as a dead loss. Some 400 persons had been employed on the air-to-air missile field and plants could start immediately with manufacture of the missile if and when it came from the Canadian line at Emerson, Man., and market it to European and North American customers in North Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

A two-months hearing of the application—vigorously opposed by American civil aviation and railroad interests—and pipeline firms already operating in the north-central market—ended in mid-April with a commission announcement that it would set a date later for cross-examination of Midwestern's witnesses—a move which could consume several months more.

Millions 'Killed' In U.S., Canada Are Hit by Mock A-Bombs

By CAROLYN WILLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP) — Canada today is a pock-marked map, a country declared in a state of emergency with thousands of its citizens dead and wounded and thousands more evacuated from their homes in the face of hypothetical enemy attack.

It faces renewed enemy bombings, planned on paper as exercise Alert III to test Canadian and international communications. The exercise ends Sunday.

Federal civil defence headquarters here received reports Friday that nine Canadian centres had been hit by a presumed five-megaton bomb, equal to some 5,000,000 tons of TNT each.

REPORT CASUALTIES

Each city bombed reported 10 per cent of its population as casualties, with the exception of Montreal and Vancouver, which reported 20 per cent because of its evacuation difficulties.

Around the bombed areas—at Goose Bay, Labrador, Cheticamp, Owen, Newcastle, N.B., Montreal; Owen, Petawawa, Winnipeg; Riverhurst, Sask., Edmonton and Vancouver—radiation danger zones were established.

The interception of the blast at Cheticamp, eight bombed areas predicted radioactive fallout. Exercise Alert III involves 10 countries from neighboring U. S. cities to Britain, also including Anchorage and Juneau in Alaska.

GRIM SITUATION

"It's a pretty grim situation," said Maj.-Gen. C. S. Hatton of Ottawa, director of the test exercise, in charge of the Canadian and States simulated program.

"But it might have been worse if we hadn't had some evacuation policy and some measures to start the policy," he added.

He said the exercise indicated the need for more training, organization and effort to implement the plan.

Communications were maintained by a battery of teletypes and radio operators, many of them women who normally work at civil services in Ottawa. These amateur radio operators from Ottawa offered their services.

IN AN EMPIRE?

Altogether, a nucleus of some 150 men and women are working here. They include federal and welfare personnel, officials of 11 federal government departments and officers of the Canadian Army and RCMP.

Although hypothetically, this town 40 miles west of Ottawa now has received evacuees totalling more than five times its normal population of about 5,200, the exercise calls for 12-hour shifts for each works on six-hour shifts to keep the centre continuously for 50 hours.

In CD centres across Canada, about 1,000 workers and 2,000 CD workers are participating.

About 100 radio stations broadcast at fully participating centres to interject planned development and unexpected attacks as problems, and tests.

See Little Hope Of Decision Soon On Sale of Gas

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — The prospect by a big U.S. pipeline company to import natural gas from Canada's projected Trans-Canada Pipeline and the need for a new Federal Power Commission with little apparent hope of an early decision.

Midwestern Gas Transmission Corporation filed an application in February for permission to import 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Canadian line at Emerson, Man., and market it to industrial and household consumers in North Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

A two-months hearing of the application—vigorously opposed by American coal, lumber and railroad interests—and pipeline firms already operating in the north-central market—ended in mid-April with a commission announcement that it would set a date later for cross-examination of Midwestern's witnesses—a move which could consume several months more.

Forty Persons Left Homeless In Sarnia Fire

SARNIA (CP)—About 40 persons were left homeless by a fire which swept the top floor of the three-storey Swarly building on busy eight, gutted several apartments to grope their way to safety through clouds of smoke Friday.

Firemen aided at least three persons to escape from the upper storey of the downtown building. Helen Chabon, 24, was treated in hospital for shock. One of the local firemen also overcome by smoke was given hospital treatment.

Damage was estimated at $200,000. Origin was undetermined. Firemen said it was the third and most serious outbreak in the same building in the last seven years.

There are 12 apartments on the two upper floors, and the lower and water damage was heavy throughout the building.

Leaps to Death

HAMILTON (CP) — George Morgan, 23, committed suicide by leaping more than 100 feet, over the Niagara Escarpment on Mount Mountain, police said Friday.

Morgan, a steelworker and Belgian immigrant, was found dead at the bottom of the falls by a passerby. Police said his wife had car parked nearby.

No suicide notes were found in his apartment. One directed that his body be turned over to McMaster-University for research purposes.

Housewife With Trusty Divining Rod Locates Oil Leak When Others Fail

TORONTO (CP)—A housewife, marched across Toronto Township the other day with her trusty divining rod and ran in a matter of time flat the apparent source of the underground oil that had baffled engineers for two years.

Mrs. Beatrice Sprowl's divining rod, by the standard of science, is hedge, had never divined anything with water or oil in it. But after she had out determinedly to find the origin of the oil that had fouled the well-water and even basements of township residents Lyle Watson and Gordon Miller.

Their homes had begun to smell like the interior of an oil refinery. They didn't dare light a fire. Now and then there were frightful rumblings under the houses that rattled things. The ground started to bubble in under the Niblett house's foundation.

Inspectors employed by the government, Imperial Oil Limited and oil companies searched in vain. During the last two weeks firemen tried to locate the source. Then Stanley Hall, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Halton, and maybe a water diviner could divine oil, too. Hall suggested Mrs. Sprowl and her rod and the mystery was on the way to oblivion.

The rod twitched meaningfully when Mrs. Sprowl aimed it at the Watson home.

She was off. With the rod apparently calling the signals, Mrs. Sprowl walked across fields, back yards, lawns and farmyards. She still was on the trail.

Then she stopped in her tracks. Experts dug around and discovered two highpressure oil pipelines running parallel. They were only 200 feet from where the woman stood but a good two miles from the trouble area.

Mrs. Sprowl Strabhwaite said he is convinced the pipes are the source of the oil.

Papers' Pictures May Mean Death For Poznan Men

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — President of the Canadian Labor Congress, Claude Jodoin, says it is quite possible some of the Polish workers killed in the Poznan June 28 "may die because of the thoughtlessness of newspaper editors of Western papers."

Mr. Jodoin, who was attending International labor meetings in Europe at the time of the riots, said in an address Friday night:

"In Free Europe I saw pictures of the Poznan workers marching; they were easily identifiable.

"Presumably the Communist police themselves took pictures of the workers but further evidence for the trial of these people was provided by the papers which published these pictures.

"There is no need for realization on the part of these editors—and on the part of all of us for that matter—that the cold war is not over."

Mr. Jodoin spoke at the fourth of a series of week-long schools held by the 1,000,000-member CLC at Club Whitesands, 40 miles north of Peterborough. The school was attended by about 250 trade union leaders from Ontario and Quebec.

The statements were included in a text of the speech issued to the press before delivery.

Daughter of Iowa Minister Named Miss Universe at Long Beach, Calif.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Iowa's Carol Morris, this year's Miss United States and a junior at Drake University, early today was crowned Miss Universe in the international beauty contest here.

The pew queen was selected 15 minutes after midnight from a final group of five contestants that also included Miss Gisela Arnold, Germany; Rosanna-Galli, Italy; Ingrid Goude, Sweden and Iris Walker, England.

The judges selected Miss Morris, 21-year-old Methodist minister's daughter, from Miss Canada, Miss Wales, fourth, and Miss Gali, fifth.

In addition to the glory of being named the most beautiful girl among the 72 entrants in the contest, the new Miss Universe won a $5,000 modern home and a year's contract at $250 a week; a three-month personal appearance contract with a bathing suit manufacturer; a convertible coupe; a fur stole and numerous items of clothing and jewelry.

Canada's representative in the contest was Elaine Bisbenden, an 18-year-old Toronto girl who is Miss By-line at Toronto's annual newspaper ball last April.

Miss Morris is a 5,500 watcher the final judging session were Mrs. Marie Morris, Rev. and Mrs. IaVerne of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Herb Fox Will Attend Congress Hardware Assoc.

Herbert W. Fox, president of the Walker Hardware Co. Ltd., and secretary of the C.R.H.A. Association will attend the 57th Annual Congress of the National Retail Hardware Association of the United States which is being held in Toronto next week, July 32rd. For the first time in history the N.R.H.A. will be holding their annual congress outside the United States.

Last year in Buffalo, N.Y., the Canadian Retail Hardware Association was received as an affiliated association of the N.R.H.A. As a tribute to the Canadian association, the 1958 Congress comes to Toronto next week.

Directors of the Canadian Association will take a leading part in the congress and have co-operated with the N.R.H.A. officials in arranging the Toronto program.

The four days beginning, Monday 23rd, will be packed with business sessions featuring prominent speakers and entertainers for both men and women. It is expected over 800 visitors from the United States will attend and the host for the Royal Hotel has been booked to capacity.

Any members of the Canadian Retail Hardware Association will be welcomed at this congress which will not come to Canada again for many years.

Police Blotter

A mother and child yesterday had a narrow escape when a taxi they were riding in was struck and turned over at Victoria and Church.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Jennie Bennett, of Point Anne, struck the rear of a Checker taxi cab at the intersection. The cab skidded and turned over.

Both passengers and the driver, Allan Hardy, escaped injury.

Damage to the cab was estimated at $500, while the Bennett automobile was damaged to the extent of $400.

Another accident at the Devil's Elbow on Dundas Street, west, resulted in a reported $50 damage to a car driven by James D. Hunter, R.R. 3, Belleville.

Hunter's car struck the sides of a passing tractor - trailer, bounced off and went over the embankment at the south side of the road.

Elsewhere things were mainly quiet on the police beat.

During the night police were called to Uptown Billiards where a group of patrons decided to vary their skill at pool with a little weight-lifting. When they tried their hands and muscles at lifting the billiard table the proprietor decided it was time to call police. However, the aspiring weight-lifters left hurriedly before police arrived.

Pall bearers were Matthew Weir, David Blackburne, Andrew Knott, Clayton Frechette, H. St. Louis and W. J. Wall.

MRS. MINNIE MOTT

The funeral of Mrs. Minnie Mott was held from the Bellewille Burial Company Funeral Home on Friday afternoon. Funeral service in the chapel was conducted by Rev. R. A. Slemin and interment was in Frankford cemetery.

The bearers were Carl, Bert, Ray and Warren Mott, Bud Lacey and Jack Willahire.

MURNEY CLAYTON APPLEBY

The funeral of Murney Clayton Appleby, 80, of R. R. 2, Belleville, who died in Quinte District Township, was held Thursday from the Full Gospel Tabernacle to Frankford Cemetery. Rev. Gordon Pearce conducted the service. Interment was in charge of Elliott, George Striker, Harry Lott, George Curry, Murney Reynolds and Max Houlden.

The solo "Precious Lord Take My Hand" was sung by soloist Mr. Reginald Solmes.

JAMES GREER YEARWOOD

James Greer Yearwood, of Madoc, who had been ill for a week, was rushed to Belleville hospital by ambulance on Monday morning but died on admission. He was in his 63rd year.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Yearwood, he was born in Wicklow, Ont., and lived in Madoc for 30 years.

Mr. Yearwood was employed as a butcher at Kincaid's.

He attended St. John's Anglican Church and belonged to the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

Surviving are his wife, the former Bertha Gill, two daughters, Mrs. James (Marion) Quinn, of Campbellford, and Miss Doris, at home; three sons, Wilfred and Robert of Simcoe and Donald of Belleville; three sisters, Mrs. Emil Smith, of Trenton; Mrs. George Calberry, of Port Perry; Mrs. Harry Raynor of Detroit; Mrs. Henry Raynor of Morgison; Mrs. George Pratt of Carleton; Mrs. Walter Smith of Trenton; and three brothers, Everett of Brantford and Fred of Madoc and Norman of Morgison.

Trading Steady On Local Market Despite Rain

Business on the local market this morning slipped into its high summer gear.

Produce was in plentiful supply and widely varied. Despite the rain it was steady despite bad weather.

Cherries were in high demand, selling from $1.50 for sour cherries up to $1.75 for white sweets. Strawberries, in dwindling supply, brought 45 cents a quart while red currants and gooseberries were 35 cents a quart and white currants 40 cents. Rhubarb sold from 10 cents up to two bunches for 15 cents.

Carrots and beets were priced at 15 cents a bunch; a lingering supply of cauliflower continued at two bunches for 25 cents; cabbage and lettuce brought 10-15 cents. A good offering of cauliflowers sold from 25-50 cents a head. A small offering of peppers — among the first of the season — brought 35 cents a pint, while cucumbers sold at 15 cents each, two for 25 cents for slicers. Shelled peas were unchanged at 90 cents a quart while peas in the pod brought $1 per six-quart basket.

Eggs were 70 cents for extra large, 65 cents for large, 60 cents for mediums and 40 cents for pullets. A small offering of capons were 60 cents a pound.

FOR DISCUSSION: ONE GOAT

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey presented this goat to the Royal 22nd Regiment as a gift from the Queen. Now, the goat, a mascot of the regiment, is a subject of attack in the House of Commons. Progressive Conservative member J. Wilfred Dufresne, Quebec, says a $1,500 house has been built for it and a corporal and two soldiers have been detailed to attend to it. A Liberal member, Dr. Pierre Gauthier, Portneuf, said the goat was cared for by funds from the soldiers of the regiment and was not a charge on the taxpayers. No matter who is paying for his upkeep, the goat is obviously happy.

Indian, Witches Day Enjoyed At Playgrounds

On Thursday, an Indian and witches' day was held at CNE playgrounds.

On Thursday morning, to commence the activities the Junior boys began to make their headdresses and to decorate themselves with suitable tribal paint. After the artistic touches were completed the boys assembled around a camp fire, ate lunch and roasted marshmallows.

Meanwhile the girls gathered together around the picnic tables ate lunch and sang.

After lunch the boys were divided into two tribes, the Black X's and the Yellow Skins. The first was led by chief Philip Bardy and the second by chief Malcolm Johnson.

For the remainder of the afternoon the boys took active participation in a tack race, feather hunts, relay races, a spear throwing contest, a softball game and Indian wrestling matches. Out of a possible 200 points, the Black X's achieved a total of 125 while the Yellow Skins received a total of 50. The winning Black X team consisted of the following boys, Philip Bardy, Richard Daley, Alan Daley, Earle Clapp, Robert Bardy, Terry Young, Terry Hiddleston, Norman Bronomly, Gerald Daley and Robert Young. They received suitable prizes for their victory.

After lunch the girls made witches' hats out of newspapers. Then they lined up outside of the clubhouse awaiting a mysterious witch ritual. Each girl came out painted and changed into a witch.

The witches took active parts in a straw and kleenex race, potato race, standing broad jump, beast hunt, story telling competition, running races and games. The winners in the above order are: Doreen Sapanski, Sharon Ward, Doris Wilson, Nancy Brennan, Wanda Ellis, Kathryn Boyd and Doris Wilson. Each girl was given a prize.

The whole day was handled successfully by the two playground supervisors, Merne Wilson and Dick Hurst.

MALE CHOIR ON FESTIVAL PROGRAM

While top dramatic plays feature the Stratford Festival's summer presentations, it has branched out to include jazz bands, concerts and choirs. Here is the Schneider - Orpheus male choir of Kitchener, Ontario, which, along with the Columbian Boys' choir of Windsor, appears on a Sunday Festival program. —Central Press Canadian.

Summer Camp At Roblin Lake To Be Opened

Tonight will see the official opening and dedication of the Salvation Army's children's camp at Roblin Lake.

Formerly operated by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville, the camp changed hands about five years ago and the Salvation Army set about enlarging and improving the site for its purposes. The ceremonies tonight will officially mark the end of the work and the beginning of a new period in the camp's contribution to community service.

Present at the ceremonies will be two prominent local figures: Senator William Fraser, Trenton, and Harvey McPartland, mayor of Picton.

The camp has been active in preparations of the camp for Salvation Army purposes. They also have set up a long-range program of annual development and progress for the camp, which likely will make the site one of the best of its type in the province.

During the summer vacation hundreds of children from various neighboring municipalities are housed at the camp. Under qualified supervision they are given the opportunity for relaxation, holiday and instruction in swimming, handicrafts and other specially prepared educational programs.

The camp is under the administration of Brigadier Morgan Flanigan, divisional director of the Army in this area.

Others present tonight will include Al Drysdale, Kiwanis president, Belleville and William Baldidson, chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda.

Rain Prevents Dawn Attempts At World Speedboat Record

PICTON, (Special).— Rain and weather put an effective quietus on the dawn attempts of four crack 266 hydroplanes to crash the world record here this morning.

Deluging rain swept the Adolphustown Reach measured course just after daylight while a twelve-mile wind curtained the rain in gusts.

Commodore Ray Sparks, of the Canadian Boating Federation, who is chief referee for the trials said he hoped the trials would get under way by one o'clock but considered it unlikely that the attempts would be made today.

If not the boats will start here at six o'clock Sunday morning ready to break the hairy "Miss O'Keefe" owned and driven by Wild Bill Hodgson, Toronto hotel keeper, as the favored among the quartet of racing craft to smash the world mark of 120.75 held by Robert Sykes of California. The trim craft is said to have travelled 140 miles per hour "in training."

Included in the field are "Escapade" owned by Ernest Lavigne of Montreal; "My Anniellona" owned and driven by Bob Schroeder, famous American speed pilot of Buffalo, and "My Darl" owned by Gerard Patry of Montreal.

A heavy rainfall was on hand at dawn today as the boats champed on their bits but were thwarted by the weather. A battery of newsmen and photographers are here who will view the trials from a forty-foot cabin cruiser that off course.

A large number of inboard and outboards are on hand which will make in Sunday's regatta, weather permitting.

Stratford Music

(By ROBERT TANNER)

An internationally renowned musician can fill a vast opera house in Paris, (France) or cram a Sistine Chapel choir festival hall to overflowing, but let him play Stratford (Ont.) during a week when millions of Canadians are on holiday, and without prejudice to Paris, Ont., he will be lucky if the hall is more than three quarters full. Such is the unfortunate paradox of the Stratford Music Festival which this year is presenting a star studded program quite the equal of anything offered at the more famous Tanglewood, where visitors in their hordes pay $2.00 just to sit on the grass outside the hall itself. Yet even now, serious discussions are being held to decide whether the Music Festival will continue next year, as a worthy and fitting accompaniment to the slightly older and more publicized Festival of Shakespearean drama. Just let Peter Ustinov, for instance, be saved from an untimely death by the applause of those who believe in his talents, as Stratford's second great experiment can well be saved by the applause of those who believe in, and love great music, assembled in large, paying audiences.

Earlier this week, I arrived in Stratford three quarters of an hour before the concert started, and purchased my $2.50 a seat ticket which I could see and hear perfectly, as indeed one can from almost any seat in the house. For the next two hours, I enjoyed a musical feast such as I have seldom experienced before. In the all-Beethoven program, Claudio Arrau gave a masterful performance of the 1st and 5th Piano Concertos — playing both these music such sensitive and inspired interpretation, that new and unforgettable beauties were revealed on almost every page of the score. His clarity and insight were matched by those of the Festival orchestra conducted by Dr. Reine Heinz, whose business like and distinctive style added greatly to the musical understanding of the music. It was obvious that all performers were working together in closely knit team, every member of which had full confidence in the ability of all the others.

FINE PERFORMANCE

The second of the two concertos, Dr. Ungar and the orchestra gave a crystal clear performance of Beethoven's Eroica Symphony, again revealing aspects of a well known work which gave the music played by the world's greatest artists has to be discontinued.

IN MEMORIAM

SEMARK. — In loving memory of Betty Ann Semark, who passed away July 22nd, 1953.

We have only your memory, dear Betty,
And a picture to kiss and caress.
To remember our whole life through;
Is the heartache we have to bear.
But He needed a little angel,
And He took the best one there.

—Lovingly remembered by Nancy Comrie and Family. J21-21

SEMARK. — In loving memory of our dear daughter, Elizabeth Ann, who died July 22nd, 1953, three years ago today.

No one knows the way our thoughts go,
No one sees the tears we shed,
Five years ago God took her,
To be with Him instead.
We did not judge His wisdom,
Or ask the reason why,
But He needed a little angel,
And He took the best one nigh.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by Mommie, Daddie and brother Bernie.

ROSEBERRY. — In loving memory of Russel Roseberry, who died July 21st, 1955.

Sweet memories are treasures,
A link gone from our chain;
The loved one we cherish,
Yet we know we must again.
—Wife Lillian, Mother, son and grandchildren.

WHITMORE. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frederick Whitmore, who passed away July 22nd, 1953.
Within our hearts always keep,
A special place for you;
And try and keep it free,
As you would want us will do.
Then when we die we will find you,
Dear Husband and Dad,
We will stand once more beside you,
When God calls us to judge.
You are where we cannot see you,
But you are near, always,
Yet we know you walk beside us,
Unseen, but loved so well.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife and family.

GAWLEY. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Harry Gawley, who passed away July 22nd, 1955.
Dear Lord, please keep him safe,
Your loved one in heaven above;
Tell him we miss him so much,
And give him all our love.
Tell him we think of him again and again,
Our sad and bitter loss;
Tell him we have parted so well,
To bear our lonely cross.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

IN THE SECRET OF HIS PRESENCE

In the secret of His presence, how my soul delights to hide!
Oh, how precious are the lessons which I learn at Jesus' side!
Earthly cares can never vex me, neither trials lay me low;
For when Satan comes to tempt me, to the secret place I go.

When my soul is faint and thirsty, 'neath the shadow of His wing
There is cool and pleasant shelter, and a fresh and crystal spring;
And my Saviour rests beside me as we hold communion sweet:
If I tried, I could not utter what He says when thus we meet.

Only this I know: I tell Him all my doubts, my griefs and fears;
Oh, how patiently He listens! and my drooping soul He cheers;
Do you think He ne'er reproves me? What a false friend He would be
If He never, never told me of the sins which He must see.

Would you like to know the sweetness of the secret of the Lord?
Go and hide beneath His shadow: this shall then be your reward;
And, whene'er you leave the silence of that happy meeting place,
You must mind and bear the image of the Master in your face.

When the worth of Christian foreign missionary endeavor is questioned, friends of missions often cite this beautiful and deeply spiritual hymn, written by a young woman of India, Ellen Lakshmi Goreh, following her conversion to Christianity a few years ago.

Miss Goreh, a member of a high-caste Brahmin family, probably would never have known the Master who inspired the sacred song of consecration but for the ministry of missionaries whose preaching and teaching won her heart. Visiting in the home of an English clergyman shortly after her conversion, it is said, she penned the lines which, set to music by George Stebbins, have thrilled Christians in churches at home and abroad ever since.

Mr. Stebbins, one of the outstanding singing evangelists of his day, wrote tunes for many favorite gospel songs. One day, he chanced upon a book of poems written and compiled by Miss Goreh. Hymnpoem, "In The Secret Of His Presence", attracted him particularly and he gave it the song wings which helped to carry it into popular favor. That was in 1883, the year which saw the beginning of the great Moody-Sankey "all winter campaign" in London, Sung for the first time by its composer as an offertory in a Brooklyn church, the new hymn jumped across the Atlantic with the evangelists and, featured in their London meetings, soon was echoing around the world.

Mr. Stebbins, who was assisting Dr. Moody and Mr. Sankey in the London revival, helped sing his own song to fame.

Several years later, the composer took a trip to India and visited Allahabad, where Miss Goreh lived. There for the first time, he met the young hymnist whose verses had inspired his music. He found her busy telling her countrymen of the saving Christ whom she herself had learned to love and follow.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

Front doors are more popular in Birdland than you might imagine; but perhaps the word "doorways" would better describe the entrances to homes.

Woodpeckers and weather are the principal carpenters, with Man lending a hand when he puts up telephone poles and fence posts, and imagination playing a small part.

Occasionally a Woodpecker uses an old knot hole, or a space due to decaying wood; but ordinarily these birds make homes for themselves and, unwittingly, are benefactors when they discard their dwellings.

HUGE OBLONGS

Our largest Woodpecker, the Pileated, excavates huge oblongs in lofty, dead trees, tall stumps, or sometimes trunks of living trees, usually conifers. The noise of their carpentry can be heard a long way off. The conspicuous doorway is often a foot high. The pair dig alternately, for this is an exhausting task—nevertheless they may work on several different doorways before deciding which tree is to be the home. The oakum, and later the discarded hole, are a boon to large birds, such as Screech Owls, Sparrow Hawks, and Wood Ducks, that nature has not provided with chisels.

The Hairy Woodpecker, about nine inches long and 8z small counterpart, the Downy, sometimes excavate in autumn and spend winter nights in these holes. Their abandoned homes—both these and their summer nests—are often taken over by Chickadees, Blue birds, or House and Winter Wrens, all of which also use natural cavities in old stumps, fence posts, and such like. Chickadees line the excavations at the end of the nest, for from small animals, or feathers. Bluebirds put in grass, weed stalks, bits of bark, and fine grass blades.

NO ROBIN HOMES

Kingfishers and Bank Swallows carve out front doorways in perpendicular embankments. From their entrance, a pair of Kingfishers make a passageway, sometimes 4 feet in length, and then with their big bills hollow out a bedroom, which may measure 18 inches across and 6 inches high. The Bank Swallow's tunnel is 2 or 3 feet long, connecting their entrance hole with the living quarters, which is a cavity lined with grasses and feathers.

You might not suspect it, but many birds with simple, saucer-shaped nests generally have what might be called an imaginary doorway. That is, they persistently arrive home to land on the exact same spot on the edge of the nest, just as though this were the one and only entrance. Robins, water birds called Rails, and various other kinds also have an imaginary door. If disturbed on their nests, they retire through this exit, the Rails quietly slipping between the long grasses.

A Lift for Living

God Helps Us Master Pain

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

There is no trait which evokes more admiration in our time than that of masterfulness. And there is no achievement of which we can more justly boast than our mastery of the material things around us.

Truly it would seem that we are fulfilling the Biblical promise of the Creator that man should have dominion over the earth. Our new scientists are predicting travel to the moon within twenty-five years.

But with all our mastery of the movable factors around us, are we improving our self-mastery when we confront the immovable obstacles in life? Has our efficient age of science so accustomed us to getting things done by quick mechanical aid that we are at a loss when all we can do is to stand and suffer it?

CONSIDER PAIN

Let us consider one of life's immovables, pain. Before we call pain one of life's immovables, we should recall how much pain has been removed through the healing art and scientific prevention. "The ills that flesh is heir to" were far more numerous in the days of Shakespeare than now. Man has learned to control nerves with anodatives, to make us oblivious of the surgeon's knife through anesthetics, to stop the ravages of disease.

And there are no doubt many new frontiers of advance in the prevention of pain. No longer should we blindly fall into disease and disaster, then piously call then the will of God.

When we neglect the principles of health and fall sick, or when we neglect efforts for peace and get into war, it is blasphemy to blame the suffering on God. God holds us responsible for using all our resources to ward off accident, disease, disaster and death.

Nevertheless, in spite of our best efforts there is bound to be some pain of which we all get a share. Love, the most beautiful thing in life, carries in it the possibilities of intense pain, caused by either anxiety about, or death. Every extension of love and friendship enlarges our exposure to the possibilities of pain.

HELP FROM GOD

What help can we get from God in mastering irremovable pain?

Well, we can acquire a better sportsmanship in our attitude. Do we not have to admit that most of us make more commotion over little hurts than we ever serious ones? How commonly we advertise our slight disorders which nobody sees and make light of the serious injuries.

Let a husband sprain his wrist while helping move the piano and repeatedly he calls his wife's attention to his discomfort! But let her come to visit him in the hospital where he lies after an almost fatal accident, and he quiets her outbursts of sympathy as if his injury were trivial.

Does not this attitude suggest that much of our attention to pain is due to our desire to seek the sympathy of others? Most of us must admit that we do not show very good sportsmanship in mastering our minor pains.

PAIN MASTERY

Another secret in the mastery of pain is the use of the imagination. Robert Louis Stevenson in 1893 wrote that for fourteen years he had not had one day of real health. Though recalling with pain he wrote his books which joys still read, such as "Treasure Island."

Even when he became so ill that his doctors forbade him to talk or write, he tried to dictate in sign languages the conclusion of the book he was writing. He turned the stream of his thoughts into the bright, active world until his darkened room ceased to exist for him during long periods of time.

Also, God can transform our pain into power, as he did for Saint Paul. Paul had a physical affliction which he prayed to have cured. God did not remove it but He did say to Paul, "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness." Having discovered this, Paul said: "I am content with weaknesses, insult, hardships, persecutions and calamities, for when I am weak, then I am strong."

Paul's adversity may serve us as the headwind serves the pilot. The headwind may slow the plane's speed, but the pilot must head into it is he wants to take off the ground.

DR. LEMIEUX DIES

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Gustave Lemieux, 82, dean of the Quebec legislative council, died at his home Thursday night. Dr. Lemieux, both a physician and a dental surgeon, had sat in the provincial upper house since 1919. Prior to that he sat in the legislative assembly as Liberal member for Gaspe.

He was born in Montreal.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.A.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of Shannonville United church was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Kisel, on Thursday, with twenty women in attendance, and Mrs. Sam Mitsch presiding. Mrs Sara Stickney presided at the piano for the hymns.

Mrs. Elliott read a poem and offered the opening prayer. Mrs. Ross Shetler, group leader, took charge, with Mrs. Everett Stratting reading the Scripture from the 103rd Psalm.

Mrs. Asa Cook read "A Grateful Heart", by Archer Wallace, followed by the reading of the lesson thoughts by Mrs. Shetler, entitled "Peace of Mind". Other readings were given by Mrs. C. Kisel, "Use Me, Lord", and by Mrs. Duncan Hinchey, "Gathering Up the Prayers by Two Angels." The prayers of petition were impromptu, but those of thanksgiving were few indeed.

Mrs. Shetler also led in a meditation on the "23rd Psalm", after which several took part in the responses. The group pas thanked for their part in the devotional. Mrs. Elliott expressed thanks to Mrs. Shetler for the program, and to the hostess for opening her home for the meeting, and took charge of the business portion.

MORE SPORT PARTICIPATION NECESSARY

Almost complete physical inactivity, which is part and parcel of the machine age, calls for some serious thinking on ways and means of giving our bodies the exercise they were meant to have.

Today we drive to the office where we sit all day, drive home and let our muscles flop some more watching television from a comfortable chair, just as if the stimulation of a reasonable amount of exercise played no part in our physical, mental and psychological well being.

Constant labor to the point of drudgery, which tested our ancestors, has been replaced by stepped-up demands on our mental process and nervous system, often resulting in harmful tensions and frustrations.

Healthy participation in sports, gardening, and other forms of physical recreation is recommended as one of the best ways of relieving tension and refreshing the mind for new onslaughts on daily tasks.

Many people leading a sedentary life are under the illusion that exercise may strain their hearts but recent research on the role of physical activity has exploded some popular misconceptions.

Chief of the myths to go sky high is the theory that the heart has just so many beats and when these have been used up the owner has had the course.

On the contrary, the heart thrives on physical activity and, like all other parts of the body, fattens, softens and degenerates when not used sufficiently.

"Loafer's hearts," as they are now known in the medical profession, are also more subject to disease as shown by the testimony of Dr. Wilhelm Raab, director of cardiovascular research for Bishop DeGoesbriant Hospital, Vermont: "Extensive statistical studies among different occupational groups have shown a much higher death rate from coronary heart disease among 'light' workers such as typists, clerks, etc., than among 'heavy' workers like farmers, laborers, etc."

This alarming piece on to observe: "Millions of overfed push button worshippers are happily degenerating on their grand style of living." He explains the caused of this deficiency can be found in "inadequate pampering, overstimulation of the nervous system through emotional tensions and frustrations, too much smoking and immoderate consumption of fatty foods."

Recent tests have also revealed that the relative strength and stamina of average citizens of the United States and countries with lower standards of living and fewer motor cars showed that walking power and greater use of their bodies are infinitely superior physically.

During the past ten years, the United States has lost more athletic ground to other nations than in the first 50 years of competition. If the results of the Olympic Games can be taken as a criterion, Canada's progressively dwindling point total would indicate we have been slipping even faster than the States and are now one of the most physically inept of nations. While ranking high as a spectator country watching a handful of professionals perform, our actual participation is one of the lowest in the world.

Australia, where the average person takes part in some form of sport, up to and sometimes past middle age, more than doubles us in the Olympic point score.

In passing up greater participation in sports for health and recreation, we appear to be overlooking a primary means of enhancing our bodies, refreshing our minds and relaxing the nervous tensions and frustrations which are driving the sale of drugs and sedatives to record heights.

THE NEW UNTOUCHABLES

Remember Huey Long, the Louisiana demagogue who enlivened the thirties, provoking either laughter or alarm, depending upon whether one regarded him lightly as a joke or seriously as a menace?

Now another Long rules the roost in Louisiana and it seems quite definite that he is no joke. Governor Earl Long has just signed a bill which prohibits "dancing, social functions, entertainment, athletic training, games, sports or contests and other such activities involving personal and social contacts in which the participants or contestants are members of the white and Negro races."

Unless that bill has a lot in it which we have failed to see in it, it would appear that when it becomes effective on October 15 it will be unlawful for a white man and a Negro to play golf on the same time of day with each other when they meet on the street. That phrase "other such activities" tacked on the end of a long list of specifically banned acts appears to fairly well cover things. Presumably playing euchre with one's Negro neighbor will be a prison offence.

Louisiana appears to be bent on making the Negroes into a new caste of "untouchables." Indian eradicated "untouchability," in spite of the fact that it was bound up with the Hindu religion. Louisiana's citizens are Christians, followers of a religion which most consider regards all men as brothers.

Perhaps the explanation is the difference between the intellectual statures of Nehru and Long.

SUCCESS

This is success: to live beyond deceit,
Too big to play the liar or the cheat,
Asking no favor from a friend or foe,
Standing to life and all that it may mean
With head erect and hands and conscience clean.

This is success: to live from year to year
Not asking always sunny skies and clear,
But wise enough to know and understand
Life never runs exactly as we've planned;
Seeking the best, but when the world is met
Taking the blow without too much regret.

This is success; with all to play the friend,
Willing to give and glad at times to lend,
Laughing and singing whensoe'er passing years,
But walking bravely through the rainy day.
Giving your best throughout the
Neither deceived by flattery nor by sneers.

This is success: the love of friends to win,
To taste no pleasure that may lead to sin,
To take no profit from the hand of shame,
But by fair fight win or lose the game;
To get from life such triumphs as you may,
But still, through good or ill, to play the man.

Science's First Instrument

(National Geographic Magazine)

In Scotland's Dudhope Museum in Dundee rests a curious brass disk, eight inches across, engraved with numbers near its edge and fitted with a movable pointer.

The device is a mariner's astrolabe. It bears the date 1555, recently authenticated by experts. Believed to be the first ship Spanish Armada, wrecked on the coasts of Britain and Ireland, it holds claim as the oldest navigational instrument in existence. With similar instruments, from the heaving decks of caravels and galleons, Vasco da Gama, Christopher Columbus, and other daring navigators sighted on sun and stars and found their ships' latitude. Astrolabes, the first scientific instruments for positionfinding on trackless seas, made possible the first great voyages of the age of exploration.

In simplest form the astrolabe was a suspended disk or circle of metal or wood. Pivoting at its center, the sighting arm swung up and down. By aiming along the pointer, the mariner determined elevation (up to 90 degrees, or a right angle) of the sun or star, and thus could compute his distance above the horizon.

Still used today in extremely precise instruments for measuring the earth's surface, the principle of the astrolabe was known 2,000 years ago to Hipparchus, great Greek astronomer of 150 B.C., and probably came to Spaniards of Pergs, a century earlier.

Knowledge and use of the astrolabe came down through the Dark Ages to the Moslem Arabic astronomers. During the Crusades Saracen instruments that fascinated the attention of clergy and mountain summits were

Views Differ On Festival

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

There has been a healthy difference of opinion about the performances given at the Shakespearian Festival at Stratford this year. Since the Festival has clearly come to stay, it is well that critic or feel they must temper their views with nothing bolder that will take the sting out of them.

That isn't to say that the experts don't disagree with the plays. Generally speaking, particularly those of Mistress Christopher Plummer, has been receiving rave notices. The fear that the Canadian actor would not suit the Canadian actress, could not entice or carry the show has disappeared. The principal point of controversy, so far as we have seen, has centered around "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and Will Shakespeare's attempt to clothe most of the lambasting. Brooks Atkinson, the renowned critic of the New York Times, described it as "silly, senseless joke" and wondered how Shakespeare could stoop to it. Others have found it good fun and scintillating entertainment. The Montreal Star's show that playgoers can't really agree about anything, even Shakespeare.

Now the critics have a new job to do. The Stratford Festival has raised the curtain on something new—for Stratford—and drastically new. Montreal's Theatre du Nouveau Monde is presenting Moliere's "Le Malade Imaginaire" in French, of course.

Like Shakespeare's, like Shakespeare's "Merry Wives", may be a trifle too light and gay for the taste of some. The plots are sketchy and usually triangular. But the Montreal Herald's reviewer found them enjoyable. "They proved, as did the French farces presented here last year, that laughter is universal." Critics who attended the Stratford Shakespearian Festival has produced another hit." The Stratford-Shakespearian is giving the new plays a send-off, printed in both English and French. The audience apparently enjoyed the plays, even though a high percentage were in Quebecois French. They shouted a chorus of bravos for minutes after the curtain came down.

The lack of "big names" in the cast seems to be the obvious. It hasn't hurt the performances artistically, but it has affected the box-office any good. Attendance is a few hundred below last year's—but not since the Festival crowd of less than 80 per cent capacity in the hall. It really shouldn't be taken too seriously. Just over 36,000 persons saw the Shakespeare plays in the first two weeks of this season, which would have pleased the Bard himself.

How to Use Holiday

(Hamilton Spectator)

(An editorial for young people.)

Leisure, which simply means spare time, can be of an intrinsic value, or be used as a disparagement during the holidays. For once it is wasted, a psychological reaction can set in reducing leisure to a vacuum; an indulgence in indolence.

To avoid the rather gloomy lapse of doing nothing which inevitably calls for only a little logical reasoning and self-discipline. If, for instance, there is a garden nearby around the house or garden, tackle it with interest and the natural result must improve, but don't let it defeat you, at least until thoroughly attempted.

In this era of do-it-yourself hobbies, endless scope is supplied where ability is moderate, unless the apathetic way out of letting Grover or Mayor do it is taken. Sometimes, of course, it is necessary to rest the body, but this is no excuse for standing aside. For only individual trial and diligence can develop persistency, achievement and, thereby, satisfaction.

It is the same in playing games. Experts can show you how, but you must acquire skill even skills by application. And in reading, time is for you valuable to squander on the piffling and trite, for as that great philosopher, Bertrand Russell, has said: "Only he able to fill leisure intelligently is the last product of civilization."

And, after all, a holiday is the reward of labor and something to be cherished. It is the folks who idle who really have the least leisure.

Which First, Barn or House?

(Minneapolis Tribune)

Which comes first—the new house or the new barn? Or, to change the figure, which comes first, the chair, the milking machine or the clothes-washer?

For a farmer's wife who wrote Hotter from the street of la from Journal recently, the last straw was a new hog-feeder. "I sometimes demonstrate that the only a new hog-feeder, corn planter or another registered heifer is going to make a real difference dresses for our girls or a new winter coat for me," she wrote. The response in more letters was tremendous—from the kindergarten boy who said "it was an echo of joy 'Gwn thoughts' to the woman who said that the first letter writer "a bit self-centred."

A good many of the wives pointed out that if I, too, wife is keep a fair balance between expenditures for the farm and for the family, between the investment needed to make more income and the basic and children budget so tight the family has little chance to enjoy the fruits of their hard work.

Thousands of good Minnesota farmers demonstrate that the old complaint of "better barns than houses" belongs largely to the past era. At a rapid rate, farmhouses have been made more attractive and comfortable, and labor-saving appliances have been added. Electricity has made a magic difference, and competition with the comforts of city life has put town and city farm people to make life more pleasant right where they are.

The difficult decisions will never be over, any more than mother, pay for over the small businessman in town who has to decide the right time to expand his office or add expensive equipment. But eventually the pretty dresses and new curtains seem to get their turn.

Blitzkrieg On Wildlife

(Sudbury Star)

A plain-talking fish and wildlife service official in the United States has bluntly told a U.S. government committee of the slaughter of wildlife "behind the scenes" of military operations. The official, Clark Salyer, told the committee an army bombing range caused virtual extinction of a buffalo herd in Arizona.

Mr. Salyer told of the slaughter of ducks at a "de luxe hunting" club established by the army on Utah's Great Salt Lake. He told of how 2,000 ducks were killed in a single week-end by a party of officers and their guests.

The committee is a bill before the committee, requiring compliance with game laws and game laws on military establishments. Mr. Salyer said the defence department has like the armed crew that gives no milk and cavorts in their officers' quarters.

There has been no debate in the Canadian House of Commons on a similar situation in this country. It can be assumed that fish and game laws are being observed by the personnel at defence bases. However, it is of concern to Canada if this slaughter south of the border affects migratory wildlife.

Unsafe for Robbers

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Over the past several years this community has proved to be an extremely unhealthy one for people who try daylight stickups. One time it's a taxi driver who uses his two-way radio to speed the pursuit of hold-up men. Another time it's a girl teller in a bank. This time it is a customer who gives chase in a taxi cab and runs down the quarry.

What Does Medicine Cure?

As the endless succession of so-called wonder drugs keeps the medical journals fat with "clinical reports" I marvel at the venality of physicians who promote the outrageously extensive drugs sales at the credulity of the people who are eager to "try" them.

The other day I strained my left supraspinatus — shoulder to you—lifting a heavy machine on a desk and soon had a reasonable facsimile of bursitis, though not enough pain to cry about, as I did with right shoulder bursitis years ago. A playmate, noticing how painfully, I pampered the shoulder on the bowling green urged me to have a shot of cortisone. One shot had sufficed to cure his bursitis, within a day or two. I thanked him and promised I'd do so if it got any worse. There have been numerous reports in the medical journals ascribing gratifying results from cortisone or hydrocortizone treatment of bursitis, arthritis, neuritis, phlebitis, little or what have you. In fact I find in my file four such reports which I thought I ought to quote here. I refrained because I'm ashamed of myself on the subject of writing one such "wonder drug" in this column — a mistake for which subsequently apologized. Amateur psychologists may enquire why? I can't even remember the name of the nostrum now. Anyway it has since attained deserved oblivion.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Canada is not a snake country, though I have seen inland lakes so crowded with water snakes that a water snake that I could have believed I was in the tropics. Yet we have a great variety of snakes in Canada with only the one venomous genus, the rattler, with different species from the pygmy Massasauga, the prairie and the timber rattler, which is a real menace to an otherwise humdrum snake population.

There is a fairly reliable report that a soldier in the war of 1812 died from the bite of a rattler under when he was crawling through the hay at Queenston Heights. But an authentic record of death from our few rattlers is hard to come by. The most severe cases are those of dogs who were struck by the little fat Massasauga, which, as an adult grows to an average length of about two feet with a thirty inches a whopper. They inflict intense pain in the leg or arm infected, some nausea, and a great deal of harmless hysteria. But after a couple of days, the poisoning subsided, followed in a week or so by fairly protracted illness that may have been hysterical or possibly due to an allergy. The poison of the Massasauga is reported to be more virulent than that of the more southern diamond back rattler. But it is a small in quantity and so be considered non-fatal to humans. I have known two dogs to be struck by this snake on the head and side, but after swelling up in the head and neck and a considerable loss of appetite, and being half convinced for two or three days, recovered. I am confessed to a deep-seated aversion to snakes of all kinds from them forward.

Of all Canadian snakes, the fox snake, confined mostly to the East, is the most royal. I have seen them one inch short of six feet long, and my brother killed one of six feet three inches. They are really beautiful in their fox red, buff and dark brown markings and the size of the bush is not afraid, as most snakes are, to stand their ground and not inspect you curiously. He is a constrictor, of the same family as the boa and python, and kills small chipmunks, rabbits, by crushing them in his coils. I have seen a metallic-lengeable case of a big fox snake killing a dog. The dog was a non-combatant, a pup of large and weight and had learned the trick from wild foxes, it seemed, then near the head and snapping them as a terrier snaps a rat. The dog escaped the snake, got it by the neck and the fox snake coiled his coils around the dog's neck, strangling it. The owner of the dog found them in this desperate condition, killed the story of their battle mute in the several coils of the snake tight about the neck of the dog.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE LOVE OF WONDER

Each day I grow older in youth! All my life I have been obsessed with a love of wonder. Every glow of the sunset, every new revelation of beauty in a sunset stir me, no matter how many thousands I have witnessed. A thunderstorm over the lake on a clear night, and the path it is a small in quantity and to be of the moon across the water, fill me with wonder. Even a blade of grass is a miracle to me, and the fact that I am alive is also a blessing.

Birth in all life is more than a mystery. It is a natural miracle. From my library window I look upon great trees that are in full leaf-foliage that was absent during the cold months of winter, but now the branches held in their arms great coverings of snow, I saw behind and in my heart I am filled of wonder. With comparatively little we can be so rich!

Why should anyone be filled with fears and doubts when there is so much for us to be glad for and appreciate with them? Our Heavenly Father has given us much that is good and bad, and his justice is refined measured out without prejudice or partiality. His government is one of love, and His Kingdom is here and now.

How thrilling are kindness, consideration for others, and the glow in one's heart when a good deed is performed! The flight of a bird, a flock of wild fowl, a bird's nest in the forest, how can any of these be accepted as a matter of fact? The divine in life! A love of wonder etches them upon one's consciousness. My mind always acts upon a brief vacation whenever I pass a hillside of wild flowers.

The love of wonder fills us with humility and gratitude. Through contemplation we find a shining light if you let it into your heart. That is the only genuine happiness.

Pensions at 40?

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

A political party in the United States wants old age pensions to begin at 40 and why not? Isn't that when life begins?

New Plant Marks Industrial Growth

Right sixty-foot storage silos, four off which are shown above are one of the construction features of the new plant now being built by the Wilson Concrete Products Ltd. on its Sidney Street site. In the foreground is the new mobile hydraulic crane which has a boom extension of 75 feet. The company expects to be in production in early October.

Wilson Concrete Products Ltd. Constructing Modern Plant; Expect Operation in October

In keeping with the industrial upturned in Eastern Ontario, Wilson Concrete Products Ltd., is expanding its plant activities in the city.

Under construction, on a twelve acre site west of Sidney Street, and north of the Northern Electric Company buildings, is a modern plant which will introduce a wide new line of precast products, pre-stressed structural members, bridge sections and floor and roof slabs.

The plant comprising some 31,000 square feet will be equipped with specialized equipment from Europe and the United States, which will more than double current concrete block capacity. It is expected to be in operation in early October.

The concrete structure will house the only pre-stressing operation at unit between Toronto and Montreal. The concrete block manufacturing and building materials division of the company is currently housed in its first plant in Thurlow township.

Comprising the operational units of the Sidney Street structure are precast components of a highly mechanized and accurate nature.

There are eight concrete stave silos 50 feet in height by twelve feet for batch cement and aggregate storage permitting the batching of up to five separate ingredients in each mix.

Five curing kilns will be constructed all automatically controlled by an electronic program controller which duplicates exactly a predetermined cycle.

There will be a pre-stressing bed 450 feet by 30 feet serviced by a thirty-foot overhead travelling crane.

PRECISION MIXER

The plant will contain the latest development in mixing equipment consisting of a completely automatic push-button controlled German mixing plant to assure consistent quality concrete. This precision machine will turn out a yard of concrete a minute.

An integral part of the new plant is a fully equipped laboratory centred around a 200-ton compressing machine. There will be a twenty-five foot vibrating table for the precasting division.

A second Columbia block machine will be installed with a capacity of 800 eight-inch blocks per hour, or 1,000 weeping tile per hour. This will increase capacity to approximately 3,000,000 units per year on a single shift operation.

In keeping with the major expansion plan, the company had made additions to its fleet of powerful trucks, having acquired five new units in the past 16 months. Another major addition is a mobile hydraulic crane with a telescopic extension boom of 75 feet. It is one of three now in use in Canada and is in frequent demand in the city and district for special jobs.

Tractor-trailer trucks have been added to not only handle the additional concrete block construction but to transport long structural members from the new pre-casting and pre-stressing division.

Construction of the new plant is unique in the fact that it has been designed in its entirety by Mr. D. M. Curzon, one of the firm's officers, while manufacturing building materials is the company's main business.

The walls of the 160-foot long, 180-foot depth building will be constructed of concrete blocks while the roof will consist of precast channelled concrete slabs 12 inches wide by 16 feet in length supported by pre-cast beams and columns. The pre-stressing bed will extend 450 feet west of the building proper.

When the two block machines are in operation, they will be capable of producing 12,000 blocks or 120,000 bricks per day, in addition, concrete pipe machinery has been acquired to make the company's own drain tiles from 6 to 24 inches diameter.

Company trucks travel far and wide for ingredients for construction purposes. Aggregate is hauled from Brighton and some additives from Amherstburg, near Windsor.

FAITH IN INDUSTRY

Mr. Charles J. Wilson, president of the Wilson Concrete Products Ltd., has faith in the industrial future of Eastern Ontario. He feels that outside industry is beginning to learn of the possibilities of this part of the province, and predicts much expansion and location in the future.

"Our structural concrete products while not actually competing with steel, will be a distinct challenge to that industry," he said. "I believe there is a fine future for this type of construction which has already proved its usefulness."

His company's aim is in expansion program, he said, was diversification from one product in a local market, to a whole new range of engineered concrete products for distribution several hundred miles from Belleville.

The company's business outside of the city and district has been growing constantly, with customers' connection in a wide number of outlying centres such as Bancroft, Kingston, Picton and Port Hope. Local requirements, he added, were easily taken care of since the concrete block requirements of the normal basement can be turned out in 45 minutes.

He predicted that within a few years, the new plant will be able to produce an entire, pre-cast unit, and will, in effect, be competing with its own concrete block business.

Labor for construction of the new plant consists almost entirely of city and district men. When in full production, it will employ 35 people.

In conjunction with the company's expansion program, Mr. Wilson recently announced appointment of directors of the firm.

Mr. D. K. Black is manager of the Concrete Block and Building Materials Division; Mr. J. L. Acton, formerly of the Acton Engineering Works, is the secretary-treasurer and Mr. Curzon, manager of the new precasting and pre-stressing divisions.

Mr. Curzon brings to the organization eight years of consulting engineering experience covering a wide range of engineering projects. He is at present completing the entire structural design of the new plant.

The Discovery of X-Rays

By Nicholas Mika

If a doctor looks at an X-ray film he can detect what no human eye would be able to see. The film can tell a story of destruction and suffering or the wonder of a miraculous cure. X-rays not only reveal broken bones, tumors, tuberculosis and the slightest change within the body, but they also serve as a treatment of over five hundred diseases. They assist not only the medical profession, but they are also the most powerful tools in the hands of scientists today. With the help of X-rays we are able to build precision instruments that would have been unthinkable before.

Hospitals all over the world have archives of millions of X-ray pictures to which the doctors can refer. They are priceless in their value. But there is one small X-ray film which is the most precious of them all. It is kept in an institute of the University of Vienna. If you lift it up against the light you can see the small bone structure of a woman's hand with a dark spot which is her ring. Behind this particular picture is one of the most dramatic stories in medical history, the life story of X-rays. The hand that you can see belongs to the wife of the discoverer of the mysterious rays. It also was the first X-ray picture ever taken.

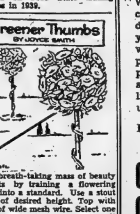
A MODEST PROFESSOR

The man who with his discovery rendered one of the greatest services to mankind was a modest doctor but a modest professor of physics in the German town, Wurzburg. He was very fond of experimenting. To be true, he was not searching for X-rays. He didn't even know they existed. But when he got his first glimpse of the rays of X-rays, he struck him like lightning what a tremendous benefit they could be for mankind.

One evening, over sixty years ago, he was busy in his laboratory, tinkering with electrical discharges in vacuum tubes. The room was dark. His vacuum tube was enclosed in a black box. Suddenly something unusual happened. Some distance away he saw a strange luminescence. He lit a match and noticed that the glow came from a fluorescent cardboard screen that had been treated with chemicals. For a while he was merely puzzled. Around him was darkness. Where could the light come from? He repeated the experiment. And again, as soon as he passed electricity through the covered tube, the screen at the other end of the room began glowing with an unusual light. Accidentally he touched in the darkness the box and put his hand on the screen appeared clearly the skeleton of his hand.

REPEATED EXPERIMENTS

To be sure of his discovery he repeated the experiment hundreds of times for many weeks. The unknown rays which could penetrate any object except lead and platinum, he began to call X-rays, and to produce the rays he could not explain their origin. They were either light or they were born by electricity. They were as mysterious as they were powerful, and that is why he called them "X-rays," unknown rays.



Shortly after Christmas he announced his discovery. Never before had the auditorium of the university as packed as on this day. One could hear a needle drop during the lecture. When the news spread throughout the world, doctors and scientists at once recognized that this man had given them a priceless weapon against hitherto hidden evils. Some ignorant people, however, had other ideas. They claimed the X-rays would disturb their privacy and soon inventive businessmen advertised X-ray proof underwear.

But their voices soon died out.

For his discovery the German professor received awards and medals from many countries. Among them was the Nobel Prize for Physics.

To honor him, his own people did not call his discovery X-rays. They called them Roentgen Rays after his name, Konrad Wilhelm Roentgen.

Konrad Wilhelm Roentgen appears on a new State Danzig stamps in 1939.

New Automatic Rifle in Service Early in May

OTTAWA (CP)—The new automatic FN rifle will go into service with the regular army next May, Defence Minister Campney says.

He informed the Commons on Thursday night that the first deliveries of the .300-calibre weapon which will replace the old Lee-Enfield .303, are expected this fall from the crown-owned Canadian Arms plant.

Flans were to have sufficient supplies to distribute the rifle to the regular army between May, 1957, and July, 1958, and to the militia between July, 1959, and July, 1960.

The rifle, called the FN-C1, has been adopted as the standard infantry weapon by Britain, Canada and Belgium, in NATO and also by Australia.

Concentrated Milk Producers Seek to Testify

OTTAWA (CP)—The question of whether the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association should be allowed to appear before the Commons agriculture committee was taken under private study by the committee Thursday.

Chairman Rene Jutras (L—Provencher) said the association had asked for a hearing but he had rejected the request on the grounds the committee had been empowered by the Commons to discuss only butter and milk.

John Charlton (PC—Brant-Haldimand) said he was his understanding the association wanted to talk about feed grains.

Hayden Stanton (PC — Leeds) said there had been a lot of discussion of western problems; the eastern farmer also should be given a break.

J. M. Nicholson (CCF—Mackenzie) a Prairie farmer, agreed. The association should be given a chance to appear.

Coldwell Plans To Query Irvine On Tass Quotes

OTTAWA (CP)—National CCF leader Coldwell said Thursday night William Irvine, Alberta president of the CCF, will be questioned on his return to Canada about statements he is reported to have made to a correspondent of the Russian news agency Tass in Kiev.

London dispatches said Tass quoted Mr. Irvine as having said a group of Canadian socialists visiting Russia was "greatly impressed by the way you (Russians) have implemented the principles of democracy in your government authorities, in state farms and in collective farms."

Mr. Irvine was quoted as saying the democratic nature of the supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. "is matched by few parliaments in other democratic countries," and predicting Russia will attain the highest standard of living in the world.

Mr. Coldwell said in a statement that Tass has not been noted for its news accuracy, adding Mr. Irvine will be questioned in connection with any statement he may have made. The statement added:

"If there is any suggestion at all of approval by him of a political system based on a one-party dictatorship, it will be immediately and completely repudiated by the CCF."

Mr. Coldwell said Mr. Irvine is visiting Russia in his private capacity, not as the leader of any CCF delegation. The CCF here did not even know who was accompanying him.

High Tax-Fee Expenses Subject Of Labor Attack

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor members of Parliament Thursday criticized the high tax-free expenses granted to business executives such as Sir Bernard Docker, former chairman of the Birmingham Small Arms Company.

In a dispute over Dockers' recent dismissal by his fellow directors, it was disclosed two days ago that he was receiving £44,214 ($123,800) a year in salary and expenses. Of this amount, more than £11,000 was expenses.

Labor MP Emrys Hughes asked the government in the House of Commons to set up a select committee to report on expenses incurred by company directors.

Henry Brooks, financial secretary of the Treasury, rejected the proposal.

Hughes declared: "Do you conceive at the idea that super-luxury cars sent by special aeroplane to the Riviera constitute legitimate expenses?"

"This was a reference to the fact that Docker sent Daimler cars, including a gold - plated limousine, made by the BSA firm, to Monte Carlo during the wedding of Prince Rainier and Grace Kelly. Docker argues it brought the company valuable publicity.

Wise Driver Is Prepared For Emergencies

By EUGENE MILMOE

Starting on that long vacation trip, the wise driver will not forget to take along a few tools and equipment, just in case. Without them, a simple trouble miles from nowhere could be a harrowing experience. You may know nothing about tracing trouble and making emergency repairs, but the right equipment could help someone else get you under way again.

A jack, tire wrench and hand pump are "musts," of course. It's also wise to carry a short flat plank to support the jack base, if you must change a tire on sand or soft earth. Don't forget to include a flashlight, hammer, pliers, two screwdrivers (large and small), a roll of friction tape, a tow rope and a few spare fuses and tire valve cores.

Most important of all, don't drive any time unless you have a first aid kit in the car.

TYPE OF GAS

H.S. writes : "Kindly let me know what type of gasoline, regular or premium, would be better to use in my 1955 8-cylinder model."

(A) Your engine will perform better with high octane (premium) fuel.

From J.K.: "Last year and this year I have been entering the drag races which are held nearby. After running the quarter mile a few times, my car seems to develop vapor locks. What should I do to prevent vapor lock in hot weather?"

(A) Most of your other racers lack this problem by installing electric fuel pumps. Others use heat deflecting metal shields and insulating wrap on the fuel lines.

M.C. asks: "I drive a 1954 hardtop convertible which is equipped with everything. Including automatic drive, power brakes and power steering. A mechanic has adjusted the brakes, worked on the linings and drums, but cannot correct my problem with grabbing brakes. He also checked the wheel bearings when everything else failed to help. Could the power brakes be at fault? The mechanic didn't seem to think so, but on the other hand, he also admitted that he is not too familiar with power systems."

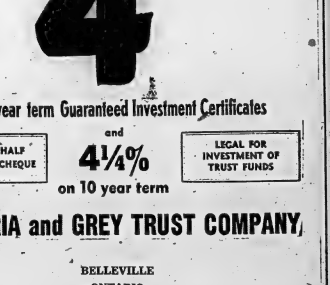
(A) Grabbing brakes can be caused by leakage, binding or excessive friction of certain parts in the power unit.

TEMPERATURE GAUGE

From P. K.: "After I have been driving (with full water capacity in my radiator and no leaks) and as soon as I turn off my switch, the temperature gauge jumps over to 'Hot' and remains there, no matter how long the car is parked. As soon as I turn on my switch the next time, it moves back to 'Cold' and operates normally until I turn off the switch and it is then it moves over to 'Hot'."

(A) This is normal operation for the temperature gauge on some cars (you didn't identify the make and model of yours). In other words, with this type of gauge, "Hot" is the rest or parked position, when the ignition switch is off.

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT



Be careful about yor driving—Be sure about your car.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Smith, 83 West Moira Street, on Tuesday and Wednesday were, Mrs. F. Smith, mother of Mr. Archie Smith; Mr. and Mrs. George Weadon, all of Saint John, New Brunswick.

Weddings

HOULDEN—MORRIS

Frankford—A very pretty summer wedding was solemnized on Saturday, July 14, at 3 p.m., in the Frankford United church, when Marion Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morris, Frankford, was united in marriage to Mark Leland, son of Mrs. Pearl Houlden, Frankford and the late Mr. Lee Houlden. The Rev. H. M. Beach performed the double-ring ceremony. Pedestal ferns, baskets of roses and delphiniums and peonies adorned the altar. Silver bows marked the pews.

Mrs. Walter Morrow of Frankford, provided the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in an ankle-length pale blue nylon net over taffeta with matching lace inserts and matching lace bolero. She also wore blue nylon gloves and blue shoes and a shoulder length nylon net veil with headdress. She carried a white Bible adorned with red rosebuds and white ribbon streamers, and wore a string of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. Joyce Watson of Belleville, as matron of honor. She wore a pink nylon net over taffeta ankle length gown with matching headdress of pink and carried a nosegay of varied flowers.

Miss Diane Watson, niece of the bride, was flower girl, attired in pink nylon dress with pink accessories and carried a nosegay of varied flowers.

Seaman Donald J. Ashby, of Halifax, R.C.N., was the groomsman with Mr. Robert Morris and Mr. Ted Ashby, acting as ushers.

For the reception held at the bride's parents' home, the bride's mother chose a navy and white figured sheer dress with white accessories and corsage of white striped carnations. The bridegroom's mother selected, wearing a powder blue crepe dress with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The home was decorated with roses, Sweet Williams and pink and white streamers.

For the wedding trip to the Muskoka District, the bride chose a black and white printed cotton dress with white accessories and flaring skirt with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Guests attended from Peterborough, Toronto and Belleville. The young couple will reside in Dartmouth, N.S.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

To begin where we left off on Wednesday, another sentence in the Royal Bank July letter seemed very familiar. "Simplicity is the outward sign of depth of thought." It was Albert Schweitzer who said in one of his penetrating philosophical observations that to be profound, one must be simple. And to one who is confused by, and lost in, the circumlocutions of some writers, this comes as a great relief.

Does everyone, we wonder, have trouble bringing his or her thoughts to the present after going through a very busy and stimulating experience? We find ourselves in that difficulty. That, at any rate, is our excuse for recounting more tales of the Congress. Various after-thoughts and remembrances from last week's International Congress of Business & Professional Women's clubs keep popping up.

One incident was at the International dinner. We had just begun at 7:30 when a distant wailing of sirens could be heard drawing closer and closer. Someone said, "Here comes Mr. Martin." It was. Our guest speaker, the Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of Health and Welfare and head of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, was arriving from Dorval airport with a police escort provided by Mr. Gilbeault, mayor of Montreal. Because of the large number of banquet guests, two rooms had to be used. The head table guests had the first course in the Champlain room, then were piped into the hall room for dessert, coffee and speeches. Mr. Martin left for New York after completing his speech. Then we heard the sirens starting up again and diminishing in the distance towards Dorval.

As we told this to a friend, she remarked that it was worth every time in T & T simply to show how people like Mr. Martin in responsible positions have to live, in order to look after their obligations and get their work done.

The story of the Congress and the national convention would not be complete without mention of Mrs. Hazel Laycock, of Winnipeg, now the immediate past president. This was Mrs. Laycock's big year with Canada being chosen for the Congress. Everyone was saddened when Mrs. Laycock had a heart attack some months ago. But with great courage, she left Winnipeg for Montreal in a wheelchair after seven weeks in hospital. She seemed well, and looked lovely as usual. But the excitement proved to be too much for her and she collapsed on Thursday night. It was hospital again and we only hope she is regaining her strength and health.

Mrs. Laycock was born in Ontario, but taught school in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Her present position is with the women's division of the National Employment Service at Winnipeg, as supervisor of the industrial section.

Mrs. Laycock has had to draw on her courage many times during her life. Her husband was returned from World War I totally disabled and died shortly afterwards. She had two children, a son and daughter. That son was lost in World War II and her daughter was widowed in that same period. It seems almost too much sacrifice for one family, and we can only express again our hope that Hazel Laycock will be fully restored to health.

Our thought for the weekend was chosen because of our thoughts of Hazel Laycock and Seph Addison wrote these lines in 1704—he could have written them about her today:

"Unbounded courage and compassion join'd
Tempering each other in the virtuous mind,
Alternately proclaim him good and great,
And make the hero and the man complete."

Going Places

Keep The Sun at Your Back

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Midsummer potpourri. . . Some rambling thoughts for a ramblin' season. . .

An astute reader suggest that if you're going cross-country for sightseeing, start early and stop early going west; start late and stop late going east. This will put the sun at your back for a great part of the day, making for both more comfortable and more visible sightseeing.

A fellow airport limousine passenger, who said he flies regularly because it's more economical, was wondering why the railroads don't snag a bigger proportion of the long-haul trade by promoting all-inclusive package tickets.

"Once you get on a plane, everything is free," he said. "Meals, magazines, pillows, blankets—and no tipping. But you get on a train and even your second cup of coffee fee in the diner costs ten cents. Pillows are 50 cents and everyone down to the porter, bellhop, carcharges for everything."

HIDDEN COSTS

It's probably true that inexperienced travelers are particularly distressed by the many hidden costs of a long train journey, even if the basic ticket is cheaper. Perhaps if the railroads set up deals which included all meals, tips and all other extras, they might be able to show in black and white that rail travel can be less expensive.

We wonder why tipping is based on a per centage of the meal check. Is it any more effort for a waitress to serve a four-dollar airlein steak that a two-dollar chopped sirloin? Or is what the customer orders supposed to be indicative of his ability to pay?

A tip for sales managers who check travel expense accounts or like to keep tabs on salesmen's travel: Have your expense sheet include a column for each mode of transportation or the other, instead of, for example, rail fare, bus fare and another part. Breaking up the journey this way lets you get a speedy trip and through-fare discounts plus stopover privileges, adding considerable opportunity for making several stops on a trip.

The petroleum industry is doing some long-needed advertising promotion in an attempt to prove to car owners that it's more expensive not to use your car than to use it. The more you use it, particularly if you take the family, the further the cost per mile goes down. Moreover, the higher the value of your car has little to do with its mileage or mechanical condition. It depends almost completely on its age and appearance. Nothing you do can affect its age and you can always keep the appearance up to par, so you might as well use and enjoy it while you've got it.

EXCESS BAGGAGE

Many airline travelers are cracking down on overweight baggage. It used to be that you could get by with four or five pounds over the 40 pound limit without being charged, but some lines are now charging for as little as one pound in excess. Some passengers are licking that by carrying their own bags onto the plane; burp agents who weigh baggage at the loading gate rarely bother with overweight charges on small amounts.

Many passengers find excess charges are discriminatory anyway, both because oversees-bound passengers are allowed an extra 20 pounds free, even on domestic routes, and because many passengers have less than 40 pounds. Yet unless they are traveling together, one passenger's underweight is not permitted to apply to another's overweight.

And what about passengers who are overweight by 200 pound man doesn't pay anymore for his ticket than a 120 pound gal, even though his personal weight is as significant in the gross weight of the plane as his baggage weight is. Perhaps passengers ought to be allowed a weight limit. You'd see a lot of men go on much-needed diets, if nothing else!

VACATION INSURANCE

An insurance company is offering vacation insurance. If it rains four days or more on a two-week holiday at a resort, you get your expenses back.

A restaurant in Minneapolis has installed one of those why-didn't-somebody-think-of-this-before innovations: a light on your table which you switch on when you want the waitress. It eliminates embarrassing and annoying wiggling, waving, arm-waving, and whistling through the teeth.

Don't be alarmed if you notice a slapping sound coming from your tires on concrete pavements these hot summer days. The tar used to patch cracks in the road often causes this. It isn't a flat or blowout until the sound becomes rhythmic.

Speaking of blowouts, we had our first one at high speed the other day. It was on a rear wheel, and for those who wonder what happens, here's nothing. We remembered not to hit the brake and just steered the car off the highway. However, we ruined the tire and tube because, at the speed at which we were traveling, it took a mile of coasting to stop, and things were pretty well mashed near the rim.

An Everchanging Canvas Of Nature's Panorama

A. Henderson

Each month of the year the Supreme Artist displays to those who take time to see, a canvas of vibrating beauty. Beginning with the simple monochrome of winter with its stark tree trunks against a background of gleaming white, the delicate tracery of the tiny branches of gold against the steely blue of the sky; the greenish tinge of frozen, blowing streams, gradually increasing in the tempo of tint to the climax of glorious autumn with its lavish splashes of color in woodland, streams, lanes and roadsides.

In April there is the progressive opening of reddish-brown maple buds; the pungent odor of dun-colored earth; the suggestion of velvety green beneath one's feet; and the ever-deepening blue of the sky. So gradual and so quiet is the change one is suddenly confronted with the white trilliums of May; the yellow of the dog's tooth violet; the white, waxy beauty of the bloodroot, and the little blue, pink and white hepaticas with their furry stems peeping through the sepia-tinted leaves of last year beside some old stump on the southern slope of a wooded hillside, and the soft green of unfurling fern fronds.

In June, the gradation of color is more pronounced; the roadsides are bedecked with the delicate pink of the wild rose; the air is laden with the tangy fragrance of pines, trailing vines of the wild grape as it meanders along the half-cleared fences, and hangs from lofty branches. In the fields the white, daisy faces, with their golden hearts, bow gently to and fro.

July, the aristocrat, beckons with its sea of blue weed, so like in color to that of Lake Louise—a torment to the farmer, but a joy to the artist; mingled here and there is the pale blue of chicory, and along the shores of Muskoka lakes and rivers are seen the red steeples of the cardinal flower; the red berries of the squaw plant, and on the bosom of the slow-moving Ox-Tongue river, the milk-white water lilies lay their perfect beauty.

August is the regal month of blue and gold, and crimson. Everywhere tall graceful heads of goldenrod sway in the gentle breezes, with splashes of wild raspberries; purpling asters and fairies, the blue of wild asters; the lacy fronds of bracken, basking aloof and stately in her secluded meadow; the pale gold of ripening sandwort, perfect beneath their umbrella-like leaves under some hawthorne tree; tempting the weary hiker with their refreshing spicy juices.

September unfurls before its viewers a canvas of scarlet maples and flaming sumacs; the caution of the Virginia creeper as it hangs from jagged, grey rocks; the golden pumpkins dotting the corn stooked fields, backgrounded by vines of purpling grapes and wild, red plums.

And then October, month of garnering of the fruits. The dark green of trees highlighted by dots of red and purple; hedgerows have given place to quieter shading; reds are mellowed with browns and dull gold; pale yellow and bennas; the earth beneath the pines is a softer carpet for browning needles, and yellowing ferns.

The Divine Artist is bringing to a close His marvellous procession of Nature's beauty in woodland; in the winding country roads and lanes; beside the still waters, with their ever-changing canopy of cloud and sunshine.

"O World as God has made it, all beauty and knowing this is love, and love is duty."

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TRY A BIKE-RIDE TO BEAUTY

Just about this time of the year, when everyone's indulging in his or her favorite outdoor sport, the argument frequently arises as to which of them is best for promoting health—and, where women are concerned—beauty. It's a moot question, certainly, for virtually participation in any outdoor sport is healthy, and beauty is born of good health.

Beauty, however, is compounded of many factors, and some outdoor pastimes do more for one part of the body than the other. Swimming, for instance, is the best exercise possible for toning up the pectoral muscles, thus producing a fine, firm chest, and for slimming down heavy upper arms. It's also a fine exercise for sagging abdomens and for thighs which may be flabby. Tennis helps to produce graceful movements as well as keeping all leg muscles well-toned while golf, or any other sport which calls for a great deal of walking, is a fine all round exercise.

If, however, you're no whiz at tennis or golf, why not try bike-riding your way to health and beauty? Anyone can learn how and it's one of the most fun-making sports there are. Bicycle riding is especially effective in slimming calves and ankles. You can't expect results overnight, of course, but if you can get in an hour or two every day on your bike, definite improvement should be noted in about two weeks. And, after a few months, even the heaviest ankles will take on a really trim look.

If you're up in your "dotage" and read the advice of re-ducing experts, you'll note that practically all of them recommend a bicycle exercise which involves lying on the back and simulating the muscles of pedaling. But why bother with this routine in nice weather, when it's more fun to take off on a real bike and enjoy the extra dividends of sun and fresh air as you two-wheel along?

We don't particularly recommend bike-riding to reduce heavy thighs (swimming's better here) but it's certainly a fine exercise for toning thigh muscles which may have become flabby either through lack of exercise or improper diet. It's fine for general posture, too, since you can't possibly steer properly if you slouch in your seat. Steering a bicycle is definitely a matter of balance and that calls for sitting up straight. So, with improved posture, plenty of sun and fresh air, muscle-toning and a lot of fun as well, what more could you possibly ask of the bike-rite to beauty? figure, too.

COLORFUL SWIMSUIT

By VERA WINSTON

Red, white and blue, about as stirring a color scheme as we know, adds dash to a bathing suit designed with an eye to a pretty figure. The fabric is elasticized wool jersey, with the V formed by the white portion, the red taking care of the rest of the bodice and the narrow waist, with the navy blue for the balance. The bra portion is wired inside.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU MIGHT TRY ASSERTING YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I have been married for three years to a man who seems to be utterly self-sufficient. He is 30 and I am 26.

He doesn't have many friends and apparently doesn't care to make any more. He doesn't want me to have friends or go any place. When he comes home at night, he eats dinner in silence, then goes into the living room, turns on the television and not a word is spoken for the rest of the evening. If by any chance I make the mistake of saying anything, he is very irritable about it.

I just can't face a future in which I have to live with this sort of thing, so I would like to know if you think there is any hope my husband will change. I think that an unhappy childhood with parents who apparently didn't care for children may have made him the way he is. If that is so, what hope can there be, for I have heard that childhood environment has a lifelong effect on personality.—Mrs. H.M.

Dear Mrs. H.M.:

Let me say first that childhood environment does, of course, have a profound influence upon the shaping of anyone's personality. But it doesn't necessarily follow that if the influence was bad, the personality is warped for life. An intelligent person who realizes that defects in his personality have developed out of an unfortunate childhood, and really wishes to adjust them, can, with expert help, certainly do so. So if you could find a way to make your husband see he has a problem which he needs to face, and solve, there definitely would be hope that he could change—provided he had the desire and the will power to cooperate.

A consultation with a marriage counselor might help you see how you could work along these lines and eventually win your husband over to the idea. You might give this some thought.

In the meantime, however, it doesn't seem to me very sensible for you to go on living the kind of life you have at present. Naturally, it is rough to understand that you hesitate to assert yourself, even though you would be justified in doing so, lest you precipitate an unhappy scene. Yet sometimes a scene or two for a good cause will clear the air and bring about a much more wholesome atmosphere in the home.

The wife who keeps her grievance to herself runs a very real trouble, it is true. But she will never improve matters by following this procedure. If she wants to try to remedy an unsatisfactory state of affairs, she usually has to be at venturous enough to risk stirring up a storm, and, surprisingly often, if such a storm does come, it eventually subsides if the wife has the courage to stand her ground.

If your husband wants to sit home, night in and night out, in silent communion with his television set, I think you should assert your right to do something different. Just because he doesn't want any social life, is no reason why you should live in a vacuum.

So instead of meekly sitting there, watching him watch television tomorrow night, I suggest that you put on your hat and go somewhere. Call up a friend and ask her to go to the movies with you if you can't think of anything else to do. If you don't want to go out without your husband knowing where you are going, write him a note and hand it to him as you leave. Since he doesn't like you to break in on his television program by speaking to him, that should take care of that.

On the other hand, if you wanted to let it ride till you got home and let him ask where you'd been, you could then say simply and pleasantly, that you couldn't stand spending your evenings in a funeral parlor any longer and had decided you must have some companionship, so had gone out with friends.

If he blows up, hold your own,

In The Swim

By TRACY ADRIAN

Large sizes as well as petites will favor this swim suit because it is both sophisticated and practical. Designed to give serious swimmers a maximum of comfort, it still has a chic and feminine look.

The suit is made of pique in a petit-point weave. Its finish reduces wrinkling to a minimum. A clever front closing combines both a zipper and a button detail. Other features are a built-in bra and detachable and adjustable straps. It is in black only and comes in all sizes.

but keep it quiet. If you have the will power to hold to your new course, while remaining cheerful and patient, you may win out. It won't be easy, but it may turn the trick—and you'll prove yourself a remarkable woman!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

GOLDEN WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. Our parents are celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary next month, and there are some questions in my family would like to ask you. Are the invitation to a reception sent by us, the family, or by our parents?

2. Does the family customarily bear the full expense of a banquet-reception or whatever type of celebration is decided on?

3. If there were a head table at a banquet whose would you seat at this head table—members of the immediate family or more elderly guests such as brothers and sisters of our mother and father?

4. Would it be suitable to have the eldest son act as Master of Ceremonies at a banquet?

1. If the anniversary dinner is being given by the couple themselves, the invitations are in their names. If the dinner is being given by their children, the invitations are sent in the names of the sons and daughters (also daughters-in-law and sons-in-law—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, and so forth).

2. Customarily those in whose names the invitations are sent consider themselves the hosts and therefore pay all expenses of the party. However, something—other arrangements are made about the expenses or the division of the expenses by the members of the family and of course this is entirely proper. It all depends on circumstances, budgets, plans, preferences.

3. It is excellent planning to have at the head table with the couple celebrating, their sons and daughters-in-law and their daughters and son-in-law; such close relatives as the couple's sisters (and their husbands) and brothers (and their wives); and any members of the original wedding party who are to be present.

4. Yes, the couple's eldest son may be Master of Ceremonies, although when the best man at the couple's wedding is present, he may be invited to be Master of Ceremonies. (Incidentally, instead of "banquet," do use the word "dinner," which is in many the better taste for this personal occasion.)

FOOD POISONING TO 60

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Forty members of a Geneva, N.Y., Boy Scout troop descended on Druid City Hospital Thursday, suffering from a mass stomach ache. Physicians said they apparently were victims of food poisoning. The troop is on its way to a national scout encampment in New Mexico.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

NOTE FROM EMME:

I have some letters from readers asking for pickle and preserving recipes. Those readers may feel neglected by me. They need not. Before the pickle season is here I will print here or mail to them the recipes they want. Any other readers who think I am tardy with my answers please take heart. Before you read this I will be back at my familiar desk and my files will be handy and all of your requests will be filled.

QUESTION:

". . . you got a request from F.D. about low-cost meals. Did she ever consider baking her own bread? It costs less than half bakery price and lastes so much better . . . I have a special recipe for white bread which I shall send if requested. It is for two people . . . as to her candy: (1) Any candy should have corn syrup (2 tablespoons) added, whether the recipe calls for it or not. This is a glucose content and almost guarantees against graining or failure. (2) Drop in 4 or 5 large marshmallows after removing from stove. By the time fudge is cool enough to beat, they will have melted and make fudge creamy.

I made your double decker brownie recipe (cocoanut layer and chocolate on top) for a church tea. Everyone was asking for recipe. I gave all the credit to you. . . . I don't blame you for being proud of Pete and Marianne. But wait till Grandson starts toddling around! I KNOW. I have five grandchildren; My best wishes in all your endeavors. —I.

ANSWER:

I'm beginning to realize the joys in store for me—for Gary smiled at me—and it wasn't gas! Thank you, and please do send the white bread recipe.

QUESTION:

I wonder if you could help me out with chicken soup. What else besides rice or pastry or noodles? I am diabetic and therefore can't have flour. I am an avid reader of your column.—Idella R.

ANSWER:

I am sure I recognize your name. You have written to me before haven't you? One of the ingredients in chicken gumbo is okra. It has a slightly gelatinous effect on broth. Buy a can of it and to a batch of chicken soup add all of the liquid from the can and half of the okra, sliced very thin. Add also some chopped green beans, new peas, a few baby limas, carrot dice, onions, tomatoes parsley. Of course you know that before any of these additions are made the broth should be clarified and carefully skimmed free of fat. I have one other suggestion to make. You could make thin cream of chicken soup by making a paste of water and skim milk powder and stirring it in. This is very good and helps to thicken the dilution of thick soup when actually very little carbohydrate is present.

Stirling

STIRLINGG — Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies, Mill Street, re-entertained Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Menzies, Lorraine and Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard MacConnell, Peterborough, Miss Lily Maitland, West Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell, Neil and Glenda, Detlor.

Mrs. Glenn Bush, Stirling R.R. 1, was a patient in Belleville General Hospital last week.

Several folk have been agreeably surprised this past week. When they were cashing their cheques they received a 1956 silver dollar as part of their change.

Mr. Allan Downell, Almonte, a former editor of the Stirling News Argus, visited several folk in the Stirling area on Tuesday enroute to visit his brother and niece in Toronto.

Mrs. Albert Fraser was hostess at her cottage at Oak Lake, for the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter I.O.D.E.

Two ladies of the St. John Ambulance Association, Belleville, demonstrated the new method of artificial respiration.

Miss Margaret Pryor journeyed by plane to Brandon, Manitoba, and is holidaying with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pue and family.

Mrs. Nancy Mangold, Belleville, is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. James Menzies.

Mrs. William Cornet has returned home from Belleville Hospital.

Mrs. Hugh Detlor, Stirling R.R. 4, underwent an operation last Wednesday in the General Hospital, Belleville.

The Stirling celebration held last Thursday by the two lodges was the first since 1877? sponsored by Stirling L.O.L. and L.O.B.A. The ladies of both groups were in charge of the meal which consisted of platters of beef, ham, bowls of vegetables and salad with pie galore. The ladies were highly commended for their catering ability. It was 'help yourself' style and all you could eat for one green ball. It is understood that in 1937 the late Louis Rodgers was County Master and in 1856 his son, Don Rodgers, filled that office. In those 19 years there have been other celebrations in the village as lodges in the county have retired the agricultural park for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln McEathron and children and Mrs. Frank Osborne, Campbellford, on Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel Meggison was taken by ambulance to Belleville General Hospital on Monday, July 9th.

Miss Grace Carleton, who is employed at Women's College Hospital, Toronto, has just received her degree as a registered technologist in the Canadian Society.

Ivanhoe

IVANHOE — Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Twiddy were Mrs. Susan Gordon, Madoc; Mrs. Joseph Price, Actinolite; Mr. and Mrs. Gaynor Randall and Billie of Deseronto and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Tesky and children and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mills and Barty Monday morning, for an extended motor trip to the east coast.

Mrs. Malcolm MacMillan and children spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cross, Roslin.

Miss Helen Kerby, who spent the past three weeks at her home here, has returned to Toronto.

Master Allan Bellina is holidaying at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins, Belleville.

Miss Anna Reid spent the past week visiting relatives in Brighton.

Mrs. Anna Bouchard, Malone, was a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. A. Clement.

Mrs. Joyce Reid and Linda are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welsh, Belleville.

United Church WMS Hears Talk On Mission Work

WELLINGTON — The July meeting of the United Church WMS afternoon auxiliary was held in the church basement on Tuesday.

Mrs. Hamel chaired the meeting and Mrs. Maybee played for the hymns.

Interdction was quiet music, a hymn and a welcome to members by "Meditation of Love," prayer, and guests.

Mrs. Hicks called the roll. Calls were reported and number of books read. An invitation was reported from Burr's W.A. to visit them on August 8th for their birthday party.

It was decided to send letters of sympathy to Mrs. McMaster and Mrs. Dean. Also a communication to Mr Whitney, MPP, expressing the displeasure of the W.M.S. regarding the proposed sale of beer in grocery stores.

Mrs. Ross reported for "Prayer" Mrs. Bishop on the missionary helps, Mrs. Taylor on literature and Mrs. Dowland gave a report of mite box giving.

Mrs. Cook gave the treasurer's report. The offering was received and dedicated by the president.

The vote to send Mrs. Cleave as delegate to the school for leaders, was unanimous.

Mrs. Hamil expressed her appreciation to the members for assistance at the birthday party.

Mrs. Poulter announced the program of devotional study "Marys and Martha", by Mrs. Marvin, with Mrs. Thompson reading the scripture reading.

Mrs. Trish introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Marjorie Robins, who thrilled everyone by her interesting and informative talk on her social work in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Ross moved a vote of thanks.

Following the Hebrew Benediction, a social half hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served by Mrs. Poulter and her group.

Deseronto

DESERONTO—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Walker and Larry attended the reunion picnic of the family of the late James Walker, at Pepper's Camp, Long Lake.

Mr. William Ryan, Brockville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jim and Mrs. M. J. Ryan and Patsy.

Mr. Herb Lindman, of Rochester, is visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lindman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Walker, of Kingston, were recent guests of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Art Walker, and family.

Mr. Hugh Thomson, Commercial, visited with Mr. Jos Pritchett for a few days.

Wellington

WELLINGTON — On Saturday evening a reception was held at St. Andrew's Rectory when members of the St. Andrew's Church Wellington and members of Christ Church, Hillier and many citizens of Wellington called there to meet and welcome the Rev. C. R. Gale, the new Anglican minister. The rooms looked very pretty with baskets of lovely flowers placed here and there around the rooms. Rev. Gale was assisted by his cousin Mr. and Mrs. Myers of N.Y. who met the guests at the door and ushered them into the spacious rooms of the rectory. Ladies from Hillier Guild and Wellington Church took turns at pouring tea from a very pretty eatable covered with a beautiful lace cloth and centred with a lovely silver vase filled with sweet peas, and silver candelabra. The young ladies of the church served dainty sandwiches, cookies and tea to the guests during the evening.

The regular meeting of the Wellington, W.I. was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening July 19th. It being a very busy time there was a small but very interested in attendance. Mrs. William Jackson was in the chair owing to the absence of the president Mrs. Trapp being opened with the W. I. Ode, Creed and the Lord's Prayer. Roll call was answered by naming a Wolfboro' grown on the farm. Mrs. Wolfboro' grown on the farm. Mrs. Ida Nelson Harris moved that the minutes of the last meeting be adopted as read by Mrs. Broadbridge. A letter from the Department of Agriculture Inviting delegates to the Women's Institute Holiday to be held at Campbellford on August 4th and the letter from P. Donaldson regarding contests to be known at the Picnic Fair was discussed and the date decided to send an exhibit. Thank you letters were received from Miss Nina Rorke, Mrs. Mildred Boyle and Mrs. Frank Grealy. One lovely birthday donation to the birthday box was received from Mrs. Ogilvie. Mrs. Broadbridge gave a very interesting talk on her social work in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Ross moved a vote of thanks.

Following the Hebrew Benediction, a social half hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served by Mrs. Poulter and her group.

OUTLOOK COOL

Eastern Canada can expect below-normal or much-below-normal temperatures in the next 30 days according to this map based on the long-range forecast of the Washington weather bureau. In most of Western Canada the outlook is warmer with near-normal weather forecast for much of the prairies and southern British Columbia. Northern British Columbia and the Northwest Territories are the only areas for which above-normal temperatures are forecast (CP Photo).

PICTON

Indian Point Lighthouse to Be Demolished

PICTON — A landmark for sailors since 1867, the lighthouse at Indian Point has been demolished. Wind and weather took their toll over the years and the structure became unsafe. It was pulled over and then destroyed by fire. In its place has arisen a 35-foot steel tower topped by an electrically operated light.

During the years the light has cast its warning rays over the Upper Gap between Crenye Point and Indian Point. It was 54 feet high and located in a wooded spot which became popular with picnickers.

The keeper of the light was John Prinyer, one of the earliest residents of that district. He was in charge for thirty summers. He was followed by Frank Connors who kept it going for 14 seasons; Sidney Carson, Charles Laird and Samuel Carson. For the past 24 years the keeper has been Donly Watkins, a local fisherman.

SENIOR HOCKEY

Much regarding the operation of western senior "A" hockey clubs was brought to light at the recent meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association senior "A" council.

The withdrawal of the Stratford club from the western group struck a serious blow at senior "A" hockey in that part of the province. "Dutch" Meier, sponsor of the club for the past eight years, has withdrawn from the picture and hopes for an entry from Chick Appel's ballwick look anything but encouraging.

It was stated at the meeting that the Stratford Indians has lost $12,500 on last season's operations, while the Classic City arena had reaped $14,500 as its share of the gate receipts and $100,000 during the past five years from the same source.

Meier told the council that he could not see why or how a hockey team could be operated under these circumstances and reiterated his request for a year's suspension.

Chatham Maroons president Stan Thompson, said the Stratford situation was no different to that in his city and before the Maroons agreed to function the arena commission had recommended after several months of negotiation by granting the hockey club $5 per cent of the gate receipts "and we wouldn't operate for a cent less," he added.

Asked if he would continue to operate the Stratford club under similar arrangement, Meier was adamant in his stand to withdraw. "I want my $2,500 deposit back because I am all through with hockey in Stratford," he said.

Stratford was given a week to decide its future intentions and in the meantime all its players with the exception of three would be "frozen."

Members of the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league attended the session with Claude A. Tow and Denny Deanes representing Belleville; Wren Blair, Whitby; Ray Miron, Cornwall and Jim McCormack and Steve Amey looking after Kingston interests.

They were there mainly in the interests of the OHA granting a new checking schedule with the western groups, but it was pointed out by OHA prexy Frank Buckland that a similar schedule with the NOHA southern group had been under consideration for some time and Timmins, Windsor, Chatham and Owen Sound delegates said they were in favor of the arrangement with the northern clubs.

Speaking to the request of the eastern clubs for such a schedule, Lorne Cook, OHA vice-prexy told the council that the eastern clubs were prepared to subsidize the western clubs for every trip they made to the eastern group.

Whitby's Wren Blair enlarged on this by saying "his group" was prepared to subsidize the western clubs to the extent of $700 for every trip they made to the eastern teams. He also contended that the western teams were undermatched the eastern clubs because they would fog strong contenders and would not be any "pushovers."

"We need you now—but you may need us later," Blair said. He explained the Pembroke Lumber Kings' plight by saying that they demand $10,000 from the OHA clubs in order to play in that group again and failing that they would join the eastern senior "A" group.

President Buckland suggested that the senior clubs approach the OHA with a request to the CAHA to arrange an agreement with the NHL that pro hockey fall all players graduating from junior ranks who are not considered of professional calibre, be placed on a draft system with a limited salary from which the senior clubs could secure future talent. The suggestion was unanimously endorsed.

Later OHA business manager Billy Hanley stated that one or the other of the interlocking schedule requests would have to be refused. The eastern group will get a decision one way or the other by April 1.

We are definitely not of the opinion that the western clubs will accept the eastern offer of $200 a game. After all it's only a 1040-mile return trip from Cornwall to Windsor and some fifty miles less to Chatham. Also it is extremely doubtful if the western clubs would be in an interlocking schedule with the east under any consideration since the travelling question is one of anything but minor proportions.

There was perhaps an inference of this at the senior "A" council meeting when the western clubs unanimously approved of an interlocking schedule with the northern teams.

The request of the eastern league for an interlocking schedule with the western teams, was made when three clubs, Whitby, Cornwall and Kingston comprised the eastern group. Belleville entered the day before the senior council meeting was called but vice-prexy Lorne Cook, who was unaware of the entry the night before, said it was too late to call the originally-planned meeting of the eastern teams, but he would see that Belleville is all in at the Toronto confab.

We are only surmising, but had the three eastern clubs been aware of the Belleville entry, the request for the interlocking schedule with the west might not have materialized.

Then again, if and when Pembroke enters, and there is a vestige of truth in the story that the Montreal Junior Canadiens will be established with the eastern clubs during the regular schedule, why bother with an interlocking affair with the western clubs?

Canada's Chances In Cup Play Believed Good

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jim Skelton, non-playing captain of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team, says he is "optimistic" about Canada's chances, and particularly with the chances of Bob Bedard when the Canadians meet the U.S. in Victoria, July 27-29.

"Our chances with Bedard in singles are good, and our chances in the doubles are good," he said Friday.

Canada's chances are good in the doubles because the U.S. has not named a well-recognized team he said.

It is understood Bedard and Don Fontana of Toronto will go against Ron Holmberg and Barry MacKay in doubles. Other members of Canada's team are Paul Wiley and Laurie Barclay, both of Vancouver.

Bosox 'Sliver' Mad at Scribes And Displays it on Diamond; Giants Sink Deeper in Cellar

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Where in the world would the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers be in that National League race without big Don Newcombe? Or without the St. Louis Cardinals, for that matter.

Newk and the Cards have become regular meal tickets for the so-called "gutless wonders." The strapping righthander has been manager Walt Alston's top stopper more often than not, and the Cards, who once staged those thrilling pennant scraps with the Brooks, are keeping the Dodgers healthy these days.

After dropping two of three at Cincinnati and slipping six games behind the leaders, Brooklyn stopped the Red Legs with a 4-1 decision over the Cards Friday night as Newcombe pitched a five-hitter for his 12th victory. It was Newk's seventh straight over the Cardinals, a mark Newcombe tied him since August, 1951. It also was the eighth victory in 11 games with St. Louis this season for third-place Brooklyn.

AARON HITS 11TH

Milwaukee retained its two-game edge over Bob Buhl tossing a two-hitter for his 12th victory and Hank Aaron hammering out four runs in a 10-0 frolic against Philadelphia. Runner-up Cincinnati, finding all the right homers, beat Pittsburgh 6-4 in 12 innings on Smoky Burgess's two run shot.

The Chicago Cubs ended the last place New York Giants' reign.

Stan Musial was the only Card to give Newcombe trouble, sparkling his 17th home run and a single in three trips. Newk got the first of four thirdbase putouts as the Dodgers scored three times. Tom Gorman, Carl Erskine, Reese had four hits—including his 10th homer.

Aaron, upping his league-leading average to .337 with three hits in five trips, socked a two-run homer in the first off Stu Miller. And Buhl pitched his way out of the second—in his first at bat since being picked up as a reserve for injured catcher Del Crandall. The Phils got only singles off Buhl—one by Granny Hamner in the third, and one by Richie Ashburn in the sixth. It was Milwaukee's 10th victory in 11 games.

BIG TED CONNECTS

Pittsburgh scored four runs on six hits in four innings against Don Gross, but Bob Hedges finally drew even as Ted Kluszewski walloped a three-run homer in the fifth, his 23rd, and Wally Post hit his 17th in the seventh to tie it. Burgess' game blow, his seventh, came off reliefer Fred Waters, Johnny Klippstein won it in relief.

Monte Irvin, the ex-Giant, hit his 9th and 10th homers for the Cubs as Jim Bronnan won his third, Vinly McCall lost it. The Giants have dropped 11 of 14 the current road trip to slak deep into the cellar.

Play Better Golf

by Tommy Armour

Knowledge banishes fear of many things, and traps included. When this ball is in the sand near a green the lofting lofty wedge, just take a wedge and hold it near the end, feet firmly set firmly in an open stance, with the ball about opposite your left heel, cock your wrists fully in the backswing, and slash the club down into the sand an inch or so back of the ball. Keep on swinging through and you'll practically have the ball out of the sand. You need very little knee and hip action for this shot, but you do use a pretty good turn of the shoulders and a snappy hand-hit into the ball, with no brakes on the follow through.

Rain Forces Cut-Round Play In Canadian Pro Tournament

TORONTO (CP)—Rain washed 18 holes right out of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association annual championship.

A downpour Friday forced cancellation of the first round of the 54-hole tournament — first suspension of play in the event's 40-year history.

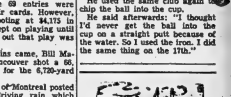
Officials decided that the two rounds scheduled today would settle the championship over a 36-hole route.

Rain fell Friday as first finishers among the 69 entries were handing in their cards. However, the others, shooting at 94,175 in the morning, kept on playing until word was sent out that play was called off.

Before the rains came, Bill Mashinney of Vancouver shot a 66, five under par for the 6,720-yard course.

Stan Leonard of Montreal posted a 69 in his driving rain which sent streams of water coursing over the fairways and turned the greens into miniature lagoons.

Murray Tucker of Toronto, who played in Leonard's trio, shot a 70. Mawhinney, Leonard and Tucker were the only ones of the 23 finishers to break par.



Mawhinney was one over par on only one hole, the eighth. He bounced back to fire a birdie four on the third and an eagle three on the 550-yard 10th, the second-longest hole on the course. His tee shot on the 10th hole came to rest 200 feet and he was within six inches of the cup on his second.

Most of the pros took the heavy downpour and news of cancellation of the day's play in stride. But one, pro-amateur brilliant round shot by Mawhinney who has had tough luck in tournament play this year, said: "I'd hate to tell him that his round was wiped out."

The 18th green was practically submerged. Bob Burns of Ridgeway used a nine-iron to chip his way from the edge of the green to within three inches of the cup.

Jack Isard then came again and chip the ball into the cup.

He said afterwards: "I thought I'd never get the ball into the cup on a straight putt because of the water. So I used the iron. I did the same thing on the 17th."

Layton Fails to Separate Hutton From Tattered 'Grand'

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Britain's Jim Hutton has to wait for the Dick Hutton instalment on the Civil War loan.

The Oklahoma tattered one-thousand dollar bill rubbed noses with Lord Layton's wallet in Memorial Arena last night—but there friendship passed.

The British blue-blood is a topnotch wrestler but is definitely not of the Sandwicher type. He is lax on the tracks.

In reverse, Hutton is good at the hammer-throw. And he knows all the ropes. He should. He used 'em all night to save his "grand" and his reputation.

The boys were all square at the third fall. Hutton said Layton with his "abominable" stretch to grab the first and Layton spread-eagled Le Hutton in the second heat.

The American took the third and the match in the battle of chops and slashes.

They decided to dispense with Referee Joe Gollop's scrutinizing and Layton's toe-to-toe outside the ring.

They started the semaphore act and Hutton buried Layton into the laps of the first-row spectators. He expected back into the ring with two counts to go but Layton failed to get through the wire and was counted out at 2880 tonsils howled their disapproval.

Hutton never came closer to losing his shirt "grand" than in the first fall. It looked as though it was the pants of the wager on not a few occasions and had the ropes not been so handy Layton might not be playing bowling the united American lettuce.

He had Hutton in a bad way with a little more than a minute to go for the money when suddenly the Oklahoman applied his stretch and that was that.

Tilling said it is worst in the semi-final between handsome Sammy Berg and Mexico's Roberto Deya.

Pico had hurled Sammy out of the ring in the first fall—but apparently hurt was unable to rise and Pico in a feigned Good Samaritan act hoisted Berg him and started for the dressing room.

Suddenly Sammy landed by the floor and planted a foot in his midriff. The crowd milled around angrily. Deya appeared and hailed Pico's attack with some well-placed judo darts while other wrestlers and the referee tuned in. Berg was carried in as a stretcher.

In a lively preliminary, Pat Ranazzo kicked Vito Parisi and set to subdue tough Ofni Bogna in 20 minutes of fast action.

STEELERS GET SCARABTH

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League announced today they have obtained Ottawa Roughriders quarterback Jackie Scarbath from Washington Redskins. The deal is contingent on Scarbath reporting to the Steelers.

Scarbath, who was drafted by the Redskins following his collegiate days at Maryland, played with Ottawa last year in the Big Four league. Steelers said they obtained him for an undisclosed amount of cash and next year's fourth draft choice.

Marilyn Gets Taste Of Real Thing

VICTORIA (CP)—The Marilyn Ball swim camp switched from training location Friday in an effort to get more of the actual conditions the 18-year-old Toronto swimmer will face in her bid to conquer the English Channel.

The conditions were there—whitecaps, chop and tides.

Marilyn spent about 1½ hours in the chill water—about 49 degrees Fahrenheit she said she didn't bother her.

Her change in training area followed closely on the heels of an unsuccessful swim attempt by Ben Lansdell, Sweden's No. 1 player, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 64 and Merlo turned back Uli Schmidt 5-7, 6-1, 7-5, 6-1.

Leafs Wallop Royals Twice; Marlins Move Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami Marlins are still on the march in the International League but somebody else is in the cool off the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs if they are to get any closer.

While the Marlins were nosing out Hamilton Cardinals 2-1 Friday night for their 13th victory in their last 16 games, the Leafs turned back Montreal royals twice 8-0 and 7-3.

Miami's victory moved the Marlins into third place by two percentage points ahead of Montreal, which dropped to fourth. Each trails the Leafs by three games and the second - place Rochester Royals, whose game with Buffalo was rained out, by 1½.

LEAF SHUTTING EXCITER

The Leafs combed Montreal pitching for 28 hits, including four home runs, and won the game by Big Ed Stevens and one each by Hector Rodrigues and Mike Goliat.

Ed Blake blanked the Royals on five hits in the seven - inning opener. The big blue shoe was Goliat's 14th homer of the year—with two mates aboard. Rodriguez's homer came in the second game in which Pete Wojey scattered nine hits and struck out nine. Lew Morton and Archie Wilcox had three hits each.

Richmond Virginians broke a four-game losing streak, defeating Columbus Jets 8-6 with the aid of a four-run rally. The misfits broke up a fine pitching duel between Columbus' Jim Bolin and Richmond Nardella. Richmond blew the game open with six runs in the eighth.

The Miami - Havana game was called in the third inning when Hawes doubled, reached third on Mickey Micelotta's infield out and scored on a wild pitch. Micelotta also took third on the heave and skilled after Sal Abrams' long flyout.

Seeks Fight With Wallace

NEW YORK. (CP)—Toronto's fight fitting gained added impetus today with word that Tony Anthony, promising young New York light-heavyweight, is angling for a bout there with British Empire champion Don Wallace of Branford.

Anthony gained new stature in the 175 pound class Friday night by defeating Tony Johnson in a 10-round unanimous decision bout.

George Gainford, one of Anthony's handlers, said today he wants to negotiate for a Toronto match with Wallace for the "North American light-heavy title." Wallace won the British Empire crown by stopping Ron Barton in London, June 19.

Ring Chin Singh accepted the 21-year-old Anthony early in his career but he showed improved ability to take a punch last night while stopping Johnson on a TKO in 1:36 of the 10.

"I didn't feel much like knocking him out," said Anthony. "I wanted to box him and learn my trade."

Power and Sail

By BILL ROBINSON

Although new synthetics and metals have gained in use in boat-building, the basic item is still the one Noah used in building the Ark—wood. It is especially the favorite material of home builders, and is still the favorite material for many types of professionally built boats.

Just any old wood won't do, though. Over hundreds of varieties, some are especially good for special uses, and others are to be avoided at all costs.

Regional traditions and the local availability of wood has a lot to do with its use in different areas, but any boat lumber dealer will tell you that certain woods just should not be used in a boat, no matter where. When home-builders come in with an order for one of these woods specified in "do-it-yourself" plans, the conscientious dealer will try to steer the customer away from a mistake.

OLD STANDBYS

Poplar, birch and gum are very poor woods for any kind of boat use. They are soft, and the finish and look pretty before launching, but they will soak up water, discolor and rot very quickly. Be careful of plans that call for one of these in a boat.

The old standbys are, of course, oak for frames, keels and other structural members, and white cedar for planking. Yellow pine does almost as well as oak in the mast fields, and there are other woods, especially mahoganies, that vie with cedar for the job it does.

The supply of East Coast white cedar, which now comes from the Carolinas, will only last for about 10 years, according to East Coast lumbermen. But western cedar can do the job. Cypress is sometimes used for planking. It is strong and water-proof, but very heavy to set that it gets impossibly heavy. Two men could not haul the water-soaked cypress rowboat out onto the beach, though they could carry it in easily before first launching.

PLYWOOD IS POPULAR

Plywood of course is of vital boat-building importance, and the imperative thing there is to make sure it is exterior grade. Knots, which give the wood its letter grading, are a sign of strength actually, and are only a problem in painting and finishing. Fir plywood is the most popular for boat use, but there warn against using plywoods of the woods that are poor for boat lumber.

Bonding and protecting plywood with some sort of filler before painting is very important.

Fir plywood, oak, yellow pine, cedar and mahogany are the major boat woods, with teak, spruce, ash and hickory used for specialties like decks, spars, frames, etc. Metal and synthetics will continue to gain in popularity, but it will be a long time before wood is replaced as the number one boat material.

Unknown Ousts Tommy Bolt From Pro Golf Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

CANTON, Mass. (AP) — What ever became of Lee Mackey, Jr.?

There was an answer today for that question, grown hoary with repetition since he disappeared from Birmingham, Ala., shot a record 64 in the first round of the national open golf championship at Minneapolis and then disappeared into obscurity.

Charles Prentice, a boyhood buddy of Mackey, pulled the same sort of stunt in the first round of the PGA championship at Blue Hill Friday when he humiliated Tommy Bolt, the smooth-swinging, short-tempered Texan who was generally rated among the top three or four tournament favorites.

IN FAVORABLE SPOT

Bolt unlike Mackey, who faded out of sight the day after his record feat, Prentice, who plays out of Columbia, S.C., seems to be around a while longer. As the only player who was actually disturbed by the well-contrived PGA seeding system he now is in a favorable spot for today's 36 holes.

His opponent in the second round today was Chuck de Pree, a 38-year-old Independence, Mo., pro who also is playing in his first PGA championship. A victory there would send Prentice up against either Al Smith, a slightly surprising conqueror of ex-champion Vic Ghezzi in a 22-hole match, or Dori Johnson, a 26-year-old club pro from Wilmington, Del. Charles doesn't figure to run into another "name" player before Sunday's double round.

Apart from the defeat that sent Bolt home muttering to himself and angrily refusing to talk to writers, the first day's surprises by the PGA on their own golf course were the current records for scoring in the raw, stood up well.

The Minneapolis Town and Country club pro and a tournament player of considerable stature for years, went into Inglewood Park Club at Steubenville, Ohio, a solid player and finished the same golf for 18 holes and won, 3 and 2.

Some of the stars had a few bad moments on the 6,624-yard par 36-35—71 Blue Hill course, which provided a much sterner test than had been anticipated. But players like defending champion Doug Ford, three-time winners Sam Snead and Gene Sarazen, former open champions Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck and Walter Burkemo, Ted Kroll, Jackie Burke and Lloyd Mangrum managed to win one way or another.

Solmar Notes

Value of Big Dams Dubious

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author an d Cruiser of Solmar Tabbo)

Recently our mail contained a news release from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service advising that Arkansas' White River shortly will undergo a radical change. The United States Army Engineers plan to install therein a series of dams for the purpose of flood control and hydro-electric power.

There goes another of our good streams. For years the White River has been an excellent bass river and the well-organized float trips down the pleasant valley have long been favorably known throughout the entire country. Now all that will soon be over and done with. Inescapably the question arises as to the necessity and advisability of this project.

No right-thinking person can find it in his heart to condemn any by-past university crews, that has promulgated the Coast observance to bill USC as Canada's dispenses either by in the Olympic rowing at Melbourne.

Four of this year's crews have been rated in the last two years. During that time, university eights have defeated the British Empire Games and defeated Russia in the semi-finals of the grand championship at Henley. Obviously to lose out by one-third of a length to the Olympic champions of Pennsylvania in the finals.

The hold-overs are stroke Laurie West, No. 8 man Bob McDonald, No. 3 man Bob Wilson and bow Phil Gemmell. The new members are over six feet.

Holding down No. 4 spot is Dick McGlynn, who is Wayne Pretty, while No. 6 is Bill McKerlich. Rounding out the 11-year-old Carl Ogawa, the '115-pound stroke who was cox on last year's Henley crew.

Besides the eight-oar crew, USC is developing a number of junior members can be used as spares for the 1957 crew, and also replacing the smaller craft in competition.

Privately, coach Frank Read rates them as "consistently fast." Just what they could be and is coached, including the British Empire and Henley eights.

Practice time over 2,000 metres have ranged from five minutes and 15 seconds, comparable to the world's best—to 6½ minutes.

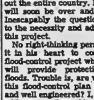
Anthony Stops Tony Johnson

NEW YORK. (AP) — Lanky Tony Anthony showed blinding punching speed and flashed the ability to take a wallop Friday night in stopping rugged Tony Johnson on a technical knockout in 1:36 of the 10th and last round at Eighth Square Garden. Anthony weighed 170, Johnson 175.

Anthony had difficulty finding himself out with a wild attack early in the 10th and then planted a right to the ropes which gave his own corner for an unmerciful beating. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped it.

Johnson, crudely swinging body punches out of a half crouch, refused to go down as he sagged into the corner and absorbed Anthony, an alternate on the 1952 Olympic team, counted with at least 20 punches on his opponent before Conn intervened.

Anthony's victory was a solid Johnson bloc in the small turnout of about 1,500. Johnson prevailed at Anthony's quick hands.



Anthony had won 26 of 30 previous fights and is one of the engineers directly concerned with the project.

Little Pine, as I have said, has been a favorite with the bass fishers (who knew his facts but who shall be nameless) told me that the proposed flood-control dam in Little Pine would, in times of high water, back the water level in the Susquehanna River, into which it eventually drains, by about one and one-half inches at Williamsport and not, under the most severe conditions, by more than two inches.

Thus armed, I called on the politician's head to find out the engineer's report but declined to give his name. Then I laid on the politician's desk plans for two recreational dam sites, either of which was 15 miles closer to Williamsport and both of which would cost one-third the money to construct. Also, either one of my plans would provide within three to four times the water acreage, with sloping shore lines, practical for camp sites and boat landings.

TWO MILLION COST

The recreational dam was not built in Little Pine Creek but the flood-control dam was, at a cost, roughly, two million dollars. Now that lovely stream is deprived of its annual natural stocking by migrating trout from the parent river. Anyone you choose to fish behind the hatchery truck, fishing there is not worth the effort.

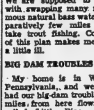
BIG DAMS

In addition, big dams, which are built principally hydro-electric power, savor of dubious economy. It has been proved that electricity from such power can be produced more cheaply by other means. And the greatest plant for the generation of electric power by atomic plants will, most probably, be where White River dams can amortize themselves, render these structures an asset as well as a liability.

Meanwhile, a great deal of money will have been spent and a good river will have been ruined.

Not to be outdone, the Wildlife plans to construct a trout hatchery at Norfolk, Arkansas. This is estimated at $430,000 and the money has already been appropriated by Congress. The water that is drawn off from the impoundments above these dams is considered to be too cold for warm-water fishing and a bass but it should be ideal for trout.

The Norfolk area of the new Norfolk hatchery, estimated to be 80,000 pounds of trout a year, will go into these dams at a later date. We are supposed to be content with receiving many dollars of the famous natural bass water for a comparatively few miles of put-and-take trout water. The economics of this plan makes me more than skeptical.



BIG DAM TROUBLES

My home is in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and we, too, have had our big-dam troubles. About 30 miles from there flows a stream called Little Pine Creek. This stream is fed by the hundreds of Texas Creek and Blockhouse Creek. Little Pine Creek proper is a beautiful trout stream.

The watershed being a small one, Little Pine Creek is subject more to nothing in the summer months, but in the early part of the trout season and as late as July 1st, that stream often furnished excellent trout fishing.

Then one of our politicians had a great idea. He decided it over the Governor and eventually the idea developed into a plan to install not only one dam in the Little Pine Creek valley — one for flood control and one to create a recreational lake.

I secured plans of the sites of these two dams. They were made by our own surveyor and had some plans of my own drawn. Each dam was to be a long talk with one of the engineers directly concerned with the project.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The makeable contracts you miff may be due to nothing but its carelessness. In most cases, however, the trouble is a lack of care or inability to recognize the applicable safety play.

Take a second look at this hand:

	NORTH
	♠ K 8 5 3
	♥ K Q 7
	♦ 8 7 6
WEST		EAST
♠ K Q J 4		♠ A 10 7 2
♥ 10 9		♥ Q J 8
♦ J 9 6 4		♦ 10 5
♣ 10 8		♣ Q 9 6
	SOUTH
	♠ 10 6
	♥ A
	♣ A K J 5 4

South was declarer at five clubs and let it get away from him. After west took two quick tricks, south ruffed the third round and entered dummy with a small diamond to the queen.

The small trey of trump was returned. East played small and the finesse of south's nine lost to west ten. The return of a heart went to the south ace and two top trumps picked up the last enemy.

Ultimately, south also lost a heart diamond and thus went down two tricks. Carelessness cost one of the setting tricks. Failure to try the safety play lost the other.

When south ruffs the third spade he should unhook hearts right quick by leading out ace of that suit. Then he enters dummy with a small diamond to the queen and leads another trump when west follows.

On this is shifted a small south diamond. Then the dummy trump jack is led. If east does not cover, let it ride. If east covers, south overtakes. In either case nothing is lost after two passes.

Not always is it wise to lead the jack toward a finessing set on the opposite hand. But in this particular combination it is the best hope of a successful result. See how it works.

The leading trump jack from dummy, what if east ducks? South lets the jack ride and it holds. Then the ace and king of trumps can pick up the outstanding trumps in both hands.

What if east covers the trump jack? South wins with the king and fills ace pickle the west way. At least, it would work here.

Only a lark shuns a plan that will work.

Little Benny's Notebook

Me and Puds Simkins have been practising marksmanship by shooting pieces of mistachiki with a rubber band, practising on flys and things and being so hard to aim strate it's almost impossible, and today in school I had a temtation to aim one at the back of Puds's neck, just for exter practice.

Which I did, and what did I see—he dit not accidently hit him right behind the ear perfect, and he yelled Owtch with all his might.

Charles Simkins, stand up, Miss Kitty said.

Which Puds did, and she said, What is the meening of that violent outcry?

Somebody shot me with a matchstick and a rubber band, Puds said.

And he looked around and looked strate at me as if he was too proud to tell her who did it but didn't care if she used her own judgment, and Miss Kitty said, Benny Franklin, stand up.

Which I did, and she said, Is there anything you happen to know about this matter?

Yes mam, I didn't think I would hit him, I said, and Miss Kitty said, Oh really, then whom did you think you would hit?

Nobody, I said, I didn't think I could do it, but I was more surprised than he was, I said, and Miss Kitty said, Oh I see, you didn't know your own strength, is that it?

Yes mam, I said, and she said, In that case you may remain in school after class is dismissed to reflect on your own weakness.

Being the sad end.

60-Second TV Commercial Takes Six Weeks to Make

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone who has watched television has viewed the output of Vaughn Sarra. It's ironic, therefore, that scarcely anyone knows of the existence of Sarra except his family, friends and business acquaintances.

A man tracked him to his studio the other day and found him to be an intense, intelligent, carelessly dressed man, surrounded by experts, plans and photographs and much harassed by phone calls.

He was and is a distinguished photographer but he was neither as harassed as wealthy before he began producing TV film commercials.

EMPLOYS 100

Now his company, 100 persons in New York and Chicago studios, makes 300 film commercials a year, ranging from eight seconds to two minutes. It takes six weeks to produce a one-minute commercial, says Sarra. But he prefers eight weeks to turn out a job of high quality. And what is high quality in TV commercials?

"We try to make a commercial as simple as possible," Sarra said. "Simplicity as a virtue in art, life—and commercials. Much commercial advertising on television is still too complicated. Often that's because a sponsor is trying too hard."

Sarra's organization turns out commercials for products ranging from gum to automobiles, from soup to railroads.

REALISM BEST

"The straight product almost always photographs better," he said. "Faking absolutely doesn't pay. It's strange how realism makes a better commercial, how it photographs better.

"We've found, for instance, that a regularly-paced kitchen counter across better on the screen than the most elaborate and expensive kitchen set we can build. A cook always looks like a set, no matter how hard you try to make it realistic. But a kitchen that has been used always looks like a kitchen."

Sarra believes that as color TV has increasingly wide use it will be a very important medium for advertising foods. "The color of food is one of his most attractive qualities — quality that's difficult to put across in black and white."

Martha Raye, Ready to Shed Fifth Hubby, Romance Over

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"Romance? No, sir, not me. Not for a long time."

This was Martha Raye speaking over the rock-and-roll din in the lounge of the Hotel Sahara. In a rare moment of relaxation between her shows in the Congo Room, she watched the cavorting musicians and talked about her personal life and career.

"No more men for Martha. From now on, the only one I'm going to worry about is Uncle Sam."

Her face, I have,' she nodded. 'But no I'm older and wiser."

Martha is leaving shortly to shed husband No. 5, Ed Begley, in Florida.

FACT FILE NBC FACT

The future of her career at least is more predictable. She is signed to a dreamy 15-year pact with NBC.

Her plans for the coming season are in doubt, she said. She doesn't know whether she'll be back in the Tuesday-night line-up or how many shows she'll do.

From here, Martha is heading for Florida to pick up the divorce and also play four weeks at the Beachcomber Club there in Miami. "The club is also part of my scheme to get some security," she said.

Actually, her real security is in her humorous talent, which is realized in her night club act. She performs with vast enthusiasm, and can handle comedy and torch songs with equal facility. Her patter, unhobbled by censors, often goes overboard, but the customers in this lusty town seem to like it.

Young Star Commutes to Job 2,000 Miles Away From Home

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A pretty colleen named Miller could be named queen of the airlines. She commutes between a Chicago home and her movie career.

Strange things are always happening to this cute brunette. So it doesn't seem odd to her that she should have a home and a career 2,000 miles apart.

The reason for this arrangement is that she is married to Ted Briskin, former husband of Betty Hutton and head of a big camera company with headquarters in Chicago. She is also a promising young actress under contract to Universal - International Studios and now being loaned out to MGM for "capital offense."

"It works out very well," she argues. "We have a house here and a house on the lake front in Chicago, so I have two sets of clothes, so it's no trouble going from one home to the other."

HUSBAND CONCURS

Doesn't her studio object to her marriage?

"They did at first," she said. "They said it would never work out. But it has."

What does her husband feel about it?

"He thinks it's wonderful . . . I was thinking of quitting my career when my daughter, Robin, was born seven weeks ago. But Ted pointed out that I couldn't might be bored and frustrated with being just a housewife."

Colleen was born in Yakima, Wash. went to high school in Portland, Ore., graduating at 16. She had been dancing since an early age and decided to seek her fortune in Hollywood.

So, all alone at 16, she took a bus to the glamor capital and landed in a dance troupe that toured the country. While dancing in Las Vegas, she was chosen to pose with a fish caught in a Lake Mead angling contest. The photo was seen in a Los Angeles newspaper by an agent — cyrd Howard Hughes and she was offered an RKO contract.

She studied at Hollywood full of ambition to conquer the town. So was Jacqueline? After almost three years she collected a salary without appearing in a film.

"It was real weird," she re-

Eddie Yost, Threatens Babe's 'Walk' Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Let the rest talk about Mickey Mantle. In Washington, it's Eddie Yost who is assaulting Babe Ruth's record.

Not the Babe's unequalled 60 home runs in 1927 — the Mantle target — but Ruth's 170 walks in 1933. Yost, "Washington's third baseman, is pacing himself. With 65 games to go, he's already been passed 97 times.

How come he is walked so often? Yost is no runt. He stands 5 feet, 10, glowers opposing hurlers a fairly decent armpit-to-knee strike zone.

To Jim Wilson, Chicago right-hander the answer is "mainly in the pitcher's mind."

Yost has a reputation for a good eye, excellent bat control and consequently a low strike-out record.

"The umpires also know he has a good eye and always go along with him sometimes when he lets one go by."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, July 23, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Not an easy day perhaps but it will be a challenging one especially if you are eager to get ahead with a heavy schedule or a trying one. Remember to smile and all will go smoother, faster.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't sit back and wait for advantages to seek you out. Be up and doing to meet competition, perhaps best it. You can do it with your fine mentality and agility.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This can be a progressively active and brawn to help things along. Financial matters favored in part so work with this thought in mind. Real estate dealings should be good now.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Business and work interests require careful planning and manipulation, otherwise they offer benefits and fresh advantages. Think of the future as you work; it can save you errors.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Mixed vibrations, but some are really restrictive, and the planet Jupiter is encouraging. Familiar business and work already running profitably can proceed as usual. Be careful not to heed rash advice or take risks.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Help others when you feel "down" or think you have troubles. Then only will you be truly living and keeping yourself fit — and you'll forget your troubles at the same time. Don't pass up good leads.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Note Virgo: similar indications now. First things should come first. Give the other person the benefit of the doubt, be tactful.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A day to be alert, sensibly cautious. Things won't just happen of themselves; you will have to work for them — perhaps be more patient and clever than usual, but you will be rewarded.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Similar influences for you as for Scorpio and many of us today. Show your cleverness by doing things thoughtfully, not by losing no reverse steps or do over. Forethought!

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Financial matters, conscientiously managed, can be beneficial for you today. But use extra care and forethought if you would avoid needless errors.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Neither restricting nor very generous indications. It's really up to your schedule and obligations. If you have a demanding program, then pay attention to it and do firsts first. Ease off later.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Similar to Aquarius. Study and analyze your problems before relying upon them to help speed up their solution and further your interests. You born today are high spirited, ambitious, full of talent and general capability. You know how to do many things without having had previous training; are particularly suited to a calling or position that brings you in contact with the public, with people who are perhaps specialists. You usually have faith in yourself; Fine! But do not be over-confident or too sure, thus losing aid, co-operation from those who would help you. Keep developing your talents; education; pray daily for strength of purpose, right direction. Birthdate: His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons; Coventry Palmore, poet, critic.

Little Bénny's Notebook

Pop called me to come in for dinner, and I quick ran home after about 5 minutes, being almost late again but not quite, on account of the just preceding minutes of his plateful of stuff, and he said, One of these evenings you'll actually be on time for a meal, and that will be a red letter occasion with flags flying and music playing.

Well gosh, pop, I mean G, you're not actually eating yet, I said, and pop said, And you're not actually sitting down yet.

Which I quick did, saying, Heck, pop, anyways, ma never gives me my dinner till after you get yours, so everything would be just the same even if I'd of been the first at the table sitting here like an innocent statue.

Listen, young fellow, when I was your age and my father called me, I knew he meant immediitly, and if I was reckless enough to think he didn't, I soon found out my mistake, because he stepped my severance for a week, pop said, and I said, well G pop, I thought you had the best of all the money you got, or else you didn't have any at all.

Well, I didn't or at least any to speek of, and that's what made it to the bank, I said.

Sounding like a quick way out of it, and me said, My father merely had to clap his hands together and I went to dinner of oft to bed, depending on the time of day.

What happened if you didn't I said, and he said, Why, we did.

Then gosh, ma, maybe nothing else happened, and now you'll never find out, I said, and went on for land sakes, eat your dinner.

Which I did.

LEAVES PRISON

BONN, West Germany (CP)—Former Gestapo official Wilhelm Bruns, sentenced to death in 1948 for his part in the death and illtreatment of Allied nationals, Thursday was released from West War Criminals Prison. His death sentence was commuted and later reduced to 16 years imprisonment.

Progress Made In Negotiations On Steel Issue

HAMILTON (CP) — Progress has been made in the Steel Company of Canada contract negotiations, conciliation chairman Judge Walter Little said Friday night as the hearings were adjourned to Monday.

He said in a statement both the company and United Steelworkers of America agreed the talks should be adjourned for the drafting of proposals under discussion.

The union is demanding a 40-cent hourly package increase that would put Stelco wages on a par with United States steelworkers.

The company has offered a 15% cent package, linked with a three-year contract but the union flatly rejected this offer Wednesday. Average wage is $1.98 an hour, under reckoning.

In the days of the hearings there has been no report of the company increasing its offer, or the union packing its demands.

Union demands include a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual wage, improved welfare benefits, overtime pay, vacation improvements, unlimited promotions, elimination of geographic differences in out-of-town Hamilton plants and a boost in the job class increment.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rebekah Lodge Holds Inaugural Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD — The inaugural meeting of the Rebekah Lodge was held on Tuesday in the I.O.O.F. hall in Campbellford with Sister Elwa Hogle, District Deputy President in the chair. There were 15 representatives and visitors present, including Beaverton, Cannington, Lindsay, Peterborough, Lakefield, Havelock and Campbellford. Millbrook and Sutton were unable to be present.

Reports from the lodges were read and after business was completed, Sister Clara Beatty, of Cannington, president of the Rebekah Assembly, spoke on several matters of importance. Pamphlets were handed out to those present of the work outlined by the Grand Master, Bro. Jeffrey and President Sister Clara Beatty for the year. It is called "A Challenge."

The Beaverton representative moved a vote of thanks to Sister Ella Wynn and her committee for refreshments they served.

During the social hour, old acquaintances were renewed. It is several years since Loch Leonard Lodge has had the privilege of having the inaugural meeting in Campbellford.

Taken to Court For Phone Threat

TORONTO (CP) — Geza Herman, 27, was bound over on a $3,000 bond Friday to keep the peace, convicted of phoning his girl friend long-distance to tell her he was going to cut her heart out because she was "cruel, cold and merciless."

Not so, argued Herman before Magistrate S. T. Bench. What he actually said, he claimed, was that blonde Ida Hafner "deserved to have it cut out."

Miss Hafner testified that Herman was bound over once before for making threats against her.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Moir and daughter Helen, of Sarnia, are spending their holidays with Mrs. Moir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mull, at Deer Lodge in Haliburton.

Miss Dawn Heath, of Dundas, spent last week with her grandmother, Mrs. Susan Heath, Bridge St. West.

Misses Margaret and Emily Lynch of Windsor, Ontario, have been visiting Miss K. O'Shaughnessy for the past two weeks.

Mr. W. A. Longmuir and Mr. James Borden have returned to their home at Vancouver, B.C., having spent Old Home Week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Longmuir of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Mathews and family spent Saturday with his parents at Menie. Evelyn returned home with them, having spent the past week with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fredenburg left on a motor trip and are holidaying at the Wilson cottage on Rice Lake, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Sayers of Havelock, and parents and friends in Campbellford.

Mrs. H. Field left on Tuesday for a visit to her cousin, Mrs. Gordon, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Edgar of Campbellford, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McCann of town, motored to Ottawa on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar spent the weekend with their son and his wife and family, the latter with Mrs. McCann's sister, Mrs. R. H. Hazelton, at Ottawa.

Misses Carolyn and Helen Smith, who spent the past two weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lucy, returned to their home in Oshawa on Sunday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Bright were Mrs. Clinton Bright and children of Barrie; Joyce and Ronald Bright and children of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Weston, of Belleville, paid a visit to the former's sister, Miss Jessie Weston, on Saturday.

Industrialist Lists Wardrobe As Expenses

LONDON (Reuters) — Millionaire British industrialist Sir Bernard Docker claims his board's wife had given £1,000,000 worth of publicity to the company that fired him as director after he listed her wardrobe on the expense account.

Docker, who is fighting for reinstatement as chairman and managing director of the Birmingham Small Arms Company, issued a writ statement Friday in advance of an appearance on British commercial television network.

He said he thought a clothing bill for Lady Docker, totalling £7,810 should have been exempted from tax as an expense "having regard to the importance of the publicity on our export trade."

Sir Bernard bought an estimated $3,000 worth of television time to introduce his wife on television.

Docker's writ claims that the publicity — his second such purchase in five weeks — is put his case to shareholders of the company.

The shareholders are due to vote Aug. 1 on his dismissal last May.

Trapped Fish Being Used as Guinea Pigs

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Scientists plan to use trapped fish as guinea pigs in an experiment to determine what has caused the deaths of thousands of fish in the St. Lawrence River in the last few weeks.

Fish scientists, indicating that they feel that construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway may be to blame, are examining tests with fish in various parts of the river.

They say the stretch of the river between the Montreal suburb of Lachine to Ste. Anne-de-la-Parade, down stream.

The dead fish were first noticed July 5 and later were found in increasing numbers on both the north and south shores of the river. Carp, perch, bass, pickerel and sturgeon were among the varieties found.

Says 'Stretchout' Adding $200,000 To CF-100 Cost

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative M. J. Coldwell suggested Friday night that the government's stretchout of military aircraft production is adding $200,000 to the cost of each CF-100 for plane.

The member for York West opened the debate on what the government back a program to develop and produce a Canadian transport plane which would take up the slack in production facilities of aircraft plants.

Defence Production Minister Howe defended the cut in the production rate of the CF-100 by Avro Aircraft Ltd., at Malton, which has resulted in some layoffs.

He said it was "purely a matter to protect the great body of labor by stretching out production." He was trying to allocate government orders in a way that would maintain reasonably steady employment now that the military building period had ended and during the switchover from the CF-100 jet interceptor to the new supersonic CF-105 at Avro.

Mr. Howe said another Canadair company, de Havilland at Toronto, is making satisfactory progress, asking for more than minor government help. He suggested Avro could do the same.

'Copter Spots Burwash Fugitive

SUDBURY, (CP) —James McCall, 28, of Hamilton was recaptured Friday 20 hours after escaping from Burwash Industrial Farm when he was spotted from the air by a provincial government helicopter.

OPP Constable Calvin Vannatt of Sudbury, was returning to base from a forest fire when he spotted a man sleeping near the railway track at Porlock, 25 miles south of here.

The radio he learned McColl was still free, so he had the helicopter set down near the sleeping man. Later the helicopter met Burwash guards and the prisoner was turned over.

McCall is serving a 13-month sentence for truck theft.

Garden Notes

Caladium Is Brilliant Filler

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Do you have a garden spot in deep shade, or a dark sunless room?

You can fill that place with brilliant color if you grow caladiums there. The color combinations and markings are intricate and always handsome, but the plants must have heat, humidity and shade. Most people buy the plants all ready in leaf, but you can buy the bulbs and grow your own with little effort.

The caladium is often called "elephant ears" but there is also another plant which has that common name—colocasia—so do not ask for it by the local name. One hundred degrees of heat is quite comfortable for the plant, but if the temperature drops below 55 degrees the leaves may wilt or drop. Lack of moisture in the air, or soil will also cause the leaves to wilt or take on a burned appearance.

ALLOW TO DAY

After the season is over allow the foliage to die out slowly so the bulbs may ripen, but do not cut off the foliage. When the leaves are completely dry withhold water and store the pots containing the bulbs in a dry place where the temperature will average 60 to 70 degrees.

In the spring divide the dormant bulbs into sections. Each cut section has a portion of the center. Sulphur, or fermate dust will keep the bulbs — free from fungus.

Put the bulbs up in a mixture of peat moss and sand and place them where they will have a constant temperature of 80 to 85 degrees or higher. The higher the starting temperature the better the results you will reap with this bulb. Water sparingly until the sprouts appear and the new growth is four to six inches high. Increase water and feed heavily with liquid fertilizer.

CATERPILLARS

Keep a sharp look out for tent caterpillars. When the webs are in low growing trees or shrubs the webs and contents can be destroyed with a soap solution,—by wiping them off with a saturated rag. As the worms develop they will defoliate the whole tree, or branch and will spread by dropping to the grass and crawling to other shrubs.

Consult local seed dealer who will have up to date information. Do not be advised as it will damage bark and kill part of the tree. Then, too many of the worms fall to the ground and get away.

Preventive sprays are advised for shrubs, small fruit trees and ornamental trees.

FIXED ROSES

Give your roses another feeding and a thorough soaking if the weather is dry. They will begin to form another set of buds soon. Mulch with ground corn cobs, or peat moss to retain moisture and discourage weeds.

Fresh back soaps, mums, petunias and zinnias to keep the plants compact and sturdy.

Pick off strawberry blossoms from newly set plants. All strength will go to establishing a thick matted row of runners and plants. When they are well established nitrate is some dry fertilizer and water in well.

FORMER CCF MEMBER PLANS TO JOIN LIBERALS

Ross Thatcher Expected To Announce Move

OTTAWA (CP)—Ross Thatcher, who abandoned the CCF last year to join the Independent group in the Commons, plans to become a Liberal.

The 38-year-old representative of Moose Jaw-Lake Centre was expected to make the announcement in a speech in the House tonight or today.

Mr. Thatcher, it was understood, has discussed his proposed second shift with Liberal party officials and was expected to be accorded a seat among the ranks of government supporters.

Mr. Thatcher walked out of the CCF April 22, 1955, after a long series of disagreements with the main wing of the Socialist party under which he had been elected in 1945, 1949 and 1953.

He told the House at that time that he could not reconcile differences between himself and the CCF on major policies.

Steel Union Chief Accepts Firm's Bid to Resume Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — As industry proposal to resume contract talks in New York today in an effort to end the 81-day-old countrywide steel strike has been accepted by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers.

The talks were arranged Sunday night in a series of telephone calls from the industry's top negotiator to McDonald.

Only a few hours earlier McDonald issued a statement bitterly critical of the industry's pricing policy. He said "to each $1 increase in hour wages since 1945 exorbitant price increases have yielded $3.19 in additional revenue. There was no immediate reply from the industry.

Two of McDonald's close associates said the union chief was caught by surprise when John A. Stephens, vice - president of U.S. Steel Corp., called and suggested negotiations resume. Saturday both sides indicated they would wait for the government to make the next step.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said in Washington he hopes "the parties will quickly reach a mutually satisfactory agreement in the public interest and in the best interests of the employees and the companies."

The industry's offer has called for a 52 - month contract which would provide a 17 3-3 cent-an-hour package wage boost for the 650,000 strikers in the first year. The union estimated the offer at 14 cents an hour for its men who had averaged $2.48 hourly.

The decision to resume peace talks came at a meeting here that the industry now might be preparing to present a formal revision of its contract proposal.

SPEED RELIEF TO INDIAN TOWN HIT BY QUAKE

117 Persons Perish In Kutch Gulf Town

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian authorities speeded relief measures today for the quake-shattered coastal town of Anjar where at least 117 persons perished during the weekend.

The quake hit late Saturday, jolting towns and villages over a 500-mile stretch from Bombay to the Pakistan border. It was India's worst shock in six years.

With 800 persons still missing in Anjar alone, authorities feared the toll might be far greater than first reports indicated. They made arrangements to take care of thousands of sufferers.

ANJAR TAKES HEAVIEST

Anjar apparently took the brunt of the shocks, but reports from Ahmedabad, 180 miles inland from the stricken area said inhabitants of the coastal area of Kutch were in panic.

Prime Minister Nehru—returning from a tour of Europe and the Middle East—stopped off Sunday night at Jamnagar, just across the Kutch Gulf from the stricken area. He conferred with officials on relief measures.

The tremors uprooted telegraph poles, damaged the communications over a wide area.

Army units cordoned off the Anjar sector where houses, weakened by the quake, were still collapsing. Officials said 22 living persons out of the debris in one area alone.

The quake derailed 17 freight cars at Kandla. An unoccupied train was derailed at Bhuj.

Reports from the area indicated at least 1,500 buildings were destroyed and thousands of others damaged.

Gulabrai observatory here said the quake, which occurred at 9 p.m. was of "moderate intensity" except at Anjar. A second mild shock was recorded at dawn Sunday.

The worst previous quake occurred in 1950 when violent shocks rocked the northeastern state of Assam.

The 1950 quake split mountains, altered the course of rivers with earthslides and killed more than 570 persons.

John Jaremy. 36, Swims L. Ontario; Two Others Fail

Crossing Takes 21 Hours, Malton Man, 60, 8 Miles Out

TORONTO (CP)—A barrel-chested Toronto steamfitter became history's second conqueror of Lake Ontario today but two of three marathon swimmers churning along in his wake were pulled from the water.

John Jaremy, a 36-year-old unknown in the distance-swimming field, stumbled ashore at the east-end breakwater in Toronto harbor after 21 hours, 30 minutes, to join Marilyn Bell as the only other ever to negotiate the 32 miles of cold, mean water.

Shortly before 10 a.m. EDT Jaremy reached shore that Jim Woods, 40, of Ashville, N.C., had been pulled from the lake about half way between his starting point at Niagara-on-the-Lake and the Toronto waterfront. Woods got only about four miles farther than the 12 miles he achieved on his previous try, 11 attempts.

Also pulled out of the water today about eight hours after starting an attempt was veteran distance - swimmer Winnie Roach Lemieux, 36-year-old mother of three. Until pulled out just before 4 p.m. she was close to the Toronto and Calgary swimmer had been in the water 30 minute clip.

IDEAL CONDITIONS

The weather was described as ideal. The sun shone in an almost cloudless sky and the water temperature was 68.

Jaremy, who almost quit three miles offshore from exhaustion, finally made it at 9 a.m. because 21 hours and 13 minutes after he set out. His time was 17 minutes slower than that of Marilyn Bell who swam the lake at the age of 16 in 1954.

Fernley Wheatcroft, a 40-year-old plant guard at nearby Malton, was reported only eight miles from Toronto and swimming steadily. The chill water sent rheumatism stabbing through his right shoulder early in the morning but he said it was eased with an extra coating of protective grease.

12,000 AT FINISH

A great roar went up from the estimated 12,000 persons jammed along the eastern waterfront as Jaremy's final surge brought him to the concrete breakwater. He sank from sight and two swimmers rowed to each side of a small boat nearby and hoisted him over the gunwales of another. Jaremy was lifted to a bed of lifejackets on the floorboards.

SECOND TRY

Jaremy's attempt was the 34th in three years. He became the fifth person to conquer the notorious waters which have turned back such famous swimmers as American Florence Chadwick and Tom Park, former Canadian champion living in Lakewood, Calif.

Of the many unsuccessful tries that of Park was the closest. Last Sept. 13 the 1953 Atlantic City marathon champion was 11 miles within two miles of Toronto before he was forced to quit by heavy winds.

Germans to Pay For Canadian Air Base Projects

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German government today announced agreements to contribute to the cost of building Canadian and Belgian forces in Germany.

They are similar to previously announced payments by United States, British and French forces.

Canada was never an occupying power and did not receive exports costs direct from West Germany. But some of the funds allocated to the Big Three were used for military construction at Canadian bases.

The government now has agreed to pay 8,585,000 marks (81,278, 220) for additional construction at the two Canadian air bases in West Germany.

INSPECT SMALL CRAFT

LONG POINT, Ont. (CP)— RCMP officers from the London district made a surprise visit to this Lake Erie resort area Sunday and tied up an estimated 30 small craft until they complied with safety regulations. Infractions mainly were lack of running lights and lifebelt equipment. The privately - owned boats were mostly powered by inboard motors.

"Okay," replied the president. "Then you fire her."

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A persisting low pressure area over Ontario has caused little change in weather for the past few days. During the night fog has occurred over widespread areas, lifting about mid-morning. Widely scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms developed during the afternoon and have continued into the evening. Little change in this weather pattern is forecast for today and Tuesday.

ST. DAMASE, Que. (CP) — Three teen-age girls and two of three male companions died today when their automobile plunged into the Richelieu River following a collision with another car near this town 30 miles east of Montreal.

The victims were identified as: Francine Blanchard, 17, St. Damase; Agathe Blanchard, 15, sister of Francine; Monique St. Onge, 17, St. Damase; Jean-Marie Lavigueur, B.B., Richelieu de Dorchester, Que.; and Jean Poirier, 22, also of St. Zacharie.

Robert Blanchard, 18, of Genes, a small parish on the island of Orleans near Quebec City, escaped from the car through a broken window.

FROGMEN FIND CAR

Relatives said the men had been working until recently on a giant power development of Labrieville, Que., about 300 miles northeast of Quebec City. They said the men were en route to Montreal to look for work when the accident occurred.

Frogmen from nearby St. Pie-de-Saget found the car in about 45 feet of water several hours after the accident. Grapnels then were made to try to recover the bodies.

Police said the car ran across a field and landed in the river where it turned over in a somersault and driven by Marcel Blanchette of St. Damase.

Blanchette, whose car did not leave the road, was reported suffering from shock.

Grenade Thrown Into Orphanage

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—An Israeli spokesman said today that Jordanian infiltrators threw a hand grenade into a children's home during the night in the Mandelbaum settlement, 10 miles northwest of Jerusalem.

The grenade exploded harmlessly in a corridor, he said.

Israeli authorities accused Syrian positions of opening fire Sunday on Israeli laborers working north of Lake Hula, in northern Israel. An Israeli police patrol returned the fire. No casualties were suffered by the Israelis, he said.

Ontario Jehovah's Witnesses Seek Parley With Bulganin

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Jehovah's Witnesses from central Ontario asked a conference with Russian Premier Bulganin on the freedom of 2,000 members of the sect said to be held in Soviet prison camps. The petition was signed by more than 4,000 members attending the central Ontario convention, which ended Sunday.

Chairman Percy Chapman of Toronto said he and Milton Henschel, sent to the meeting as representative of the president of the sect in Canada. It reads in part:

"We, the undersigned Witnesses are being held in the penal camp of Vorkuta, in April, 1951, 7,000 Witnesses from the coast regions of Baltic states down to Bessarabia and were then transported in freight trains to the distant region of Vorkuta, Siberia, north of and near Lake Baykal in Siberia. There are Witnesses being held also in than 30 camps from Estonia near Russia into Siberia and northward to the Arctic Ocean, on the Island of Novaya Zemlya.

"A number of these people died in Vorkuta during the first two years in Siberia. It is absolutely necessary that it is visited by the most elementary justice to imprison, listen and depart them, as it for one day or 2 years."

At Niagara Falls, N.Y., 4,000 delegates at the sect's convention called upon Russia to prove the sincerity of its boasts of "true religious freedom" by releasing more than 9,000 members of the sect "unjustly imprisoned and are now held in "slave camps."

Boots Catch Fire As Tug's Crew Battles Blaze

PORT DOVER, Ont. (CP) — A fire on the fishing tug H. H. Mosher which became ablaze Monday but it started the rubber boots smoking on bathing crew members became the only ones able to bring the blaze under control.

Capt. Elmer Mizzo said that sparks apparently set off the flames as he was draining the engine oil. It was necessary motor to give fuel to the tug A. H. Mosher which had called for aid by ship-shore radio. The scene was several miles off the Lake Erie port.

"At one time," said Capt. Mizzo, "the coast guard was in touch, and the rubber boots of the crew were smoking as they fought the fire with hoses and extinguishers."

Ships Collide Off New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A small coastwise cargo carrier and a tanker collided in dense fog in the Atlantic ocean off New York today at 1:30 a.m. EDT today.

Both ships were damaged. One passenger and one seaman on the combination ship were injured slightly.

The Fairisle, inbound from Tampa, Fla., with a cargo of frozen fruit and paper, transferred a number of passengers and crew members to a Coast Guard boat, which brought them into port.

Neither ship's nationality was listed among those rescued. From 22 to 32 crew members also rode the two ships, reports said.

Some crew was believed to have been left aboard the Fairisle.

The other ship was the San Jose II, the Miami Herald said. "We require assistance. Some damage to forward portions."

MEN HELD, GEMS SOUGHT

LONDON (Reuters) — Police have detained a second man for questioning in connection with the daylight theft of £100,000 worth of diamonds from a car last Monday. So far they have not turned up any of the diamonds.

Thousands Defy Strike Orders By British Union

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters) — Thousands of automobile workers defied their union's orders to strike at Morris Motor Corporation factories throughout Britain.

As starting whistles blew they marched through picket lines to work despite the pleas of fellow workers and shopsteaker trucks to support the strike.

Corporation officials here said that of a total of 26,000 employees 22,078 workers reported for work today—more than 20 per cent.

Union leaders called for all the workers to strike. Some 10,000 employees to strike in protest against the management's decision.

NO VIOLENCE REPORTED

The strike order applied to the corporation's six plants in Oxford, make Austin, Morris, Riley and M. G. parts for cars and commercial vehicles.

No violence was reported on the picket lines although there were shouts and mass chantings of "Scabs" and "traitors" as men and women filed into work.

The strike was more solidly supported in some factories in the Birmingham plant, only 750 out of 3,000 workers turned out.

Automobile exports, falling steadily of late, are a big factor in Britain's economy. New import restrictions, particularly in Australia, have disrupted the industry's big manufacturers. The increasing competition of German cars, now outselling Britain in the United States, is another factor in the automobile industry's reassessment of plants and staffs.

Will Asks Courts To Make Ruling On Shaw's Will

LONDON (Reuters)—One of eccentric playwright George Bernard Shaw's last requests before his storms—drastic revision of the English alphabet — appears to have failed to impress the philatelists throughout the world who prepare to commemorate the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Shaw left £367,000 sterling to make himself the great eccentric, wanted the alphabet revised to letters and 26 letters. More than £100,000—the bulk of his amount left to the Shaw estate—was put aside to explore possibilities of having the alphabet changed.

His new alphabet featured an entirely new phonetic shorthand, half - shorthand writing. Shaw, who died in 1950 ordained that if the scheme failed the money should be given in equal shares to the British Museum, the National Gallery of Ireland and Dublin's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

TRUSTEE SEEKS RULING

But the British public trustee, who handles Shaw's estate, made request for the new alphabet were to fail. He said he did not think Shaw's will will be placed before a court for a decision.

A spokesman for the trustee says: "We hope this court session will be the last time we hear of it. It is decided the plan is got good, we shall distribute the money in the way Mr. Shaw directed."

Shaw was born in Dublin, Ireland, July 26, 1856. He survived exactly 100 years from that date, members of Shavian societies on both sides of the Atlantic and in democratic and Communist countries, held meetings and banquets to honor his memory.

Famous British Lawyer Is Found Dead in His Home

LONDON (Reuters) — Derek Curtis-Bennett, one of London's leading criminal lawyers, was found dead today in the London home he shared with his second wife Janet, died after taking an overdose of sleeping pills police said.

Curtis-Bennett, 52, who defended many notorious murderers, returned to his home in Hampstead, West London, recently after attending court six weeks at a county nursing home.

He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown since the sudden death of his wife, a former showgirl.

Curtis-Bennett was one of British's best known barristers. His last important case was the defence of Sgt. Frederick Emmett-Dunne, a British army court martial last year found guilty of murdering his best friend, whose wife he later married.

Curtis - Bennett also defended John Christie, the mass killer who was hanged after confessing his wife in a dingy London tenement house and admitted strangling five other women.

Suggest Capturing Whooping Cranes To Protect Them From Extinction

BY DION HENDERSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Should a token flock of whooping cranes be captured and held in captivity, perhaps in a zoo, to prevent the rare, long gamble against extinction in the wild?

The question, say some good friends of the continent's biggest —and one of its rarest—birds, ought to be put up to that same public which during the last few years has been aroused by the whoopers' last, stubborn stand. A few of them are in captivity, held 30 of the huge white travelers. Three of them are in captivity, in the New Orleans zoo.

The other 27—20 are mature birds and seven last year's young — are scattered from Saskatchewan to the Texas Gulf Coast Territories, except for one Texas-loving yearling that has made a summer home at Aransas, on the Gulf Coast, so well it declined the trip north this spring.

The 26 successfully negotiated the precarious 2,000-mile spring flight from the Aransas refuge to the Canadian nesting grounds and presumably are about the business of trying to hold the whooping crane's precarious place—or perhaps gain a bird or two again.

Marilyn Monroe Is 'Dowdy' Says Fashion Expert

LONDON (Reuters)—A woman fashion writer flatly described Marilyn Monroe as "dowdy" and warns the blonde screen star she's heading for trouble.

Jean Seward of The News of the World criticizes Miss Monroe's fashion sins committed by Marilyn during the star's current visit to Britain after surveying her "through the less easily distracted eyes of a woman."

They were:

1. Marilyn's arrival at London Airport in a fur coat "looked as though she had slept in it." With a skirt so tight she could hardly stagger across the tarmac, a crumpled coat slung over her shoulders and tousled hair.

SHOULD DISGUISE IT

The "most prominent thing" about Marilyn, says Miss Seward, was her "spare tire . . . lots of it. She has not got most of us dress to disguise it."

2. Her second press conference at the Savoy Hotel that same day "was dominated by what has been dead, but more attractively for hundreds of years."

Her tight sweater and with the press in "a too tight off-black skirt, with a white blazer and believe it or not a shiny black satin blouse."

Miss Seward concludes: "Marilyn used to work as a model—but is now in danger of publication that her most profitable pose was in the nude."

'Very Old Paint' Caused Illness Says Clare Luce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce says "very, very old paint" falling from ceilings in the ambassador residence bedroom in Rome made her ill about 18 months ago.

Mrs. Luce, a poet of a year, she said, she must have breathed and ate small flakes of the substance bearing paint.

Her first public statement on the paint poisoning was given by Mrs. Luce Sunday to reporters as she left for Rome aboard the new three-week Mediterranean cruise. She the cruise she will return to her duties in Rome.

The story of arsenic from roses painted on the Luce's bedroom ceiling poisoning her appeared early in the week. It was published, published by her husband, Henry Luce, Time said a "white, fall-out" of arsenic had caused the long series of illnesses which have kept Mrs. Luce, who became ambassador to Italy more than two years ago.

The poisoned paint cause of the illness has been questioned both in the United States and in Italy.

Carcass of 100-Foot Hairy Monster Washed Ashore on Beach in Alaska

By BOB KEDRICK
Juneau Daily Empire Staff Writer

YAKUTAT, Alaska (AP) — A frightening-looking carcass, estimated conservatively at more than 100 feet long and 15 feet wide at the middle, now lies on the sand 125 feet from the waters of Yakutat Bay. The place is Dry Harbor, 13 miles southwest of Yakutat, 13 miles southwest of the Alsek River, and about 15 miles from mountains in which many glaciers come down to the sea. It can be reached only in a small plane.

The discovery was made two months ago by a veteran Alaska guide, Earl Flemming, but word only recently leaked out.

No blubber or fat can be seen on the carcass. The crimson flesh is decomposing.

I saw the mystifying monster after a flight to the spot where it lies now like a huge log in the sand 125 feet from the waters of Dry Harbor. The place is Dry Harbor

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

TEA HARVEST ENDING, CROP IS BELOW NORMAL

The tea harvest is practically over in the district with area factories winding up canning activities this week. Due to early wet weather and subsequent lateness of sowing, the crop is well below normal, growers state, although some good yields have been harvested in isolated cases.

SCARCITY OF PICKERS FACES BERRY GROWERS

A scarcity of pickers is causing some concern to raspberry growers of the district. George Saltley, Wellington farmer who has 18 acres of irrigated fruit, will need some others hands to help harvest the crop. So far he has about half this amount secured. The crop will be from two to three weeks later this year, due to lateness of spring fine weather.

TRENTON MAN SECOND AT SEIGNORY SHOOT

Group Captain Joseph G. Stephenson, Trenton, and formerly of Wells city, took second place in the annual skeet shoot at the Seignory Club, Quyon, over the weekend. R. R. Bogie, Loon Lake, famous speedboat driver who has raced at Picton several times, won the competition.

Trio Hauls 42-Pound Muskie From Moira Near Plainfield

If it is not the "king of the muskies" of this district then the placatorial royal court had better count noses. One of its "bouncers" might be missing.

The big fellow was cruising close to the surface of the Moira River near Plainfield Saturday afternoon, when a gaygish morsel tempted him. It was a "surface mouse" lure.

When Walter Taylor, 63 Emily Street; Gordon Cooper, R.R. Belleville and Ernie Dunley, Victoria Avenue weighed the fish it tipped the scales at forty-two pounds flat. It measured fifty inches in length.

It took upwards of fifty minutes of a stirring battle between man and muskie before the big beauty was finally boated. Seven times they brought it to boatside and six times it made a break for what it thought was submarine freedom.

Cooper was on the business end of the fishing rod using a twenty-pound test line with about 150 feet out. Eventually Dunley gaffed the big fish after it had broke water three times in his powerful efforts to shake off the lure.

The first muskie haul for the trio — and they went right back at it again on Sunday.

Other fish that came to the surface to grab the lure. It struck like lightning "and when we brought it near the boat on several occasions, its mouth looked as big as a bushel basket".

The trio had the fish photographed and will mount it in due course including contests. It is believed to be the largest muskie taken from district waters in some time.

592 Speeding Motorists Charged in June

Nearly 600 motorists — 592 to be exact — were caught speeding in the No. 9 Provincial Police district during the month of June, it was noted here today by district traffic officer Sgt. R. H. Devereaux. The district includes Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox - Addington and Frontenac counties.

According to the officer a vast majority of the speeders were caught with the police radar equipment.

In all a total of 10,881 traffic checks were made by provincial officers in continued concentrated highway checks on motorists with 1,720 warnings being given and a total of 814 convictions being recorded.

Forty - seven motorists were found with defective equipment of some kind, July 1st. She was also careless driving; five with drunk driving and 10 for driving while ability was impaired.

Accidents in the district numbered 118 during the month with two fatalities reported and 45 persons injured.

H. and P. E. Regiment Shares Top Honors With Noted Ottawa Regt.

Tradition is a component part of things military.

In this respect, the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment is no different from any other Canadian unit save that it has one custom that places it apart from many another unit. That is its ability to come out on top every time.

In customary fashion, the regiment did it this year at Camp Ipperwash at the annual summer training at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Competing with other units of the Canadian militia on special summer courses, the regiment scaled its training by sharing top honors with the Governor-General's Foot Guards from Ottawa.

With the entire regiment under training and over half of it taking special courses, there was not a single failure registered against a member of the Hastings and Prince Edward.

On top of this, a 16-year-old recruit on his first trip to camp, was judged the best rifle shot among all the regiment on the ranges.

The young victor was Allan Daniel, son of Rev. and Mrs. Keith Daniel, Picton. The lad is a member of the BCIVS rifle club.

Saturday evening the regiment paraded through Belleville streets to the Armouries, ending another phase in what has become an important part in militia training for the annual trip to Niagara.

Commanded by Lt.-Col. E. S. Fairman, nearly 300 men and officers of the regiment left over a week ago for the huge campsite to take part in the tactical training and various practical military courses.

During the stay some 13 of the regiment's, lieutenants qualified for the rank of captain while three captains qualified as majors.

Over half the regiment took special courses, including light machine gun and signalling.

Climax of the week's training were night manoeuvres Thursday by the regiment together with the Prince Edward and Kingston's Prince of Wales Own Regiment. Carried out under wartime conditions, the exercises ended in an all-out attack.

Saturday morning the regiment pulled up its stakes and marched through Niagara where it boarded the steamer Cayuga for Toronto. Arriving there, the unit received a civic welcome by spectators as it marched to Union Station.

A special train carrying the officers and men arrived in Belleville at 6.30 p.m. and the regiment paraded to the Armouries where it was dismissed.

With the regiment went 60 young recruits, at present taking a special course under qualified instructors. The boys resumed their leaves this morning under the direction of Major William C. Burgoyne.

Toronto Child Drowns North Of Havelock

CAMPBELLFORD (Special) — Slipping off the rocks near his father's cottage into three feet of water at Clear Lake, 10 miles north of Havelock, two-year-old Stephen Bridges, Toronto, was drowned Sunday noon.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bridges, 30 Heron Ave., Toronto, were packing to return home after a weekend at their cottage when the lad was missed about noon. They found their little son in the water at the edge of the lake. He had been in the water only five minutes and artificial respiration failed to revive him.

The body was taken to the home of the father drove 18 miles into Havelock to notify Dr. D. J. Holdcroft and provincial police who returned with a resuscitator and worked on the boy for two hours but without results.

Bancroft Man, Wm. McCormick, Dies in Accident

PETERBOROUGH (CP) —William McCormick, 61, of Bancroft was killed and six other persons were injured, two seriously, in a two-car collision, Sunday, on the Buckhorn road, nine miles north of Peterborough.

McCormick's mother, Mrs. Ethel McCormick, 79, also of Bancroft, suffered a broken left leg and Mrs. Hazel McIntyre, 49, of Raeborn, a broken pelvis. Both were passengers in the McCormick car, which rolled over three times after the collision.

Three others in the car, Shirley Anne McIlmoyle, 3, David McCormick, 25, and Ronnie McIlmoyle, 21, both of Bancroft, had injuries. Zack Smoke, 83, of Algonquin, a passenger in the second car, also suffered cuts and bruises.

Three Sudden District Deaths Checked by Police

Belleville district escaped traffic fatalities over the weekend, but provincial police were called upon to investigate three sudden deaths from various causes.

At Stirling, Mrs. Sherman Brady, 40, died Sunday when she fell seven feet from a milk stand into a milk cooling tank.

At Wesleyknoll Lake an American fisherman, Henry Watson Griffith, 50, of Palmyra, New York, suffered a heart attack at his cottage Saturday evening and died while at Northbrook. George Edward Grant, 80, was reported dead from unknown causes on Sunday evening. An autopsy was ordered conducted by Dr. Alex Rota, pathologist at Belleville General Hospital, to determine the cause of death.

Stirling Woman Fatally Injured By Fall Into Tank

Losing her balance as she was walking over a platform at the farm milk stand, Mrs. Sherman Brady, 40, of Stirling, was fatally injured when she plunged head first over an 8 feet into a concrete milk cooling tank.

Police said Mrs. Brady struck her face on the edge of the tank as she fell and was then knocked out by water. Crown attorney John Prinzen said there would be no inquest. She was attended at the scene by Dr. William Cornett of Stirling.

Born in Sidney township, Mrs. Brady was the former Bessie Mavis Alcombrack, daughter of Wilmont Alcombrack and the late Mrs. Alcombrack. She had lived in the Stirling area for the past ten years and prior to that had lived at Milton.

She was a member of St. Paul's United Church at Stirling.

Left to mourn her husband, one daughter Mrs. Norris (Ruth) Rankin of Stirling, and two sons, Donald and Douglas, both at home; also two sisters, Mrs. Alex McCrory of Carrollton and Mrs. George Storms, of Belleville.

Resting at the Thomas Lawless Funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

POLICE BLOTTER

Horn Blowing Causes Trouble For Two Drivers

Tooling their own horns did not pay for two Belleville district motorists when, on separate charges, were charged under the highway traffic act for making unnecessary noise by blowing their car horns in the city.

Charged were Douglas Thrasher of Foxboro, and Carl Hagerman of Corbyville. Thrasher also faces a charge of driving with defective brakes.

On the whole police reported a quiet weekend.

A nurse at Belleville General Hospital complained of her car being broken into with a pair of shoes and a flashlight missing.

Doug's Hobby Shop on North Pinnacle street was entered with two small toy boats reported missing. The store window had been broken by tossing a stone through it.

Provincial police reported a 1956 model pick-up truck stolen at Tweed. The vehicle was owned by Levi Goslin of Stone.

And finally police were alerted early Sunday morning by an upper Front street resident who called police to say he heard glass breaking. Nothing was disturbed at jewellery store. Police investigated and found the glass in a display showcase broken, apparently smashed when someone leaned too heavily against it.

Britons Climb Peak

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (Reuters)—A four-man British expedition led by Joe Brown has climbed Mustagh Tower, previously unconquered 23,890 - foot mountain in the Karakorum range of the Himalayas.

Hortog, in a message, said two parties of men made the final climb up the west ridge on July 17 and 17 respectively from a camp sited on a tiny ledge at 21,000 feet.

Obituaries

MRS. P. B. HAMILTON (Contributed)

There passed away on July 14, a highly esteemed and well-loved member of Mountain View community in the person of Alice Jane Hamilton, widow of P. B. Hamilton.

Born in Rawdon township in 1873, she was the daughter of Charlotte Burton and Stephen Tufts.

Her girlhood was spent in Tuftsdale and Belleville. She was married in Philip Burgess Hamilton. It was a happy union of which may it truly said of them "I was an hungered and ye gave me meat. I was thirsty and ye gave me drink. I was a stranger and ye took me in, naked and ye clothed me, sick and ye visited me." No one was turned from their door.

Following her marriage the late Mrs. Hamilton resided in Massassaga community a number of years, coming to Mountain View, almost forty years ago.

In Mountain View as elsewhere she was very active in church work and was Sunday school superintendent, missionary and Sunday school teacher until about five years ago.

In 1930, the Mountain View Women's Institute honored her by making her their first life member.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Edward (Mary) Henline, Reg.N., of Coutt's, Alberta and Mrs. Ross (Evelyn) Hodgins, Reg.N. of R. 1, Belleville. Three sons, Percival, Alfred Flower of Belleville and Seymour at home; also 12 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The funeral wib-held from her late residence on Wednesday, to Mountain View United church on Tuesday afternoon. The bearers were Seymour Hamilton, Wells Funeral Home, Stanley Tufts, George Lough and Osbo Hoover. Flower bearers were, Alfred Poste and Frank Hamilton. Interment Mt. View cemetery.

The Rev. H. H. Hillis and Mr. Henry Farrow conducted the services. Both gave tribute to the deceased.

Two beautiful solos were rendered as was her wish, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" by Mrs. A. Keeble and a second old favorite of hers, "On Christ the Solid Rock I Stand" by Mrs. Milton Wood.

In lieu of a request of the deparited one was read by Mr. Hillis 1st Timothy, 1:15 "This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation that Jesus Christ came into this world to save sinners of whom I am chief."

MRS. BERTRAM J. THEOBALD

In failing health for the past two years, Mrs. Mabel Sharpe Theobald, 34 Bellevue avenue, died at the Belleville General Hospital, July 21st. She was 62.

Born in Mont Joli, Quebec, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sharpe, she moved with her family to Belleville in 1923. She was a member of Christ Church and was active in church activities.

She is survived by her husband, Bertram J. Theobald, and one son, Arthur Theobald, Belleville; Sergeant Gordon Theobald, RCAF, Aylmer; Corporal Victor Theobald, RCAF, North Bay; William Stewart, Chicago; and two daughters, Mrs. Keith (Barbara) Bertram, and Mrs. Roy (Lois) Taylor, both of Belleville.

She also leaves one brother, James Sharpe, Montreal; three sisters, Mrs. George Bentley, Mrs. Peter Mullins and Mrs. Richard Harding, all of Belleville; Mrs. Harding Parker, Three Rivers, Que.; Mrs. Eric Morrison, Asbestos, Quebec; Mrs. Lorne Devine and Mrs. John Lamont, both of Ottawa and Mrs. Percy Live, Quebec City. Eleven grandchildren also survive.

Resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

LATE MRS. BERTHA FLORENCE BELL

The funeral of Mrs. Bertha Florence Bell, who died in her 74th year at her home in Deseronto on Wednesday, was held Saturday from the Belleville Funeral Chapel to the Belleville Cemetery.

The well-attended service was conducted by the Rev. T. F. Townsend.

Honorary bearers were W. D. Reid, Francis Purdy, Corry Millsell, Elmer Sandercock, MPP, Arnold Mitchell and George Stokes.

Pall-bearers were Roy Claire, Harry O'Neil, John Botting, Les Purdy, Earl Brown and Clinton Brown.

LATE DR. ALEXANDER THOMAS EMBURY

The funeral of Dr. Alexander Thomas Embury 82, who died at his home at 54 Everett Street on Thursday, was held on Saturday from the Belleville Burial Funeral Chapel to Bancroft Cemetery.

The service was conducted by Archdeacon H. R. Siord of Gananoque and the committal prayers were recited at the grave by Rev. Owen Johnston.

Bearers were Harry Smith, Robert Embury, John Wiggins, John Church, Loree Reid and Sted Lumb.

LATE MRS. YVONNE FOX

The funeral of the late Mrs. Yvonne Fox of Marmora, was held from the Wells Funeral Home, Marmora, to St. Andrew's United Church on Saturday afternoon. Interment was in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

The Rev. Madden, pastor, conducted the service.

The Marmora L.O.B.A. No. 69 Circle Lodge No. 329, of which Mrs. Fox was a Guardian, attended in a body.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Elvidge, she was born near Brampton, and lived at Plainfield before coming to Belleville 25 years ago.

She attended St. Michael's Church and was a member of the Catholic Women's League.

She was predecessed by her husband.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Albert (Bernice) Uens of Belleville; and one granddaughter, Mary Jane Uens of Belleville.

The body is resting at the Thomas O'Brien Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

IN MEMORIAM

SCUTHORPE. — In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Scuthorpe, who passed away July 23rd, 1954.

Farewell, dear father, thy work is done.

Thy willing hands will toil no more;
Thy loving heart has ceased to beat.
Thy race is run, thy God like you.
Sadly missed and ever remembered by daughter Margaret and family.

SCUTHORPE. — In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Scuthorpe, who passed away July 23rd, 1954.

The face I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still;
His kind heart lies cramped in mine,
Lies now in death's cold chill;
His eyes are closed to the light,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call his own.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by daughter Dorothy and husband Ken.

SCUTHORPE. — In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Scuthorpe, who passed away a year ago today, July 23rd, 1954.

Nothing can ever take away,
The love a father holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance is always near.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by Arthur Scuthorpe.

REID. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away July 22rd, 1943.

Some gone on many changes,
Joys and sorrows, smiles and tears;
Nothing stays the same for others,
With the passing of the years.
But we remembered by wife Estella, sons, Ronald, Melville, daughters Pearl, Marvel, Ruth.

MARTIN. — In loving memory of Mary Martin who passed away July 23rd, 1933.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of memory fall in vain,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you rest and sleep in pain.
—Ever remembered by Ira and Helen Vanderbilt and Ethel and Reg Embury.

COLCLOUGH. — In loving memory of a loving husband and devoted father, William Edwin Colclough, who passed away July 22rd, 1953.

Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why some things have to be;
But God in heaven above has planned,
Beyond our power to see.
No pen can write, no tongue can tell,
Our sad and bitter loss,
But God alone has helped so well,
To bear our heavy cross.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Emma and family.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved narrowly ahead during active morning dealings today. Trading shifted along at the fastest pace in more than a month.

Industrials had an index gain of more than one-half point, good enough for an all-time high of 495.46. Western oils, although down on their index, had more gains than losses. Base metals were fairly mixed.

The forward motion was a reversal of Friday's action, when, after three days of solid gains, the market slipped back a little. Industrials and western oils touched many record index highs last week.

International Nickel advanced ¾ among senior base metals and Hudson Bay Mining, Consolidated Smelters was down ¼. Niplssing added 13 cents in juniors and Mayburn and Grandora was down 20 cents and Willroy 10.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Good and choice grades of slaughter cattle sold actively at fully steady prices at the public stockyards today. Cows were barely steady to 50 cents lower. Bulls were unchanged. The general quality was only fair.

Receipts: Cattle 3,663; calves 681; hogs 163; sheep and lambs 226; carryover 1,000 all stockers.

Prices: Choice steers 21.50-22.50, sales to 22.75; good steers 20.50-21.50; medium 18.50-20.50; common 16-18; good heifers 19-19.50, choice to 20; medium 18-19; common 15-18. Choice fed yearlings 21.50-22.50, steer yearlings to 23; good fed yearlings 20.50-21.50; medium 18-20; good cows mostly 12-13.50 extreme tops to 15; medium 10-12; common 9-10; canner and cutter cows 7-9; good heavy bologna bulls mostly 13; common and medium light bulls down to 9. Replacement cattle: Good stockers and feeders 18-19; medium 17-18; common 14-16.

Calves were 1 a hundredweight higher with choice vealers 23-24.25; good vealers 19-23; medium 15-19; common 11-15.

Hog prices were too few to establish.

Sheep and lambs were 1 a hundredweight lower with choice ewes and wethers $25 a hundredweight, good and medium lambs 20-23; bucks were discounted at $1 a hundredweight, culls down to $15; sheep 3-9 a hundredweight according to quality.

PRODUCE MARKETS

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter price prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was firm with receipts sufficient for a cautious demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs, in fifty cases, graded: A large 61-63; A medium 57; A small 53; B 38; C 34. Wholesale to retail: A large 66-67; A medium 62; A small 58; B 43; C 39.

Butter sold: Canada, first grade, Ontario tenderable 58, nontenderable 56-56½; western 58½ (nominal).

STORM FLATTENS CROPS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Hail and electrical storms shipped through Middlesex and Kent counties Saturday, stripping tobacco, corn, soybean and grain crops—causing damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. Losses in crops ran from 60 to 100 per cent.

RCMP Convinced Body That of Ontario Woman

REVELSTOKE, B. C. (CP)—RCMP say they are convinced the body of a woman found in a car in the Coldstream River 37 miles north of Revelstoke, is that of Mrs. Jack Willis of Tupperville, Ont.

Cpl. L. Faryon, heading the investigation into an accident in which the woman's husband was also believed killed when the car ran off an 80-foot cliff and into the river, said Saturday "there isn't any doubt at all that it is Mrs. Willis."

Earlier, the couple's son, Jack, told Cpl. Faryon by telephone from Tupperville that the description of the dead woman did not fit his mother.

The son said: "The Mounties told me the woman they found was five feet, five inches and 160. Mother was at least five feet, seven inches and she wasn't 160."

The son said he believed it might have been his aunt, Mrs. Robert McMillan of Kelowna. Police said, however, that Mrs. McMillan did not accompany the Wills on the trip and that she is still in Kelowna.

Cpl. Faryon said a description of Mrs. Wills was obtained from relatives in Kelowna whom they were visiting. He said a ring, dress and shoes which Mrs. Wills was wearing on their departure from Kelowna "were the same as those found on the body."

Dragging operations in an effort to recover the body of Mr. Wills were called off. Police said it is "almost impossible" to find the body unless it is washed up on shore downstream.

Kiss Required Three Changes Of Traffic Light

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP) — Moorehead police insist they are not too old to appreciate a little romance.

But at the same time, according to officers, this is the time and place for such activity is not in the traffic lights at a busy intersection — at least when the kiss lasts through a green light, a red one and another green one.

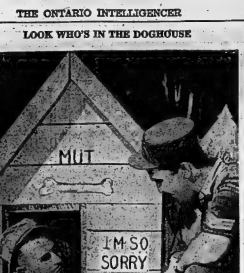
It was at this point Kenneth D. Hoff of Moorhead was interrupted by officers and a traffic standstill ensued.

Justice Roscoe Brown said the wrong choice of location was worth a $25 fine.

Primate's Widow Dies

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Florence Bell Kingston, widow of most Rev. George Frederick Kingston, former Anglican primate of All Canada, died in hospital Friday.

Mrs. Kingston was born in Nova Scotia. The Kingstons were married in 1920 while he was professor at King's College, Windsor, N.S.



Later they moved to Toronto, where he was dean of men at Trinity College until he became bishop of Algoma in 1940. He became bishop of Nova Scotia in 1944 and primate in 1947.

Mrs. Kingston returned to Sault Ste. Marie following her husband's death in 1950.

FOUR MEN RESCUED

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Four men were rescued from Lake St. Clair off Stoney Point Sunday night when their sailing boat capsized.

LOOK WHO'S IN THE DOGHOUSE

Soldiers of the 2nd Transport Company, RCASC, involved in traffic mishaps or guilty of minor misdeeds at Camp Gagetown, N.B., have found a humorous way of paying for errors. As a forfeit for the "crime" they become occupants of an elaborate construction offering all the comforts of a doghouse. A gag maybe, but a doghouse for sure. Here testing the structure is S/Sgt. Bob Weatherill of Colborne, Ont., while Sgt. John Sawchuck of Barrie, Ont., and Regina offers condolences.

Party Planned for 12 Years Is Held For Men of Tank Troops Workshop

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Forty-five old soldiers faded away to their homes today after a memory week reunion at the 45,000-acre ranch of one of their former officers.

The reunion brought together some of the men of the 2nd Canadian tank troops workshop.

It was planned 12 years ago by rancher Bert Hargrave, then a captain in the unit. When he transferred to another unit in 1944, he took down the addresses of all 270 men in the workshop and promised them a reunion party 10 years after the end of the Second World War.

The party was one year late because of the death of his father.

Last December, Capt. Hargrave sent out 270 invitations. He followed this up with another batch in May. Essentially, he said: "We promise a roof and mattress for those who don't mind a little western atmosphere and enough grub to keep you all happy."

STARTED PREPARING EARLY

Last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 45 former members of the regiment arrived from every province except Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. Final roll call showed a total of 245 present, including dependents.

Capt. Hargrave's wife, Amy, and her mother, Mrs. Nairn Reinhardt of Medicine Hat, started preparations a month before the party. They worked every day from 8 a.m. until 11 p.m. As soon as goods were baked or made they were popped in a huge deep freeze on the ranch and another one at Medicine Hat, 35 miles west.

They made 320 loaves of bread, 300 large barbecue buns and 55 pies. Bert Hargrave added a 1,600-pound steer and a dozen heifers.

Fresh salads made in a bathtub were mixed for each meal.

Letter Arrives Six Months Late

MONTREAL (CP) — Druggist Hyman Rosen has received a letter mailed 30¢ worth of postage more than six months and thousands of miles late.

It was popped into a mailbox near his Snowdon district premises about six months ago. It bore the proper street address and the destination listed as Snowdon.

It went first to Snowden, Sask., thence to Copenhagen, to Goteborg in Sweden and finally to Winnipeg before getting back here.

Name Judy Welch 'Miss Toronto'

TORONTO (CP) — A blue-eyed, honey-haired blonde of 20, Judy Welch has been chosen Miss Toronto. The five-foot-four-inch model was chosen out of 23 finalists at the Toronto police games Saturday.

Miss Welch, who came here from Peterborough four years ago measures 35-23-35, and plans to be a singer and dancer. For being both beautiful and talented, Judy has her choice of $1,000 cash or a four-year university course as well as a gold watch, clothes and many other presents.

Judy, who has studied dancing since she was seven, said: "I'm working hard so that I can become an all-round good entertainer—dancer, singer and actress. I've got my eye on television."

Hungarian Reds Rehabilitate Ex-President

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's reshuffled Communist leadership announced today the rehabilitation of former President Arpad Szakasits and eight other purge victims in an apparent bid to widen the base of its regime support.

Better times were promised the Hungarian people.

Szakasits is a former Social Democrat who took over the presidency Aug. 3, 1948—two months after he helped engineer a merger of his Socialists with the Communist party. He lasted 21 months then was imprisoned three years on spy charges.

A Hungarian central committee communique published in the party press and broadcast by radio announced the legal restoration of his citizenship rights.

The communique announced that so far 474 persons unjustly condemned have been rehabilitated. For some of them, such as the executed former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk, this restoration to good standing was posthumous.

Sunday, Lt.-Gen. Mihaly Farkas 52-year-old former minister of war, tumbled further down the ladder. The party chiefs, now headed by Ernoe Gerce as secretary-general in place of the ousted Matyas Rakosi, stripped Farkas of his Communist party membership card.

They also deprived Farkas, a Jew, tossed off the politburo last year on a charge of supporting rightist trends, of all his official duties and recommended that he be relieved of his military rank.

Gerce's committee promised the Hungarian people a 25-per-cent increase in their standard of living by 1960, to be achieved through wage adjustments and other benefits.

Three Killed

CLERMONT, Que. (CP)—Three persons were killed and four injured here Sunday night when one car hit another halted because of a flat tire.

Killed were Charles - Auguste Dassylva of Malbaie, Que., and Lucien Pilotte, 40, and Gilles Boulianne, 14, both of this Charlevoix county town about 90 miles northeast of Quebec City.

Provincial police said that Dassylva was changing a tire to help him fix his puncture.

They were struck by a car driven by a man not immediately identified.

SUGGEST

Still ahead, of course, is the more perilous fall flight south, when some hunters who apparently wouldn't know a whooping crane from a mourning dove are abroad with weapons, adding to nature's hazards.

The question of whether it would be better to have a few whoopers in captivity rather than not have any at all has been sounded along the "whooper network," made up of observers along the big cranes' migration path.

It was suggested first by Canadian observers, and picked up by Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, who said "the tremendous interest in the long-range whooper planning justifies opening up the subject to the public view."

Dodgen termed establishment of a captive flock of at least four whoopers "a final desperate effort to save the species."

There would, however, be no assurance that the captives would breed even if a start were made with the executed former Foreign Minister Lazrlo Rajk, this restoration to good standing was posthumous.

Needs 3 Months To Draft Cyprus Constitution

NICOSIA (CP)—Lord Radcliffe says it will take him two or three months to draft a "home rule" constitution for Cyprus.

He told correspondents at a reception Sunday that the constitution would not work magic for anyone. All it would do would be to provide a framework for distributing of political power with checks and balances.

Greek Cypriot mayors have voted to refuse further meetings with Lord Radcliffe, a legal expert, but he said he had learned enough to have a good idea of the island's municipal government needs.

The mayors said they refused to take part further in talks because of attempts by British papers and broadcasters to influence the meetings a political flavour.

STOP THE TESTS!

Monday of last week Russia called on Britain and the ed States to agree that all three countries should stop ng nuclear weapons.

It is unlikely that this plea will be heeded by Britain the United States.

The Toronto Star says bluntly that, if the Russian is rejected, the West will be wrong.

Why the West will be wrong is graphically set in an editorial in the Edmonton Journal, entitled Verge of the Abyss." Although written before the tan proposal of last week, the main outlines against ntinuance of tests of atomic weapons is convincing.

"Human beings and all other living things are natur- subject to some radiation," says the Journal. ". . . the advent of atomic or nuclear energy, however, has appeared the possibility of subjecting all man- d to so much additional radiation that a biological eration of the whole race would be seriously affected. e are many gaps in present-day knowledge of the gical effects of radiation, the scientists are agreed much deterioration would be marked by increased death rate, decreasing length of life, declining birth reduction of resistance to disease, and increasing sus- ibility to such malignancies as leukemia. The effects, ed on from generation to generation, could destroy race in the long run—probably over a period of centur-

There are three ways in which all living creatures d be subjected to such an increase in radiation, says Journal—a general war fought with thermonuclear atomic weapons, careless disposal of radioactive ste from atomic energy stations and continued tests of nic and hydrogen bombs.

Of an atomic war, the Journal says: "There seems to doubt now that this, as reputable scientists warned in the postwar period, would be tantamount to suicide."

The increase in the intensity of radiation would be as to destroy the food and make of earth a planet of on for all living creatures.

If that be doubted, consider some facts quoted by St. Catharines Standard in an editorial to say: Dr. Leonard S. Taylor, chief of the atomic radiation ics division of the U.S. Bureau of Standards, says that nic radiation is something "we can live with in small doses but not in large ones." Any increase over ck, whatever country it was aimed at, would jeopard- life all over the planet.

The leaders of the nations in the world know an atomic war might well doom mankind. Our only protection against this disaster is the hope that none of will force the world into suicide.

As for the disposal of atomic wastes from atomic en- stations, this is not an immediate problem and many tists are already seeking to solve it. .

Thus, as the Edmonton Journal observes, "the test- is the crux of the problem at the moment."

Committees of scientists in both the United States Britain recently issued reports on the dangers of ical effects. As they stand, the reports of Britain American and British committees appeared to think the current rate of testing, even if prolonged, would increase the global radiation to a dangerous extent."

dds, however: "On the other hand, Dr. Ralph Lapp, American physicist who has repeatedly demonstrated he knows what he is talking about, believes that the many atomic tests carried out in the past in the ing of thermonuclear weapons, in any case, he holds, technical reasons which have been explained publicly, the annual rise in the rate of fall-out resulting would by the world past the point of no return by 1962—six rs hence."

Where scientists differ, whom should one believe? Where the fate of all mankind is involved in the take, the world cannot afford to gamble that Dr. Lapp rong.

However, as the Toronto Star points out, there is no d for further testing of atomic weapons. The argu- t that the West must depend on these weapons, be- se Russia outnumbers it in manpower, while valid on first sight, has no reason why the tests ought to continue. As the Star says: "To argue a prohibition tests would endanger national security unless it were part of an overall disarmament control is to admit implication that the current American atomic arsenal adequate. The U.S. denies this." The Star adds that re is no reason to believe that the U.S. does not have ugh nuclear weapons to destroy Russia completely. Russia, probably, one might add, along with the of the world. To provide a simple analogy, if one ds of dynamite will blow up a bridge, why test a ton TNT?

Opposition to a discontinuance of the tests may come m military men. They, however, appear to be obsessed h the Communist menace. This is no more than a bite compared to the crocodile's jaws of radiation into ch we appear to be shoving our heads in an effort escape the foe. Even if Russia were to conquer the ld, that, too, would pass away in the flow of cen- es. Men's minds would not continually abide in ear. Their bones may all be buried in atomic st unless the tests are ended. When it takes 20 months discover that the U.S. Ambassador to Italy is being ly poisoned by arsenic from the paint in her room, s it may take another 25 years to determine whether dyes now certified by the U.S. as safe for use in food ially cause cancer, can we be so very sure that another e H-bomb will not do us any harm?

Good Talk Hard to Find

(Montreal Gazette)

Conversation has been called an art. And no doubt it is. But perhaps it is most happy and longest remembered if it is not being practised as an art but takes on the naturalness of time and mood.

It may then be described as talk rather than conversation. It has the zest and pleasure of those who have set themselves aside and are speaking because they have something to say and are really glad to say it.

Perhaps just a touch of the informal—a vital kind of informality—is necessary if conversation is to achieve the depth and vigor of talk.

Emerson put it very well in an entry in his Journal in August, 1863. He had been to see Longfellow. And Longfellow, highly cultivated man, lived in considerable grandeur in his historical old house on Brattle Street, in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Emerson's description of the conversation at Longfellow's table was good: many of his guests have testified that it was. But in his journal Emerson wrote: "If Socrates were here, we could not talk better with him; but Longfellow we cannot go and talk with; there is a palace and servants, and a row of bottles of different colored wines, and wine glasses, and fine coats."

Perhaps there was more good talk at Longfellow's than Emerson knew. Longfellow's neighbor, James Russell Lowell, knew it. Lowell knew how to live and to dine well. But he knew how to welcome the casual meeting, the talk that might flourish.

William Dean Howells has described one of the first visits which, as a young man, he made to Lowell at Elmwood. "After the meal we sat over a wood fire, . . . and he smoked and talked. He was then in far more than his usual seeding tobacco, or going out, so that I have a memory of him as before my eyes constantly gutting out of his deep chair to rekindle his pipe with a paper spill at the lighter."

The talk is not recorded. But this picture of Lowell relighting his pipe at the fire suggests that it was very good indeed.

The seasons of good talk in anyone's life are few. They come and go, and perhaps this fleeting quality adds to their eager intensity.

Robert Browning would recall a season of good talk in the summer of 1885, when he and his sister had gone to Wales. They were spending some days at the new resort at an hotel in Llangollen. They had old friends as neighbors in Sir Theodore and Lady Martin. On Sunday evening they would go to the little Anglican church and after service the vicar would accompany them to the Martins' house, there to spend the evening. "A term of delightful weeks," Browning recalled it in retrospect, "each tipped with a sweet, starry Sunday at the Llan church, leading to the House Beautiful, where took our rest of an evening spent always memorably."

It was so with the brief season of good talk that Sir Sidney Colvin knew at Davos in the Swiss Alps in 1880. At that time Davos was approached by a laborious railway journey. It was a noted resort for the treatment of tuberculosis.

There Colvin found, as fellow-patients, Robert Louis Stevenson and John Addington Symonds. "My impressions of the next few weeks at Davos," Colvin wrote, "are one of high tension of the spirits and body in the tingling mountain air, under the iron monolith fronts or the mild-day dazzle of the snow-fields . . . with delicious hours of eager, ever courteous talk about books by the dark Engadine wine between Stevenson and John Addington Symonds, in which we had found a talker at most as charming as himself."

Talk, when it comes, comes easily. But it is not easily found. It is a gift for many conversation in this world than good talk. But good talk is not a thing to be summoned forth because the formal scene has been invaded; comes in its own way, and it may glorify the brief season that was worthy of it.

Moscow Builds Vast Stadium

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

It is well known that Russia is making gigantic efforts to produce supremacy in the various events at the Olympic Games in Melbourne, and that the Soviet has established training centres for young men and women who are not required to do any work, but literally become wards of the state while undergoing training for which only the most ruthless and determination is seen in the new stadium and sports centre, now nearing completion near Moscow, with 15,000 seats and 50,000 standing room.

The main arena comprises a soccer field, a track for runners, one for jumpers and throwers. The gym is virtually an indoor stadium, having 310 feet by 200 feet used with refrigerating equipment to keep down temperature for figure skating or hockey. The outdoor stadium will have basketball, a 165-foot swimming pool. There will be a smaller gym for only younger athletes, and 100 other sports structures including three soccer fields, basketball, a field for volleyball, 29 tennis courts, and 30 specialized gymnasiums. In September, the centre will accomodate 2,400 athletics simultaneously, and 2,400 others will be in training campus where Russians will be trained in sports to uphold the glory of Russia and Soviet, will be the largest sports centre in the world.

The people outside the Iron Curtain will not envy such a colossal Communist drive for athletic supremacy, but perhaps the Soviet people are thinking so much about political, military and economic conquests.

Must Migrate With Both Feet

(London Free Press)

Words of wisdom were voiced by Dr. J. Bartelink, Netherlands vice-consul in London, when he noted that the reason Dutch people do so well in Canada is that they realize they have to stand "with both feet" in their new land.

Immigration is like crossing a puddle—one is dangerous if one straddle it.

This does not mean that the Netherlanders, or people of any other racial group, should try to make themselves over in the image of their new countrymen. That would be unwise.

They can contribute much. But they do so best by carefully retaining that they are Canadians.

Plan Movies Of Holdups

(By Paul Giguere in the du Font Magazine)

A Boston bank is trying out a new kind of bandit trap that shoots film instead of bullets. It's an automatic movie camera that operates when a teller presses down from behind a one way mirror. It can capture on film everything that happens during a holdup.

Little the bandit knows will interfere with the mechanical eye. The one way mirror, only slightly larger than a peep hole, is bullet-proof. Screens are invisible do much good, either. The bandit could wear a diver's helmet and FBI experts studying the film later quite probably could get telltale clues by the way he walks and moves that would be of great general appearance and his clothing.

For good measure, the film would show just where he stepped on the floor, detective agency could pick up heel marks on the floor. A lot impression has been very helpful as fingerprints in the solution of several famous crimes.

With a short film in hand, the bank's performance also could be released to television as a real life drama that someone in the audience might solve. Once the bandit is captured, the film and record will continue as a relentless witness to help the prosecuting lawyer to talk away the recorded evidence.

More than this, however, the criminal might be tripped up by the camera patrol before he even stages the holdup. Films taken daily would be checked routinely by law enforcement officers and since most robberies have to be "cased" by observation before entering the bank could be spotted and placed under surveillance.

Masks, of course, would be worn during "casing". Suspicious behavior by anyone entering the bank during business hours might also become apparent in routine examination of what the camera saw. Evidence of odd actions could serve to alert the bank.

Eagles Kill Lambs

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

There has long been controversy in Ontario as to whether eagles will or will not attack human beings, and there has long been controversy in Scotland as to whether golden eagles will or will not attack lambs. The Scottish Gazette and West Coast Advertiser gives point to that eagles attack lambs by publishing a photograph of the torn bodies of six lambs that were found to be the office of that newspaper.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

July 23rd., 1926.

Miss Emma Dafoe has returned home from Toronto where she visited friends.

Miss Helen Denike spent the weekend with friends in Oshawa and Peterborough.

Mrs. Stevenson, who with the late Col. M. J. Hendrick, United States Consul here for some years, organized and owned the original famous Belleville Yacht Club, which was well known the world under the supervision of the late Thomas F. J. Power, died in Pittsburg, Pa., on July 21st, at the age of 82 years. Mr. Stevenson in Belleville about forty years ago and established the Belleville Daily Ontario Scott, after some years of publication, went into liquidation. He was also the Daily Sons of Scotland and was one of the promoters of several Caledonian Clans" which were highly successful, attracting large numbers of Scotsmen and others from all parts of Ontario. He served as a member of the city council. Prior to coming to Belleville he was night editor of the Toronto Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gunsolus are spending a vacation at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. W. Hardy is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. Gooding, in Campbellford.

The Rev. E. R. Baker is spending the summer at his cottage in Muskoka.

Mrs. Fred Dusterberg and members of his party had good sport fishing down the bay yesterday; among the fourteen landed bass which weighed from one and a half pounds to four pounds.

Yesterday was the hottest day so far this summer; the maximum temperature reached 90 degrees. It sure was hot.

Mr. Vincent Meredith and Mr. Arthur Legault of Waterbury, Conn., are home on a visit to their parents here with Mrs. Erole-Fitzpatrick in his new Lincoln car.

Following are the officers of the Belleville Kiwanis Dinghy Club in connection with the Bay of Quinte Country Club: president, Dr. A. Dowsley; vice-president, Mr. Eardley Wilmot; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Allan Harper.

Mr. Clarence L. Jewell, who has been the popular manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Madoc for the past five years, has been transferred to Lindsay as manager of the bank's branch there. Prior to leaving Madoc the businessmen of the village presented him with a handsome gold watch.

40 YEARS AGO

Mr. Sam Bongard is spending his vacation at Weslemkoon Lake.

Mr. W. S. Mimns of this city and Mrs. Alfred Matthews of Calgary, Alberta, formerly of this city, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. W. F. Clare, Mrs. Clare and two sons of Saskatoon, Sask., are the guests of Mrs. Clare's sister, Mrs. Ketcheson, John Street.

Miss Anna Shore of Ottawa is the guest of Miss Mabel Ketcheson, John Street.

Mr. R. D. Porter is spending a few days in Toronto.

Adi. Parks is spending a few days in Hamilton.

50 YEARS AGO

July 23rd., 1906

The Old Boys and Girls are here. A hearty welcome was accorded the Belleville Old Boys and Girls from Toronto when they arrived here yesterday afternoon. They came by special train and every coach was filled. At the Grand Trunk station a selection a number of prominent citizens was present to welcome the visitors and when the train reached the market square Mayor Charles McAuley, with the aldermen were present to extend to them the official welcome to the "old home town." There was a large crowd of citizens at the station to cheer as claim their sons, daughters, relatives and friends. On the excursion train there were five hundred and fifty Bellevillians, all anxious to see their "folks" and friends. In the evening the parade will march through the streets and at ten o'clock there will take place a display of fireworks.

The Rev. Rural Dean Armstrong, rector of St. George's Church, Trenton, called his 12-year-old daughter, Miss Kingston recently. He was accompanied by his two sons, Allan and Hobart and two friends, David Allen and Roy Phillips.

From our files copy at this time in 1906: The tax rate for the year has been set at 20½ mills, which is the same as last year. Ald. L. W. Yeomans, druggist, is the chairman of the executive.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ONE WITH ALL

Not until some great catastrophe occurs do we feel the inter-dependence of us all. Our lives sometimes are stirred as we learn of the misfortune of others. A nation's health depends on its economic security. It is a time of multi-inter-dependence among scores of different organizations, so that a strike against one is a strike against the many. We do not realize it until we meet on common ground, around the discussion table, troubles are sure to grow and grow. In a war all suffer. One of the great dreams of the world is the organization of the United Nations. If it turns out finally to be a failure it would be a bring all nations together for the good of all then will that dream of the many end in failure.

Each of us has inherited the common heritage of all. We come from scores of nationalities, colors, and creeds, but that thread of humanity runs through all. It is amazing that it all has worked so well. What an opportunity for tremendous improvement!

We cannot look into the eyes of a single human being without seeing something of ourself there, and most of it is a kindly invitation of friendship and a show of that friendship. Why should the world be so far apart in its people's determination to put an end to all that is good in the name of the real or fancied peace throughout the world?

I hear it said that we must keep armed to the teeth in the interest of peace. But we also would not go around all day and night with a big gun in our hands. We don't feel that the time would come when we would have to use it. We would not carry that gun for the fun of it!

The people of the world hate war and all that it carries with it. Put to a vote the final cause for permanent peace would be overwhelming. Let us pray that universal peace may be in the making.

Nutrition of The Expectant Or Nursing Mother

It is no a paradox to say that many individuals who are twenty or thirty pounds overweight are poorly nourished. That is to say, they do not get from their food the quantities of minerals and vitamins they need, and in an instinctive way, they try to satisfy the need by overeating, but unfortunately the superfluous food they consume in this way is almost entirely refined carbohydrate — refined white flour, refined white sugar. This supplies enough calories to carry them into the middle of next week, but scarcely a vitamin or a mineral in a bellyful.

It does little good to tell these undernourished citizens to use crude raw sugar instead of refined white sugar and brown bread (whole grain, cracked or ground by your own hand mill — coffee mill) daily instead of refined white flour.

They haven't the gumption to find such items, and if they do find a place where crude sugar is for sale at least a available, the grocery clerk scares them off by showing them the sugar is labelled "not for human consumption," or the farmer's wife hasn't heard of them that wheat like that in the bin is for pigs and chickens.

So it becomes necessary to spoon feed the poor souls their vitamins and minerals in tablet form. This won't work a miracle overnight, but if continued for at least six months, this daily supplement will replace that tired feeling with vim.

The old-timers had little or no knowledge of nutrition; but, heck they managed to be satisfy their customers with such sage advice as a "well-balanced" diet — whatever that meant — and "nourishing but tasty" digestible food. This did the customers no great harm even though it did them no good. Another sphereism of the old-timers is still in circulation, namely that the expectant mother must "eat for two."

If only natural or undenatured food were available, this would not be so bad for the expectant mother. But what with the grocery clerk and the hired man holding white sugar and white flour under whole grain, cracked or ground by your own hand mill — coffee mill) daily instead of refined white flour.

They haven't the gumption to find such items, and if they do find a place where crude sugar is for sale at least a available, the grocery clerk scares them off by showing them the sugar is labelled "not for human consumption," or the farmer's wife hasn't heard of them that wheat like that in the bin is for pigs and chickens.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the drawers, Indian grass baskets, and on the shelves of my summer cottage I had the odd assortment of the sun glasses on hand, and their number is fourteen pairs. At the most, I have twelve pairs of four pairs. The rest are those left behind or forgotten by casual visitors.

Gradually over the years, I suppose a summer cottage could fill up with forgotten sun glasses until there would be enough to sell for people. Guests who stay for a week or two almost invariably forget their sun glasses. If they don't leave them in a dresser drawer, they leave them in the bathroom or in the boat. But casual people who drop in for a few minutes for passing are the chief contributors. The minute they come on the verandah, they remember their sun glasses and set them down not in plain view but behind some book or beer or a magazine. If there are small children on the verandah, the children, vigilant for the safety of his sun glasses, will set them on the high verandah railing or on the fishing rod rack. Then they walk off and forget them. And the strange part is, they leave some-back for them.

You would suppose that on emerging from the comfortable shade of the verandah into the bright sunlight, people would remember their glasses. But no. You would think that, half way home, they would recollect having left them on the verandah railing and send a small boy back to collect them. But no. Three days later, the Clarks find another pair of sun glasses stuck up on the scantling or slatted fish-drying rack or rod rack. And into the mounting collection they go.

"Did you leave your sun glasses here the other day?" I enquire at almost every visit of a host or summer resort.

"I don't think so," they all say.

Periodically, I get the whole collection together from the various hiding places and make a display of them on the verandah table, where I have stood a couple of days for visitors and guests alike to help themselves from.

It is a rare thing that all their own sun glasses to inspect the collection. Most of them are content with them on the table beside the rest of them.

What is there about sun glasses that makes them so forgettable? My collection includes all types and grades, from the cheap tinted ones you buy off a card at the drug store to the real ones with jewelled rims and steel-eye lenses. Some of them appear to be expensive and purchased with deliberation.

But they are forgettable.

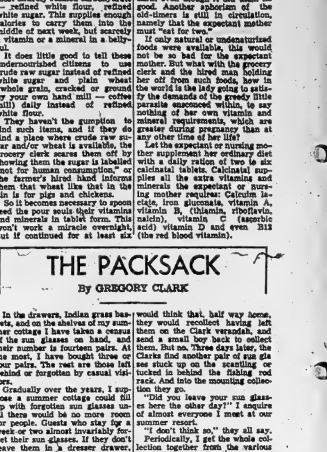
And nobody seems to give a hoot.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SO LITTLE TIME

Scientists have been able to find new sources or substitutes for many of the materials essential to our daily living. Plastics are replacing certain metals, and they themselves are being produced from ores hitherto considered worthless. Almost the only thing which cannot be produced is additional time.



It is perhaps a discouraging thought, but no matter what we do, there are not 24 hours in a day and 365 days in most years. By care or negligence, we can increase or decrease the number of years allotted us, but from a long-range view, the difference is slight. Most of the readers of this article will be dead within 35 years. So little time!

But there is another side to this problem. While we cannot create new time, most of us could have more use of it than we do if we planned our days more efficiently. The majority of people waste hours each day. Careful scheduling can provide extra hours for leisure, recreation, study, whatever all needful.

And there is still another way to increase time—or at least to increase the value of your own time. Spend it for important things. What is the greatest cause in your life? What is your most worthwhile? Whatever it is, for real value, spend your time on that.

U.S. Is Cheered As Reds Unlikely To Finance Dam

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. state department officials were greatly cheered by evidence that Moscow may be as reluctant as Washington and London to help Egypt build the Aswan dam.

If so, sources here say, this means State Secretary Dulles has a fair chance to win his gamble that Russia would not necessarily move in and take over after last week's withdrawal of a western offer on the Nile River project.

First word on the Soviet attitude toward the dam since the United States and Britain announced cancellation of their offer came Saturday. Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov said Russia has no present intention to finance the $1,130,000,000 project and is more interested in promoting the industrialization of Egypt.

The state department received reports after Shepilov visited Nasser in Cairo a month ago that he had told Nasser that Russia would prefer to assist Egypt by means other than building the big dam.

In Cairo, Egyptian political circles said Egyptian leaders determined to construct the dam are thinking of reviving the offer of the Anglo - French - German banking consortium to help finance the project.

Two years ago a group of French banks alone offered a loan of up to 25,000,000,000 francs (about $72,000,000) and French, British and West German banks forming the consortium said they would together raise from $170,000,000 to $200,000,000 in foreign currency to finance contracting firms which would be engaged on the scheme.

The political circles said that Egypt herself would contribute the remainder of her sterling balances in London.

Bevan Assails Eisenhower

CORWEN, Wales (Reuters) — Aneurin Bevan asked in a speech Saturday how President Eisenhower could describe himself as a Christian when he claimed the right to "explore" others by hydrogen bomb explosions.

He also accused church leaders in Britain and the United States of "blasphemy" for failing to give a lead on the banning of the hydrogen bomb tests.

Had No Contacts With Nazi Says Duke of Windsor

PARIS (AP) — The Duke of Windsor says he had "no communications or contact whatsoever" with Walter Schellenberg, a high-ranking Nazi who, according to published reports, planned to offer him a large sum of money if he would go over to the Germans in 1940.

The Duke said Sunday:

"I have only this to say. I had no communications or contacts whatsoever with Schellenberg nor for that matter did I ever hear of him until this alleged matter developed. As for Nazi Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, I met him only in his official capacity and never saw him after 1937."

According to the published account, the alleged offer was the idea of Hitler, who told Ribbentrop to organize the plan. Schellenberg, a member of the SS (elite guard) machine, was said to have been named the go-between.

The story, published by magazines in Sweden and West Germany and reprinted in the London Sunday Pictorial, said the Duke was to have been offered 20,000,000 Swiss francs (about $12,000,000).

Montreal Man Shot as Group Battles Police

MONTREAL (CP) — One man was shot and several police officers injured Sunday in a battle between police and a group of men.

Yvon Duquette was shot through the abdomen in the fight and is in hospital, where his condition is not considered serious. Police said he was shot by detective Serge Laramee during the fight.

Police constable Claude Bourbonnieres also was sent to hospital with a fractured nose, received when he was struck with a baseball bat.

Police said six men gathered at a street corner and started throwing rocks and bars at the windows of a church and then engaged in a free-for-all with about 15 police-

Traffic Accidents Claim 31 Lives Over Weekend

William McCormick, 41, of Bancroft Sunday in a two-car smashup north of Peterborough;

Donald Sprenger, 23, died following a car crash Sunday at Windsor.

Five men were armed with iron bars, hatchets, bat and stones.

Five men were arrested at the scene, another was jailed when he attacked the constable guarding Duquette in St. Luke's Hospital.

Police said they will be charged today in court on several counts, including assault with intent to main.

Noted Bush Pilot, Ted Stull, Dead

VANCOUVER (CP) — E. W. (Ted) Stull, 52, a well-known figure in Canadian commercial aviation, died Saturday following a brief illness.

Mr. Stull, a veteran of more than 30 years in air transport, was western region operations manager for Trans-Canada Airlines.

Born in Sudbury, he was a graduate of the Sudbury school of mines but turned to a flying career in 1923 with the Ontario Provincial Air Service and later with the former Western Canada Airways.

From 1930 to 1933 he flew 1,400 hours in night service, pioneering the Prairie airmail run. He also helped pioneer freighting of mining equipment and supplies into the Arctic with his own company, Wings Ltd., which he formed in 1934 with famous flyers Roy Brown, Mol Ashton and Jack Moar.

One of the pioneers of TCA, Mr. Stull joined the airline in 1938, shortly after it was formed.

Mass Inoculations For Polio Urged

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's health chief says that mass inoculations are necessary to prevent the city's polio rate—highest in the United States—from rising to epidemic proportions.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen urged that all children be taken immediately to private doctors or city welfare stations for Salk vaccine shots.

Thus far this year, 268 polio cases and five deaths have been reported in Chicago. Only 38 cases had been reported at this time in 1955.

Believe Soviet Aid Programs Now Exceed U.S. Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate foreign relations sub-committee says Russia's economic assistance programs may have reached or even exceeded those of the United States.

Chairman Mike Mansfield (Dem., Mont.), making public a staff study, said this has been accomplished in the "short space of 13 months."

"Whereas 13 months ago, the Soviet efforts were concentrated almost entirely in a few countries of Asia," he said, "they now are worldwide."

Mansfield noted that State Secretary Dulles has estimated Soviet assistance projects in free countries at approximately $600,000,000. Unconfirmed reports of additional offers would push the total beyond $1,000,000,000.

Two New Cases Of Polio Listed

OTTAWA (CP)—Two cases of poliomyelitis were reported in Canada in the second week of July, bringing the total number this year to 79, the health department said Saturday in its weekly telegraphic report.

Both cases were reported in Ontario and there were no deaths. Five died in Canada so far this year.

A total of 191 cases was reported in the corresponding period last year and this year's total was well below the 1951-55 average of 285.

RESCUE GIRLS FROM FO

LODI, Italy (Reuters)—A nun and a 12-year-old girl dived into the River Po Friday and rescued four young girls from its swirling current. A fifth child, Carla Bonfanti, was swept to her death. The five girls fell into the river when a grass bank crumbled under them.

Cypriot Girls Aiding Terrorists Given Probation

LIMASSOL, Cyprus (Reuters)—The first Greek - Cypriot girls to be charged with possession of EOKA underground leaflets were put on probation today for two years each on a surety of £30 by a magistrate in Limassol.

The girls involved were Vera and Toula Kazandjis, aged 19 and 17 years, and Eva Nicolaides, 17. They were seen by an English resident in Limassol attaching a leaflet from the Greek - Cypriot underground organization on a lamp-post.

Three terrorists early today shot and slightly wounded a Cypriot policeman with a gun they stole from him, it was officially announced. All three escaped.

APPEALS DISMISSED

In Nicosia, the Cyprus Supreme Court today dismissed appeals of three men—two of them sentenced to death and a third to life imprisonment—for the murder of a British army corporal last month.

Andreas Panayides and Michael Koutsoftas, both 22, were sentenced to die and Paraskevas Hiropoulis, 17, was jailed for life for murdering the corporal after he had given them a drink of water in a hut near Nicosia airport.

The judge who originally sentenced, Justice Bernard Shaw, later narrowly escaped assassination recently.

Meanwhile, Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, chairman of the "Cyprus is Turkish" party, called today for martial law in Cyprus and the trial of "terrorists" by martial law.

Kuchuk, leader of the Island's Turkish minority, also predicted that Turkey would occupy Cyprus if the British evacuated.

AIR COMMODORE RETIRES

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Commodore John Mael Murray, 55, will retire from the RCAF this month. He will be succeeded as chief of finance by Group Capt. Richard W. Desbarats, 50, who joined the RCAF in 1939, served at overseas headquarters and attended RCAF Staff College and National Defence College at Kingston.

Fall Election Likely Says Hees

OSHAWA (CP)—George Hees, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, said Saturday that opinion in Ottawa is swinging toward the belief that a federal election will be called this fall.

Speaking to a party picnic at nearby Brooklyn he said: "Sources close to the government indicate they now prefer an election this fall after Mr. St. Laurent has had a full two-month rest at his summer home in Quebec."

WEDDINGS

KENNY—WHALEN

A pretty July wedding was solemnized on Saturday, July 14, at St. Vincent de Paul church, Desoronto, when Dyson Ann Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Whalen, became the bride of John Ernest Kenny, son of Mrs. Mary Kenny of Enterprise, and the late James Kenny. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. T. Martin, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass. The Rev. F. C. Whalen of Enterprise, cousin of the bride, was present in the sanctuary. Michael Whalen and Harold Whalen, brothers of the bride, were acolytes.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor length gown of white nylon net over satin with imported French lace bodice trimmed with seed pearls and matching lace bolero jacket having slip-pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a shower cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Ted McGuinness of Lonsdale, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of lime green net over satin with bracketed bodice and bolero. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of Shasta daisies.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Don Kenny, and the ushers were, Mr. Terrance Whalen, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bernard Kenny, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Legion Hall, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a rose shantung dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing mauve crepe with white accessories and corsage of pink roses and white mums.

The bride's going away ensemble was a cream summer flannel suit with yellow accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for St. Anne de Beaupre. Upon their return they will reside at Enterprise.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was feted by a miscellaneous shower by her fellow employees of the Canada Tyl plant.

McCOY — ROBLIN

Lovely baskets of pink snapdragons, yellow and white mums, interspersed with ferns, adorned the chancel rail in Redeemerville United Church on Wednesday, July 18, at 3:00 p.m., for a pretty summer wedding, when the Reverend T. F. Townsend, former pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. W. E. G. Dowey, pastor, united in marriage Marjorie Ordella Roblin, of Redneersville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ross Roblin, to Allan James McCoy, of Madoc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCoy. The guest pews were designated by white satin bows centred with clusters of pink and mauve sweet peas.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Morley Davidson, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," before the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in an imported bridal gown of rosepoint lace and nylon illusion. The portrait neckline was etched with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and the voluminous skirt was enhanced by its matching crinoline. She wore a matching headdress embroidered with seed pearls, and finger-tip veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertine red roses.

Mrs. Leon Ward, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in chapel-length mid-summer green crystalette featuring a shirred bodice and shepherdess neckline. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white Baby Mums and pink Sweetheart roses, with matching headdress.

Mrs. Gordon Roblin, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Dorothea Moore, were bridesmaids, gowned alike in daffodil yellow, similar to that of the matron of honor. They carried Colonial bouquets of pale mauve 'mums and yellow roses, and wore matching headdresses.

Mr. John Wagner, of Madoc, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Keith McCoy, of Madoc, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Gordon Roblin, of Redneersville, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Tobe's Country Gardens, where a turkey dinner was catered to by the Centre W.A. The bride's table was lovely with its baskets of pink snapdragons, white and yellow 'mums, and a low, oval arrangement of yellow and white 'mums. The bride's mother received, attired in navy blue lace ensemble with navy blue earwheel hat, and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore plum colored crepe with pearl and rhinestone trim on bodice, with matching hat and gloves, and corsage of cream roses.

For the wedding trip to Atlantic City, the bride chose a travelling ensemble of pink and beige accents, consume of pinkwood and beige accented on taffeta with beige accessories, and corsage of Talisman roses. Upon their return the young couple will reside in Madoc.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a necklace of pearls, to his groomsmen, and ushers, tie pins and cuff links. The bride's gifts to her attendants, compacts.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Madoc, Toronto, Belleville, and Port Hope.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. V. Kyle, Charlotte St., Belleville, with a miscellaneous shower, and at a cup and saucer shower at the home of Mrs. Harry Featherstone, Moira Street, Belleville. The bride's matron of honor, bridesmaids and friends were co-hostesses at both showers.

3 Little Girls Had Thrill Of Lifetime

By ERWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SQUAMISH, B.C. (CP)—Three little girls had the thrill of a lifetime as they helped grand-dad take over the controls of a diesel train Friday.

"They were all so excited they couldn't sleep," said Mrs. Lloyd Massey, wife of the Governor-General's secretary-son, of her three daughters—Anne, 7, Zova, 6, and Susan, 4.

The three joined their grandfather, Governor-General Vincent Massey, while he took over the controls of a Pacific Great Eastern Railway train.

They got into the cab at Parkhurst and had a 15-minute ride up front while Mr. Massey guided the multiple unit diesel's electric locomotive around a twisting track past Mountain Lake to Alta Lake station.

"I blew the whistle three times" said Janet.

"My signal was two longs and two shorts," said Zova.

The Governor-General's special car arrived here before noon, ending another stage of his 9-day B.C. tour. He then embarked on the frigate Ponteleroy for the eight-hour trip to Victoria.

He will fly to Ottawa Tuesday.

Women's Activities

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Orval Ghent was hostess to the ladies of White's Woman's Association on Thursday for a picnic dinner at noon with 11 members, two visitors and 21 children present.

The president, Mrs. Albert Hockaday, presided.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. W. Jeffery who used for her theme "To the Holy", as the opening hymn. Mrs. Walter Jones read acts 8: 1-13. Mrs. Jeffery read the story of the lesson under the heading, "Phus and Minus". All joined in singing "Wonderful Words of Life". Two new members joined.

A letter to the provincial member of Parliament to protest the proposed sale of beer in grocery stores was written by each member. Any who wish may send a copy of this letter to Mr. Elmer Sandercock, Queen's Park, Toronto.

It was decided to serve at Belleville Fair on Thursday, August 16th, with the planning committee consisting of Mrs. A. Hockaday, Mrs. W. Yateman, Mrs. Arnold Ketchepaw, Mrs. Ross Stickle, Mrs. Ivan Sandercock, Mrs. L. Young, Mrs. W. Jeffery and Mrs. L. Hunt. A cheque was received from Swift Company for allsweet cartons sent in

It was decided that the sale of the usual jar of cookies be cancelled until January.

Cent-a-day donations were given to the treasurer by Mrs. Hockaday, Mrs. Jeffery and Mrs. Ghent. Cookies donated by Mrs. Hockaday were bought by Mrs. Ghent.

Mrs. Young, in charge of the program, gave the origin of the calendar, and then each were to find as many as possible words from "Calendar" and Wednesday. Mrs. Glyndon received a Scripture calendar for forming the most words.

Scrambled names of members was won by Mrs. Walter Jones, who was able to name all ten members. She received a cup and saucer.

While the meeting was in progress the children enjoyed themselves in the shallow water of the Bay of Quinte.

Mrs. Stickle moved a vote of thanks to Mrs Ghent for her kind hospitality. Everyone enjoyed the picnic meal and the day was ideal for such a meeting.

Paris Hats For Winter Heavy, High

PARIS (AP)—Top heavy, high crowned hats with strong eastern influence are what Paris predicts for wear this winter.

The new, big-headed look of last season will be continued, but with important differences. Turban-derived shapes, toques and cloches will sit squarely on the head, unslouchy well forward. Banded with fur or feathers they will cover the hair and frame the face with becoming softness.

These are the earliest trends hinted at by Paris milliners.

At least three of Paris' top millinery men — Alboux, Svend and Crecelius — go in for the new vogue of fur or feather edging or fringes almost imitating hair around the face. Others are sure to follow suit.

SEMI-ENGRAVED CARDS: THEIR FORM AND USES

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

What is meant by "semi-engraved cards"? You spoke of these in your column the other day, and I am not sure what these are. But they sound interesting and useful, and I'd like to know more about them.—Contented Reader

Semi-engraved cards are invitation cards that have a few engraved words on them—the framework of the invitation, so to speak, and the rest of the invitation is to be filled in, handwritten. These can be bought by the box and are extremely useful for many occasions. The card is usually the size of the invitation card to a wedding reception, of heavy stock, white or very light ivory or cream, and sometimes is plate-marked.

These are the words usually engraved:

request the pleasure of .....company
at.....
on.....
at.....o'clock

You can buy the cards with either "request" or "request." The hostess' name or the names of the host and hostess are written on the first line; the name of the guest or guests on the third line, before "company". After the first "at" is written the type of entertainment, Buffet Dinner or other buffet-service meal . . . Shower . . . Housewarming . . . Wedding Anniversary celebration . . . Birthday Party, and so forth.

After the "on" the day, month, date . . . Saturday, August 4th (or "the Fourth of August". The address is generally written in the lower right corner. And generally R.s.v.p. is written in pencil in the left corner.

If the occasion is in honor of a special guest or guests, at the top of the card is written:

In honour of
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas

COVERING BIBLE WITH WHITE SATIN

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I am to be married the last week in September and shall wear a white satin dress and a bridal veil. I have a Bible which my fiance gave me (at my request) when we became engaged, and I very much want to carry it, with one white orchid on it, at our wedding. However, it is blue leather and of course this would not be suitable. Have you any suggestion about this?—E.L.

Yes, do carry this cherished Bible. Your florist will cover it, for this occasion, with white satin, and then will attach the orchid to it. Usually the orchid is tied to the Bible, with narrow white ribbon, which is more secure than pinning the orchid to the satin. If he isn't able to do this, anyone handy with a needle can do it."

BEAUTY

HAIR-DOS AND MAKE-UP FOR THE ROUND-FACED GIRL

Your face is what you make it. Think that isn't true? That you can't change the contours bestowed by Old Mother Nature? Are you quite sure that if your face is round you can't appear to be oval to over compete with the classic oval shape, you're just stuck with it and there's no use trying? Well, guess again, with a little know-how, you can, if not exactly change the shape of your face, give the illusion of having changed it.

Today let's consider the round face. If yours is in this category you may bemoan the fact that, just because of it, you look heavier than you are. You're quite sure that if only your face were slimmer, you'd look slimmer all over. To a certain extent that's true. But have you thought of the advantages of having a round face? There are some, you know, and one of the greatest is the fact that you'll never have to worry about looking drawn or haggard. And, believe us, that's quite an asset. Okay, but you still want your face to look slimmer. Well, here's how you do it:

Take your hair-do first. Never wear your hair in any style that bushes it out from the sides. Your coiffure must have upward lines, must be away from the face and should be flat at the sides. Never bangs. Don't wear them straight across the forehead, but let them fall softly over one side. Part your hair "company", After the first "at" is written the type of entertainment, Buffet Dinner or other buffet-service meal . . . Shower . . . Housewarming . . . Wedding Anniversary celebration . . . Birthday Party, and so forth.

After the "on" the day, month, date . . . Saturday, August 4th (or "the Fourth of August". The address is generally written in the lower right corner. And generally R.s.v.p. is written in pencil in the left corner.

If the occasion is in honor of a special guest or guests, at the top of the card is written:

SUMMER TREASURE

By VERA WINSTON

Useful just now is the cool looking summer dress that can face forth unadorned or nicely accessorized for every wear. Here is such a treasure in black silk shantung, the fabric for this good go-everywhere number. The cuffed boat neckline has double string ties at either side and if a dash of color is desirable, a colored cummerbund may be slipped through under the panels of the overskirt.

emphasize the width of your face. Don't wear a center-part, either. If your face is full, steer clear of turtle necks and high, round collars. V-necklines are your best bet since they give both face and neck an elongated line. Don't wear tiny hats that just sit on top of your head. Hats with a brim are better, and do wear them slanted to one side. Diagonal effects in both hair-dos and hats overcome any roundness to an unbelievable extent.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WAIT AWHILE BEFORE YOU MARRY AGAIN

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 18 years old and a widow. My husband was killed over a year ago.

Now I've met another man who has asked me to marry him, but although I do love him very much, I think it's too soon after my first husband's death.

Will you please give me some advice? I'm all mixed up.—T.A. Dear T.A.:

It's no wonder you're all mixed up. To be constricted by the tragedy of widowhood is hard enough at any age, but to face the problem of adjustment required in such a situation, while still in one's teens, is a cruel experience indeed.

No doubt you, like many widows in the early period of their bereavement, feel that the only remedy for your loneliness would be to marry again quickly. Actually however, this is a serious thing to do.

For in her desperate eagerness to fill the gap in her life, it is all too easy for a woman to let herself be persuaded into a marriage that may turn out to have been a mistake. She doesn't stop to consider carefully whether this possible second husband is the right one for her. Foremost in her mind is her urgent need of the companionship which she has lost, and she is all too apt to grasp at the first opportunity that comes along to fill that need.

For these reasons, I think I'd advise you to wait a little longer before you marry this, or any other man, if you and your first husband were truly in love and happy together, it would scarcely be possible for you to love another man "very much" quite so soon.

So instead of marrying right now, why not tell this man that, while you're definitely attracted to him, you feel you're still too emotionally upset to make a decision at this time. Say that if he is willing to wait awhile, until you've had a chance to adjust yourself and see your own situation in proper perspective, it might be that, in time, you would be ready to marry again. But tell him honestly that you're not sure, at present, whether or not that you don't feel you can trust yourself to know what you really want, and that you don't want to run the risk of doing something impulsively that might prove an unsuccessful venture for either of you.

If this is the right kind of man, he will be able to see the wisdom of your reasoning. Indeed, he will think all the more of you for it, because it will show that, despite the fact that you're still overwrought by your husband's death, you're able to keep your head and use good judgment.

Then, my advice would be for you to busy yourself and keep your mind on doing it the very best you can. If you concentrate on using your mind for awhile, instead of over-working your emotions, you'll give those emotions a chance to settle down again into a normal state. This, in turn, will make it possible for you to see everything more clearly, and gradually to reach the point where you can trust yourself to make a decision

Gary Goes East

By Mary Moore

The most heart-warming event on our trip East concerns the porter.

At breakfast time Gary was asleep so the four of us had a (less) serious consultation: could we trust the porter to look in on him in our drawing-room every five minutes? and report to us in the diner three cars ahead if he seemed ill? The "eyes" had it so we approached our porter with this all-important assignment. Did he think he could keep a watchful eye on our little ten-week-old darling? "Wal, mam, I got five of m'own, so Ah guess Ah can do it m'right." So, with one last peek at Gary and quite a few backward glances as we wended our way through the train aisles, we went to the dining-car for breakfast. All went well. No "S.O.S.'s" issued from Drawing Room A, Car 810. It was a little bit deflating to think that one porter could replace, one mother, one grandmother, and two great aunts without any warning. However we tried to be philosophical about it. Gary gulped her last drop of orange juice, but believe me after Marilyn gulped her last drop of coffee the sprint she took through those cars would have won an Olympic record on any C.P.R. track!

What did she find? That kindly dark face peering down at our petal-pink Gary cradled in his arms, and softly humming "Mammy's Little Coal Black Rose."

The lake trout we took on at Fort William and which I ordered for breakfast was wonderful. It was ever so fresh and beautifully grilled and I felt ever so British eating it with lemon and a sparsely buttered triangle of toast. What's more I had two.

We needed an egg yolk for Gary at dinner time the last evening on the train. No less than four members of the train staff saw to it that what we ordered was delivered; a 5-minute egg. You see, this 5-minute egg produces a yolk that is just the right texture for a 10-weeks-old baby to eat. The chef cooked it 5 minutes; the head waiter wrapped it in a napkin; our waiter delivered it in a bowl, napkin and all, on a dolliod plate complete with spoon and knife to our own porter. He delivered it to me unwrapped its swaddling cloth, cracked it and scooped the yolk into a bowl, handed it to Mary Anne. She mashed it and fed it to Gary who sucked and slurped and chewed and finally swallowed it. Next day he weighed 7 more ounces.

He loves trains. Probably will be an engineer.

hicago Couple ee Man Beat oman to Death

CHICAGO (AP) — A scientist d his wife, whose diversion is ming Lake Michigan with hi- mates, told police they watched rrified from their 15th floor artment as a brawny, bare- sted man beat a woman sun- ther to death Sunday.

The woman's body was found inutes after Arthur Kirk Besley, and his wife, Adrian, 47, shed out of their apartment lding and directed a motor- cle policeman to the scene.

The victim was not identified mediately. Police said she was out 35 years old.

ROBBERY AROUSED

Besley told this story of the ying:

"I was watching the sail boats the lake through my opera sses about 4 p.m. and I no- ed a woman sitting alone in an en generally unfrequented by bathers.

"My curiosity was aroused be- se of this and I watched her adily for a few moments. Then noticed a man, barechested and arrying a white shirt over his m. He apparently was sneaking on her through a dense under- owth in the area.

"I called my wife and she ked. We both decided it must a game of some sort.

AGGED INTO BUSHES

"Even when the guy threw his irt over her head and dragged r off a rock into a clump of shes, I wasn't astonished. I still lieved this couple was playing ame of hide and seek.

"But when the man started hit- g her, driving his arms into her ain and again, we knew it sn't play and we rushed out of e apartment to locate a police- an."

Sante Fe Train Is Derailed

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP)—The Santa Fe's San Francisco Chief struck an iron bar and careened off the tracks at the edge of Carrollton Sunday night, injuring at least 19 of the 300 passengers.

Two of the four diesel locomotive units overturned. All 13 cars were derailed, some bumping to a stop crosswise of the torn up tracks.

An oil fire in one of the locomotives was put out quickly by Carrollton firemen and townspeople who swarmed to the scene to help the passengers.

Nineteen injured were admitted to three Carrollton hospitals, where attendants said one was in critical condition. Many more were given first aid for lesser injuries.

David Selznick Visits Stratford

STRATFORD (CP) — Hollywood producer David O. Selznick and his actress wife Jennifer Jones slipped into town Saturday for a look at the Shakespearean festival and a chat with its star Christopher Plummer.

Mr. Selznick talked with the Montreal actor for an hour after a matinee production of Henry V and he said:

"I think he (Plummer) has a great future on the live stage. He is also definite movie material."

He declined to say, however, whether contracts were discussed.

Seek to Boost Trade With Latin America

OTTAWA (CP) — A conference of Canadian trade commissioners and business men has suggested Canada consider means of increasing on-the-cuff sales to boost lagging exports to Latin America, it was learned here.

The three-day meeting, first of its kind in 11 years, concluded also with a suggestion that means be found of stimulating an exchange of official and business visits between Canada and Latin countries to help two-way trade.

The extension of credit deals, officials said, was proposed as a means of offsetting increasing competition from Europe and the United States in the Latin area.

The various suggestions were taken under advisement by the trade department with a view to deciding later what steps may be recommended to the cabinet and Canadian industry.

The 11 trade commissioners from 10 Latin countries who attended along with a group of Canadian business men were generally optimistic about the long-range prospects down south but there was some concern over immediate problems, particularly in Brazil.

While Canada's over-all world exports increased last year, shipments to Latin America area declined, dropping to $180,800,000 from $186,700,000 in 1954. Some customers increased purchases of Canadian goods but Brazil, one of the big buyers, dropped imports to $11,500,000, just about one-quarter of what she purchased in 1954.

Tourist Trade Down

WINDSOR (CP) — The tourist industry at the border here is suffering from oilills, with Canadian customs figures showing that for the first six months of 1956, 18,100 fewer tourists crossed into Canada than in the corresponding period of 1955.

A total of 121,137 tourists were listed in June this year, compared with 141,236 a year ago. July traffic is running below that of previous years.

The drop was attributed to unusually cool weather.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

TORONTO (CP)—Lawyer Lewis Saxton, 48, was committed for trial Friday on two charges of theft involving $6,120 of clients' money. He is alleged to have stolen $1,000 from Edith Davey of Owen Sound in July 1954, and $5,120 from Mr. and Mrs. Basil Roman of Toronto.

Build New Home In One Day for Victims of Fire

HALIFAX (CP)—James Smith has a new home and a new outlook on neighborliness, thanks to the weekend efforts of 30 construction workers.

The workers raised the new home at nearby East, Unlacks Saltcove. They brought the machinery and materials and in 12 hours a four-room bungalow stood almost ready for Smith, his wife and four children.

Smith, a laborer in his 40s, had a generally grim outlook on life four months ago after a fire broke out in his home. He rescued his wife and four of their children but two burned to death.

Co-workers at a Halifax real estate building and contracting firm got together and planned the new home.

An unidentified benefactor donated a site and in June, Smith's friends poured the foundation.

Saturday, the home-raising began. By twilight, it was about ready for occupancy. Wiring and plumbing will be completed this week.

Portuguese Ship Sunk on Banks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Disaster struck a Portuguese fishing boat on Newfoundland's Grand Banks Saturday when an explosion tore the stern off the Novoa Marez, set her afire and sent her to the bottom.

Her 43-man crew escaped injury. Forty-four were in dories fishing within a two-mile radius of the ship and Capt. Joao Matias had his officers assembled in his cabin.

Two other Portuguese boats raced to the scene in time to pick up the captain and his officers as they fled the burning ship.

Most of the crew made it back to their vessel in time to recover personal belongings.

The explosion was apparently caused by a short circuit in the engine room.

HOGS TO SOUTH AMERICA

Eisenhower Urges Joint Action on Human Problems

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

PANAMA (AP) — President Eisenhower participated in final talks with fellow American presidents today in the climax of the Pan-American conference at which he urged hemisphere unity in advancing human welfare.

Eisenhower stretched his good-will mission through an extra day to be host at the U.S. embassy to 19 other American presidents or presidents-elect in a series of hour talks.

Still convalescing from his June 9 intestinal operation, Eisenhower has appeared tired at times, but in the main he seemed to relish the proceedings.

The parley, which commemorates the first pan-American conference called by Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator 126 years ago, ended Sunday.

Eisenhower in his address made one major point—the Americas already have put together a mechanism for meeting aggression or Communist intervention in their affairs. "Let us join to find ways which will enable our peoples to combat the ravages of disease, poverty and ignorance," he said.

He proposed forming, in effect, a commission of human problems with a representative of each of the 21 American republics to offer "practical suggestions in the economic, financial, social and technical fields" and harness "the beneficial use of nuclear forces throughout the hemisphere, both in industry and in combatting disease."

He said he had decided to name his brother Milton as U.S. representative on the proposed commission.

High spot of the ceremony was the signing of the declaration of Panama by Eisenhower and 18 other chiefs of state. It reiterated the western hemisphere's determination to stand fast against alien totalitarian forces and to safeguard the economic and political freedom of the Americas. It pledged co-operative effort to live living standards throughout the continent.

TELLS OF PLOT TO KILL HITLER

Twelve years after an abortive attempt to kill Adolf Hitler and free Germany from Nazism, Friedrich Georgi (top), one of the plotters and now a West German book publisher, reveals how a bomb wounded the Fuehrer. Placed beneath Hitler's seat at army headquarters near Rastenburg, the briefcase was moved and the target escaped with arm and leg wounds. Below, is the special execution chamber set up at the Ploetzensee prison for the thousands killed or tortured when taken as suspects. A steel bar is shown equipped with meat hooks from which victims were hanged. A cement block marks spot where guillotine stood. —Central Press Canadian.

Egyptian Envoy Killed by Bomb

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Col. Salah Mustafa, Egyptian military attache, died Saturday of injuries suffered when a mailed bomb exploded at the Egyptian Embassy here a week ago.

Mustafa had accused Israeli agents of sending the bomb, which exploded as he opened the package—sent from Jerusalem—at the embassy door.

Israeli officials denied the charge. They expressed belief Arab refugees protesting their use as sabotage agents against Israel sent the package.

JOHN JAREMY

The craze to conquer the lake ended in one drowning. Cliff Snowdon, 29, of Orillia was drowned last September after swimming less than four hours when his escort boat lost him in the darkness.

BONFIRES LIGHTED

Early reports of Jaremy's progress indicated he was heading for Cherry Beach, east of the breakwater where he eventually landed, and thousands gathered there and lighted bonfires in hopes of encouraging the barrel-chested swimmer. The watchers huddled around portable radios on the beach, eagerly following his progress.

Traffic became jammed and police detoured cars away from the area.

Among those on the shore was Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto.

"The mayor of all the people simply couldn't stay home with one of our boys out in the lake," he told reporters. "This is one of the feats that makes Canada the great nation she is."

Jaremy had said he hoped to make his closing efforts under a full moon and the weatherman cooperated. The lake was mostly calm and the sky clear except for a few wisps of cloud.

RAIN AT FINISH

A rain began when he was about 30 feet from the breakwater and became a cloudburst moments after he landed.

Jaremy was too exhausted to say anything as he was put into the boat and seemed to have no control over his limbs. Fellow marathoners at the breakwater said he must have been swimming the last few miles almost unconsciously.

Out in Victoria where Marilyn Ball is practising for an attempt on the strait of Juan de Fuca, the 18-year-old girl went to bed without knowing Jaremy had duplicated her feat. She was aware he had started out, however, and said before retiring: "I've known him for years and he is a fighter. I'm delighted he is doing so well."

Braves Three Up In National Loop; Indians Whittle At Yankee Lead

Sport Slices

Rare, Medium, Well-Done

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

THE BIG SHOW

The twenty-dollar-a-seat clientele at Canada's first sports spectacular, the Moore-Parker fight in Toronto Wednesday night, will at least get their money's worth.

If not in the drama of ficticuffs being enacted in the ring, then in the color, pageantry, pomp and circumstance and whatnot that offers a threat to the nation's great fall sports festival, the Grey Cup final.

Regardless of the outcome, the fight, heavily-touted as being for the heavyweight championship of the world, will go down in the national sports archives as the most colorful boxing spectacle ever staged in this country.

It will have a decided international flavor stemming from the principals and promoters not to mention celebrities and the spider-web network of press, radio and motion pictures.

There will be a touch of Ole Lunzen's gentility in the mink and white shirtfronts of the first few rows. There will be an American atmosphere to the flags, cockyguards and colorful parade of uniformed bands. There will be professional cavaliers in the ring and scarlet-coated Mounties on police duty. There will be marchlights sweeping the scene and prettily-garbed ushorettes.

The producers haven't forgotten a thing. They have even provided for breaking for the commercials boys in brown rayon and the hat-clutched wretches will do their typewriter tickling in front of an expanse of white shirtfront. Wonder of there are any monkey suits available for we dungaree dabbled at the sticks.

Speaking of the press, Britain will send her topflight fight columnists to cover the battle. America's leading dailies and magazines will have their boxing experts at the scene although the majority of Uncle Sam's analysts believe Parker will be a cinch for Moore.

Sports and other celebrities will be a dime a dozen. The who's-who of fistiana headed by Rocky Marciano and Joe Louis will be on hand.

Rocky will not only be on hand as a spectator but will write his opinion of the fight for a Toronto evening newspaper. Other prominent sportswriters will do written services of Dr. Joyce Brothers, the gal who won $64,000 with her expertising on the television program.

This newspaper will carry the fight impressions of Jack Jarvis recognized as the most outstanding boxing authority between Toronto and Montreal. Jack is an ex-fighter, promoter and trainer, who for the past quarter century has been director of boxing at Queen's University where he holds the record for productions of champions in the Intercollegiate boxing series. Readers will get an expert, accurate, description of the fight as seen at ringside.

Meanwhile reams of publicity continue to flow to the hinterlands from the publicists of the rival camps. The Parker entourage claims victory on the strength of James J's youth, advantage in weight, strong punching ability and a will to win. The Moore tub-thumpers say Archie will get the nod — through experience, gamesmanship and twenty years of experience with the topnotchers of the game. Both fighters are said to be in the peak of condition.

With all the pre-fight ballyhoo and the circus-like atmosphere of the setting, it seems rather a shame that somebody has to win. Or lose. So it is not beyond the realm of possibility that the fight could end in a draw. But don't bet your income tax rebate on it.

Jack Solomons, Britain's "Mr. Boxing" one of the chief promoters, who staged the Moore-Pompey, and the Randy-Turpy-Ray Robinson scraps, thinks Parker, and take Moore because "he is a younger man and a much improved fighter."

Mr. Solomons who has publicity stated that there' isn't much money in promoting fights over 'ome because of taxes, is probably doing a lot of wishful thinking. A Parker victory would mean some lucrative brawls in Britain for him.

Let's hope the Union Jack flies high over "Old Glory" when the victory flags are raised Wednesday night. But this department's feeling is "Ma heart is with the Canadian, but me money's on the Yank." And if our percentages of limb-crawling successes maintains it's level, Parker gets the nod.

WRESTLING RECORD

Montreal Canadiens have their quota of thousands of loyal fans. The Royals baseball squad lays claim to a goodly number of the diamond faithful, but,—believe it or not—wrestling is setting all-time attendance records in the Quebec metropolis. In fact an all-Canadian record was set last Wednesday when Edmond Carpentier (Remember?) the French mail idol who battled to a draw with Argentine Rocco drew 12,217 fans to the baseball stadium.

The mark is expected to be exceeded this week when Killer Kowalski meets Don Leo Jonathan and splitting the headline bouts will be Carpentier and the Japanese star Mr. Hito.

Grab Twin Bill From Phils As Dodgers Ditto Cardinals; Tribe Defeats Kansas 3 In 4

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Milwaukee nearly four years to learn the formula that has won so many pennants for Brooklyn Dodgers. Now that the Braves finally appear to have solved it they're going to be tougher than ever to dislodge from their lofty first-place perch.

What is this pennant formula? It's the ability to pound the daylights out of the opposition on home ground.

The Braves Sunday climaxed their most successful home stand since they moved to Milwaukee by completing a clean sweep from Philadelphia 8-7 and 16-5. Those twin victories boosted the National League lead to three games over Cincinnati but gave them a record of 13 triumphs in a 20-game home stand for a .650 mark. Milwaukee.

ONLY FAIR BEFORE

Prior to this home stand the Braves have had fair success at Milwaukee's county stadium but not enough to scare anybody. In fact, they had gone weeks and lost 12 at home before opening their last-extended stay July 4.

When the Dodgers won the flag in 1953, they played .779 ball at home. In last year's pennant-winning year, Brooklyn played .727 ball at Ebbets Field. Milwaukee has still has 31 more games at home this season.

The Dodgers took two from St. Louis 5-3 and 4-3 but remained six games behind Milwaukee although they moved to within three lengths of the Redlegs who were held to a split by Pittsburgh. The Redlegs pounded three home runs to defeat the Bucs 8-5 in the nightcap after Pittsburgh had won the opener 4-3.

Chicago's Cubs climbed into sixth place, past the Phillies by downing the New York Giants twice 4-1 and 2-1.

EXPLOSIVE SHOW

The Braves treated a home crowd of 39,670 to their most explosive batting show of the season, amassing 16 hits, 15 of them for extra bases. After struggling to gain a 6-5 first game victory over Robin Roberts, they ran up their highest scoring total in the night cap, including an eight-run fifth inning.

Led by Joe Adcock, Eddie Mathews and Bobby Thomson, who had two homers apiece, the Braves clubbed seven four-base blows off Philly pitching. Adcock, who now has 21 homers, has hit 11 in his last 15 games. Granny Hamner, Philadelphia's veteran shortstop, tried his hand at pitching in the finale and fanned two of the three men he faced.

Home runs also decided the Pirates-Redleg twin bill. Bill Virdon, Lee Walls and Dale Long furnished the big blows for the Pirates in the opener although it was a bases-loaded single by Jack Shepard in the ninth that snapped a 6-6 tie. Gus Bell and Bob Thurman belted two-run homers for the Reds in the nightcap to help Joe Nuxhall gain his seventh success. Hershell Freeman was also a four-bagger, his second of the year.

EFFECTIVE PITCHING

The Dodgers got effective pitching from Carl Erskine and Sandy Koufax in their victories in St. Louis. Erskine hurled a seven-hitter in the opener for his sixth straight success. Catcher Rube Walker wielded the big bat, driving in three runs with a home run and double against loser Bob Blaylock, making his first start. Successive two-out singles in the ninth by Duke Snider, Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges produced what proved to be the winning run in the nightcap.

The Cubs, behind the effective pitching of Moe Drabowsky, Don Kaiser, Sam Jones and Turk Lown sent the Giants home with a record of one victory in 12 games on the latest road swing.

Kaiser checked the Giants with four hits in the opener for his third victory as Eddie Miksis and Solly Drake drove in two runs apiece against Johnny Antonelli. Drake and Jones combined to limit the Giants to five hits in the night cap. Mayo was benched for the first time this season, for non-hitting but returned late in the game for defensive purposes.

On Saturday's play, Brooks Lawrence, Cincinnati's pitching whiz, finally lost a game after 13 straight victories when Roberto Clemente hit a three-run homer in the ninth for a 4-3 Pittsburgh triumph.

Del Ennis smashed a three-run homer in the 15th to give Philadelphia an 8-5 decision over Milwaukee.

Hank Sauer, Stan Musial and Hal Smith homered in a five-run eighth inning for St. Louis in a 13-6 slaughter of Brooklyn. Junior Gilliam, Dodger second baseman, came up with 12 assists, tying a major league record.

New York Giants at Chicago was postponed because of rain.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon, two "old" men displaying the hustle of youth, are providing the Boston Red Sox with a big one-two punch in the American League pennant fight.

Williams, who will be 38 next month is hitting a hefty .370 although hobbled by a badly bruised instep for several weeks early in the season.

Vernon, the league's all time first baseman who turned 38 last April, boasts a .326 average and leads the Red Sox with 13 runs batted in while hitting in the cleanup spot behind Williams.

Tenacious Ted drove in four runs with a homer, a double and a single Saturday to lead Boston to a 9-3 triumph over Detroit.

MICKEY'S TURN SUNDAY

Quiet, easy-going Mickey took over the slugging department Sunday and sent five runs across the plate with a homer and a single as the Red Sox defeated the Tigers 5-4.

New Yorks' Yankees' first-place margin over Cleveland was trimmed to 6½ games when they divided a doubleheader with Kansas City Saturday as the Indians were defeating Baltimore 8-0 in a single game. After Kansas City had won the opener 3-2 the Yankees came back to win the second game 5-3.

In a single affair, Chicago White Sox subdued Washington 6-3.

In the night cap, Cleveland defeated Baltimore by identical 4-3 scores in each game. Hoosier Washington topped Chicago 6-5 on Eddie Yost's 10th inning homer. Kansas City at New York was postponed by rain.

BIG INNINGS FEATURE

Big innings highlighted the Athletics-Yankees twin bill. The A's scored four runs in the fourth inning Kucks in the third inning of the nightcap to sew it up. Vic Power got four of Athletics' 14 hits. One of the Yankees' seven blows off starter Alex Kellner and reliever Art Ditmar was Mickey Mantle's 30th homer. The Yankees tallied six times in the first inning of the second game and finished up with five runs in the eighth to give Rip Coleman his third victory.

Early Wynn spaced six Baltimore hits for his 11th victory as Cleveland pounded three pitchers for 17 hits including Vic Wertz' 22nd home run. It was Cleveland's 11th triumph in 13 meetings with the Orioles.

"Miss O'Keefe" Flashes To World Record For .266 Speedboats At Picton

Bill Hodgson Pilots Craft At Average Speed of 125.281; Former Record Broken Twice

PICTON—Roaring over a measured mile twice at an average speed of 125.281 miles per hour, Bill Hodgson, Toronto, drove "Miss O'Keefe" to a new .266 hydroplane speedboat world record here Sunday.

The former record of 121.703 m.p.h. was established three years ago by Bobby Sykes of California.

Fernand Lavigne, Montreal, driving "Escapade" also broke the former record flashing over the course six times for an average speed of 124.353 m.p.h.

Hodgson was clocked at 122.40 on his first run while bucking a head wind. He hit 128.114 on the return run with the wind in his favor.

Hodgson now plans to try for the Duke of Edinburgh trophy in England later this summer if his wife does not persuade him to retire and spend more time with her and their two children.

Perfect weather conditions favored the trials after a day of postponement due to rain and strong winds.

OTHER RECORDS

Two Canadian records for the measured mile were also established yesterday. Mr. Carter of Point Anne set a Canadian mark for the Canadian One Design with a mark of 48.147 m.p.h. No previous record for the mile had been established. This is also recognized as a world record since the class has been recognized by other Boating Federations.

Paul Brafield of Toronto, driving Little Imp II established a Canadian record for the 45 cubic inch class of 65.042 miles per hour. The world mark is 87.133 m.p.h.

In the mile trial it is required to cover the mile both directions and the speed is averaged. Miss O'Keefe had times of 132.440 and 118.214. Previous Canadian record for this class was 101.141 m.p.h.

Commodore Mr. Sparkes of the Canadian Boating, official referee, announced the new records.

Commodore Sparkes stated that the waters at Picton are the best in Canada for speedboat competitive to speed.

Escapade will seek a world mark for a competitive race which is being held on Civic holiday at Pleasant Point on Sept. 37 he will try and break Miss O'Keefe's mile record which is to be held at New Martinville, New Jersey.

Though driver was open, Miss O'Keefe rode very smoothly on the water which had a little chop, ideal for racing.

Accompanying M. Carter in "MoPop" was Spencer Revert of Belleville who acted as mechanic. Times averaged for the mile were 49.315 and 48.147.

One of the most pleased persons at Miss O'Keefe's win was Gerald Longtin, Montreal designer and builder of the hull. While Bobby Sykes was driver when the world mark was set three years ago, the craft, Gerry, is owned by Joe Guess of Covine Cove, California.

Also competing in the .266 class was Robert Schroeder of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who drove My Ambition over the mile at an average of 107.486 miles per hour.

Also running the mile in the C.O.D. class was Pete Burchell of Perth with Miss Footie whose average speed was 47.345 m.p.h., two miles an hour slower than Carter.

Joe Fossey of Highland Creek, Ont., with Miss Highland also made an attempt in the COD class, his average speed being 43.715 m.p.h.

In the 135 cubic inch class, Bud Schroeder of Niagara Falls drove I Ambition at 61.039 m.p.h. but this was off the Canadian record of 97.113 mph held by Ivan Hutchinson of Vancouver.

Gerard Patry of Montreal was present with a 266, My Own, but did not race. Lew Francey, Toronto, was unable to get a Class 48 entry ready to compete.

There were 35 outboards also competing for records with Don Thomas as referee.

TRENTON MAN PLACES

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) — R. R. Bogle of Lion Lake, N.Y., Sunday won the Dunlop Cup, the annual skeet shooting competition. Group Capt. J. G. Stephenson of Trenton was second.

Toronto's Blake May Start in All-Star Game

TORONTO (CP)—Deprived of his two best pitchers, manager Greg Mudgway was expected to name righthander Ed Blake of Toronto Maple Leafs or lefty Pat Scantlebury of Havana Sugar Kings as the starting hurler for the International League all-stars tonight against Milwaukee Braves of the National League in a charity game.

International League fans chose Toronto righthander Lynn Lovenguth or Fred Kipp, Montreal Royals southpaw, to start off the contest but both went 12 innings against each other Sunday in regular league play at Montreal and won't be ready.

Lovenguth won the 1 2-inning duel as Toronto took a 5-3 decision. Lovenguth took a 5-3 decision and is now 16 victories and six defeats. Kipp is 14-5.

Blake has won his last seven games and now has an 11-5 mark.

Probable starting lineups, except for pitchers:

Milwaukee — Danny O'Connell, 2b; Joe Adcock, 1b; Ed Mathews, 3b; Hank Aaron, rf; John Covington, lf; Bill Bruton, cf; Joe Adcock, 1b; Del Rice or Del Crandall, c.

All-stars—Cal Abrams, Miami, cf; Jerry Lumpe, Richmond, ss; Bobby Malkmus, Jacksonville, 2b; Bob Newman, Miami, lf; Bob Wilson, Montreal, rf; Clyde Parris, Montreal, 3b; Ed Bouchee, 1b; Bill Carl Sawatski, Toronto, c.

Proceeds of the game will go to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Swims Lake Erie Handcuffed, Wades Ashore, Asks for Food

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont. (CP)—Incontestably the first man in history to swim across Lake Erie with rubber fins on his feet and handcuffs on his wrists, 30-year-old Wesley R. Struble Jr., jauntily ate salmon sandwiches and bolstered pop a dozen hamburgers.

Some 5,000 spectators at this resort town cheered as the father of four from Newark, N.Y., kicking out lustily with his reinforced feet, touched the ladder at the Crystal Beach pier at 7:45 p.m. Saturday to complete an 18-mile swim from Angola, N.Y., near Buffalo, in nine hours and 20 minutes.

Greta Patterson of Batavia, N.Y., wearing neither fins nor cuffs, fact nearly ruined Struble in a form-fitting coat of grease—covered the same course about last year in 13 hours.

It was Struble's first successful lake crossing, with or without encumbrances, although he has kicked his way 16½ miles from Sea Breeze to Ontario Beach Park, near Rochester, N.Y., wearing a streamlined, wetsuit-type jacket. Unencumbered, he has covered 38 miles from Albion to Rochester in the New York state barge canal.

But he failed twice last year in efforts to cross Lake Ontario. Swimming conventionally, he lasted 12 hours in an attempt to cross from Rochester to Picton, Ont. Three weeks later, he got within two miles of Toronto when he was pulled out unconscious after 19 hours in the water.

But Struble was feeling fit enough when he finished his crossing Saturday night, grouting it to the satisfaction of news photographers when he chinned himself on the car of a shower shortly after emerging from the lake.

After a couple of hours' sleep, he collected a cheque for an undisclosed amount from Crystal Beach amusement park officials.

His next ambition, he told reporters, is a return trip across the English Channel.

Al Balding Defeats Leonard To Retain Pro Golf Crown

By JOHN VOJTECH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Between puffs on a large cigar, Al Balding posted impressive 72-hole scores Saturday to retain his Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship at the end of 36 holes at the Toronto Downview club.

Balding's score was six under par and two strokes better than Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., at 138 total. Both Balding, from Toronto Scarlett Woods, and Leonard of Lachute, Que., recently returned from playing in the British Open.

The tournament was an abbreviated affair, however, as rain washed out Friday's first round.

15TH KEY HOLE

Balding, who enjoys a good cigar on the course as much as he does winning tournaments, and Leonard, a five-time winner of the event, were tied at the end of the first round Saturday. They remained that way until the 15th hole of the second.

On that hole, a par-three, 225 yards—Balding was down in two while Leonard was down in three. That was the two-stroke margin Al needed to win.

Balding received $750 in prize-money and the Seagram shield. Leonard won $600 for his second-place finish.

WASHES OUT BEST SCORE

The rain which wiped out Friday's scores was the same as any the tournament's lowest score—a 66-counter by Bill Mashinter of Vancouver. He soared to 71 and 70 in Saturday's rounds.

Miffed at both the turn of events, he said: "It's just the luck I've been having on this tournament all. I do well on one hole and bad on another. I ave it all I had and the score was washed out."

He picked up $275 for his effort while Mashinter received $225. Henry Martell of Edmonton, is fourth place.

Tied for third were Toronto's Murray Tucker and Montreal's Jack Kay, each with 140. They each received $450.

Softball Body Plans Playoffs

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association will here during the weekend and completed arrangements for championships in 18 series ranging from Senior A to Peewee and including an intermediate A men's section.

Senior A and B playoffs will start the first week of September. All other series must be ready for playoffs by Aug. 15.

Referees have been granted players J. Sarash from Strathroy to Senior A and Bill White from Kingston to Sault Ste. Marie.

CLAIM WORLD RECORD

LONDON (AP)—Russia's Maria Ilkira ran 220 yards at Kiev Sunday in 23.6 seconds to establish a world record for women, Moscow radio reported today. The former mark is 24 seconds flat set by Marjorie Jackson of Australia at Vancouver in 1954.

Greenberg, Cronin Take Places in Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin officially took their places as members of baseball's hall of fame today in this picturesque village where Abner Doubleday is said to have invented baseball 117 years ago.

After Greenberg and Cronin accepted plaques from commissioner Ford Frick in ceremonies in front of the museum, the baseball crowd turned to nearby Doubleday Field for the 13th annual exhibition series.

Each league sends one team to Cooperstown each year to play and it was the turn of Detroit Tigers and New York Giants in 1956. Although both teams have been wallowing in the second division, the packed-mixed ball park had been sold out to its 8,500 capacity for two months.

Frank (Home Run) Baker, Ray Schalk, Ed Roush and Waite Hoyt were among the hall of famers from other years scheduled to help induct the two new stars. The ceremonies marked the high spot of the careers of both Greenberg, general manager of Cleveland, and Cronin general manager of Boston Red Sox.

Greenberg, 45, grew up in New York but played most of his time for McGraw of the Giants before he got his chance with Detroit. He played from 1930 to 1947 in left field during his career and hit 58 homers for the Tigers in 1938, only two short of Babe Ruth's famous record. His lifetime batting average is .313 and he had 1,276 home runs.

Cronin, 49, came from San Francisco to break into the majors with Pittsburgh in 1926 but was sold to Washington. Boston to play shortstop and manage for the rest of his career. His lifetime average is .302 and he had 2,285 hits.

Both Cronin and Greenberg included 81 members, selected by the Baseball Writers Association or a special veterans committee.

Leafs Wallop Montreal Twice; Increase Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal baseball fans can be excused for not knowing exactly what it takes to stop the rampaging Toronto Maple Leafs.

After dishing out a 19-5 Saturday night victory, the Leafs made it five straight Wednesday in the International League by grabbing 5-3 and 5-1 victories Sunday, beating the top pitchers on the Montreal staff. Montreal now leads the International League by 6½ games over Rochester and Miami, tied for second.

The Leafs' Lynn Lovenguth, all-star righthander, ousted Fred Kipp, all-star lefthander, in a 12-inning struggle, then bested Canadian-born righthander Billy Harris in the nightcap.

Meanwhile Buffalo shocked Rochester 5-3 and 7-6, and Miami climbed into a tie with the Red Wings by downing Havana 4-3 in 11 innings. Richmond made it four straight over Columbus, 6-4 and 5-3.

BIG BLOW IN 11TH

Lovenguth brought his record to 16 wins and six losses, thanks to a 12th-inning home run by Archie Wilson with two aboard. It was the Leafs' first victory over the Kipp four tries this year. Kipp's record now is 14-5.

When Harris left the second game with a 3-2 lead after the 6th inning, he was behind 3-0, but had only given up one hit—a home run by Lew Morton with one aboard. The Leafs added another pair of runs off Glenn Mickens to ensure victory for Ken Johnson.

Miami's seventh straight victory was a tight squeeze. The Marlins tied it up with a pair in the bottom of the ninth, then Roy Face, who has been unbeaten from Louisville, drove in the winning run in the 11th. Forrest Smith had two home runs for Havana.

BISONS START FAST

Buffalo's win over Rochester by Bufalo's Eddie Mierkowicz in the first game made it easy for rookie Larry Doocovan to rack up his fourth straight pitching contest in the second against Rochester. Bill Serena banged out his straight round tripper in the seventh inning of the second game to give Carl Drews his seventh win of the season.

The Jets' double loss tumbled the Leafs into fourth place. In the opener Columbus' Jake Thies pitched a three-hit, eight-strikeout shutout in the 7-0 win. Neal Watlington and Hal Rice hit home runs in the opener as Ed Nicholas notched his tenth victory.

The league's all-stars play the National League - leading Milwaukee Braves in a charity exhibition in Toronto tonight. Tuesday, the league's two hottest teams, Toronto and Miami, open a series in Miami.

CRACKS RECORD

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Pavelich of the Vancouver Olympic Club put the shot 51 feet, nine inches Sunday to crack the Canadian record by an inch—foot.

Pavelich was a silver medal winner for Canada in the shotput in the British Empire Games. The old mark was set by Stan Balkus of Toronto.

'Unbeaten Greek' Wins Rich Futurity Stake

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Greek Game led all the way in the mud to win the $140,000 Futurity Stakes by five lengths Saturday and Count of Honor, a two-year-old triple crown champion Count Fleet, romped to an equally impressive victory in the $87,250 Yesterday Stakes at Hollywood Park.

Jockey Willie Hartack, the leading rider in the United States, earned his ninth victory in nine of the Arlington Park meeting at Chicago by letting Greek Game, a two-year-old owned by Fred W. Hooper, run his own race to cover the five furlongs in 1:1:2 flat.

Hartack said after the race: "I guess you could call him the best horse I've had the chance this year or any other year."

Hartack, meanwhile, riding Count of Honor for the first time, opened him up at the far turn and the dashing three-year-old bay colt from Kentucky literally flew in to beat the more seasoned Social Climber by four lengths. Count of Honor ran the 1¼-mile distance over the fast track and did it in the time of 1:59 3-5.

Hartack said after the race: "It was a great ride. It was the best three-year-old I've ridden this year."

Play Better Golf
By Tommy Armour

When you've got a downhill lie or a sidehill lie with the ball higher than your feet, aim your shot to the left because you're almost certain to slice. Play this shot will an open stance and with the ball a little farther back than you'd play the shot from a level lie. Keep your feet a bit closer than normal and keep yourself a mite stronger on your left foot so you won't have a tendency to fall into the shot. The slice is going to kill some distance, so you'd better use a club that's at least one number stronger than you'd play the distance from a level lie. Take it easy, keep in balance and hit with the hands.

HOW TO BUY A GOOD USED CAR

HOW TO CHECK A CAR'S BRAKES

Equally important to a car's running performance is its ability to stop . . . quickly, surely and smoothly . . . if you intend to stay out of the trunk of the car ahead of you!

The first point to check is the hydraulic system which can be dound in a moment without even moving the car. Press your foot on the brake pedal and hold it down under steady pressure. If the pedal feels spongy or sinks gradually to the floor, the hydraulic system needs attention — a relatively simple matter.

At Ken Pinder's every car must pass YOUR careful inspection as well as 100 others before it leaves the lot. We invite you to test any car . . . see for yourself that you are getting the best possible value for your money.

Canadian Ties 100-Metre Sprint World Record

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Parrington today was earmarked as Canada's top Olympic 100-metre sprint possibility after tying the world record of 10.2 at the Toronto police games Saturday.

The 22-year-old sprinter satisfied all five clockers on the time as he beat out two other Canadians in the open section of the meet.

Parrington's time bettered the 10.3 Canadian record set by Olympic winner Percy Williams in 1930 and tied by Hy McPhee in 1936.

The record was set by Jesse Owens in Chicago June 20th, 1936. It has been tied by four sprinters since.

Carrying 160 pounds on a six-foot-one frame, Parrington has a power finish to defeat clubmates Joe Foreman and Stan Leyenson.

Two Canadian records were bettered in Canada Monday, 19, of Montreal and Moncton, N.B. She was clocked 11.3 in the 100-yard dash in the record time of 22.9.

Her 100-metre time clipped one tenth of a second off the Canadian mark made by Myrtle Cook of Montreal in 1929. In the 220-yard event, she tied the 25.2 time set in 1951 by Geraldine Benister. The records will be put before the Amateur Athletic Union

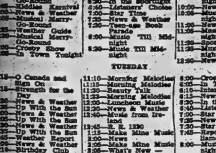
Burke, Furgol, Kroll, Johnson In Pro Golfers' Semi-Finals

CANTON, Mass. (AP)—When Jackie Burke won the masters golf tournament last spring he figured it might be the breakthrough that would end his role as all-American runner-up.

That was the first big one for the handsome, 33-year-old Texan who had been a professional golfer since he was 18. Never before had he come closer than second in any major tournament.

Now, with a big chance to win his second major event within a year as he went into today's semi-finals of the 38th Professional Golfers Association championship, Jackie wasn't so sure.

"It ought to be a little better at 36 holes," he said after Sunday's 4 and 2 quarter-final victory over boyish-faced Freddie Hawkins. "But I feel as if I've had it. "It's rough out there in those 18-hole matches."



Burke faced Ed Furgol, the 1954 National Open champion, in one of today's 36-hole semi-finals. And Furgol, whose determination to become a golfer overcame the handicap of a withered left arm, is a rugged opponent in any match.

The other semi-final sent Ted Kroll, the grim-faced former infantry sergeant from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., against Bill Johnston, a 31-year-old teaching pro from Provo, Utah, who is slightly amazed at reaching the semi-finals in his first fling at this gruelling tournament.

Furgol eliminated Teri Johnson, a Casper club pro from Wilmington, Del., who came up with a series of amazing recoveries after bad drives. He grabbed an early lead against Furgol, led three up after the eighth and wasn't overtaken until the 35th.

Kroll, a tough campaigner who suffered four wax wounds, made certain that a brand new champion will be crowned when he beat Sammy Snead 2 and in the quarter-finals. Snead is a three-time PGA champion.

YOUNGSTERS HEAD FOR T.V. FAME

Two young Canadians who are becoming TV celebrities in the U.S. are Beth Morris, 12, and Johnny Washbrook, 12, both of Toronto. Beth, who has appeared on a CBC-TV program for the past year is in Hollywood for a screen test, and Johnny, in Hollywood too, is scheduled for another season in the "My Friend Flicka" program.

Majors Increase League Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen outhit and made fewer errors than London Majors in an Intercounty Baseball League senior game Saturday, but the league - leading London club defeated them 5-3.

Dutchmen outhit London 11-7 but were unable to group their blows, leaving 15 runners stranded. Kitchener had only one miscue while London made three.

The win was the third straight for London and moved them four games ahead of the idle second place Stratford Red Sox.

Timmins walloped the United States air force Jets 12-5 in a Gold Belt game at Timmins. It was the fourth straight time they have downed the Jets.

At London, Bob Simpson, working in relief, gained his eighth victory in nine decisions. He relieved starter Dutch Perkins in the seventh.

At Timmins, the home team knocked 13 hits off pitcher Kenny Smith to score each one. U.S. Jets committed eight errors.

SPORT IN BRIEF

THREE LEAVE BOMBERS

WINNIPEG (CP)—One player was dropped and another quit Sunday as the training camp of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western football union.

Rookie quarterback Bruce Palmer was cut. He played last season with Winnipeg Rods, Canadian junior champions, and hopes to play in London and try out with the city's new ORFU entry.

Ted Urness, halfback from Winnipeg, was forced to quit because of business pressure.

Vern Whitmore, 30 - year - old tackle who played with Peterborough Petes last season, also left Saturday. He expected to return to his London home and try out with the ORFU team.

DAVIS CUPPERS PREPARE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's Davis Cup tennis team arrived here Saturday and started practising right away.

The Canadian entry of Bob Bedard, Lawrence Barclay, Don Fontana and Paul Wright, from the United States team late this week in the North American zone semi-finals.

The squad worked out Sunday at the Victoria club courts, site of the Davis Cup meeting.

RETAINS TITLE

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—Italy's bull - shouldered Francesco Cavicchi Saturday night knocked out German Heinz Neuhaus in the first minute of the 11th round to retain the European heavyweight boxing championship.

The Bologna farmboy who Italian fans had jeered as the "sleeping beast" woke up in his first defence of the title he won 13 months ago from Neuhaus in Bologna. He battered the paunchy German into the ropes repeatedly and smashed him to the canvas five times before the knockout.

Doctors reported that Neuhaus suffered two cracked left ribs.

CANADA SECOND

BISLEY, England (CP) — Canada's sharpshooters, nosed out by a Briton for the coveted Queen's Prize, finished second behind the British team again Sunday in the Commonwealth team rifle match, scoring event of the annual Bisley competition.

Britain had all the way in the Commonwealth match, scoring 1,458 points of a possible 1,600 to Canada's 1,424.

The Queen's Prize, top individual award of the competition, went to Mej. George E. Twine for the second time in three years as he edged out Lieut. Edson L. Warner of Lennoxville, Que., by a single point, 283 to 282.

THOMSON BEATEN

SANDWICH, England (AP)— Max Faulkner of Britain upset Peter Thomson of Australia, three-time British Open golf champion, 4 and 3 and 3 to help a British Irish team to a 7-5 victory over a Commonwealth squad Saturday.

WINS AUTO RACE

STRATFORD, Ont. — Marshall Teague of Daytona Beach, Fla., Saturday won an abbreviated feature auto race at the Stayner speedway. Scheduled for 100 miles and 25 laps, the race was called at the 66th lap because of threatening weather.

Bridge Sense

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

Modern bridge players have a wealth of slam-inviting material. Their prosperity includes the immediate jump sequence slipped either in some new suit or with the assist of a suit already mentioned.

Here is a deal for you to go to work in:

NORTH
♠K Q 6 2
♥A 8 5 4
♦A 4
♣4 3 3

WEST
♥J 10 2
♦K 9 7 5 2
♣K 9 7 6

EAST
♠10 8 4
♥Q
♦Q J 10 8 2
♣10 8 5

SOUTH
♠A J 7 5 3
♥K 9 7 6 3
♣A Q

The bidding went like this:

South	North
1 Spade	3 Hearts
4 No-Trump	5 Diamonds
6 Spades	Pass

In answer to an opening one bid, an immediate one-jump response promises two sure tricks among six tricks if the suit is new, or five tricks if it is an assist of a major suit.

Therefore, the north three spade jump assist shows two sures and five tricks with adequate support for spades. With a count of seven tricks in his own hand, south sees 12 in their pair.

With 12 tricks known to be in the pair and the high power of two sures shown by north, south bids the four no-trump convention relying for asking about aces and kings.

Six diamonds is Gordon convention reply for showing two aces and only one king. Two kings are thus known to be missing. A grand slam is avoided by south who settles for a small slam in spades.

Why did south avoid showing the heart suit? No need for it in that spot. Learning about aces and kings was more important, which the showing of hearts right there might interfere with.

The opening west lead was heart jack and declarer took the 12 needed tricks. If you see how this is done safely you are a member of the strip-and-end endplay club.

An endplay avoids being thrown to the bolds.

AT THE CAPITOL — "The Son of Dr. Jekyll", who inherits his infamous father's unholy heritage, is played by Louis Hayward in the Columbia drama at the Capitol Theatre starting tonight. Queen's "Snub" Of Wimbledon Is Explained

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's snub of Wimbledon log has gone of the mysteries of British sport—and society.

She has never put in an appearance at the famed tennis tournament since ascending to the throne in 1952.

An explanation has been given by Cyril Banks, an official of the International Lawn Tennis Association.

Banks recalled a bumiliating beating the Duke of York, father of the Queen and later King George VI, took on Wimbledon's centre court in the opening round of the 1926 doubles championship.

The shy duke had argued against playing on the centre court where 16,000 people were watching. But Wimbledon officials insisted. He and his partner lost 6-1, 6-3, 6-2 to a British pair.

Despite a real love for tennis and a good duffer's game, the late King never returned to Wimbledon except once—in 1947 to see Jack Kramer win the title.

Banks, in telling the story, said "whether his daughter, is following that unfortunate example we do not know."

Buckingham Palace declined to comment on Banks' theory, saying "the choice of which sporting event to watch is left entirely to the Queen."

$6,000 Purse For Fuca Winner

VICTORIA (CP)—A minimum purse of $6,000 has been guaranteed for a match swim of the Juan de Fuca Strait, planned for Aug. 26.

A first prize of $4,000 will be awarded to the first swimmer who completes the 13.5-mile swim. Second and third prizes will be $1,200 and $500.

If no one completes the swim, cash awards of not more than $2,500 will be paid for distance covered.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your luck is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, July 24, 1956 —

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Be observant. Watch what others are doing, especially those making progress. Learn from experience, too. Maintain dignity and poise under today's good conditions.

April 21 to May 21 (Taries) — Look for opportunities to display that "extra something." A door is respected by all. He or she may make mistakes but will also advance to desired goals. Be careful, though, of overexertion.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — When essentials are completed daywork some time to such cultural matters as may enhance your worth, knowledge. Much is to be done. Your approach and plan of action are important. Give them sufficient thought.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Has last week been "rough"? If so, don't be discouraged. We all strike those periods. Carry on. If goals are worthwhile you can reach them. Eat sensibly.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Exercise care in money matters, business transactions. Financial troubles may stem from over-indulgence and indifference. Be prepared for the unexpected; optimism should be high.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Handle work and household duties with dispatch and efficiency, thus leaving more time for family life and recreation. Be systematic. Avoid mistakes and errors.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Today forecasts bright and happy rewards if you act promptly and decisively. Have a ready smile as your companion. Beware of those who may divert you from well chosen goals.

October. 24. to. November. 22 (Scorpio) — A fine day if you don't let emotional instability, excessive personal anxiety or a poor sense of direction lead to pitfalls. Be sure of yourself but not dominating. Rely on good advice.

November. 23 to December. 21 (Sagittarius) — Be careful about personal honor and reputation. Deviation from the truth or established custom may wreak havoc with esteem and respect. Congratulate others when deserved.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Keep a keen eye out for new trends, and novel ideas. Be observant and the world will not pass you by. Be meticulous but don't let petty griefs and problems interfere with good work.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Develop your interests and activities to the point where they are many and varied. Become more well-rounded with a truly interesting hobby. Use spare time healthfully, thus successfully.

February 25 to March 20 (Pisces) — Be eager and soundly critical. Do not let mistakes go unnoticed (especially your own). At the same time don't become petty or censorious to an extreme.

You born today are vibrant, lovable, talented, enthusiastic. You make friends quickly; can be the life of the party, or moody, if you choose, but the well-developed, right-living Leotie will conquer this last trait. Your failings are few, but those few can be stressed, defeating many good purposes, drowning your better sense. Pray daily, strive for moderation, don't be hurt readily.

Birthdate: Alexandre Dumas, Fr. novelist - playwright.

DID YOU KNOW

THAT AT MOIRA-SCHUSTER LIMited, 38 Bridge St. East, Belleville, that you can obtain free family fuel protection by ordering your year's supply of coal or oil now. Prices are low, and the supply of oil is assured. Also equal monthly payments — then regardless of what winter brings your price is protected by having your entire fuel bill based on the fall price and the balance of your coal or oil so arranged that it will be delivered at the end of March or April. Phone WO 8-5504 — The earlier you start this plan the cheaper the monthly payments are. J13-1m

IT'S A BIG MISTAKE to price your property too high. Its market value and it's a big mistake to price it too low. Let us make you a buyer entirely. Throughout the years we have developed a know-how that enables us to advise sellers and buyers in making appraisals of selling values when they feel the need of help. Properties prepared for sale in this way generally have their prices set quickly and with a minimum of advertising. Phone us today if you are desirous of these results. Let us list your property today for that prompt service you expect.

Windsor Beer Strike Is Ended

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A four-day beer strike in Windsor ended Saturday. Members of Local 278, Brewery Workers Union, voted to accept a settlement reached Friday with Brewers' Warehousing Limited.

The strike, which began a week ago, arose from interpretation of clauses in the company-union contract.

Harold Johnson, union representative, said agreement was reached on several points in dispute and the two parties set up a committee to work out other problems.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN DISTRICT — Johnstown Sunday School was held on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, church at 7.30 p.m., with Rev. G. A. Pattison in charge. The Scripture lesson was found in Acts the 20th. "Paul was told that he was mad because he did not live the same way people of the world did, for to them Christianity seemed to have a certain madness about it. Paul found faith in God so he had to live up to that faith. When a man commits himself to God his life is different and he has a new set of values.

Mr. Puttenham told of a woman who went to Africa who was touched by the orphans, who had no one to take care of them so she brought one to her home and gradually it grew into an orphans' home, which was kept going by faith and prayer. Lots of people would say this was a foolish thing to do, and not practical, but this woman had a different standard to live by than most people.

New Brunswick Child Poisoned

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP) — One child is dead and three others are in hospital here after eating a poisonous substance used to absorb water in gasoline and oil tanks.

Dead is Wayne Chapman, 2. In hospital in "good" condition are Barbara and Linda Phinney, 3, and 6 respectively, and Betty Chapman, 6, a sister of the victim.

The children are reported to have used a nail Saturday to puncture small packages containing sodium nitrite, taken small quantities themselves and then fed to the Chapman child.

WATCH LINK IN EYE

OTTAWA (CP)—Roy Joly, 31, of Ottawa complained to police that someone had thrown a steel missile that embedded in his eye while he sat on a park bench Thursday night. He was taken to hospital where a link from the expansion bracelet of his own wrist watch was removed from the eye. Nobody could explain how it got there.

Attendance Down

STRATFORD (CP) — Almost 60,000 persons have attended the Shakespearean festival during the first five weeks of its run.

Theatre manager Victor Polley said the figure is running considerably lower than last year's total, due to a slow start this season. Sales now are going well and last week's attendance of 14,400 persons was almost 1,000 more than the high for the first four weeks.

Box-office gross for the first five weeks of the nine-week season was $217,136.

Old Roman Fort Found in London

LONDON (Reuters) — The remains of a Roman fort built before 100 A. D. have been unearthed beneath a blitzed site in the heart of London, it was disclosed Sunday.

Five years ago Prof. W. F. G. Grimes, director of the London Museum, first suspected the existence of the fort.

Digging started about six weeks ago, and the foundations of a 200-yard square fort were revealed.

Got Money Troubles?

Not Mr. Barett!

Mr. Barett's* wife had an unexpected operation last year. Laundry and big bills were covered by insurance, but Mr. Barett was soon snowed under by all the extras—special nurses and medicines, day care for the children, someone to help with the house-keeping. Finally, Mr. Barett dropped in to see us at Citizens. He explained his problem to our Loan Manager and a cash loan was soon arranged. Now he is out of the hospital and feeling fine. They easily make the small payments on their loan and things are back to normal. "I don't know what I'd have done without it," Mr. Barett says. "That Citizens loan really helped me out." Citizens Finance can help you with a timely loan too. Call us today.

TAILOR TAX PLAN FOR PROVINCES FULTON SUGGESTS

New Federal Proposal Strait-Jacket He Says

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative Davie Fulton says the government should tailor a tax plan to fit the provinces instead of trying to force them into a ready-made strait-jacket.

He gave that description of the new federal tax proposals to the provinces during Commons debate Monday night on a bill to implement the proposals.

The government is trying to fit federal-provincial fiscal relations "into the strait-jacket of preconceived financial proposals and then cutting the arms and the legs of the various governments in order to fit that garment which has been tailored in the workshop of (finance minister) Harris and Company," the member for Kamloops said.

CALLS FOR MEETING

He called for a meeting of all governments to assess their needs and make what exchanges of constitutional responsibilities could be arranged for the purpose. Then such a tax plan could be drafted to meet these agreed responsibilities.

Instead, the government "simply had a set idea of the size, type and form of the federal payment.

"It a leg sticks out here or a foot sticks out there, they cut it off and stuff it into the procrustean bed."

Citizenship Minister Pickersgill interjected: "Does not the honorable member believe in autonomy?"

"Yes," Mr. Fulton said. "But a severed limb is not very autonomous."

DEBATE CONTINUES TODAY

The tax plan bill continues before the Commons today, criticized both in Opposition and Socialist and defended by the government as a 30-per-cent improvement over the "hit-and-miss" arrangement under the expiring tax rental agreements.

British Auto Workers Clash With Police on Picket Lines

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Britain's worst automobile strike for a generation brought clashes today between police, pickets and workmen who defied union orders to support the strike. The strike was called to protest a mass layoff of workers.

More than 23,000 men — 1,000 more than Monday — reported for work at British Motor Corporation factories in Birmingham, Coventry, Oxford and Llanelly, Wales. But many had to fight their way through lines of angry pickets.

The worst police incident happened outside a Birmingham plant where mounted police rode into a mass of men fighting to stop trucks entering or leaving the factory. Clubs were torn but no one was badly hurt.

Meanwhile, flying squads of pickets formed plants in the Midlands urging workers to join the strike.

The strike, which began Monday in protest against the mass dismissal of 6,000 American workers, has already hit the British Ford company, subsidiary of the American firm.

Ford's 4,000 men at a Ford factory at Dagenham, Essex, have been given dismissal notices because one of the BMC plants affected by the strike supplies it with the under-bodies of the Consul, Zephyr and Zodiac models.

The dispute worsened when the 1,500,000-member Transport and General Workers Union ordered its dockers and truck drivers to stop handling corporation products. Nearly 200 export cars have been held up so far at Liverpool.

Other unions representing dockers and engineers were today also considering supporting the strike. But union leaders of 15 unions behind it meet in Birmingham to try to decide how to make the stoppage solid.

Though the strike is already affecting the exports program and allied industries, it has been in some quarters as a defeat for the unions who have failed to bring out the entire 51,000 workers in the corporation.

ALBERTA CLOSES FOREST AREAS DUE FIRE HAZARD

Train Ready to Move 1,000 in Mining Centre

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta has closed its forest areas to travelers for the second time in two months as 13 fires burned west and northwest of here.

Most threatening was a 13,000-acre fire out of control three miles from the tiny mining centre of Marcoal, 150 miles west of Edmonton.

T. R. Hammer, provincial superintendent of forest protection, said the town of 1,000 is not in immediate danger. A train is standing by to evacuate residents "should an emergency arise."

13 OTHER FIRES

Twelve other fires, started by lightning, are burning in the Jasper-Whitecourt area, 120 miles west and northwest of Edmonton. Most are in remote areas and it may be a few days before they are reached and brought under control.

A 600-acre fire near Sturgeon Lake, 30 miles east of Grande Prairie in the Peace River country, threatened 3,000,000 board feet of lumber. In all, eight fires are reported in the Grande Prairie area.

Men and equipment were being carried by helicopter and boat to fight fires in inaccessible areas. Another mountain on the Alberta-British Columbia border, 90 miles west of Grande Prairie.

In June, fires west and northwest of here caused an estimated $1,000,000 damage to spruce and pine stands.

The forest travel order closed an area roughly bounded on the north by the Edmonton - Jasper highway, on the east and south by the North Saskatchewan River and on the west by the Rocky Mountains.

Hunt Schooner As Eight Missing On Georgian Bay

Capsized Sailboat Is Found But Occupants May Be Safe

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Search planes today reported a clean sweep of the southern end of Georgian Bay without finding a trace of eight persons missing in a 30-foot sailboat since Sunday.

The missing are believed to have been caught in a sudden squall.

RCAF and private planes circled the area and more than a dozen small boats participated in the surface search.

An oil slick was sighted Monday night three miles northwest of Collingwood, the missing yacht's home port, but a spokesman said it was probably from a tanker.

At first, so the testimony ran, the recruits treated the march as a joke. But it became a race for "help," followed by panic and then, for six men, collapse.

McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

Survivors Voice Admiration for Their Sergeant

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—Eight survivors of the April 8 Marine death march today testified they were "good offs" and that Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was a Marine they admired.

They said also that even though the sergeant had struck them, it was more in exasperation than in anger because he wanted to make them "gung ho" Marines.

In all the testimony, there was no trace of bitterness about that pale, impassive former drill instructor sitting nearby, Mass.

Canada's Wheat Exports Up But Carryover Is Also Higher

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's exports of wheat for the current crop year will be much more likely will total about $10,000,000 bushels, the highest in three years.

However, Canada still will have much wheat on its farms at the carryover at the opening of the new crop year Aug. 1 likely will total about 523,000,000 bushels, authorities estimate.

This would be an increase from last year's 500,000,000 bushels, though down from the all-time high of 601,000,000 at Aug. 1, 1954.

Wheat exports have been running high in recent months, with 9 bushels of the big winter cold spell in Europe and a late harvest thaw-out in some of the Communist-bloc War territories.

Included in the estimated 310,-000,000-bushel exports would be 40,000,000 bushels of wheat purchased by Russia and other iron Curtain countries.

The shipment of the estimated 310,000,000 bushels would be the highest since the peak of 385,000,000 in the 1952-53 crop year. In the 1954-55 crop year exports have averaged just slightly over 250,000,000 annually, reducing the flow of cash to Prairie farmers' pockets.

Wheat is the Prairies' main crop and one of Canada's most important export products, usually running second to newsprint and pulp ments.

If the 523,000,000-bushel carryover estimate materializes, it would mean that Canada has disposed of, in domestic and foreign markets, almost half of its total 1955-56 crop.

Canada entered the current crop year with total stocks of 965,-800,000 bushels, up 83,000,000 from the previous year.

Domestic requirements for the crop year were estimated at 160,-000,000 bushels, virtually unchanged from the previous year.

Eden Is Willing to Discuss Limitation of H-Bomb Tests

Road-Hog Trucks Delay Ambulance With Injured Boy

TORONTO (CP) — Police today criticized highway "road-hog truck drivers" they encountered Monday in speeding to hospital a boy whose foot was almost severed by a hay-mower at nearby Pickering.

Kenneth Smith, 7, and other boys had been playing in two-foot-high hay brought from Monday by tractor-driven hay loader. A later told police he had warned the children from the field.

Young Kenneth, he said, jumped out of the hay just in front of the mower's five-foot blades but wasn't quick enough. A blade sheared off the lad's shoe, slashing a foot to the point of severance.

Police Chief Arnot Laking, who in a police cruiser, escorted an ambulance taking Kenneth to hospital here, said that although both ambulance and police sirens were sounded constantly transport drivers along Kingston Road here ignored them.

Letters of criticism would be sent to the companies involved.

RCAF Jet Crashes

MONTREAL (CP)—An RCAF CF-100 jet fighter crashed on a routine training flight Monday night near Bagotville, Que. base, but both men aboard parachuted safely, air defence command headquarters reported today.

The pilot was FO G. A. Larkin, 24, of Lowerwood Hecker, Sask.; the navigator was Flt. Lt. G. R. Murray, 28, of Arcold, Sask.

Cause of the crash is not yet known.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The weather is mainly clear over Ontario but some cloudiness and scattered thunderstowers are reported in northern sections. Cooler air is pushing across the eastern Prairies and will spread into Northern Ontario tonight and Wednesday, accompanied by showers and thunderstorms.

Today mainly sunny skies with seasonable temperatures are expected and isolated thundershowers are likely late in the day. On Wednesday temperatures will continue near 80 in central and southern regions but thunderstorm activity will be a little more general than today.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden, in a shift of policy, indicated today Britain would go along with Russia on the limitation of hydrogen bomb tests.

The Russians, and some sectors of British public opinion, have been pressing for a ban on nuclear test explosions. So have Japan and India.

Eden said he would have preferred that the limitation of atomic test explosions be worked out at a general disarmament convention, a position Britain held along with the United States, as in last week's disarmament meetings at the United Nations in New York.

But he added:

"We are quite ready now to discuss that matter separately . . . to see whether we can come to a way to work out the best method of limitation and control that we can contrive. We propose to do this ourselves. We have no rigid ideas."

Consumer Credit Drops Slightly

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's rising consumer credit bill eased slightly in the first three months of 1956, but federal officials said today the dip was no more than a seasonal change and no indicative of any long-term trend.

The amount outstanding March 31 was $2,128,000,000, down $54,000,000 from the peak of $2,182,000,000 last December, though up $323,000,000 from the $1,779,000,000 in March a year ago, they said in a report Canada reported in its quarterly survey of consumer finances.

A similar seasonal decline took place in the first quarter of the two previous years. But on the whole, on-the-cuff buying has been increasing. The outstanding consumer credit bill at the end of 1955 had increased by some $850,-000,000 over three-year period.

Refused Two Weeks' Vacation Pay, Stable Worker Slew Millionaires

NEWMARKET, England (Reuters) — A stable worker was alleged in court today to have murdered Miss Rachel Mary Parsons, eccentric millionaire racehorse owner, because she would not pay him two weeks vacation pay.

The prosecuting counsel said during the preliminary hearing that James Pratt, the stableman, had twice been warned by police for pestering Miss Parsons for the money after he left her employment last May.

Miss Parsons, 71-year-old recluse, was beaten to death with a piece of iron piping in the big house where she lived alone near the Newmarket race course.

Pratt, 30, described as a wealthy west women in Britain, she was a well known and orderly witness before the Second World War, but in recent years she chose to live alone at Newmarket, where she bred a few her race horses.

Her father, Sir Charles Parsons, inventor of the marine steam turbine, left the equivalent of more than $4,000,000 at his death in 1931.

The prosecution said that the police first learned she was dead when Pratt, 26-year-old married man with two children, was picked up in connection with a pair of binoculars he had tried to sell a jeweler.

Three Killed As Trailer-Truck, 2 Cars, Collide

MONTREAL (CP)—Two women and a youth were killed and five persons injured Monday night in a collision between a trailer-truck and two automobiles 15 miles south of here.

The mishap raised Quebec's toll of accidental deaths to 31 since Friday night.

The three killed Monday night were Mrs. Armand Gingras, 56, Mrs. Yvon Blanchard, 36, and Joseph Audette, 19, all of Farnham, Que.

Injured were Armand Gingras, 56, and Yvon Blanchard, 35, husbands of the dead women, and Murielle Blanchard, 10, their child of Farnham; and Mr. and Mrs. Alton-Cahan of Montreal.

Burgess and Mother Holiday on Black Sea

MOSCOW (AP)—Former British diplomat Guy Burgess is vacationing with his mother at Sochi on the Black Sea.

They are staying at a government seaside sanatorium, travelers from Sochi said today.

Burgess' mother, Mrs. J. R. Bazzett, came here about two weeks ago for a reunion with the son she had not seen since he deserted his foreign office post five years ago to defect to Russia from Curtain with his diplomatic colleague, Donald MacLean.

Killed in North

SUDBURY (CP)—Henry Brisson, 35, of Warren was killed Monday when his car overturned on a concession road 15 miles north of here.

Brisson was found pinned under the car. Police believe the car skidded control at the top of a hill, crossed the narrow gravel road, slid into a ditch and turned over twice.

Hydro Workers To Vote on Offer Of Wage Increase

TORONTO (CP)—Eleven thousand members of the Ontario Hydro Employees Federation are to vote on a new one-year agreement which would give them a wage increase of five per cent.

The offer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario was accepted last weekend by the executive of the association and voting will be carried out by mail until Aug. 10.

The deal includes starting the working day 15 minutes earlier so workers can avoid rush-hour traffic; three weeks holidays after 15 instead of 12 years service and time-and-a-half for overtime after 40 hours for all salaried workers.

The executive said the pay increase is realistic. They originally asked for seven per cent.

Locomotive Firemen Discuss Problems

WINNIPEG (CP) — Internal problems of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen comprised the main topics of discussion at Monday's session of the general policy committee's meeting here.

The big question before the committee—a proposal that the brotherhood affiliate with the CP and AFL-CIO—is expected to develop during this afternoon's session. It is the first time the brotherhood's 29-man committee has met in Canada.

Government Formed

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (Reuters) A new coalition government headed by Hermann Jonasson took office today, but its policy will not be officially announced until tonight or Wednesday.

The coalition consists of parties pledged to obtain removal of U.S. troops from the Atlantic alliance air base at Keflavik.

Duce's Children Get Allowances

ROME (AP)—A Rome court Monday authorized payment of monthly allowances to two of Mussolini's children.

Mussolini's youngest daughter, Anna Maria, 21, and his only married son, Vittorio, lives in Argentina; his daughter, Edda Ciano, lives in Rome.

Mussolini's son, Vittorio, lives in Argentina; his daughter, Edda Ciano, lives in Rome.

Both live with their mother, Mrs. Rachele Mussolini.

The payments were authorized retroactive to last May 27. They will be paid from funds in the proceeds of Mussolini's estate, confiscated after his death.

Mussolini's son, Vittorio, lives in Argentina; his daughter, Edda Ciano, lives in Rome.

Reckless Boat Driver Is Fined

OTTAWA (CP) — Eighteen-year-old Andre Cahavant of Ottawa was fined $27 and costs Monday for exceeding the speed limit in a motorboat on the Ottawa River.

Police said Cahavant had pleaded a sight-seeing launch at close ranges and high speed in his high-powered motorboat. Charges had been considerable apprehension for the safety of the launch's 60 passengers.

An RCMP official said it was the first time this year that a charge of this kind had been laid under the law forbidding reckless ness on minor waters.

'Ice Cream' Gin and Wine Were Tops Suited Customers But Not The Cops

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The night was warm and sticky.

Detective James 'A. Dolan stopped by for an ice cream cone from a push cart vendor.

About a dozen customers were standing around, each drinking out of a paper cup. Dolan thought perhaps a soda would ease his parched throat.

"What do you have to drink?" the policeman asked.

"Sloe gin and muscatel wine," the vendor answered.

"It's too hot for kidding," said Dolan.

"I'm not kidding," the vendor replied. He flipped up the lid of his ice cream cart and displayed a bottle of gin and a couple of bottles of wine secreted on the shelves with the ice cream.

Dolan ordered gin. The vendor filled a cup and handed it to him. Dolan displayed his badge and told the lad his name:

"I'm a cop. You're under arrest."

"Aw, I just got started," said the unlikely vendor.

Dolan took him across the street where he was identified as the 17-year-old lad charged with illegal sale and possession of liquor.

Pleads Guilty Of Extortion

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 28-year-old jockey pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of trying to extort $5,000 from Jack Diamond, Vancouver business and sports figure.

Calvin Roy Eustace, of Torbay, Nfld., was remanded to July 31 by Magistrate Gerald Lecky for "pre-sentence report."

Police said Eustace had pleaded a sight-seeing launch at close ranges and high speed in his high-powered motorboat. Charges had been considerable apprehension for the safety of the launch's 60 passengers.

An RCMP official said it was the first time this year that a charge of this kind had been laid under the law forbidding reckless ness on minor waters.

Member Charges CNR By-Passing Union Agreements

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF member Stanley Knowles said today the CNR is "again" bypassing union agreements by letting out to private contractors work normally covered by union contracts.

He told Transport Minister Marler in the Commons he was not a result the employees are forced to take lower wages.

Mr. Marler said he will investigate the matter.

Early last year there was a series of opposition complaints that the CNR was by-passing union labor by maintenance contracts to the C. D. Welch Construction Co., and that the Welch company was paying wages below those of union contracts with the CNR.

Last outside the House, Mr. Knowles said he has reports that car - cleaning work at Midland, Sarnia and Belleville is being given to private companies.

He said the Toronto Terminals Railway, largely owned by the CNR, is leasing the restaurant and news stand at Toronto Union Station to Canada Food and News Company, effective Sept. 1. Employees and other employees were being offered their existing jobs at reduced wages.

Find Missing Man On Alcatraz Isle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Floyd Wilson, missing almost 12 hours from his Alcatraz prison cell, was found early today working on the grim, rocky island on San Francisco Bay.

He was serving a life term for murder.

Associate warden J. B. Latimer reported Wilson "apparently had been hiding out under a rock or a log."

The find halted a search by Coast Guard patrol boats which circled the tiny island with searchlights playing on both shore and waves, and by FBI agents and prison guards on shore.

TALK ON HISTORY OF SURGERY GIVEN

Guest speaker at the Rotary Club yesterday was Dr. Austin Walters.

A Rotarian himself Dr. Walters gave the club an interesting address on the history of surgery from the dawn of history, and discussed trends and discoveries that have influenced and advanced modern surgery.

He was introduced by Bill Hurst, chairman, of the meeting, and thanked by Court Miller.

RASPBERRIES MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE

Raspberries appeared on the local market for the first time this season.

All of the blue variety, the berries sold steadily at 50 cents a quart. Elsewhere, trading carried on at a level pace with a good supply of produce offered at steady prices.

Strawberries continued to sell at 49 cents a quart, while blueberry cherries were $1.75 a six-quart basket. A small offering of red currents brought 35 cents a quart and $1. for three quarts.

Yellow and green beans were 25 cents a quart and cabbage 15-20 cents a head. New potatoes continued at 20 cents a quart, 25 per basket. Lettuce, with crisp leaf lettuce and 15 cents for heads, has brought 10 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents.

REFRIGERATOR BELTS BECOME OVERHEATED

City firemen were called to the Glen Roy Creamery on Pinnacle street Monday night where rubber motor belts became hot. The refrigeration machine became overheated and caught fire. Firemen said about eight belts on the machine were destroyed by the blaze.

Hastings Jr. Farmers Win Top Honors at Field Day

HASTINGS county Junior Farmers again took top honors at the Quinte District Junior Farmer field day held Saturday at the Ontario School for the Deaf grounds, repeating last year's performance of amassing highest points, while both boys' and girls' softball teams won out over their opposition.

The field day was attended by junior farmers from six counties in the Quinte district with Hastings getting 93 points in the various events to take the Junior Farmer cup for the second year in a row.

Peterborough provided stiff opposition for the Hastings boys and girls getting 86 points. Durham had 49; Victoria 45, Northumberland 37 and Prince Edward county 36 points.

Six teams competed in the boys' softball competition with Hastings downing Peterborough in the finals by a 12-2 score. Other teams entered were Prince Edward, Durham, Victoria and Northumberland.

In the girls' softball, Hastings won out over Peterborough by a runaway score of 25 to 5 after defeating Victoria girls. With only three teams entered Peterborough received a bye into the finals.

Despite rain which dampened the ground in places there was high enthusiasm and keen competition throughout the day. Approximately 250 attended the field day while about 200 attended the dance in the evening with a square dancing competition highlighting the evening program.

Peterborough lads and lasses eked out a close win in the square dancing competition, receiving 85 points to Hastings, 84. Northumberland took third with 70 points, Victoria fourth with 70 1-2 points, Prince Edward with 68 and Durham with 60 points.

Judges for the square dancing competition were Mr. and Mrs. Cam Bunnett.

Ken Hall of Peterborough, showed a clean pair of heels to the balance of the field in the 100-yard dash with Don Sinclair of Victoria, second and Harry Sirrett of Northumberland, third with Esther Whitter of Victoria in third slot. The same two girls finished in the 440 in the running broad jump with Shirley Usher of Northumberland in third in the 100.

Hastings girls won the relay race with Peterborough second; Victoria, third and Durham, fourth.

Carolyn Thompson, Hastings, topped the girls' softball throw with Jackson of Peterborough second and Helen Burkitt of Hastings, third.

Ruth McMullen, Hastings won the girls' ground ball throw with Lois, in second place and Erlene Sexsmith, Peterborough, third.

Mrs. K. Glancey Given 3 Years For $10,000 Theft

Mrs. Kathleen M. Glancey, ex-cashier at the Bank of Montreal here, who pleaded guilty to theft of $10,000 from the bank, today was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Glancey, 34-year-old mother of three young boys, appeared briefly for sentencing before magistrate T. Y. Wills in magistrate's court today.

Mrs. Glancey was arrested July 9th by city police inspector J. C. Hayes, following an investigation by senior officials of the bank. The probe came after a discrepancy was spotted in a voucher.

During hearings on the case the court has never learned what actually happened to the money involved.

Mrs. Glancey pleaded guilty to three counts of forgery and one of theft by conversion.

The forgery charges involved over $7,200, including one cheque for $2,000 which was forged by the bank for conversion of over $3,200.

In all, the thefts covered about two years. Mrs. Glancey started work at the bank in 1953 after moving to Belleville from Brantford in 1948 from Montreal.

In passing sentence the magistrate said the offences had been carefully planned and deliberately carried out.

But, he said, he had taken into consideration the circumstances on the bank investigators by the accused.

Mrs. Glancey, who spent some time in hospital following her last court appearance July 13th, entered the court sobbing this morning. She was escorted by Mrs. Archie Winters, wife of the county sheriff.

Mrs. Glancey was defended by Belleville barrister J. D. O'Flynn.

The wife of Harold Glancey, purchasing agent at Northern Electric, she lives at 156 Albert street.

New Power Hookup Across Bay Expected to Be in Operation by Oct.

Prince Edward county's new power hookup across the Bay of Quinte is expected to be in operation by the end of this year.

At present work is proceeding on the second and final phase of the line. The first phase of the line from Belleville to Mountain View, linking part of the county already has been completed with a hookup between Mountain View and Picton.

When completed the new 66,000 line will make available power to the county. Started three years ago, the project will benefit the users of Ontario Hydro — to allow for more power supply and to provide an alternative source of power.

Since 1918 the county has been serviced by a 44,000-volt line across the Murray Canal, but this line now has become inadequate.

The new line will allow for alternative sources in case of emergency or sudden accidents involving power supply.

The final phase — linking Belleville and Mountain View — started in April this year. This part of the project includes submerging the cable at the new bridge on the causeway leading to Hoards.

The new hookup is a timely one, almost paralleling the recent expansion of industry in the Picton district, notably the construction of the town's $18,000,000 cement plant.

Police Blotter

Theft of a 1951 model coach owned by Harry D. Fournis, 226 Pine Street, was reported by city police today. Police said Fournis had told them his car had been parked at Docter's Hotel and when he returned to the vehicle at midnight, the keys were gone. He could not remember if the vehicle had been locked.

Otherwise both city and provincial police reported a quiet night with city officers reporting but one minor accident.

City and provincial police were asked to be on the lookout for Bradley Bailey, 16-year-old Wellington boy, reported missing from home. The lad, said small for his age, was believed riding his bicycle and was last seen in the vicinity of Smithfield, west of Trenton.

Salvation Army Receives Deed To Roblin Camp

The Salvation Army has received the deed to its Roblin Lake camp.

The deed was presented in special ceremonies over the weekend at the campsite, attended by government, municipal and top Salvation Army representatives.

Among the many taking part in the ceremony were Senator William Fraser and Mayor Frank McFarland of Picton. Both men have contributed substantially to the progress of the camp and it was Senator Fraser who presented the deed to the Army.

Others present for the occasion were Colonel William Watches of Prince Edward county; Norris Whitney, M.L.A., and D. Drysdale president of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

The Roblin Lake camp formerly was operated by the Kiwanis Club and became the property of the Salvation Army about five years ago. Since then, the Army has improved accomodation and general facilities at the camp. Today it can boast 125 campers and staff.

Starting this week the Army will begin a special undergraduate leged-children's program at the camp. Campers will bring children from across central Ontario to Roblin Lake.

The camp is under the administration of Brigadier Morgan Flanigan, who received a gift from Senator Fraser, signifying the official opening of the camp.

Officer in charge of the ceremonies was Colonel William Davidson, chief secretary of the Army in Canada and Bermuda.

Jury Finds Car Driver Negligent In Accident Case

A coroner's jury, looking into the death of Mrs. Lorraine Gerow, 68, Dundas Street, killed June 30, when struck by an auto near his home, has found James George, of Purdy sideroad, 18, driver of the car, negligent in operating his car with defective brakes.

The inquest was held Monday evening before Coroner Dr. John Stock and besides finding George negligent in the operation of his car, recommended that parking be prohibited on both side of Dundas street from Pinnacle to Church street, and that the boulevard on the north side of Dundas be not taken out to give greater road surface for ever-increasing traffic.

George has been charged with careless driving and in a brief court appearance Monday was remanded to Wednesday.

Appearing as witnesses at the inquest conducted by Crown Attorney John Pringle were Dr. William Beattie, OPP Louis Pellerson, photographer, Police Constables John Kent and Norman Hall; garage witnesses of the accident Sgt. George Westlake, of the city police; Roy Bailey, 16-year-boy and James George, driver of the car. Kenneth Champagne, garage worker, testified as to the condition of brakes on the George car.

Marmoraton Mine Ships 180,593 Tons Ore

Production from new Marmoraton mine broke into the tabulation figures of the Ontario Department of Mines report for the first time. While the mine achieved production last year, it was too late to appear in the half-yearly statement.

Marmoraton's shipments in the first six months of this year totalled 180,593 tons, all beneficiated ore in the form of pellets.

Shipments of iron ore from Ontario mines during the first six months of this year are up nearly 1,000,000 tons over the record established in 1955. The total to the end of the first half this year was 1,668,566 tons, compared with 670,-975 tons at the same date in 1955 according to the Ontario Department of Mines.

George Clark, Tweed Jeweller, Dies Suddenly

TWEED (Special) — One of the best known businessmen of Tweed village, George Edwin Clark, Victoria, aged 77, died suddenly in Tweed on Monday in his 77th year.

Born at Tweed, Mr. Clark was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Clark and for most of his life had operated a jewellery business in the village where he was widely known and highly respected. He was a member of St. James Anglican Church where for many years he was member of the church staff. He was an ardent fisherman, and was a member of the Tweed Chamber of Commerce and the village bowling club.

The last of his family, he is survived by his wife, the former Rosemond Burkholder, and two daughters, Mrs. George (Lois) Fisher of Smiths Falls, and Mrs. Jack (Marion) Neugebauer of Tweed. Two brothers, George and Merritt Clark predeceased him a few years ago.

The funeral service will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in St. James' Anglican church.

Banned by Zoo Bruins' Brew

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Do not feed the bears." the sign read. But it didn't say anything about a can of beer on a hot day.

Zookeeper Ron Badsford called police Sunday when he found an unidentified bear-like creature sitting at his desk with the bears in the Stanley Park zoo. Police broke up the party confiscated the remaining four bottles and sent the generous tipster on his way.

Chicago Youth Admits Slaying Desk Sergeant

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said today a teen-age youth, arrested for speeding and other traffic violations, admitted shot and killed a policeman in the suburban Mc-Cook police station Monday.

Henry Brisbon, 17, said he fatally shot policeman Robert Giovannoni, 37, after taking the policeman's revolver from a desk and using another gun to shoot and destroy records of his arrest.

Police said the youth told them Giovannoni tried to resist, and "I shot him twice."

CALL UNANSWERED

Giovannoni, acting desk sergeant and alone in the station, was shot in the neck and the back. He crawled to a radio transmitter on his desk and cried, "Help! Help!" He then crept to the front door of the station where he was found dead by Police Chief Matt Podgen when he returned from patrol.

Giovannoni's dying call on the radio went unanswered because he was not able to identify his station in the alarm that went over a radio frequency serving 10 southwest suburban villages and towns.

Padgen said Westely, a high school student, was arrested after the police found friends' cars, and two companions were taken to the McCook station and booked.

Two Canadians Wounded by Mine In Palestine

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Two Canadian officers serving as members of the United Nations truce supervisory team, were seriously injured today when they stepped on a mine while investigating penetration of Israeli troops into demilitarized zone. An Israeli official source identified the men as Maj. J. L. Flint and Maj. Marcel Bresult.

The mine exploded as the men were making an inspection in the Mount Scopus area.

The spokesman said one Jordanian officer was slightly injured by the blast.

The Israeli military spokesman added that the two observers must have walked into one of many old minefields with which area abounds since the Israel Arab war.

Ross Thatcher Joins Liberals, Future Uncertain

OTTAWA (CP)—Ross Thatcher's political future was a question mark today in the wake of the Saskatchewan member's action in switching his Commons allegiance from the opposition to the Government side.

Mr. Thatcher bolted the CCF last year. Monday he left the Independent group in the Liberal caucus and said his plans for the next general election are completely indefinite.

While he would like to run as a Liberal candidate in his Moose Jaw-Lake Centre riding, he didn't know whether he could get the nomination. Though Prime minister St. Laurent had accepted him into the party.

MAY QUIT POLITICS

After his Commons announcement of his second political shift in 15 months, he told a reporter he might even quit politics after this parliament.

One report was that if he were not nominated in his home constituency he might try to take Assiniboia, Sask., away from Hazen Argue of the CCF.

Mr. Thatcher, 39, a wealthy hardware merchant and rancher, made the Commons political cabaret since the last war in swinging to the Liberals. He also had made the first, in abandoning the CCF April 22, 1955.

Long at odds with the Socialist party's leadership over such issues as basic CCF thinking on foreign policy and the rate of social security expansion, Mr. Thatcher told the Commons Monday his political philosophy is generally in line with that of the Liberals.

RESIGN, SAYS COLDWELL

Shortly after he announced he had become a Liberal, CCF leader Coldwell suggested he should resign his House seat.

Mr. Coldwell, not in the Commons when Mr. Thatcher made his not-unexpected announcement, said in a press statement later that "for a long time he has owed it to his constituents to place himself in their hands."

"Now, in the next federal election they will have a chance to express themselves on his new allegiance," Mr. Coldwell added.

SEEK DIFFICULTY

MISSENDEN, England (CP) — Earl Attlee, former prime minister, Sunday told delegates attending the opening session of a Commonwealth youth conference here that the conference was going to have a hard time in the future, "with the Asian people from 12 countries to remember the Commonwealth was not "exclusive from the rest of the world."

World Bank Says Offer to Assist With Dam Is off

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—World bank officials said Monday that the bank's offer to help finance the Aswan high dam in Egypt fell through when the United States and Britain withdrew their support for the project last week.

They had been asked to comment upon a Cairo report quoting Egyptian Finance Minister Abdel Moneim Kaisuny as saying that the world bank would finance the high dam scheme in due course."

A bank spokesman said that Black had written Kaisuny July 5. But the letter had been to thank the Egyptian minister for hospitality Black enjoyed in Egypt on a one-day visit.

The letter did not make any new commitments," the spokesman said.

Fire Final Shot In Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Monday that the final shot has been fired in this year's nuclear test series in the Pacific and claimed progress in perfecting atomic weapons with reduced lethal fall-out.

A joint announcement by the defence department and the Atomic Energy Commission said that test activities in the Bikini-Eniwetok area will continue a little longer after which surface and air restrictions within the control area will be removed.

PEACE DECLARED

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan and the Philippines Monday formally ended their state of war prevailing since the Second World War and exchanged instruments ratifying agreement on payment by Japan of war reparations totalling $550,000,000. Payment is to be made in goods and services over the next 20 years.

Nasser Assails U.S. Withdrawal Of Offer of Aid

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters) — Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser today accused the United States of "shameless disregard for international relations" in withdrawing an aid offer for the Aswan Dam.

"If there is an uproar in Washington, which aims with shameless disregard for international relations and without basis of truth to cast doubt on the Egyptian economy, then I turn and say 'You may die in your wrath,'" Nasser said. "For you will not be able to dominate us or control our existence."

Doubt that the Egyptian economy was strong enough to support the huge Nile River dam project was a reason given by both the U.S. and Britain for withdrawal of their $70,000,000 aid offers last week. But dissatisfaction over Egyptian diplomatic flirtations with Communism was another key cause of the withdrawals.

Nasser, speaking at the inauguration of an "Allies" or "Battle of resistance and pipeline today, announced that on Thursday he will give Egypt's plans for carrying out the Aswan Dam and other projects and that "we will justify our prestige and not in humiliation."

Chinese Release 328 Jap Captives

HONG KONG (AP) — Peiping Radio said 328 Japanese prisoners of war and a convicted war criminal were handed over to Japanese relief organizations today in Tientsin by the Chinese Red Cross.

Included in the group was Rikuzo Takebe, former civil official of the puppet Japanese state of Manchukuo (Manchuria). Red China released him after sentencing him to 20 years imprisonment.

Last month the first group of 335 Japanese soldiers and civilians were released by Communist China, where they had been held 10 years on war crimes charges. Japanese spokesmen last May said more than 1,000 Japanese are as prisoners in China were on the repatriation list.

It Is Noisy in Country

(By John Gould, in The Christian Science Monitor)

The snarl of a chainsaw, ripping through solid wood in the mid-too-distance, sounds like bright summer morn, and as I got into my clothes and out of the house the alarm I ran through the differences between waking up now and waking years ago gone by. The sounds of dawn and morn have changed, not to mention to what extent the chainsaw has been heard by the teeming millions. And it is a distinctive invasion, unlike the outboard motor and the noisy lawnmower, and totally foreign to the accepted tones of voice of the rural scene.

Of course, a really noisy thing in the country. The jokes about city folks who come up here and can't sleep because it's too quiet are simply jokes, and don't arise from good knowledge of the subject. The first night as I drifted off into slumber the frogs in our little pond were hard at it, and the noise they made would challenge anything in the city.

Besides the peepers, who peep one at a time but whose concert is overwhelming when you hear it could hear many a tree frog down in the hollow. There are a few real old boomer frogs were going, with long, foghorn groans. Also the bullfrogs, who sound like one or two unidentified toads who sound, at times, like a wild, wild woman laughing hysterically through a tin pipe.

Then there's a couple of dogs barking on yonder hill, a whippoorwill somewhere, a screech owl home off in the orchard, and a lonely owl philosophizing in the thoughtful way of owls at the barn. I drifted off in the cacophony, and I love it, and was very happy for bushels, but I can see how some might consider it disturbing.

As the night wears along this noise abates, until the last hour of true darkness is silent and attentive. Then I hear the noises of morning, and with them the first reflected glimmer of the coming of noon. As a boy I liked this time, for things began to happen and there was life quiet no simply the absence of noise but the presence of good things to come.

That my dad was at that time was Betsy, the long legged beagle, would stir from the foot of the bed, and the cats, who usually sometimes whimper slightly, and then stretch and settle back to outwait me. Roosters would begin to crow, and you'd hear the ducks in the waterers. Today's yesterday was always in the early light, like boys getting ready to play a prank, and then one of them will quack out loud and the day has begun.

Creaking floorboards in other parts of the house would betray that others were up. I could hear the sizzle of bacon, the smell of wood ashes were sifted down into the stove, and somebody called a breakfast fire. There would be the sloshing of somebody washing up, and the back door slam, followed by the rush of water from the sink spout under the pear tree, and the plucking of hens who gathered at the sound to see what went on.

Down the road, next place but one, Pinky Dunning, would be pumping a tub of water for the cows. The handle squeaked, and this time came to me understanding. I could even hear a cow pull her foot from the mud now and then, a sloshing plopping sound. Pinky would tell Brightseye to move along or Buttercup to stop pushing, and shortly I'd hear the dry hinges on his lane gate squeal and shut.

Then Mrs. Pinky would stick her head out the window and call, "Breakfast's ready, Cedric!" Nobody called Pinky Cedric, except Mrs. Pinky. It was time I got out, and Beve and I would come down to the oatmeal and fried eggs.

The electric pump has eliminated the squeaky pump handle, and changing times have eliminated the early-morning farmer, and his handful of cows. The chainsaw is not an ideal successor to those other pleasing sounds. Indeed, lumbering and woodchopping seem pretty summertime in a way. We'd hear the ring of the axe on frosty days, when it was cool enough to take some exercise. Today a man can lay down the thousand feet of pine before the sun gets high enough to be warm, and the seasonal nature of logging has disappeared.

Nobody shouts at a tractor, and the yelling of good teamsters has gone from the morning air, too. Unless the muffler has been knocked off on a rock, the tractor runs quietly enough in the field, the hum blending with the birds and the quiet old fashioned teamster, articulating his intent, could entertain a whole region on the sound carrying dewy air of a summer a.m.

Frank Beaudoin was tops in this section. He used both French and English, sometimes together, for his horses were bilingual, and it was said his leather lungs could vibrate the Free-Will Baptist bell in a mile and a half. Sometimes he would yell, and the expression came into the public domain and modernized clapboard to drop down the road. In planting time, and during haying, when Frank was up at daybreak to get things done before the day hot up, my awakening included, as I say, what turns around the field with Frank, and Frank and Dave and Bolding-hup-law and so on. Such mutualai melodies are lost.

Not that nature has changed, too. Remember how early motorists, out for a spin in the country were always picking off chickens? That was because the poultry ran loose in those days. Hens are let out in the road during and waiting for nightfall. But today better management calls for ranges, and many a fine bird lives indoors from egg to soup pot and never sets foot on the ground. Thus the rooster is cut off at the source. We still have roosters, but they don't stand under the window and announce the dawn with the same unrestricted verve. Other roosters, unheard, offer no reply in kind.

Morning with a chainsaw is scarcely an improvement, says I.

Not a New Idea

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

"Crackups Make Night Best Yet for Stock" say a headline, meaning the stock cars in the arena are put on for the enjoyment of the crowd. It is not Shakespeare.

The ancient Romans were entertained by sending other humans into the arena to meet wild animals, and if nothing special happened, the crowd was disappointed.

How to Mow With Scythe

(Ottawa Journal)

Time was when men and boys went forth at dew-moist dawn to mow fields and meadows. Dew helped the other, offset the distance each one had to travel to the stint, for, they moved across lowland and upland field. There was soft, satisfying sound to the razor-sharp scythes laid low the lush grass; there was a pleasant, low noises as men's arms swung scythes in steady strokes.

At intervals the men rested the end of the swaths on the ground, whetstones appeared from swivel pockets and touched up cutting edges while metallic, hollow-ringing sounds came to the ear.

Grandfather took pleasure in showing a youth how to mow. "Keep the heel down," he would say. "Don't try to take too wide a swath — just move your feet about a few inches with each stroke. It's the free and easy motion of unhurried swing that makes good mowing." Grandfather was a master craftsman with made and scythe. For half a century he had been mowing in season.

Today the scythe is still used for trimming along brooks and creeks, along fences and walls. Men who want to cut a small load of green feed for cows or hens still use the crooked wooden handle and sharp-edged steel blade.

Fashioned into the cradle, the scythe blade has harvested untold acres of small grains. One cannot single out an individual tool and say that it has had the greatest influence in the development of world agriculture and in solving the problem of feeding hundreds of millions of human beings. But when the definitive history of agriculture is written by a perceptive author, the scythe and sickle will have an honored place.

Wren Family Interesting

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

It isn't necessary to become a professional bird watcher for a person to suddenly realize that they can become very interested in the feathered life going on around them. While gardening more and more outdoors during the summer months, it becomes quite convenient for them to suddenly observe, while eating lunch on the verandah, that the many birds busily going about the business of the world's progress.

Although the least colorful of the many birds that infest this area the tiny wren is among one of the busiest as it attempts to build its nest and later feed and teach its circumstances over which they have no control. Get rid of all this, Canada, begin injustice and distribute the world's possession on the bases of men's just deserts. When this happens, the kingdom will have arrived.

Is A Husband A Man or A Mouse?

"Is there some way in which I can locate a doctor who would be willing to deliver a baby at home? I have talked to several but they are much against it. Having had one baby in a hospital, I'm afraid to go to the hospital again." (Mrs. M. H.)

Many such queries in the mail these days.

I'm sorry I can't afford to maintain a directory service, to help these people keep their dignity. I can only urge them not to be intimidated by the vehemence of the doctors who are "against it." Despite anything they or their gullible customers may say or imply, I assure you, without fear of contradiction, that home is safest place to have a baby. If any physician or nurse tell her like those obstetric patients to be incarcerated in an institution we can cite vital statistics or other evidence to refute this statement, if it is his duty to do so.

In this column in the past year or two I have quoted the words of some women who have had babies at home. First there was the movie star, Colette Gray (Mrs. Bill Bidlack), who, in a correspondence course, told how her first baby in a hospital and didn't want any more of that atmosphere.

"Having a baby is one of the most beautiful experiences in a woman's life, I wanted in on it," said Miss Gray. In the hospital they had given her "a shot of something—and the next thing I knew I had a baby. They had me and my baby have been grateful. I want."

Another movie star, Roy Rogers (Mrs. Paul Douglas), said, "One Hollywood doctor said he'd deliver my baby for $2,000 and I'll say another who quoted a $3,000 fee to one of my friends. You know how much I got? Nothing. Absolutely—$200!"

Mrs. and Mrs. John Boyd (Buck) Rodgers Jr., of Wilmetia, Chicago suburb, didn't want hospital routine and arranged for obstetric room rules of having their baby excised behind a nursery window in the first week of the child's life. So they began a systematic campaign of doctors around Chicago. They heard all the old familiar arguments against home births, but of course including that frightful one about not having at hand all the equipment for transfusion, etc. Someday, I suppose, such an emergency will actually occur, but I'll probably not hear about it because I will have been eliminated by a drunken driver on my way to the bowling green. At last the Rodgers-se found a doctor—Dr. Brady—who gave his enthusiastic approval to their plans.

"There was some discomfort, but no actual pain," recalled Mrs Rod. gers. "I had no anesthetics and felt no need for any. . . . Of course we had some fear of the unknown I wanted to have our second baby at home, too . . . this time was the correspondence course known element. . ."

I hope every prospective parent who reads this piece will get the idea that a husband who is not willing to be at the delivery is uninterested, as concerned, and as responsible for the baby as his wife may be. So I repeat, a man's place is at his wife's side when she is having their baby.

The prospective father should Another movie star, Jeanne Crain, does about childbirth. He should accompany her whenever possible to the doctor's office and listen to the doctor's advice and instructions.

THE GOOD THAT WE HAVE

All of us have certain characteristics, hobbies, or happy interests that set us apart, but if we only knew to be quiet of attracting attention or merely creating excitement, much of the good we have must be of short duration. A person must keep growing if he would keep a trail of friends throughout life.

The matter of your attainment, if you keep bettering it; you will not grow stale and lack interest in your friends. Be interesting and you will keep flaming anew. Increase the good you have and more and you need not worry about the final results. It is always an inspiring thought to imagine what you will be like many years ahead. If you have a positive and very useful alive, people will remark: "How young you look!" And there may be a deal of truth in the statement.

The good we have within us is the best capital that we may ever know. Don't let us barter or trade it for a mess of pottage! We owe the good that is within us to God, to a noble father or saintly mother —or a great amount of it may have been due to the great, early ideals and dreams of youth, and then added to by the years that seem a well worth while plan of life.

It's your own good that matters most. Don't let it get out of hand, as the saying goes. Keep enriching it and enjoy the benefits of being others along the same happy lines as yourself. Divide yourself and your good with yourself in distant points of the compass. There is no limit to the generosity of the heart, and rare intelligence in dividing ourselves up for the purpose of bringing beauty, hope and good respect to others, but genuine religion as well.

Only by experience can we learn the truth about the "good" that we have, for only things that we keep are the things we give away. But before we give away our goodness let us be the best that we know—and keep getting better!

TRUE KINGDOM OF GOD

People often talk about the coming of the kingdom of God, and most of those who do, think of the Kingdom as some great event in the material world in which we live. They observe the fact that most of the world is not yet in the hands of a few people, that multitudes starve in a world of plenty, that the unworthy are often in positions of trust, and that the best and truest often get back by circumstances over which they

Jesus further came to establish the kingdom of God on earth and did so. You and I must do our part every day in the upbuilding and advancing of this kingdom, but its ultimate triumph is in hands mightier than ours.

depart as soon as it came. There would be no stability in a kingdom like that. That kingdom must be wiped out, that love must reign instead of hate, that good must triumph—all this is part of the Biblical concept of the kingdom of God. But these things are the result of the kingdom, the fruits of the kingdom, not the kingdom of God in men's hearts. It is spiritual, not material. It has profound material effects but they are results, not causes.

NAZISM REVIVING?

A German undercover group has warned U.S. Ambassador James Conant that it is prepared to fight to rid Germany of foreign troops.

Conant received a letter from the "Fighting Association for an Independent Germany."

"It is not clear," says the Associated Press, "whether the undercover organization is a group of cranks or Communists or a well-organized political movement."

It appears fairly clear to us that it may well be none of these three alternatives.

In the first place, if one were a German one would not need to be a crank, a Communist or a member of a well-organized political movement to wish to see foreign troops ousted from one's country.

Troops of any nation are always guilty of some misdemeanors, for the very simple reason that they are all human and whenever one assembles a great many men a group there are certain to be some men of bad character among them. Even in foreign lands, particularly in countries which have recently been enemies, the likelihood of trouble with the civilian population is enhanced. Such misdemeanors as have been reported have involved in a number of unsavory incidents, tavern brawls, assaults and rapes. The U.S. Army authorities have imposed a midnight curfew in an effort to reduce these crimes. It is understood that Germans should be incensed by these incidents. It may be argued that the Germans have only themselves to blame, that the occupation by foreign troops is the result of their own failure to curb their own false leaders a couple of decades ago. Still, ten years after the end of the war, there must be thousands of young Germans to whom the war years are only a dim memory. It is surprising if they did not wish to see foreign troops withdrawn from their homeland.

Unfortunately, though, this explanation of the nature of the "Fighting Association for an Independent Germany" does not seem to fit all the facts.

"We will no longer bear the further presence of foreign troops on our holy soil," declared the Association's letter to Conant.

Whenever anybody starts talking about "holy soil" or "sacred motherland," one has good reason to be suspicious.

In this case, the suspicions appear well founded. The Association's letter assailed what it termed control of German policies by "Jewish money and foreign blood."

These words have a familiar, and ugly, ring.

If they are the words of cranks, the cranks are dangerous.

They are hardly the words of Communists, not with the new party line condemning the anti-Semitism which developed in Communist parties during the late years of Stalin's regime.

They are not necessarily the words of a well-organized political movement. But the movement could become well organized. There is disturbing evidence that the anti-Semitism which was one of the main planks of the Nazis has never been eradicated in Germany.

It is probable that, far from misdemeanors by U.S. soldiers being the cause of this Nazi revival, these incidents are merely being used as a means to enlist support amongst the populace.

NEHRU SURPRISED

Tito, Nasser and Nehru have been conferring in Yugoslavia.

Speculation that they might attempt to organize a "third force" between the capitalistic, democratic west and Russian Communism aroused interest in the conference.

This surprised Prime Minister Nehru.

"It is really extraordinary that we cannot hold a friendly meeting without you of the press attaching the highest importance to it," he remarked.

If that were a western politician speaking, or for that matter if it were the voice of a Kremlin habitue, the world would be justified in jumping to the conclusion that something big was in the wind.

When nothing is being accomplished, big claims of progress are made. When there are important developments, everybody insists that the meeting is just a routine one. That is the pattern of past international conferences.

But Nehru is neither of the democratic West nor of the Communist East. He is just possible to mean exactly what he said — and that nothing much will come of the Yugoslavian meeting.

ENTERS CANADIAN FIELD

One of the kingpins of world mining is joining the search for Canadian mineral wealth.

This mining financing-developing-managing organization—Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa—will likely have a major impact on the Canadian mining industry just as the role Canada plays as a supplier of vital raw materials for world industry.

Already, its Canadian arm—New Consolidated Canadian Exploration Ltd.—has been examining Canadian properties and is taking an option on a base metal property in New Brunswick.

This giant mining-finance organization, that dates back to 1893, has interests in mines in South Africa, Australia and South and North America estimated worth some $120 million.—(Toronto Financial Post.)

THE CONVENTION CITY

This talking
Of germs and disease,
And real estate agents
Of contracts and leases,
And why you're dissatisfied
His rent, when you may
As well buy a home for Yourself anyway?

We've plumbers in session,
And candy men, too,
And builders of warships,
And makers of glue,
Electrical workers,
And makers of glass;
All trades and professions
Are here by the score.

The butcher, the baker,
The candlestick maker,
And, yes, in his plaintive,
The grim undertaker;
Each set and each craft,
Far too many to mention,
Come here to this town
To sit in convention.

The fame of the city
Is world-wide today.
From far distant countries
They travel our way.
Our glory is spreading,
Our charms travel on.
Of friends we have millions;
Of enemies, none.

Oshawa Youth Loses Both Legs

OSHAWA (CP) — A 16-year-old youth was in fair condition in hospital today after losing both legs above the knees when he was run over by a coasting boxcar in a CNR yard.

Witnesses said Dale Robinson apparently did not hear the boxcar approaching. He was working beside a power shovel. Three cars had already coasted by him safely and he was knocked down and dragged under the fourth.

WILD SHOOTING SPREE

MEDFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Police said ex-marine Wayne O. Henderson, 34—"under the influence of alcohol"—shot his mother-in-law to death, wounded his wife and father-in-law and then killed himself early Sunday in a wild shooting spree following a family argument.

Shapely Marilyn Does Not Dress To Please Woman

LONDON (CP) — In case anyone was wondering, Marilyn Monroe doesn't dress to please other women.

The shapely star banished any lingering doubts on that score Monday when someone confronted her with some unflattering remarks on her wardrobe by Jean Seward, fashion writer for the News Chronicle.

"It seems to me," Miss Monroe stated, "that any woman who dresses to please women is only fooling herself — not other women."

Falls Under Tractor

KITCHENER (CP) — A seven-year-old Bridgeport boy was killed Monday night when he fell from a tractor into the path of the rear wheels. Bridgeport is a suburb of Kitchener.

Police said Douglas Brubacher, 7, was riding on the right fender of the tractor which was driven by Benny Tempas, hired man on the Irvin Brubacher farm.

The pair were on their way to get a load of hay from a field adjacent to the Bridgeport Speedway. They were taking a short cut across the speedway when Douglas fell.

COWBOY ROBBER

TORONTO (CP) — A one-gun "cowboy" in 10-gallon hat, long sideburns and a handlebar moustache held up a dry cleaners store Saturday and escaped with $200. The woman clerk said the gunslinger swaggered in "like the bad man in a western movie."

FIND INFANT'S BODY NOT KIDNAPPED BOY

Barge capt. Fred J. Fraquelli, kneeling behind a covered body on a New York pier, points to spot in the Hudson river from where he pulled it. The infant's body at first appeared to fit description of the kidnapped Weinberger baby, who was stolen from his Westbury, L.I., home July 4. Later examination led to belief by police that the body was not that of the Weinberger boy.

Will Not Shoot Foreign Planes On Sight

MOSCOW (AP)—Marshal S. I. Rudenko, Soviet air force chief of staff, says the Soviet air force has been ordered not to shoot on sight foreign planes intruding into Soviet air space.

But he told reporters Monday that the United States will be responsible for any future incidents resulting from flights by American planes over Soviet territory.

Russia charged July 10 that U. S. twin-engine, medium bombers from West Germany had flown over Russian territory east of Poland on July 4, 5, and 8. The United States denied the charges.

Britain May Switch To Selective Service

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The government next week may announce consideration is being given to introduction of a form of selective service for Britain's armed forces.

If adopted, selective service would replace the present system of compulsory national service under which whole age groups are called up for a two-year period of service.

Although no concrete decision is likely for some time, it is felt the government may take advantage of the defence debate scheduled next week to feel out the Commons' reaction to selective service.

Weddings

MOORE—FRALEIGH

PICTON. — A lovely wedding was solemnized at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, by the Rev. Stephen Spurrell, when Marilyn Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fraleigh, Bloomfield, became the bride of Jack Percy, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Arthur Moore, Bloomfield. Standards of pink gladioli and white lupins made a pretty setting.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. C. Stanton. Mrs. Donald Faul sang "Walk Hand in Hand With Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an afternoon dress in pale yellow featuring a full skirt. She wore a small white hat and her flowers were tawney gold roses and Pinnochio pomo.

Miss Eleanor Fraleigh was bridesmaid for her sister. She wore in a pale blue afternoon dress with small blue hat and matching accessories. Her flowers were Demure roses.

Mr. Charles Brushey, Bloomfield, was groomsman.

The reception followed at Maple Inn. The bride's mother chose white printed nylon with corsage of white roses and red rosette roses. The bridegroom's mother was in pale blue frosted nylon with white accessories and corsage of pink rosette roses.

The bride's table, covered with a linen cloth, was centred with the wedding cake flanked by pink tapers and low vases of sweet-peas.

Servers were the Misses Donna Rolston, Patricia Bowyer, Jeanette Hefferan and Jane Ann Thompson.

For a trip to North Bay and south to Watertown, N.Y., the bride donned a tan linen suit with white accessories and corsage of bronze poms and tawney gold Sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Bloomfield.

Out-of-town guests included Sgt. and Mrs. J. J. McLeod and Jon, of Wainwright, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Neilson of Mimico.

Modish Mermaid

By ALICE ALDEN

Mermaids this year are swimming or sunning in suits that are pretty girl functional—as a nice 'n colorful one-piece has been available in many a year. This one trim and trig, is of acetate taffeta in such check combinations as brown or black or yellow and white. Bands edge the covered camisole top and forms shoulder straps; there is buttoned detail at the hipline and the checked pattern is used every which-away for briskly smart results. Catalina is responsible for this suit which should have a happy season.

Mohawk Woman Fashions Dazzling Horse-Racing Silks

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Some of the most dazzling horse-racing silks in North America are fashioned by Mrs. Oliver Smith, a Mohawk woman of the Six Nations reserve near here.

She has an established reputation for hand-sewing these shirts for jockeys and harness-race drivers. Her pieces easily compete with machine-sewn uniforms, but she has a special knowledge of the requirements — her brother Don Smith is a harness racer at Batavia, N.Y., and another brother, Jay Silverheels, is known in Hollywood as "Tonto."

Don Smith was having trouble with his store-purchased racing garb a few years ago. The suits were expensive and they didn't seem to last. He asked his sister to try her hand and she completed a set of silks. The hand-made job was so successful she soon had orders from many other drivers. "You did a fine job," one driver said. "These suits last."

From racing fans Mrs. Smith was led into pulpit robes. Both the senior and junior choirs at Trinity Church in Simcoe, Ont., wear Mrs. Smith's cassocks and surplices. She also supplies church members at St. James' in Branchton.

The family isn't forgotten, either. Mrs. Smith makes most of the clothing for her three daughters, trousers and jackets for her husband and two sons.

Belleville Family Greatly Enjoys Boat Cruise to Georgian Bay

What could be more relaxing or more enjoyable than a 21-day cruise through the scenic beauty of the Trent Canal and Georgian Bay? This is the question Mr. and Mrs. Jim Scriven, assistant superintendent of the Belleville Utilities Waterworks system, and their two sons, Roger and Paul, asked themselves upon their arrival home on Saturday evening, refreshed in mind and body.

It was a complete change from the crowded highway with their footling motors. Instead of the hectic pace necessitated for safety from being rammed from the rear, and the eternal vigilance for fear of a sudden stop of those in front, there were the calm waters of the canal with its green-lined banks whose beauty spots could be viewed at a leisurely ten miles per hour.

THROUGH LIFT LOCKS

Leaving Belleville on the evening of Saturday, June 28, they cruised as far as Trenton where they spent the night on board. In the morning they were escorted through the locks as far as Campbellford by the Mobile Crews. At Peterborough they went through the locks there, and at Kirkfield, near the Severn River, and through the two marine railways, one at Swift Rapids, with a lift of 57 feet, and at Big Chute, with a lift of 58 feet. In all, they passed through 43 locks having a total lift of 643 feet, with that at Peterborough the highest, being 45 feet. The lock at Kirkfield was 49 feet, and the lowest lock was that between Lovesick Lake, and Deer Bay, with a height of but three feet, five inches.

They spent four days at Beausoleil, near Midland, which is five miles long and three miles wide. This island had sandy beaches, interesting old Indian trails, and good docking facilities, and can be reached by water, only. So far, Mr. and Mrs. Scriven have been the only residents of this city to visit Beausoleil.

The cabin launch on which they spent this ideal vacation was remodelled by Mr. Scriven. It has a length of 24 feet, and a beam of approximately eight feet, and is outfitted with four comfortable bunks, and dining facilities. Most meals were enjoyed on board; though, if they were in town, lunch or supper was eaten in one of the many restaurants.

Occasionally they caught some fish, which, for the most part were medium sized bass. Otherwise, they were well stocked with provisions to last during the entire cruise of 630 miles.

During the day the weather was pleasantly warm when they were as few clothes as necessary, but in the mornings sweaters and leather jackets were the order of the day, which were again donned at night time as the thermometer showed a decided decrease.

All in all, Mr. and Mrs. Scriven are most enthusiastic about their water vacation, and if all things are propitious, they intend to repeat their five holiday on the waterways again next year.

Women's Activities

THOMASBURG GUILD

Christ church guild of Thomasburg, met at the home of Mrs. Percy Mooney.

The president opened the meeting in the usual manner, the Rev. J. Woodward leading the devotions.

The Scripture was taken from St. Luke 16:1-14.

There was a lengthy period of discussion and it was decided to have a "home made bake sale" in Tweed, on August 11.

The program consisted of piano selections: "Star of the Sea" by Ruth Morgan and "Falling Waters" by Karen Morton. Readings were given by Mrs. Lewis Morton, "Doctors Language" and "The Highlights of Life" by Mrs. Murray Morgan.

After the meeting was closed hostess served refreshments.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. William Geen.

HILLIER W.A.

HILLIER SOUTH — The July meeting of Hillier Hall W.A. was held at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Wannamaker on the evening of the 12th with a good attendance.

Greetings to members were extended and the meeting opened with the hymn "Showers of Blessing" followed by Scripture read in unison from John 3, 1-21. The story of an airman was told how he accepted the call of "Who-so-ever".

Mrs. W. Cunningham was pianist and Miss V. Istead acting secretary.

Business period took care of all current matters. Correspondence and financial reports were read. Responding for gifts were: Mrs. E. Carson; Mrs. Rose Pierson, and Mrs. Noble Young.

Mrs. W. Cunningham had charge of the devotional exercises and delivered a splendid talk on, "Prayer".

Program consisted of readings by Mrs. Channel, Mrs. G. Jackson, and Mrs. G. Vandusen.

A contest was conducted by Mrs. L. Wight, with favors going to Mrs. Channel.

Mrs. Tice and Miss Istead assisted in the hostess in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Vandusen thanked the hostess for opening her home and those who helped with the evening's entertainment.

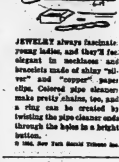
Mrs. F. Jackson will entertain the group for the August meeting on the night of 15th of August.

Departing Residents Presented With Farewell Gifts

A most pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane, Shannonville, when about forty friends and neighbors gathered there to wish "bon voyage" to their son, daughter-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McFarlane, on the eve of their departure, to take up residence at Napanee.

Progressive euchre was enjoyed by the guests. Mrs. Kilpatrick winning first for the ladies, Mrs. Bennett, second and Mrs. Feelan, third. For the men, Robert McFarlane won first prize; Norman Driver, second and Arthur Smith, third. The lucky teacup prize was won by Mrs. Jack McFarlane.

ADDRESS READ



Mr. and Mrs. Jack McFarlane and family, were asked to take seats of honor when an address was read by Mrs. A. Puritt and a beautiful trilight floor lamp and chrome rocking chair were presented by Mrs. R. Vesterfelt on behalf of their friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane made suitable replies thanking them for gifts and inviting all to visit them in their new home.

Bountiful refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants after which a social hour was spent in community singing with music provided by Mrs. H. Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane and family will be greatly missed in the community, church, Sunday school and school. All wish them much happiness in their new home. They had resided with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane for five years.

Bay of Quinte WA Conference Meets At Oak Lake

On Monday, the executive of the Bay of Quinte conference Woman's Association, met at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Elliott, Oak Lake.

A pot-luck luncheon with fine fellowship was enjoyed.

At two o'clock, Mrs. W. T. Elliott, the president, opened the meeting with a few words of gracious welcome.

Mrs. Morley Davidson, devotional chairman, gave a lovely devotional talk. Business included arrangements to the semi-annual rally to be held in Trinity United church, Bowmanville, on September 24th, which will emphasize the "Practical Side of the W.A." A model business meeting will be conducted by members of Cobourg Presbytery and the speaker will be an officer of Dominion Council W.A.

A committee was formed to compile the history of Woman's Association in Canada.

There was a splendid attendance including Mrs. A. A. Crowle, Oshawa; Mrs. Claude Ives, Mrs. F. Hyland and Mrs. B. Reynolds, Bowmanville; Mrs. M. J. Tamblyn, Orono; Miss E. BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TAKE VACATION TAN IN SMALL DOSES

Apply suntan lotion not only before swimming, but afterwards, too.

It's easy to tell, these days, just which of the girls you see on the highways and byways have already had vacations: which still have this pleasure ahead. Their complexions tell the story. Those who've already been away sport lovely golden tans. The others are still fair-skinned or, at most, show partial tans acquired over weekends.

If you are one of the lucky gals who's still looking forward to her annual two weeks with play—and to the tan that goes with it—Do take your tanning easy. Don't leave town with a peaches and cream complexion and try to become a sun-bronzed goddess overnight. Trying to rush the job will only end in misery for yourself and could ruin your complexion for years.

For the first few days of your vacation, limit yourself to fifteen minutes of sunbathing at a time. Then increase the number of minutes daily. And, from the very beginning of your vacation period, use a good suntan lotion. They come in so many forms these days—cream style, lotion style and oily types. The choice is up to you. And the amount you use depends on whether you tan easily or not. If you're the type whose skin rarely tans but only burns and blisters, don't ever expose yourself to the direct rays of the sunlight. No matter what you may hear to the contrary, there is no suntan lotion, cream or ointment which can make you tan if old Mother Nature has given you the type of skin that won't. As the Cosmetics Committee of the American Medical Association puts it:

"No suntan preparation, regardless of its claim, will enhance your tanning potential. Some products contain iodine which stains the skin and gives the illusion of a tan but, in time, it washes off."

However, if your skin is the type which does tan nicely, use the lotion to protect the skin from dryness, irritation and the many blemish as caused by over-exposure to the sun. And use them lavishly. Don't think that because you put on a good coating before going out into the sun that you're protected for a whole day. You should reapply generously at least every two hours and, if you swim, you should put on another coating immediately after coming out of the water.

Don't think, either, that because you happen to be a brunette, that you can safely escape burning and blistering. Brunettes should be as careful as their fair-haired sisters. Direct exposure to sunlight dries out the oils in every type of skin. So, while you may acquire a tan more quickly, if a brunette, if you haven't protected yourself adequately, the chances are that by summer's end, you'll find yourself with a skin like leather. And that's no beauty asset!

Skins that are sensitive require double protection—especially in the areas which burn most easily—nose, shoulders, neck, instep and the backs of the knees. Apply double coatings of your suntan product in these spots, and, if necessary, re-apply every half hour. If lying on the beach and there's a chance that you may fall asleep, cover yourself with a robe and see that feet and ankles are also covered. Some of the worst sunburn cases have resulted from falling asleep while exposed to brilliant sunlight.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU ALREADY KNOW MOST OF THE ANSWERS YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm in love with a fellow who is only out to get what he can from any one he dates. He has everything, and can get almost any girl to go out with him.

Once in awhile he calls me, but, even then, if I want to go out with him I have to suggest it myself. To date, I've gone out with him three times, and I still have his respect. Now he hasn't called me in three weeks. Once I overheard him telling his best friend that he wants me to chase him, but I don't like making a fool of myself.

Since the last time I've dated him I've gone out with a lot of other fellows, but I can't forget him. I really love him and it's hard without him. Should I wait for him to stop being so wild, or should I occasionally go to the place where I know he is likely to be?—Joan

Dear Joan:

It seems to me you already know most of the answers to the questions in your mind.

You say this fellow is out to get what he can from any girl he dates, but that, after having gone out with him three times, you "still have his respect." It's obvious you know the answer here.

Then you ask me if you should occasionally visit a place where you know you are likely to run into him. But you also say you don't want to make a fool of yourself by chasing him. So there you have another question to which you supply the answer.

Again, you want to know if you should "wait for him to stop being so wild," and I'm quite sure you know equally well just what the answer to that one is, too. I might add, however, that I can't imagine why you would ever think of "waiting" for this chap, since he seems to have made it pretty clear that he's not interested in your waiting.

All I can say to your asserting that you "really love" him is that this is one point on which you apparently have not yet worked out the answer. Since that's the case, suppose I give you the answer myself, and it's just this:

You don't "really love" this fellow at all. There may be something about him which attracts and fascinates you so much—it might even be that wildness of his which you're so sure you're against—that you, with it and suddenly turn into a nice boy in whom it would be perfectly all right for you to be interested. But that's not love, so don't keep on telling yourself romantic fairy stories about him.

Among those fairy stories may be one in which you picture yourself as his guardian angel, whose noble influence, after him, turns a bad boy into a good one. But that's not love, either. That's just wishful thinking—and dramatizing yourself.

The answer to your letter as a whole is: Keep on going out with the other fellows," have all the good times you can and stop going over the "I can't forget him!" routine. If you'll just be content to do this for awhile, two things will definitely happen.

The first will happen so soon it'll surprise you. It's that you'll discover you like some other and nicer boy much better than you ever thought you liked that one. The second thing—which will take a bit longer—is that if you'll always be careful to choose the right kind of boys for friends, the time will come when you really will love one of them—and this time you'll be right!

STYLISH SEPARATES

By VERA WINSTON

Offered today is a sketch of a costume composed of separates that can be paired off for perfect combinations. The two parts shown here are the blouse and skirt, while shorts and a long-sleeved shirt are available to match. The fabric is cotton, the colors are orange and green in a nicely defined geometric print. Square neckline and short puffed sleeves are blouse details. The skirt has one wide, flared, unpressed pleat and there are pockets in the side seams. A separate self belt with a gilt buckle slips through self loops.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

CONCERNING THE FORM "TEA AND SHERRY"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Through an organization in our church, to which we both belong, I have met and gotten to know quite a bit, a very charming and socially important woman quite a bit older than I. She has a beautiful summer home in the country nearby, and I have just received an invitation to a party she is giving the last of next month. I'm so interested in one detail on this invitation: in the lower left corner is "Tea and Sherry." I have never seen this before—is it often used?—R.S.

"Tea and Sherry" is not very often used, but interestingly, today more often used than formerly. A hostess who prefers not to use "cocktails" on her invitations to a late-afternoon party sometimes adds the more "genteel" word "Sherry" to the word "tea." Or sometimes only the word "tea" is written on the invitation, but sherry is also served.

YOUNGER COUPLE OFFER SEATS TO OLDER COUPLE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I were married very recently. During our engagement and since our marriage we have dined frequently at our favorite restaurant, which has quite a few very comfortable wall seats, some of these ladies for two, others large enough for three or four. When we invite another couple of our age to dine with us, the woman guest and I of course take both wall seats, and my husband and the man guest sit in the seats opposite us. But now we have a question which is bothering us: When we invite a much older couple (my parents, for example, my husband's parents, an aunt and uncle of either of us, and several other older couples we are planning to invite soon) what should the seating be? We've been discussing this, and to both of us it just doesn't seem right to have the older gentleman seated in an aisle seat, which is usually not as comfortable as a wall seat. Do you agree?—H and B

I do agree, indeed, and you and your husband have a thoughtful and unselfish point of view. Congratulations! You and or your husband should offer the older couple the wall seats, and then you and your husband take the seats on the aisle. Your husband takes the seat opposite the older woman; you, the seat opposite the older man. This is courtesy and good grace, in this thoughtful arrangement.

Ready to do duty as a traveller's friend or to stay at home to do right by casual costumes in suburbs or country, is a handsome, fashion-right handbag. Josef does this one on long deep lines with useful outside pocket detail in natural leather. We like the rigid, single handle and the self leather turn-lock, as well as the handsome saddle stitching, all contributing to an impressive and most practical handbag.

Barbecued Beef — Western Sty

By Mary Moore

"Mary are you getting the story on how they barbecue that beef?" "Yes, I have it." "Okay. See you later."

She didn't want it for her newspaper for she's a copy writer, but she did want it for herself. I wanted it for me and you.

When we were in Edmonton earlier this month at the Canadian Women's Press Club Biennial convention at the Macdonald Hotel, the crowning social event was a Western-style Barbecue on the farm of the Honourable A. J. Hooke.

After one bite of the outsize barbecued beef on rye sandwich I knew this was a story I had to have. So dripping sandwich in hand I made my way to the white-capped chef at the barbecue pit and asked him for the secret point blank.

His name is Rodnarik and he has a restaurant in Edmonton and custom-barbecuing is his specialty. From him and Harold Paul, who raised the steers, I have some beef and barbecue secrets that may change your beef roasting habits.

The beef was raised on Pleasant Pastures, Farm by Mr. Paul, who is a breeder, raiser and marketer of purebred Herefords. The beef for our barbecue was red-grand quality, and had hung for 14 days. Hinds were used, the sections from the sirloin up to the portersouse being boned and rolled and weighing from 12 to 15 lbs. each. Mr. Rodnarik ordered and prepared about ten of these to serve the 106 press women plus the performers and guests.

The rolls of beef were put in to roast at 10 a.m. at 200 degrees Fahr. in Rodnarik's restaurant ovens and basted with a mixture of vinegar, brown sugar, allspice and curry powder about every 15 minutes. The proportions for this basting I pointedly neglected to give me but I am working on it and will have more to tell you about it later.

At 1.30 p.m. the meat transferred to the barbecue on the Hooke farm and continuously roasted, basted and ta at 200 deg. Fahr. until 6 p.m. when all at this low temperature.

We were invited to queue and we were a motley herd, in high heels and afternoon d where in jeans, stampede and cowboy shirts they'd bro from as far away as Mont (Your modest little correspon wore jeans and a Charlie C lin nose, eyebrows and mout and was on TV in this get-up

Mr. Rodnarik's helpers sliced thick slabs of beef from the roasted rolls on wo butchers' blocks. We were s if we wanted it on a bun o rye. Then a spicy tomato s was ladled over, top put on we were in sole possession tickets to heavenly eating. wonder so many of us foun isolated log to sit on as munched, dripped and drooled

Oh we had coleslaw, ce gherkins, cheese, individual m pies and coffee too, but that just ordinarily good. That was beef was well worth 3,000-mile trip.

Air Mail Letter Tells of A.C.W.W. Work of W.I.

RAWDON

RAWDON— This reporter received an air mail letter from Bournemouth with fresh news of the Associated Country Women of the World, at their headquarters, Knightsbridge, London, England.

This report is sent to various countries and the province of Ontario has two reporters who receive copies and thus by way of the daily press, the Institute Women learn the fresh and up-to-date news of what Institute Women are doing elsewhere.

Mrs. Hearnden tells of the terrible earthquakes in Kebalon, with several villages demolished, and many Institute women are homeless and living in tents.

The Lebanon Village Welfare Society continues it classes in weaving, sewing, canning and health lectures.

Miss M. E. Payne, Australia, vice-president of ACWW for the South Pacific, gave a glowing report of her recent visit to New Guinea, where she visited Institute groups. She also attended a Girl Guide meeting, and the little Brownies entertained wearing grass skirts and neckties.

The latest news from Ambika, the baby elephant that was given to the children of Quebec by the children in India, is that she is universally adored. The children of Canada have sent a pair of beavers to India.

At the June ACWW executive meeting, Mrs. E. Kleyn, vice-president Southern Europe reported that the ACWW Western European conference would be held at Arnhem, Holland, in September, and she gave a detailed description of the program and the tours.

Mrs. Davey of Italy, reported that the women had held their annual meeting in one of the largest theatres in Rome, but even so, members were standing in the gangways.

The morning session began at 9.30 a.m., and went through till 12.30 p.m. without a break. Institute work is growing by leaps and bounds in the Far East as well as in the European countries.

TAILOR TAX PLAN

Fisheries Minister Sinclair referred to that estimate of increased returns to the provinces.

He said the provinces want the central government to increase its taxes and pass on even more money to them. Governments won more, political credit by spending public funds than by collecting those funds from taxpayers.

The central government could not satisfy all the demands of a fast-growing country.

REASONABLE COMPROMISE

"What we try to do is to work out a reasonable compromise, a moderate way which will give top priority to those things of most importance."

The tax formula would allow deductions of 10 per cent of federal personal income tax, nine per cent of corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties to cover provincial levies in those fields. The provinces could assess at higher rates.

The proposal also would provide unconditional equalization payments to bring the income in less wealthy provinces up to the average of the two highest—Ontario and British Columbia.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) predicted the federal surplus this year will be $600,000,000 or more, compared with Finance Minister Harris' forecast of $113,000,000.

He accused the government of starving the provinces to produce that surplus for "election bait" tax cuts next year.

"Would you oppose it?" Mr. Harris asked.

Social Credit Leader Low said the federal proposals leave the provinces with no alternative except to accept or, if they want more money, to resort to double taxation. The taxpayers would not stand for that.

CCF POSITION

Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) indicated his party prefers the principle of the existing tax rental agreements.

The new plan seemed to be a retreat from "an over-all taxation plan that prevents dual taxation and gives to the federal government a greater supervision and influence over the Canadian economy."

There was no incentive for a province to sign an agreement, it would get the same benefits by not signing.

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth) said more money is needed by municipalities, which financed the services needed by expanding industries from which the central government reaped the benefits.

Rods installed in furnace exhaust stacks, incinerators and other air polluters promise to end the smog problem. Largely composed of alumina, the oxide of aluminum, the rods not only ignite waste gases but release heat that goes back to work in the plant.

In everyday items like aircraft, furniture and frying pans, and in many an unseen job as well, aluminum makes living more pleasant for all of us. In fact, Canadians have become the world's fourth largest per capita users of this modern metal. Our aluminum industry not only supplies this home market, but is the largest exporter of aluminum for the Free World, too.

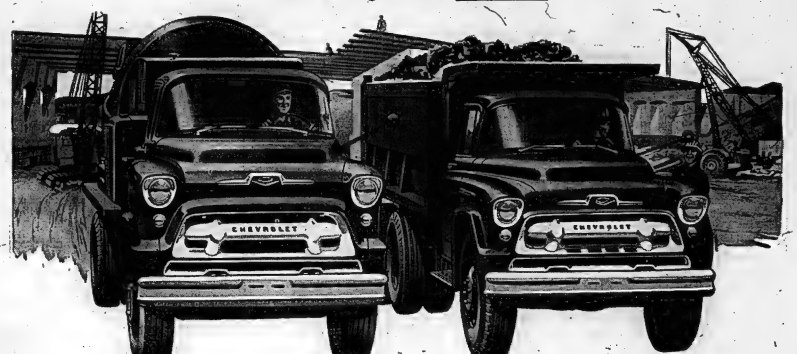
Mr. and Mrs. K. Snider spent the weekend at Orland.

Fortune Teller Says Couple Was Slain



NORTH BAY (CP) — Fortune teller Mrs. Charles Ayres, 50, said today that a North Bay couple missing for 56 days was slain by two men "over money" at nearby Trout Lake.

Mrs. Ayres, who enlarged on earlier predictions that Mr. and Mrs. Allan Campbell, presumed to have drowned since they disappeared May 29, would be found "under trees near water," told reporters the slayers are watching and would not hesitate to act if the bodies were found.

She said she had three visions concerning the Campbells. From them she pieced together a picture of the grave of the two victims, supposed to be in a swamp. She also said she saw a vision of the slayers, one dark and stout, the other tall and slim, who had beaten Mrs. Campbell to death and shot her husband.

Big Time Smuggling Almost Dead In N. B. Border Town Say Officials

ST. STEPHEN, N.B. (CP)—Customs officials say they've convinced big-time smuggling in this area is almost dead.

Of more than 51,000 tourists who pass annually through this port-of-entry, only a comparatively few persons are caught trying to smuggle forbidden goods, and their attempts are described as being on a small scale.

But the illegal activities of the few make policing the New Brunswick-Maine border a thankless task.

The wiles and tricks of people willing to risk the penalty of two years in jail to get some American cigarets—the usual type of contraband — from Calais, Me., just across the border, keep officials on their toes.

Standard hiding places are automobiles—in the hub caps and spare tires, behind door panels and under upholstery.

Others consider a baby carriage a safe place to keep smuggled American cigarets. More often than not, they're proved wrong.

IMPERIAL PALACE TEXTS

An old list of customs instructions shows an American schooner captain caught trying to unload $2,000 worth of liquor in a Canadian port and a salesman whose hobby was smuggling false teeth to Canadian customers.

A comparatively recent conviction saw a cigaret smuggler operating on a regular schedule lose his car, pay a $2,500 fine and receive a two-year penitentiary sentence.

Len H. Webber, collector of customs in charge of the 44-man staff here, says new inspection methods and a narrowing of the gap between U.S. and Canadian prices have cut down major smuggling.

But thousands of items are seized annually from tourists and townspeople caught in the act by sharp-eyed inspectors.

Nehru Takes Over Finance Ministry

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru has taken over the finance ministry following acceptance of the resignation of Chintaman Deshmukh as finance minister, it was announced today.

Nehru, besides being prime minister, now holds the external affairs and finance portfolios.

Deshmukh submitted his resignation June 18 following differences with the government over his refusal to make Bombay City the capital of the proposed Maharashtra state.

Gives Up Effort To Form Govt.

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — Dr. Willem Drees, outgoing Socialist prime minister, today gave up his attempt to form a new Dutch government and returned his mandate to Queen Juliana at the royal palace here.

Drees has been trying since the general elections six weeks ago to form a new five-party cabinet, but the Catholic party, the country's second largest after the Socialists, refused part or its proposed government program.

TONAWANDA MAN DROWNS

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP)—Harlan S. Fullenwieder, 44, a supervisor at the Chevrolet plant here, was drowned Sunday when his wrist became entangled in his boat's anchor rope and he was pulled into the swift currents of the Niagara River.

Gilead

GILEAD — Mr. and Mrs. Carman Huffman, Harry and Nancy, also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grills and Billie, spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips at Crystal Beach, Medoc.

Mrs. Annie McCullough visited with Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough on Sunday.

Miss Marion Lang, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with Blanche Swan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Huffman, Mr. H. Swan and Mr. and Mrs. G. Swan visited Mrs. H. Swan at Kingston hospital on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Leavens and Jimmy enjoyed a motor trip through Prince Edward County on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Yorke, of Belleville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yorke on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Derek Henry, of Kingston, is holidaying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Clare.

The Gilead Friendship Guild met on Wednesday evening at R.S. 12. The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. George Clare, and consisted of plans for the annual picnic and a forthcoming rummage sale. Mrs. Wilfred Clare and Mrs. G. Swan were placed in charge of the latter. Proceeds from Scott's Sales on July 3rd were gratifying, $122.51, being realized.

A very interesting program, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pound and Miss Irma Embury, was enjoyed by all.

A goodly number of parents and friends attended the program presented by the Vacation Bible School scholars and their leaders at Carmel Church Hall on Friday evening.

Miss Mary Bertrand spent the past week at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac.

Mr. and Mrs. LaPalm moved to their new home at Belleville on Tuesday.

Miss Beryl Swan of Peterborough spent the weekend at her home here.

Steel Contract Talks Resume

NEW YORK (AP)—Union and company negotiators sit down for new contract talks today in hope of ending the 24-day-old country-wide steel strike.

There was speculation that the companies would make a revised contract offer to the United Steelworkers of America. But both sides maintained official silence on details of the renewed conference.

Union president David J. McDonald said on arrival from Pittsburgh Monday night that he had no idea whether the steel companies had a "new offer."

STALEMATE LAST TIME

Earlier contract talks here ended in a stalemate that signaled a walkout of 650,000 steelworkers across the U. S. Nearly 90 per cent of the U.S. steel capacity is idle as a result. About 150,000 workers in allied industries have been laid off.

The discussions today were called last Sunday by the industry's top negotiator, John A. Stephens of U.S. Steel.

Stirling

STIRLING — The employees of the Elaine Shoe Company Ltd., are on holiday for two weeks.

Mrs. Walter T. Elliott entertained the executive of the Bay of Quinte conference, W.A., at "Happy Hollow" cottage, Oak Lake, on Monday. Luncheon was served at one p.m. with a business meeting in the afternoon.

Mrs. John L. Good was elected District Deputy Grand Master of Prince Edward District at the Grand Lodge Sessions held in Toronto.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a business meeting and the president, Don Rodgers, gave a report of the Lake Shore Development Board. Next year will be the 100th anniversary of Stirling as an incorporated village.

A committee was named to look into the matter, hunt up ideas, and in general gather up material for the celebration. The committee appointed was: Harold Wells, J. B. Belshaw and H. R. Tompkins. If an old boys' and girls' reunion is held, it will need the help of everyone in the Stirling area to make it a success.

The village council held a special meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. J. D. Hisey, of Toronto, gave an outline of a proposed sewage system by his firm and later the council voted to engage Hisey and Harrington, Toronto consultory engineers, to make a detailed survey for sanitary sewers.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chard of Kingston, sailed for England on Wednesday of this week. Richard is a son of Mr. Clarence Chard, and the late Mrs. Chard of River Valley community.

Birthday greetings are extended to a couple of the older residents of the village. On Friday, Mrs. Walter Barker observed her 84th anniversary and on Tuesday Mr. Thomas Spry celebrated his 82nd anniversary.

The Rev. W. S. Irwin is busy studying for his Bachelor of Arts degree at Toronto University. He is 83 years of age, and last week he was honored by the Toronto Star with a special photo of him amidst his numerous books of study, and a write-up of his varied life. Mr. Irwin is well known in Stirling, where he was a valued Sunday School teacher — during the Rev. A. E. Baker's pastorate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Tanner attended the funeral of their brother, Mr. Alfred Brown, at Peterborough on Friday afternoon. The interment was made in Campbellford cemetery.

Mrs. Gladys Bly, Toronto, is holidaying at Wendoah cottage, Trent River.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mills, of Burlington, are holidaying with Mrs. Nina Morton, Oak Lake.

Mrs. James Warren, Harmonsmith, is visiting relatives in this area.

Pills Fatal to Child

KINGSTON (CP) — Robin Lee Hualbach, 18 months, died Sunday after swallowing six or seven high-blood-pressure pills which had been prescribed for his grandmother.

John Hunbach of nearby Battersea said he and his family were visiting his mother, Mrs. William Hunbach, on a farm 18 miles from Kingston.

Baby Robin apparently got hold of the pill-box which was in his grandmother's room. Mr. Hunbach bundled the baby in a blanket and sped to hospital here, the baby later died.

Last February another son, Eric Charles, 2, died when shot by his little brother Bruce, 5, who was playing with a rifle.

The Hunbach's now have four children ranging in ages from 17 to six.

THIS SHOULD BE GOOD

Whipper Billy Watson, world wrestling champion, generally rates about 99 per cent of the huzzas of the faithful whenever he puts in an appearance here. Come Friday night, the popular Whip can be assured of the extra one per cent, which makes it unanimous.

For he is slated to test his Canadian Commando or avalanche, among other assorted holds, on the carcass of none other than the Mexican, Roberti Pico, who tops the hate parade here by a margin as wide as the Missouri River.

WHIPPER WATSON

Senor Roberto has yet to meet defeat in a Belleville arena. His favorite weapon is a large expanse of tape which is wrapped around one of his huge mitts, and which very effectively gives the opposition's eyeballs the aftermath of a "last-weekend."

In fact he does it so effectively that he has had all his foemen here to date staggering around inside and outside the ring playing Blind Man's Buff.

His most "villainous" act this far happened to the popular Sammy Berg, "Mr. Canada" last Friday night. The senor gave the Quebec gringo the eye treatment; then heaved a flat tasmie. Then he picked him up, shouldered him and carried him towards the dressing room.

Suddenly he slammed Sam, k-bam on the cold hard floor, and hiked for the dressing room. Midway he was met with a few judo chops and other physical punishment by irate wrestlers, but that did not bother the senor.

No, sirree, the swarthy, Mexicano tossed a sneering "Hasta la vista" over a shoulder as he disappeared through the dressing room door, propelled by a derriere dropkick by one Aldo Bogni.

And that's not all. Garnishing the main bout will be the doughty duo of the Gallagher brothers. Mike and Doc are back, and they won't cavort to ringside amid a shower of rose petals. Tangling with them are Dick Byers and Brian Clary. Matt Lewin and Jan Gotch, now there's a pair, open the proceedings.

Some of the sportswriters up west are getting a big "kick" out of the edict of the Parker - Moore powers-that-be that the ringside newspapermen must be all decked up in dinner jackets. The American bloke who thought up the idea said "these guys" should be dressed like the first four rows and "we'll supply the dinner jackets and trimmings."

One Toronto scribe who must mingle with the Cholly Knickerbocker set got a bit warm under the collar about it and wrote that a dinner jacket was standard equipment along with typewriter, pad and pencil.

Chick (Stratford Beacon Herald) Appel writes "We don't know whether the boys can afford to buy their own or not, but they stand a chance of being read out of the fraternity if they appear at the Toronto fight garbed in sour and fish. The sheet should be for fancy pugs and on the day when everybody knows they're a gang of nincompoops, according to their critics, and know less than some of the so-called writeaboutners. Yet it would be interesting to see George Carver (Belleville Ontario Intelligencer); "Sunny" Morganson, (Toronto Telegram); George Hogan (Gait Reporter) and Doug Austin (Niagara Falls Review) dolled up in tux, bow tie, braided trousers and spats."

Come, come, Chick, are you trying to belittle our social and financial status? We have a dinner jacket slightly the worse for wear, which is now a shade of Nile green. It has one of those roll collars with a pronounced derriere hustle effect. It has a secret pocket compartment in the rear built in to carry excess writing material. But in those days nobody thought of writing on labels.

It is slightly stained with the juice of the clam in spots while other discolorations could be soup-splashings. The last time we wore it to a metropolitan nitery, a guy slightly the worse for wear slipped a ten-spot in our hand and demanded the best table in the house.

On another occasion we had cause to wear it before covering a political meeting in the hinterland hustings of North Hastings. A husky with a battered beak who looked like a Number One boy bodyguard for Al Capone inquired as to who and what we were. Just for a gag we replied, "Mitch Hepburn." The plug-ugly hustled us out of the Orange Hall saying, "And I'm Sir John A. MacDonald. Let's go back to Whitby together."

But Sandwich-Filling Cincy Looms As Dangerous Threat; Skidding Sox Lose to Kansas

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati Redlegs, the National League's "ugly ducklings," stubbornly refusing to hover within sight of the pot o' gold despite snubs and slighting references by their chief rivals, Milwaukee and Brooklyn.

Although the Redlegs trailed front-running Milwaukee by only 2½ games today following Monday night's 4-3 triumph over Pittsburgh, Braves officials still regard the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers as the team to beat for the pennant.

The Dodgers, in turn, have eyes for the Braves, who lead them by six games.

SAVAGE FEARS BRAVES

Only hours before tonight's clash between Cincinnati and Brooklyn at Ebbets Field, Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi was quoted as saying the only team he feared was Milwaukee.

"The club we have to beat is Milwaukee," Bavasi flatly declared. "Cincinnati has a good club but Milwaukee has more balance and more hitting. Eddie Tebbets (Cincinnati manager) has handled what he's got very well. We just don't have the pitching to stop them as the other clubs do."

If the Redlegs resent this statement as a slur on their ability, this is the opportune time for them to make Bavasi eat his words. Their game on the line tonight, Wednesday and Thursday the Reds are in position to capture their first three-game series with the Dodgers in 12 years. Having won 10 of the 21 games since 1954 when they won 14 of the 22 games.

Johnny Klippstein (8-6), who has beaten the Dodgers three times this season, was scheduled to pitch for the Redlegs against the veteran Sal Maglie (5-3).

GOMEZ FACES MILWAUKEE

In another important National League game, the Braves, with southpaw Warren Spahn (9-7) were pitted against Ruben Gomez (5-5) and New York Giants. Special interest will be centered on this game as it marks Gomez' first outing since his run-in for rubbing resin on the ball after he plunked the Braves' slugging first baseman with a pitch.

In other games, St. Louis was at Philadelphia and Chicago was at Pittsburgh.

Cincinnati's victory Monday night came when Johnny Temple singled home Bob Thurman in the eighth inning with the deciding run. The triumph went to Brooks Lawrence in relief, giving the righthander revenge against the team that handed him his only setback of the season. Lawrence, who won his first 11 decisions, now owns a 14-1 record.

Elroy Face, the pitcher who beat Lawrence, was charged with the defeat, his sixth. Face's five previous defeats were all administered to him by the Cubs. Thurman, who scored Cincinnati's winning run, had kept the Reds in the game with a sixth-inning home run.

RICHEST PROGRAM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Santa Anita's richest race program, with $2,275,000 in stakes and purses, was announced Monday for next winter's 55-day season opening Dec. 26.

The Santa Anita Handicap will carry a $135,000 guaranteed purse and there will be three $100,000 races—The Maturity Jan. 26, the Derby March 2 and the San Juan Capistrano March 9.

Chicago White Sox came home to Comiskey Park Monday night after a disastrous road trip in which they won two games and lost nine. But the home field was no cure.

Kansas City Athletics parlayed two unearned runs, with none superb relief pitching by Tom Gorman and Bobby Shantz, into a 3-2 victory over the hapless Sox in the only American League game of the day.

The defeat dropped the fourth-place Sox 13½ games behind the runaway New York Yankees who head into Chicago tonight to try to fatten their lead.

The Sox called on their best pitcher, Billy Pierce (14-4), to face right hander Tom Sturdivant (8-3).

Runner-up Cleveland, 9½ games behind New York, was to oppose Washington with Mike Garcia (6-9) on the hill and third-place Boston had no-hit Mel Parnell (4-2) pitted for Kansas City. Detroit and Baltimore had a twi-night twin bill on tap.

The Athletics scored their pair of unearned runs in the second when leadoff man Tom Gorman's bounder went through second-baseman Nellie Fox for an error. Joe Demestrii followed with a single and both runners advanced on a Cletus Boyer bounced out. Hector Lopez singled across both runs.

The Sox picked up a run in the second on singles by Walt Dropo and Jim Wilson, sandwiched by a walk to Les Moss.

The Athletics added what proved to be the winning run in the third on singles by Gus Zernial, Harry Simpson and Vic Power. Pinchhitter Ron Northey doubled to drive in the second Chicago tally in the ninth.

JUMPS TO REDSKINS

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — Alex Bravo, Los Angeles Rams' No. 9 draft choice in 1954, has jumped to Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Rams General manager Tex Schramm said Monday.

The former California halfback signed his 1956 Ram contract in May 1954, then entered the U.S. Marine Corps. Schramm said he has filed a protest with the WIFU and that the league agreed the Rams contract has priority over the Regina pact.

Mickey Mantle Eyes First Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' switch-hitting outfielder, hopes to become the American League's first triple crown winner since Boston's Ted Williams in 1947.

Mantle already is leading in each department of accomplishing the feat. He currently leads the league in batting with .371, in home runs with 32 and runs batted in with 82. The 24-year-old slugger also has scored the most runs, 80, and has collected the most hits, 117, through games of Sunday.

Mantle homered twice last week and drove in eight runs while hitting his batting average six points. He picked up ground, in the batting race on Charley Maxwell of Detroit, who remains second at .332. Maxwell's average failed to change.

In the National League batting race, Cincinnati's Ted Bailey has displaced Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cards as the pace-setter. Bailey boosted his average 18 points to .344 as Milwaukee's Hank Aaron moved in second, ahead of Musial, with .336. Stan is third at .334.

Aaron gained 17 points in moving up from a fourth-place tie. Musial hiked his average seven points.

"Old Archie" Rated 4-1 Favorite Over James J. Parker In Big Battle

Expect Gross Gate of $150,000 With Warm Weather Predicted; Fighters Break Camps Today

TORONTO (CP) — Don't be fooled by figures.

The tale of the tape shows James J. Parker has a big edge over Archie Moore for their much-publicized heavyweight boxing match Wednesday night.

But they don't say Parker is up against the leading heavyweight contender; nor that James J. is unranked in any world listings. Nor that Moore is a cutie, a shifty veteran of 154 fights in a 20-year ring career.

Parker, 26, will probably weigh in at 206 pounds, 23 pounds heavier than the 28-year-old Moore.

Parker stands six feet, 3¾ inches; Moore five feet, 11 inches. Parker has a 79-inch reach, two inches better than ageless Archie. And, so on down the body.

MOORE FAVORITE

The boys who handle the wager lay have taken due note of the statistics and decided they don't mean a thing. Moore is a 4-to-1 favorite to win the 15-round title re-promoters as a world heavyweight match.

Moore, world light-heavyweight champion, and Parker were to break training camps today to make the 135 miles from their camps to Toronto and take things easy until the fight.

Whatever the outcome, Toronto probably will remember the fight as one of the biggest sports spectacles in years.

Toronto newspapers are giving front-page play to the fight and publishing stories written by Moore, Parker and retired heavyweight king Jack Dempsey.

Officials say a gross gate of $150,000, the largest in Canadian ring history, is possible if sunny and warm weather continues. The weather man predicts clear skies, light winds and a temperature ranging from 63 to 83 degrees.

Rain could be disastrous. The fight will be staged outdoors at Maple Leaf Stadium, home of the International Baseball League Maple Leafs. Moore has been guaranteed $40,000 or 35 per cent of the gate. Parker will get 22½ per cent of the net gate.

A record attendance and gate is possible. The 1941 fight between the late Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight champion, and Lauraent Dauthuille of France at the Canadian record by drawing 18,000 persons and a gross gate of $76,522. Greco was knocked out in the fifth round.

PROMISES REAL SHOW

Jack Solomons, who arrived from London last week to take over promotion of the Moore-Parker fight, said: "We're going to give Toronto a real show."

Many fight notables already are in town. They include Maricland, former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and Charlie Goldman, trainer for Marciano. Due here were James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, and his associates.

The official weigh-in is scheduled for noon Wednesday. There will be no television of the fight. The CBC will broadcast the bout over its Dominion network but there will be no feed to an American network.

Phils' Del Ennis Tops Majors' Clutch Clouters

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Ennis is in the lower bracket among the National League batters. But the veteran Philadelphia outfielder rates among the majors best clutch hitters this year.

Ennis, batting only .283, has driven in the winning run in six games—tops in the big leagues. This was disclosed today in an Associated Press survey which also showed that Jim Piersall of Boston Red Sox has produced five game-winning blows to lead the American League.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati and Rube Walker of Brooklyn have come up with five clutch hits in the late innings. Walker's record, however, is more impressive since he has participated in only 37 of his team's 87 games.

Credit for game-winning blows was given to each player who knocked in the tally that put his team ahead to stay in the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth or an extra inning.

The players with four game-winning blow are Jim Lemon of Washington, Andy Carey of New York Yankees, Billy Klaus of the Red Sox, Willie Mays and Daryl Spencer of New York Giants, Wally Moon and Alvin Dark of St. Louis and Frank Robinson and Roy McMillan of Cincinnati.

Pointers Take Postponed Game From Trenton

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The air-light relief hurling of Gord Dyer sparked the Point Anne Cementmen to a 6-3 triumph over Trenton Golden Rule Aleight in a postponed Belleville and District softball contest.

Dyer came on in aid of Jackie Wardhaugh with the score tied 3-3 in the third frame. The bases were loaded with one out but Dyer retired the side without trouble and set the first ten men he faced down in order. He gave up three infield singles over the remainder, whiffing two and walking one.

The Cementmen took a 3-0 lead in the first two frames but blew it in the third on walks and errors. They netted the winning marker in the second and finished with a pair in the fifth.

The Cementmen opened the distance for Trenton, allowing seven safeties, including a home run and a double. They set two men down on strikes while walking five.

Wardhaugh gave up just one hit in his stay but failed to find the plate with any consistency. He walked six while fanning one. An infield error to Trenton's leadoff man in the third started his downfall. He walked the next man but then forced Lindsay and a long throwing error plated one run. Wardhaugh walked the next three batters to force in two and a long score before Dyer took over.

Point Anne tallied single runs on stolen bases, including the winning counter. Lindsay walked, went to second on Jones' sacrifice and took third on Wardhaugh's infield out in the fourth. Mulholland then walked, stole second with Gilmour going home to complete the double steal. Doug Hull stole home in the first as Trenton catcher Forsythe threw to second, nailing Green-in a run-down play.

An error on Wade's ground ball preceded Pat Gilmour's long homer to left for a pair in the second frame. The Mudcat's filling marauders came on Green's single, Wade's double, Dyer's sacrifice and another base hit by Gilmour. Wade was spiked in the head sliding into third base and was forced to leave the game in this inning.

Pat Gilmour with a homer and single paced the winners at the dish plate while Jake Wade had a brace of doubles. Pete Green slashed two solid singles while Doug Hull had an infield safety.

Guy Austin and Roger Drake each had a pair of singles to account for all Trenton hits. Austin's first one was the only outfield hit the team had.

Three more postponed games are scheduled for this week. Today Belleville Intermediate Juniors play host to Madoc, on Wednesday Belleville Juniors go to Frankford while on Friday Point Anne will be in Belleville for a game with the Belleville Juniors. Play in Madoc on Thursday but nothing definite has been decided concerning this game.

SHOT OF A LIFETIME

FORT ERIE (CP) — Support photographer Michael Burns of Toronto took the shot of a lifetime at the Fort Erie races Saturday.

He was standing on the track near the outside rail on the photograph the finish of the second race when a horse attempted to jump that a horse was headed straight for him. Burns ducked beneath the rail but remembered about the camera and, cocking his camera, took the picture.

The finished print showed his quick-second lens was faster than the churning front legs of Jacks Will, the winning horse charging up on the outside. The picture showed the legs framing the two jockeys in the foreground and third, on the inside rail.

Ted Kroll, Burke Clash Today For Pro Golfers' Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

CANTON, Mass. (AP)—According to golfers who play in it—and some who won't—the Professional Golfers' Association championship is the toughest of all major tournaments because of its length and its unceasing pressure.

The 72-hole match-play affair is physically and temperamentally to withstand this grind. Jackie Burke and Ted Kroll, met today to battle it out over 36 holes for the title and the $5,000 top prize.

Burke, at 33, apparently is just reaching the peak of his competitive game after a too-long apprenticeship in which he was regarded as a perennial great second best. Kroll, 37, is a wiry, weatherbeaten tournament campaigner who plays every week on the pro circuit and never seems to turn a hair whether the going is good or bad.

KROLL WINS EASILY

Since play began in the PGA last Friday, Burke already has played 121 holes of golf, almost without a breathing spell. Kroll didn't have a letup, either, until Monday's semi-finals when the young Texan, who had been unseeded to be just a "pigeon" for a final tough competitor.

Kroll, shooting relentlessly steady golf, won by a near-record 10 and 8 margin from Bill Johnston, the 31-year-old club pro from Provo, Utah, who had beaten such players as Jay Hebert, ex-champion Walter Burkemo and Henry Ransom in the 18-hole duels.

Putting was a big factor in Burke's 37-hole victory over Ed Furgol in about as exciting a match as the 36-year-old tournament has seen.

Burke had all kinds of trouble in the early holes and was five down at the 14th. He cut that to three at the 16th. He was two up at the 29th after he had won five straight holes. Then the grim, lame-armed Furgol caught him at the 35th and pulled off a couple of fine shots on the 36th to play safe and force the match to the extra hole.

St. Kitts, Petes Lacrosse Winners

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two leading teams in the Ontario Lacrosse Association kept up their winning ways last night.

St. Catharines Athletics came up with a five-goal outburst in the last period as they downed Long Branch Monarchs 13-9. Peterborough Trallermen scored on all but three of their shots in a 15-12 conquest of Hamilton Lincolns.

Jimmy McNulty led the Athletics with three goals while Doug Smith, Joe McNulty and Moody Frick bagged a pair each. Don Mock was ace Long Branch scorer with three while Bert Russell tallied two.

Canuck Oarsmen Eye Olympics At Row Trials

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Canadian oarsmen had an eye on this year's Olympics as they entered the Olympic rowing trials at nearby Port Dalhousie today.

Crews from Ottawa, Winnipeg, St. Catharines, Vancouver and Brockville seek places in the fours to be chosen. Individual entries from Hamilton and St. Catharines complete the entry list.

Competitions are for amateurs not only each other, but the clock. With a limit of 7½ minutes, a selection committee from the Canadian Amateur Rowing Association will pick only those crews it feels have a chance to do well in international competition at Melbourne in November.

FINAL TIMETABLE TONIGHT

Final decision on the team's makeup was expected tonight—after the trials finish.

Most interest was centred on the eights from the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, and limped to prominence with an upset win over the crack U.S. Navy eight at the 1954 British Empire Games.

Last year's crew at Henley in England UBC defeated Russia in the semi-finals but lost to the University of Pennsylvania in the final.

BROCKVILLE FAVORED

In the fours event Brockville was favored over St. Catharines, Vancouver and Winnipeg. This crew finished second in Wyfold Cup competition at this year's Royal Henley.

Jon Pearce of Hamilton Leanders was favored in singles competition. The son of Olympic champion Bobby Pearce, he is unbeaten this year in international competition, and is both Canadian and American schoolboy champion.

Winning crews will not proceed to the Canadian Henley opening tomorrow. The CARA wants its Olympic choices to travel to Melbourne with unblemished escutcheons.

Don't Neglect Slipping FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you talk, eat or laugh? Don't be embarrassed and self-conscious. Sprinkle a little FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Gives a sense of confidence. Checks "plate breath" (unpleasant taste or odor). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

British Scribes Pick Moore Over Parker

LONDON (CP)—British sports-writers are almost unanimous in picking ageless Archie Moore to defeat Canada's James J. Parker in Wednesday's heavyweight fight in Toronto.

Desmond Hackett of The Daily Express, in Canada to cover the fight, says in a dispatch to his paper that "my tears are reserved for Parker."

George Whiting of The Evening Standard, also in Canada, says Parker looks "much more of an athlete" than when London sent him box rings around Ewart Peglar of South Africa last November but adds that the "fight odds are 2 to 1 on off man Moore."

But Tom Phillips of The Daily Herald, noting that "this is the crazy season" in sport, says he wouldn't be surprised if Parker wins over the American veteran.

Jaremey Gets $2,000 in Cash More to Come

TORONTO (CP) — Johnny Jaremey has at least $2,000 in cash today to show for his successful swim across Lake Ontario. He may get more in further gifts.

The 185-pound steamfitter wasn't shooting for any cash jackpot when he started his crossing from Niagara-on-the-Lake Sunday and finished at 3 a.m. Monday in 21 hours and 13 minutes.

However, not many hours after he finished he had donations of $1,000 in cash. Then Monday night Toronto's city council voted him another $2,000 after considerable wrangling.

Mayor Phillips proposed the gift shortly after the 36-year-old former resident of Port Arthur made the crossing. Several aldermen said the mayor was too hasty and some permanent memento would be more suitable.

Alderman Philip Givens accused the mayor of manoeuvring council into a position of approving the grant after being branded as pikers. "Just because a swimmer happens to come from Toronto he gets a $2,000 award for wading out $1,000 gifts," he said.

The mayor replied: "Perhaps the city gave a gift to Marilyn Bell, first person to swim the lake, and we gave a gift to Florence Chadwick."

Jaremey, first man to make the swim, took 17 minutes longer than Marilyn, now in British Columbia for a try at Juan de Fuca Strait.

Jaremey also is due to go to B.C. A Vancouver Province says he will arrive there Aug. 7 to assist Mrs. Ann Merrow in an attempt to swim the Dardanelles from Penticton to Kelowna.

Quebec Aces Sign Negro

QUEBEC (CP) — Bill Coffee, high-scoring Negro left winger from Fredericton, Monday signed a contract to play with the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League.

Coffee will become the first member of his race to play in the senior eight-team professional league. Before the QHL turned professional he and it was feared he would lose the sight of the eye.

Braves Squeeze 3-0 Shutout Over International All-Stars As Rookie Tosses One-Hitter

By BILL SENYK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The greatest collection of baseball talent ever assembled on a Toronto field Monday night inaugurated the first annual International League all-star game against Milwaukee Braves.

Bob Trowbridge, 26 - year - old rookie righthander who has yet to post a record in the National League, shackled the best batters the International League had to offer- on one hit as the Braves posted a 3-0 victory in the game.

A crowd of 15,028 watched Trowbridge baffle every all-star player but third baseman Clyde Parris of Montreal Royals, who spoiled the no-hitter with a harmless lead-off single in the fourth inning. The six-foot-one Trowbridge struck out five and walked five.

22 ALLSTARS PLAY

Twenty-two of the 26 players chosen to the all-star squad got into action. Milwaukee, which leads the National League by 3½ games, started with its regular lineup but ended up using a total of 16 players.

The Braves mailie the most of six hits offered by the four all-star hurlers. Milwaukee scored twice in seven walks and took advantage of the all-star's only error—by Parris —for a run.

Centrefielder Bill Bruton scored the only Milwaukee run in the opening. Doubling with one out, he went to third on a fielder's choice and on an infield out by righthander Hank Aaron.

RUN OFF BASEBALL

The run was scored off right-hander Don Cardwell of Miami Marlins, the all-star pitcher who gave up two hits in three innings. Southpaw Pat Scantlebury of Hamilton Alerts allowed one hit and an unearned run in two innings.

Eddie Blake of Toronto pitched three frames until the top of the ninth offering only a single. Larry Donovan, Buffalo Bisons right-hander finished the game, giving up a pair of safeties, including bases-empty home run by Milwaukee catcher Del Rice.

Aaron plated the second run for the Braves, in the fifth inning of Scantlebury, singling in Andy Pafko.

Cardwell, with an 11-3 record in regular league play, was tagged with the loss.

PROCEEDS FOR CANCER

Milwaukee took part in the game through the co-operation of Braves owner Lou Perini, whose pet project is the fight against cancer. As a result Milwaukee's entire share of the gate—$9,396— went to the Canadian Cancer Fund.

Next year, it's hoped that the Braves will meet the IL all-star in Montreal.

Monday night's game was the first time a league all-star team had met an outside group.

Tonight the league gets back to the pennant business with a full schedule: Toronto at Miami, Rochester at Columbus, Montreal at Havana and Buffalo at Richmond.

JOE'S HEART DAMAGED

CHICAGO (AP) — A physician for the Illinois Athletic Commission says Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, has a damaged heart but that he is unable to say exactly whether the disability is temporary or permanent.

Dr. Irving Stoll in a report to the commission Monday said an examination of Louis, 42, showed an "abnormal electrocardiograph" and that the former champion should restrict his activities.

The commission's doctor, Dr. Stoll's recommendation declined to approve Louis' application to wrestle in Illinois.

Elgins Trounce Majors 8-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pitcher Ray Yelle made his 1956 debut in the Intercounty Baseball League senior series last night. It was rough.

Yelle, a righthander, started on the mound for the league-leading London Majors. In three innings, St. Thomas Elgins mauled him for five hits and seven runs.

Reliefer Dor McLennan took over, gave up only one hit but Majors still lost, 8-1, to Elgins. The win moved St. Thomas out of first place in the five-team race.

In another Intercounty game, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen defeated Oshawa Motors 6-2 at Oshawa to tighten their grip on third place.

In the Nickel Belt League Copper Cliff Redmen increased their top spot margin to 1½ games with a 6-3 victory over Creighton Indians at Creighton.

At London, Al Dumouchelle was the winning hurler. He yielded only five hits for the win but had to depend on fielding to pull him out of several tight spots.

Think Reds May Free Catholic Missionaries

HONG KONG (AP)—A Roman Catholic Church publication says reports of "greatly improved treatment" of six American Catholic missionaries still held in Chinese Communist jails "would seem to point to an early release."

The Catholic Newsletter, published here, says the Americans "are being given special food, apparently in an effort to remove the signs of prison life."

It says it got the information from sources in Shanghai.

WELLAND CARGO UP

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — A total of 7,850,681 tons of cargo passed through the Welland ship canal from the opening of the canal in mid-April until the end of June. This is an increase of 401,- 593 tons compared to the total of 7,449,088 tons for the same period last year.

Giovanelli Wins Over Poirier

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Giovanelli has himself a winning streak of one today and a solid reputation as a consistent guy among the middleweights.

The 24-year-old New Yorker came back from a near knockout midway through the eighth round and nailed Gene Poirier of Niagara Falls, N.Y., for a technical knockout before the round was over Monday night in the scheduled 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Poirier looked groggy and tired but a sure winner when Giovanelli was sucked into a short left, dropped to the canvas, rolled over on his back and just gave up.

Then in the eighth, Giovanelli moved Poirier around up to now mixed it up again, but a quick left-right spun him and he was stumbling around on one leg when referee Barney Felix ended it at 2:49.

The victory, Giovanelli's 13th KO in 37 bouts, ended a two-bout losing streak.

Both weighed 151½ for the televised bout which drew 1,094 fans with a gross gate of $2,352.

Advertising Record

TORONTO (CP) — More national advertising was published in Canadian daily newspapers during the first five months of 1956 than in any similar period before, the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association said today.

(From January to May, it said, national advertising equalled 76,- 500,000 lines—an 8.5-per-cent increase over the 68,700,000 lines during the first five months of 1955.

In 1955 the five-month figures declined 7.7 per cent from 1954.

WRENS TAKE OVER

Jack Leonard Says He's World's Tallest Midget After Dieting

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) "How will I recognize Jack Leonard?" asked a man waiting for the comedian in a restaurant. "He's lost so much weight I won't know him."

"It's easy," replied a wit, pointing to the revolving front door. "When a guy slides through that door without turning it, that will be Leonard."

Leonard came in a moment later—turning the door, it's true. But nevertheless a much thinner man than the 125 pounds he carried 265 by his bathroom scale. A woman tourist who had blundered into the restaurant and was waiting for a table called excitedly, "Aren't you Jack Leonard?"

"I was," muttered Leonard and stalked to a table with the man who had been waiting for him. "Don't worry about eating a big lunch," said Leonard, "it hits the skids of food after all that food do to me."

DIT IT HARD WAY

Overcoming his aversion to the stuff, he ordered a corned beef sandwich — no butter — on corn bread—cut crumbed, and a cup of black coffee. He admitted to eating a soft-boiled egg and slice of protein bread for breakfast. For dinner his wife Catherine, who weighs 116 and helped him lose that 125 pounds, would serve him lean roast beef and a plate of spinach.

"So you want to know my diet," said Leonard, who appears frequently on many TV programs and will launch his own regular situation comedy series. "Just say it's a few crumbs and one fig leaf scraped. Just explain that I no longer could afford those wall to wall suits. Put it down that I'm now the world's tallest midget."

Actually Leonard, who never has drunk liquor but used to eat practically all day long, went on a 1,200 calorie daily diet. He did it the hard way, by making it 400 and 500 calories a day. A total of 9 doctors said he had to lose weight as a result of a leg injury. At first they said he'd die of overweight. He took them so seriously that they decided he was dying of starvation. Somebody made him eat a one-pound steak and he's been happy on his 1,200 calories a day ever since.

Las Vegas Proved Fruitful Parish for Young Priest

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Twenty-three years ago a young Irish priest just out of seminary in New York asked a friend he had chosen Nevada as the place to start his church career.

"Nevada!" the friend exclaimed. "Why in heaven's name would you go there? Why, there's nothing but a few houses next to the highway. Your church will look like a mission in China."

Nevertheless, Rev. John Ryan went west. After being stationed in most of the sizeable towns in the state, he now is pastor of St. Anne's, the closest church to the great show capital, the Las Vegas Strip.

SIX MASSES ON SUNDAY

On a recent Sunday, Father Ryan could look down at mass and see such famous faces as Jimmy Durante, Danny Thomas, Dennis Day and Teresa Brewer. Stars, showgirls, gin rummy players and plain citizens fill St. Anne's each Sunday. Six masses are held, one at 5 p.m.

"The afternoon mass is unusual, but it is permitted by dispensation in areas where it is necessary. We have found that it is helpful in a town like this, where many people work all night and rise in the afternoon."

Of course, all is not sweetness and light here.

"This is the place of 'fun in the sun,'" he remarked. "People are here for pleasure, and the climate contributes to a lax attitude. Certainly all the temptations are here. With some people, it is a question of getting to them before the temptations become too great."

EXCESS IS PROBLEM

I asked him if the presence of gambling in the community presented a moral problem in his eyes.

"Gambling is not a sin per se," he replied, "though it is if done in excess. Anything is.

"Certainly gambling can be a moral problem, as when a man with a wife and three children loses all his earnings at the games. But this sort of thing happens less than you would expect."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Comes a time when you can start calling yourself something of a bridge player. It is when you insist on applying the last-resort plan; avoiding a finesse until there is nothing as good to try.

Give it a gentle workout in this deal:

NORTH
♠K Q 8 2
♥A 8 5 4
♦A
♣4 3 2

WEST
♠9
♥J 10 2
♦K 9 7 5 2
♣K 9 7 6

EAST
♠10 8 4
♥Q
♦Q J 10 8 3
♣J 10 8 5

SOUTH
♠A J 7 5 3
♥K 9 6 3
♣A Q

South is declarer at a small slam contract of six spades and the west opening lead is the heart jack. Dummy goes down and you take stock of the tricks you are likely to lose.

If opponent hearts are not evenly split you will lose a trick in that suit. If you take a club finesse and it fails you will lose a second trick that will defeat your contract.

Sh, you look for some play that will save you the need of the finesse gamble. This means a plan that will endplay an opponent into a lead that will make a club finesse unnecessary.

When your mind runs along these lines you are quick to see the possibility that may exist. If a heart must be lost it can become an exit for restraying an opponent, hoping it is west.

So, trick one is taken with south's king and three trump rounds are pulled. A heart is taken with dummy ace and when west shows out on this trick you have found out that west has the good heart.

This tells you how west can be forced in for a lead. But you do want him to get out easily with a diamond return. So, cash ace of diamonds and ruff the second dummy diamond in south.

Now lead a heart and let west take it. What will that buzzard return? It must be either a diamond or a club. And a club, you know, will be right into your ace and queen sitch.

His only other alternative is a diamond return. This you can ruff in dummy and let your south hand sluff club queen. You could not lose any more tricks if you wanted to; thanks to the strip-and-endplay.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find your outlook, is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, July 25, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—The Sun, Moon and Uranus, in benefic positions, today encourage laborious work, domestic and home interests, also unusual ideas of value. Use extra care in financial April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Benefits can now be obtained through hard work, attendance to home and family affairs, and by using your ingenuity to think up some new and clever ideas and methods. Don't fear to try some reforms.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—This may not be a day for quick but it is a period when your innate skill and quick-thinking can bring valuable returns on other directions. Think before acting.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—This can be a peak day for you particularly in your usual duties and in activities for which you have special talent. Don't neglect responsibilities—big or small.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Outstandingly good aspects in your sector, but tomorrow brings some restrictions, so start today planning for the morrow. Be extra careful. It is better to be slow but sure.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Your Mercury, while in active now, goes into an excellent configuration tomorrow—favoring personal reviews and an increase of knowledge. You should know what to do—but how to do it counts, too.

September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—No one has a patent on happiness, on success, or on the in life which are free. Enjoy striving; it is usually the most satisfying part.

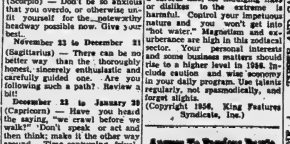
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Don't be so anxious that you overdo, or otherwise unfit yourself for the noteworthy headway possible now. Give your best.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — There can be no better way than the thoroughly honest, sincerely enthusiastic and carefully guided one. Are you following such a path? Review a bit!

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Have you heard the saying, "we crawl before we walk?" Don't speak or act and then think! Make it the other way around. Time-consuming frivolities should be avoided.



January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Your especial planet, Uranus, is excellently aspected. Try a new idea or twist; enliven others' plans; offer suggestions, but do all graciously, of course. You should make good headway.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Too much repetition often spells a good thing, but repeating a good thing occasionally, furthers your aims. Don't keep disappointments to yourself; talk

You born today are active-minded, generous, and like ever to be doing only the things you like to do. Here you must draw a careful line, for indulging likes or dislikes to the extreme is harmful. Control your impetuous nature and you won't get into "hot water." Magnetism and exuberance are high in this zodiacal sector. Your personal interests and some business matters should rise to a higher level in 1956. Include caution and wise economy in your silent program. Use talent regularly, not spasmodically, and forget slights.

189,000 More Working in June Than Year Ago

OTTAWA (CP) — Employment
June, the federal government reported today.

In its monthly survey, the government said the number of persons with jobs at June 23 was estimated at 5,647,000, up by 148,000 from May and 189,000 higher than June, 1955.

Unemployed looking for work totalled an estimated 117,000. This was 48,000 lower than in May and 40,000 down from a year earlier.

The employment and unemployment estimates were made by the bureau of statistics on a sampling basis. An accompanying report from National Employment Service said that at June 21 there were 191,671 persons registered for jobs with NES.

This compared with 281,948 at
May 17 and 251,936 in mid-June of 1955. All areas of Canada showed improvement both over
May and over June, 1955.

A joint report from the bureau and the employment service said that all of the employment increase between May and June occurred in non-farm industries.
Farm employment declined slightly during the month, the report said.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma bought herself some flowers, and she was sticking them in the blue vase as careful as if she thought she was in a flower contest, and I said, G me, you sure know how to fix flowers, don't you, ma.

Well yes, I flatter myself I do, in fact I've been flattered by others,
ma said, and I said, Well gosh, ma, suppose nobody comes in and sees them after all your work and trubble?

It doesn't matter, I love to arrange flowers no matter who sees them, ma said, and I said, Jimmi-ker, ma, would you arrange them in somebody else's house even if you never saw them again yourself?

That very thing has happened
many times, ma said. My friends often ask me to help them arrange flowers, she said, and I said, Well suppose you never saw these very flowers again, wouldn't you care?

Well, I'd have a certain satisfaction merely knowing that I had made them look a heavenly arrangement, ma said, and I said, Then
G, ma, the twins down in the next block are having a birthday, and Glasses Magee gave Dora a string of yellow beads his mother didn't want any more, so why dont you get even with her by letting me give Flora these flowers if I carry them careful so you'll know they still have your arrangement no matter where they are. Pop gave me my allowance in advance becauld buy her something, but I bet she'd rather have those flowers, and I know I'd rather keep my allowance, I said.

The result being ma gave me 3 little earrings to give her, being almost alike but not quite on account of one being rounder and one being blue and one green.

Red Trade Pacts Prove 'Flop'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—An authoritative foreign ministry source said today Indonesia's trade agreements with Communist countries—except for one with Red China—were "a flop."

The informant said recently expired agreements with East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia would not be renewed because they "only made us lose money."

He declared they were proven to have been "merely political gestures because the quotas stipulated in the pacts had never been filled."

The Sept. 1, 1954 agreement with Red China, which is still in force and to be renegotiated in Peiping soon, has produced a favorable balance of more than $6-
300,000 so far, the informant added.

Man Is Arrested Result Accident Near Cobourg

BRANTFORD (CP) — Maurice Cabana, 43, of Chesley, Ont., was arrested near here Monday night on a criminal negligence warrant from Cobourg as the result of a traffic fatality near there Sunday night.

Mrs. Alice Frizzelle, 39, of Peterborough was injured fatally in a two-car crash that sent her husband and a daughter to hospital.

Provincial police picked up Quintal and four companions in a car headed for Niagara Falls.

Police said Quintal told them he stopped at the scene of the fatal crash briefly, but he and his companions could speak only French they decided to leave for Brantford. Quintal has been working here in recent months.

Child Entering Neighbors' Home Struck by Bullet

CHICAGO (AP)—A seven-year-old girl was shot and seriously wounded Monday night when she walked into a neighbor's home where a couple was quarreling.

Police said Warthen H. K. Hobbs, 31, admitted he fired the shot which struck Joan Marie Wood as she entered the Hobbs' front door.

Police said Hobbs was charged with assault with intent to commit murder and was held in jail in $25,000 bond.

Police said Hobbs related that during a quarrel with his wife, Helen, 28, he took his pistol from a drawer, loaded it, and told her to shoot him. He said he fired a shot from the gun to show her it worked. The bullet struck the neighbor girl in the abdomen.

Chatham Wants Thames Dredged

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—With an envious eye on Wallaceburg, city council Monday night decided to press the Dominion government to dredge the Thames River to allow Great Lakes shipping to enter Chatham.

With Sydenham River improvements and the building of a grain and feed elevator, Wallaceburg now is on lake vessel schedules.

It is estimated that a Thames River dredging project would cost at least $1,500,000, with an annual upkeep of more than $200,000.

Billy Graham Doctrine "Old" Says Layman

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—A leading Anglican layman has accused Rev. Billy Graham of retarding the development of "thinking religion" by his two crusades to Britain and said the American evangelist preached a form of Christian doctrine which has long been outgrown."

Sir Henry Self, in a presidential address Monday night to the Modern Churchmen's Union here, said: "The personal charm of Rev. Graham and his sincerity are beyond question, but his appeal was ultimately to fundamentalistic acceptance of the Bible and a form of Christian doctrine which has long been outgrown."

Specialist Says Smoking Helped Kill George VI

LONDON (Reuters) — An American cancer specialist claims in a new book that smoking helped kill King George VI.

The book is Smoking and Cancer, written by Dr. Alton Ochsner, a past president of the American cancer society. It was issued to reporters Monday at a press conference held by the British Temperance Union in its campaign against smoking.

In his book, Dr. Ochsner asserts: "King George had been struck down by both acute vascular disease and by the maturing crisis of lung cancer. Cigarets play a deadly role in both diseases."

"Frequently the King had been advised, as are all such patients, to stop smoking. But he could not be persuaded to give up his cigarets."

Injuries Fatal

ORANGEVILLE (CP) — John Greenley, 23, of Harriston died in hospital Monday from injuries suffered in a car accident.

Another occupant of the car, William Louth of Norval, Ont., is in hospital in Toronto. His condition was described as "fair."

The accident happened Sunday near Grand Valley.

People Behind Iron Curtain Show Liking for Western Ways Says Eden

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden told Parliament Monday there are signs that people behind the Iron Curtain are showing an increasing liking for the Western way of life.

But he cautioned against expecting any quick solutions of the big diplomatic problems that face the world.

Eden gave his views on the international situation in opening a two-day foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons.

The British leader said he much prefers what has been called the "menace of Soviet competition" to the threat of world war.

DANGER RECEDING

He drew three conclusions from developments behind the Iron Curtain:

"Firstly, the danger of war in Europe or of global war has receded and is receding.

"Secondly, that there are influences at work which could result in giving aid to this relaxation of tension.

"And thirdly, that all this business requires great patience."

Eden said the important thing about the visit to Britain of Russian leaders Nikita Khrushchev and Nicolai Bulganin was that it disclosed that they had accepted the fact that war in the nuclear age would lead to the destruction of nations.

He termed the hydrogen bomb the "ultimate weapon" and dismissed suggestions that it might by its own destructiveness be eliminated as a weapon of war.

Eden served notice that Britain wants to work out a plan "to limit" and control "nuclear test explosions which otherwise might in time endanger the health of the human race."

This assertion drew cheers: "We would have preferred to deal with this in the context of a disarmament convention but we are quite ready now to discuss that matter separately."

There has been much pressure in Britain, both in Parliament and in medical circles, for a British initiative on the question.

Child Drowned

GALT (CP)—Timmy Templin, 4, of Fergus, was drowned Monday when he fell from a raft into Puslinch Lake near here.

Firemen using resuscitation equipment worked for three hours in a vain attempt to revive him.

Timmy, grandson of Hugh Templin, Fergus News-Record publisher, was playing on the raft with friends.

Western Powers To Study Limiting Tests Of H-Bombs

Canada, U.S., U.K., France Will Discuss Red Plea

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has been working for the last eight years to harness hydrogen energy for the production of industrial power, it was announced today.

The annual report of the Atomic Energy Authority said "the work is still in the laboratory stage and many problems have to be solved before a practicable (hydrogen) fusion reactor will be possible."

Answering questions at a press conference, Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of the authority, said the effort being put into the work is "considerable." He declined to say how much money is being spent on it, but said: "When we work on problems of this kind we expect to succeed in solving them."

The report said the nuclear fuel had to be brought to a temperature in the region of 100,000,000 degrees centigrade to make a fusion reaction possible. Very high temperatures" had been reached in the research, the report said. "It is not yet certain that a pure fusion reactor can be built which yields more useful power than it consumes."

Fulweiler said the authority can really hopes for a "somewhat greater" output from each of Britain's proposed 12 nuclear power stations, and would mean a "much greater coal saving by 1965 than was originally planned by the government."

The South of Scotland electricity board announced today that the first atomic power station to be built in Scotland will be able to provide 250,000 to 300,000 kilowatts of electrical power by 1962, saving nearly 1,000,000 tons of coal a year.

In its report, the authority said new discoveries of uranium—raw material of atomic energy—had been so extensive that "the danger of a world-wide shortage" had been removed.

It continued: "As the world supply of uranium grows easier, more attention has to be paid to the relative costs of production from ore deposits. There is no question of paying almost any price for uranium.

"A year ago nuclear power appeared, for most countries, to be a possibility in the remote and indefinite future—now it is a matter of the choice, but of dates and comparative costs," the report said.

Horrified Crowd Sees Montrealer Perish in Flames

MONTREAL (CP) — Shirley Goldner, a revenue department inspector, was burned to death Tuesday while horrified bystanders watched him vainly trying to tear apart iron bars which trapped him in the basement of a blazing garage factory.

Goldner, 39, a well-known Montreal sportsman and manager of the Sparta Football Club, was checking the quantity of alcohol used in the manufacture of perfumes when an explosion shook the building.

Roger Dalle, 33, was passing the building on uptown McGill College Avenue at the time. He described Goldner's efforts to get out through the one door of the enclosed into a nearby store to borrow a hacksaw.

"I saw the flames behind him," Dalle said. "He was screaming and yelling for help. I began to saw at the bars but the heat soon forced me to give up. Then the man stopped struggling . . . it was horrible."

SAFETY HEARD?

While Dalle worked with the hacksaw Joseph Pelletier attempted unsuccessfully to make Goldner understand that there was a door nearby through which he could have escaped.

As the screams weakened a passing priest knelt by the window and prayed as the man dying man. Goldner's body was recovered two hours after the outbreak.

Nine firemen were overcome by smoke while fighting the two-alarm fire in the building, occupied by the importing firm of Birch and Charton Inc.

Playing Is Now Well Advanced

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario farmers took advantage of sunny weather last week to get in between half and two-thirds of their hay crops after heavy rains had delayed operations for nearly a week.

A review of conditions in all areas released today by the Ontario department of agriculture showed that much of the hay was damaged by heavy rains earlier this month. All other crops, with the exception of peas, are reported doing well.

Some grain crops are reported to be coming along a bad with some spot now being harvested.

In Southern Ontario, Grey county reported a shortage of dairy cattle and Welland said cattle buyers had been buying dairy cattle for shipment to the United States.

Today's Chuckle

The wife had been arguing with him about the time and said he should buy, finally relented with "Well, please yourself. After all, you're the one who will be late."

In a meek voice he replied: "Well, the coal and vest anyway."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Sunshine, Cooler tonight and Thursday in Northern Ontario from Hudson Bay. Showers and thunderstorms occurred overnight in Lake and Fores sections of the province but little precipitation was reported through in advance of the cooler air. A few showers or thunderstorms will continue this morning in the lower lakes region but generally sunny skies are forecast today over Southern Ontario with temperatures much the same as on Tuesday. Meanwhile in Northern Ontario afternoon temperatures will be mostly in the 80s.

The cooler weather will be more evident in southern Ontario tonight where temperatures will drop to the 50s. On Thursday highs will be in the mid-seventy over the province with afternoon temperatures in the 70s.

STEEL STRIKE SETTLEMENT SEEMS IMMINENT

New Industry Offer Reported Made Union

NEW YORK (AP)—Settlement of the 25-day-old steel strike today appears imminent.

Industry leaders are reported to have come up with a new contract offer in talks Tuesday with heads of the United Steelworkers of America.

The parties issued a joint statement saying they were making progress. They meet again today.

The union has summoned its 170-member wage policy committee to a meeting Thursday. The committee has the power to approve a new agreement for the union's 650,000 striking members.

PLAN FRIDAY START

There also were reports that some steel companies have made plans over the weekend to start resuming operations Friday.

Union officials and negotiators for the big steel companies—U.S. Steel, Republic and Bethlehem—started the new talks after earlier discussions collapsed here last Friday.

The union struck mills across the country July 1, halting nearly 90 per cent of steel production. More than 100,000 workers not directly dependent on steel have been laid off.

THREE-YEAR CONTRACT

The industry is said to have offered the union a three-year contract providing a 32-cent-an-hour package increase for the first year. The earlier industry proposal called for a four-year, four-month contract with a boost it valued at 17 3-cents-an-hour in the first year.

The prices objected to the length of the proposed contract and placed the value of the increase at 14 cents.

The steelworkers' pro v sirike wage demands public.

The union has never made its wage demands public.

Nine Stranded Airmen Return To Civilization

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine of 12 Canadian airmen stranded in the Arctic have been rescued in operation by RCAF helicopter.

A Canso flying boat is waiting at Resolute on Cornwallis Island for favorite conditions to pick up the three remaining men. They are stranded on Melville Island some 300 miles south of Resolute and more than 2,000 miles north of Ottawa.

The air force here stressed that the three men are in no danger. They are being supplied with food by parachute drop and are in radio communication with Resolute.

The 12—Cpl. J. E. Titus, St. Sarnia, LAC J. A. Repath, 23, Toronto, and LAC J. J. Latreille, 19, Montreal—was landed on Melville Island two months ago to study the Arctic.

The station is out of helicopter range and the spring breakup has so far prevented a sea landing by Canso flying boat with a rescue mission.

Officers of 408 Squadron here said the original survey and a high tide and favorable wind may shift the ice from shore any day now to make a sea landing possible.

The groups of three previously stranded at Isachsen on Ellef Ringnes Island on northern Baffin Island and at Wager Bay just south of the Arctic Circle were taken out by a helicopter operating from a site on the DEW radar line.

Thinks Britain Has Great Lead In Nuclear Power

TORONTO (CP) — Sir Claude Gibb, whose turbine-manufacturing firm has supplied much of the equipment for Britain's experimental nuclear power station at Calder Hall, said Tuesday he thinks the station "is a forerunner of world beaters."

Sir Claude, chairman and managing director of C. A. Parsons and Company Ltd., and president of the Union of British Industries, was interviewed while conferring with officials of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

"I believe Calder Hall will demonstrate the very great lead that British engineers hold over the rest of the world in nuclear power," he said.

Calder Hall will be officially opened Oct. 17, Calder Hall is said by British experts to be capable of producing 50,000 kilowatts of power at prices competitive with power produced by other fuels.

Staid 'Old Thunderer' Shuns Marilyn, Rest of British Press Enthralled

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Is Marilyn Monroe newsworthy?

The answer, broadly, is a thundering affirmative. Marilyn has been in town only a few days — but already she holds much of the British press in thrall. The 30-year-old actress, beset by playwright husband Arthur Miller to make the film of Terence Rattigan's Olivier, is railing as much newsprint space as Russia's "two bears," Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin, received on their visit last April.

But there's one big exception. That venerable institution, The Times, hasn't printed a line on Marilyn, and Fleet Street is mildly amused at the detachment. While the tabloid Daily Mirror proclaims "we saw Marilyn first in Piccadilly" and the Daily Times, individualistic as ever, publishes a picture and a three-column story entitled: "Some notes of a watermill collector."

If Marilyn grieves, circulation is close at hand. Some serious papers have given the actress full attention they might bestow on the thinkpiece about Atlantic Union. Take the Observer, for instance, devotes its weekly "profile" to a portrait of prime ministers and such international statesmen as External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada—to a diagnosis of the Monroe myth.

It says an innocent, almost involuntary wit, and an engaging acceptance of all the facts of life are as much responsible for her success as the "appalling biography, the vital statistics (37-23-37) and the radiant beauty."

Britain Working Eight Years To Harness Hydrogen Power

Insists Israel Has Balance Middle East Military Power

LONDON (Reuters) — British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd insisted Tuesday that the balance of military strength in the Middle East is in favor of Israel.

He refused during a House of Commons debate on foreign affairs to support the Labor Party's call for a total embargo on the international shipment of arms to the Middle East, where Egypt recently has received Communist arms, including bombers.

In the face of Labor challenges, Lloyd told the House: "We believe Israel is in a position at the present time to defend herself successfully."

He was taking part in the two-day debate opened Monday by Prime Minister Eden. Other speakers included Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition, who called for new and imaginative aid programs to counter communism in underdeveloped areas of the world.

Lloyd said that in future, more friendly relations with Egypt depend on the latter's willingness to undertake legitimate British interests" in the area.

Gaitskell urged the government to take the initiative in new talks on Germany with the United States, Russia and West Germany.

He said: "There is a real danger that public opinion in Germany may, unless we are careful, move to and neutralism. Joint commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as the obstacle to reunification.

Lloyd in his reference to Germany said:

"I think there is general agreement that the first step must be the reunification of Germany. Without German unity a new system of European security would be an illusion."

Railroads Yield Passenger Trade To Airlines

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads have decided to surrender their first class passenger traffic to the airlines.

The roads, biggest passenger carriers in the United States, will do it, The Times said, by discarding first class fares by about 50 per cent. At the same time coach fare increases of no more than five per cent will be made.

"I've just about given up hope to be the future of long-haul passenger travel," James M. Symes, president of the Pennsylvania, was quoted as saying.

The president of another road, not identified in the report, added:

"What they are going to do is try to give the pullman service and switch the passengers over to the coach and airplane."

No Restrictions On Car Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe indicated today the federal government plans no restriction on imports of automobiles or parts from the United States.

"The situation is quite normal," he said in the Commons as he commented on protests from the United States and Canadian auto industry that imports are threatening Canada's production.

Mr. Howe quoted figures showing that since 1950 imports of U.S.-manufactured cars — mostly — have varied between about five and seven per cent of Canadian production.

It was the policy of Canadian manufacturers to produce models that sold in large volumes and to import higher-priced cars. The demand for cars was increasing in Canada.

Last year imports of U.S.-made cars totalled 27,202 vehicles, valued at $20,886,000, "and imports were about 7½ per cent of the Canadian production of 374,945 units.

Saskatchewan Hospital-Care Tax Will Rise

REGINA (CP) — Taxes for the Saskatchewan hospital-medical hospital-care scheme will be raised $10 per person, it was announced here today. The increase in personal rates will be effective July 1 since the controversial plan was launched by the CCF government in 1947. The boost was attributed to rising hospital costs.

The single adult in 1957 will pay $5 more — or a total of $20—in the plan. The $10 increase for married couples will be up $10 to $40 and the tax for families of three or more will be increased by $45 from $40.

Hospital taxes will yield about $11,300,000 next year. This is only about half the plan's cost which is financed since the province's share of the $22,000,000 it was announced Tuesday.

Declares Nehru Usurping Power

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters) — A resigning government minister today caused a sensation in the Indian parliament when he accused Prime Minister Nehru and his associates of "inner circle" of usurping the powers of the cabinet.

Subramaan Deshmukh, whose resignation as finance minister was accepted Tuesday, said in a prepared statement to the House of the People (lower house) that the "inner circle" was illegally usurped in the decision on the recognition of Communist China.

The "inner circle" which Deshmukh referred to is a cabinet subcommittee on states reorganization.

OVER-CHARGED

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta. (CP) A man was fined $50 and a month in jail Monday after pleading not guilty to a charge of stealing 17 chickens from a neighborhood farm. "I only stole two," he told the magistrate.

QUEBEC MEMBER URGES REVISION OF CONSTITUTION

Plea Voiced As House Approves Tax-Sharing

OTTAWA (CP)—A Quebec independent says the day will come when Canada's constitution will have to be changed to bring it up to date.

Raoul Poulin, Beauce, made the statement Monday shortly before the Commons voted 128 to 45 to approve the principle of the government's new tax-sharing proposal to the provinces.

The House completed clause-by-clause study of the legislation at night. After scheduled final reading today the bill will go to the Senate.

MEET CHANGING TIMES

Mr. Poulin suggested that the British North America Act of 1867 be amended, clarified and adjusted to meet the requirements of the times at a new conference of federal and provincial governments.

He urged that the constitutional conference of 1926 be reconvened to rejuvenate the constitution. "We must in this way make it a better solution to Canadian problems.

"The federal and provincial governments now have the right to amend the constitution in those fields of jurisdiction allotted jointly by both levels of government.)

HELP LESS WEALTHY

The Commons voted approval of the tax-sharing plan after Ottawa-ship Minister Pickerg ill said—its main purpose is to improve the lot of less wealthy provinces.

On the vote the Liberal majority was unmarred by the CCF party which had urged higher payments to the provinces—and by two independents, Mr. Poulin and Fernand Girard, Lapointe. The bill was opposed by the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties which said the plan is inadequate to meet provincial revenue needs.

Hair Today Gone Tomorrow If Scalp Rubbed

LONDON (Reuters) — A skin specialist warned today that the medical journal today that vigorous rubbing of the scalp will cause it said that massage is often done with a view to restoring hair growth. But such rubbing makes the hair is usually brittle and liable to fall off when rubbed or brushed.

The specialist also chided barbers who believed that singling off their prevents the escape of poisonous fluid. He said if singling has any effect on the hair it is to encourage it to grow, as the flame burns the keratin in the hair roots and may produce brittleness with fragmentation of the hair."

Moyanahan also said that wearing a hat has no influence, favorable or adverse, on baldness. Natural baldness cannot be cured he said.

Police Believe Explosion Intended Merely as Warning

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto hotel manager whose home was damaged by a time-bomb early today said he is convinced the culprits were after someone else because there's just nobody that mad at me."

The blast ripped apart the front door to the half of the Forest Hill duplex occupied by William R. Gold about 2 p.m., shattering windows 100 yards away and jarring residents as much as 500 yards distant.

Mr. Gold, manager of a downtown Toronto hotel was absent at the time, holding a reception for retired lightweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano.

"I don't understand it at all," he said in an interview. "I've never crossed anyone that I can remember.

Asked whether he plathed to take precautions, Mr. Gold said: "No, I am taking no precautions; that's how sure I am that someone made a mistake. After all, they could have mistaken the house."

The other tenant is mining promoter Murdo O'Sullivan. He said Mr. and Mrs. O'Sullivan are touring Europe.

Police found the time of the blast at about 2 a.m. when Gold was on his way home from the reception. His wife and family are out of town.

"The place was still smoking although there was no fire." Mr. Gold said. "The whole front door drove to the Forest Hill police station. I have no idea what it's all about."

Police arson experts said the charge was laid at the bottom left corner of the front door. The door was splintered and buried inside. Two vestibule doors also were shattered. Woodwork in the hallway was smashed. The veranda was jarred loose from the house and the basement two blocks away were cracked.

Two persons were in the building at the time. They were Gold's brother-in-law, and Mrs. Julie Arnold, the Gold housekeeper.

Police said they believe the bombing was carefully timed as a threat only since the heads of both households were present.

"From the burned condition of the woodwork and the wrecked condition of the doors and entrance, an explosive of great blasting power was used," a police spokesman said. "We believe it was dynamite."

Monroe Silent About Studying Jewish Faith

LONDON (AP) — Marilyn Monroe declined today to confirm or deny reports she is studying to become a convert to the Jewish religion—the faith of her husband, playwright Arthur Miller.

Miller made no statement. He accompanied his bride to England for the filming of a movie.

The report that she planned to join the Hebrew faith created a stir because Mrs. Miller, was reviewed by The Daily Express. The newspaper attributed its information to an unidentified London rabbi.

Police Patrol Auto Factories In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuter)—Hundreds of police patrolled strike-hit Birmingham auto factories today following violence Tuesday.

The strike—marked so far by widespread disregard for the union's quit work call—tightened today as more than 700 more workers did not report at plants of the British Motor Corporation.

Corporation officials said the number of men at work today was 22,512, or 703 less than Tuesday.

About 50,000 workers have been called by their union to strike in the British motor industry's most serious labor turmoil for a decade.

Disregard of the strike call by half the workers followed three-pronged picket-line clashes. Mounted police broke through one picket line to clear the way for non-strikers reporting for work.

Hundreds of police, mounted and on foot, patrolled trouble spots outside the factories today as union leaders pleaded for calm to spread the stoppage.

The union today called out workers employed by BMC, Britain's biggest car combine, to protest the dropping of 6,000 men without compensation or warning.

Capital Airlines Orders 14 Comets

LONDON (Reuters) — Capital Airlines of Washington, D.C., has arranged to buy 14 Comet jet airliners from Britain's de Havilland Aircraft Corporation at a cost of £19,000,000, it was announced here yesterday night.

Deliveries will start late in 1958.

Four Comet IV models will be delivered followed in the second half of 1959 by 10 Ivas, a variant with a slightly shorter and medium-range operations.

In Washington, R. M. Kendall of Capital Airlines in Washington said: "We have a direct influence on the de Havilland production line."

Kendall, who went to Washington in connection with the deal, is general manager of B.O.A.C. and Associated Companies in de Havilland and Viscount production.

He said he expects further activity in the U.S. as Comets are introduced at domestic routes, he said.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

UNABLE TO LOCATE SOURCE OF SMOKE

City firemen were out hunting early this morning — hunting for the source of smoke noticeable in the Station street area. The call for firemen was received at about 1.30.

Firemen reported there was a definite smell of rubber burning but a half hour search failed to locate the source.

GIVES ILLUSTRATED TALK OF TRIP

Belleville Kiwanis yesterday heard president Al Drysdale describe his recent trip to San Francisco where he represented the club at the Kiwanis International Convention.

The convention, perhaps the biggest of its kind the international service organization has ever held, was attended by 4,000 delegates and their wives, from Canada, the U.S. and Hawaii.

Mr. Drysdale used color, picture slides of photographs he had taken on the trip, to point up his talk.

Besides photographs taken at the convention, the city council and some of the sights included scenes of the Golden Gate City itself, the surrounding district, and shots of the Los Angles area.

SOFTBALL GAME IS POSTPONED

The Belleville Bobcats of the City and District softball league have called off tonight's game with the Frankford Merchants at Frankford.

Bobcats are unable to field a team because of players away on holiday according to manager Bob Temple and coach Herb Hemp.

This game was originally scheduled for Frankford but was postponed at that time because of rain. No date was available at press time as to when the game will be played.

Bridge Defect Delays Traffic

Belleville workers living in Rossmore and in other nearby sections of Prince Edward County had an unexpected circuitous drive ahead of them this morning when on their way to the city they found they could not cross the bay bridge due to some minor defect in the closing apparatus.

Commuters held up by the bridge were forced to drive around by way of Trenton to get to their jobs.

Bridge tenders were not available for comment but nearby residents said the bridge had been opened at 7:35 to allow a sail boat through, but operators were apparently unable to get the bridge properly locked on closing.

At 8.30 gates at the bridge were still down and warning bells were ringing, but a few minutes later bridge attendants had the difficulty remedied and the long line of traffic waiting on both sides of the bridge began to clear away.

Tweed District Included In Moose-Hunting Area

Anyone for a moose hunt?

This year the Department of Lands and Forests has extended the moose-hunting area to include the Tweed district.

But you cannot get your moose for free.

The licence fee for a resident of Ontario will be $36. This will entitle the bearer to shoot either a deer or a moose.

But not both.

Moose hunting in the Tweed district will be for residents only and the season will be the same set aside for deer.

The dates for deer and moose hunting are: north of Number 7 highway, November 12 to November 26. South of Highway Number 7, November 14 to November 17. Both dates are inclusive.

The ordinary moose licence will not be valid in the Tweed district, nor will anyone already in possession of a regular deer licence be able to purchase a $36 deer-moose licence.

Highway No. 7 is the boundary line through the counties of Hastings and Lennox and Addington, and the township of Kennebec in the county of Frontenac. From the western portion of Oldersownship the line dips to good deer range to the south of Sharbot Lake. This line passes through the communities of Mountain Grove, Long Lake, Parham, Bob's Lake and ends at the intersection of Frontenac county, Highway No. 8 and the eastern boundary of Bedford township.

The department will have regulations available to hunters which will outline fully all boundaries and shooting points.

The extension of the moose hunting area to include the Tweed district was mainly due to an increase in the moose population and because, where the animals are found in the northern part of the district, they are contributing nothing to recreational requirements.

The department realizes that very few animals will be taken, and that the take will not be detrimental to the herd in any way. Several are shot every year, because of mistaken for deer, and left in the bush.

Kingston Council Grants $100,000 To Hospital

KINGSTON — City council has approved a grant of $100,000 to the Kingston Memorial Hospital.

Subject to approval of the government's municipal board, the grant will be paid in $10,000 sums over a 10-year period.

Apparently the grant is the city's donation to the current building fund of the hospital, although no specific mention was made of this in the recommendation presented to council.

WILL GRADUATE

SGMN. H. B. VALLANCE

OTTAWA — Signalman Apprentices Harold Bruce Vallance, RR 3, Belleville, will graduate from the Royal Canadian School of Signals, Kingston, on August 31.

Sgmn. Vallance enrolled under the soldier apprentice program on July 8, 1954, at the age of 16. Next month, he will have completed not only his academic education to the equivalent of Grade II but also will graduate as an operator, wireless and line.

Upon graduation, Sgmn. Vallance will be posted to 1st Canadian Infantry Division Signal Regiment, Camp Borden.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vallance, of 3 Harriet Street, Belleville.

Doughnut Firm Installs New Unloading System

TRENTON (Special) — Unloading of bulk flour by air slide suction method went into effect at the Trenton plant of the Canadian Doughnut Company yesterday.

Specially constructed railway cars carrying 47 tons of bulk flour are unloaded in three to four hours by the new method, the flour being stored in four large bins.

Formerly flour was stored in bags but recent renovations at the plant have provided for bulk storage of both flour and sugar. New equipment and plant facilities will increase production for the Trenton plant, one of the oldest plants in the town.

Mr. Diggins was a retired boot and shoe maker.

He was predeceased by his wife the former Jessie Ethel Harman.

Surviving are seven sons Omar, Hugo of Ameliasburg; Waldo of Glen Williams; Victor and Bernard of Los Angeles, and William and Walter, both of Sydney.

Store Executive Slain in Street In Nicosia

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Edward Bonicel, a pro-British executive of Nicosia's biggest store, was shot dead while walking to lunch today with his fiancee.

British troops cordoned off all the inner walled city in a hunt for the killers.

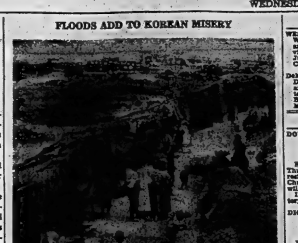
Two bullets in the back and one in the head felled Bonicel on Hippocrates Street, often called Bloody Alley because of a series of slayings there officially attributed to gunmen backing the Greek Cypriot movement for union of this British colony with Greece.

His Greek Cypriot fiancee sank weeping beside the body, crying: "Who, why do it? What did he do to them!"

REFUSED ORDERS

Bonicel, a Maltese in his early 30s, managed the clothing department of Spinneys department store. He held a commission as a special police constable. Police said his life has been threatened several times by nationalists, once for his refusal to close up shop last spring during a general strike by Greek Cypriot workers.

Elsewhere, a Royal Air Force Iran was shot to death this morning on his way to duty near Limassol, on the south coast.



Israeli Forces Attack Jordan's Arab Legion

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—A United Nations truce observer and 10 Arab Legion soldiers were wounded today when Israeli forces attacked Jordanian forces in the Shaikh Abdullahi area, the Arab Legion command announced.

The Israelis used automatic fire and mortars, the command added.

It said Jordan had lodged a complaint against Israel over the attack.

FLOODS ADD TO KOREAN MISERY

Washed out of their homes by the flooded Han River, these South Koreans are living in improvised shelters on higher ground near the flood area. Five persons were reported dead and thousands left homeless by the flood which was brought on by heavy monsoon rains. Crop damage is reported heavy. —Central Press Canadian.

Hold Divorcee After Cocktail Party Stabbing

NEW YORK (AP)—The 26-year-old son of a countess was stabbed in the chest with a gold letter opener shortly after a big cocktail party broke up Tuesday night in a plush east side apartment.

Katy today police arrested a jewelry-bedecked blonde divorcee on a felonious assault charge. She is in her 40s.

Mrs. Irene de la Begassiere, the Manhattan she is the former wife of a French marquis, called police after the stabbing of William Grey in her four-room apartment. He was taken to hospital where his condition was reported as satisfactory.

He told police his mother is the Countess de Beaurepaire of New York.

STAYED LATE

Mrs. de la Begassiere told police that Grey was an uninvited guest at the cocktail party in her apartment. She added that 200 persons showed up for the affair. The party ended at 1 p.m. she said, and everyone went home except Grey.

She told police he suddenly came toward her with his hand raised. She grabbed an antique gold letter opener with a six-inch blade. But she said she couldn't remember what happened after that.

Wonderful To 'Hit Silk' Says Blonde

CAP-de-la-MADELEINE, Que. (CP) — People who think parachute jumping is "crazy" are merely afraid of the unknown, says 4-year-old Lorraine Smith.

Miss Smith, a winsome 23, had "the most wonderful thrill" Sunday when she hit the silk for the first time, in an unscheduled jump on the eve of the national sporting championships here.

The Shawinigan blonde recalls with a smile that she made the jump on impulse.

After the parachute gave its first jolt on opening, it made a lovely soft sound—swoosh, swoosh. It was peaceful, almost musical."

Professional jumpers said she landed like a veteran, although she hadn't even bothered to change into parachutist's clothing before the adventure.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market staged a moderate advance during morning trading today. Industrials recorded an index gain of more than a point while western oils were up almost a point. Base metals were narrowly ahead.

Refining oils, steels and financial institutions were the stronger industrial issues. Algoma gained a point. Other price changes were fractional.

Hudson Bay gained ¼ among senior base metals but Consolidated Smelters was down ⅛ and Falconbridge ⅛.

Coppers were easier. New Roy Ran and Kilembe declined 15 cents. Northspan gained 25 cents among uraniums. Consolidated Discovery lost 15 cents in golds.

Most western oil price changes ranged around the five-cent mark.

Say Labor Board Rules Marmora Strike Illegal

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says it has learned the Ontario Labor Relations Board has ruled illegal a strike against two Canadian subsidiaries of United States steel companies.

The newspaper quotes "unofficial sources in Toronto" as saying the walkout against Marmoraton Mining Company of Marmora, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, and Union Drawn Steel of Hamilton, a subsidiary of Republic Steel, has declared illegal, on application of one of the companies.

The employees, members of the United Steelworkers of America, struck July 3 in sympathy with United States Steel strikers.

Huge Uranium Contract Let

TORONTO. (CP) — A $242,-412,000 contract, described as the world's largest for uranium oxide, has been awarded to a Northern Ontario mining company.

Rio Tinto Mining Company of Canada, Ltd., said Tuesday its Blind River subsidiary, Northspan Uranium Mines, Ltd., is to produce ore from the Eldorado Mining and Refining, Ltd., the Canadian government's agency in atomic-mineral procurement. A letter of intent had been received from Eldorado.

The Northspan contract, Rio Tinto said, raises to more than $500,000,000 the value of uranium contracts it now holds. It is conditional upon Northspan milling a record 9,000 tons a day.

Other Rio-controlled producers include Algom, which holds a $205,910,000 contract with Eldorado at a 6,000-ton milling rate, and Pronto, which has a $55,000,-000 order.

All three contracts expire in 1962.

Named Vice-Chairman

TORONTO. (CP) — C. W. T. Reed of the faculty of law at the University of Alberta has been appointed vice-chairman of the Ontario Labor Relations Board, it was announced Tuesday night.

Mr. Reed arrived last week to replace Deputy Labor Minister Metzler who has filled in on emergencies.

Bergman Passes Up Ed Sullivan Show

LONDON (AP)—Film actress Ingrid Bergman said today she doubts she will be able to go to the United States this autumn to take part in a television show.

Ed Sullivan, TV showman now in France, saw Miss Bergman here several days ago, but she said she told him her engagements make it difficult to go to America.

United States Opens Huge Naval Air Base

CUBI POINT, Philippines (AP) The United States commissioned its largest overseas naval air station today.

The Cubi Point station, located about 50 miles northwest of Manila on historic Bataan Peninsula, was opened after five years of round - the - clock construction. Some $47,000,000 have gone into its development. More than $20,000,000 will be spent before it is completed in 1958.

The navy literally moved a mountain into the China Sea during construction. They sliced 85 feet of earth off the top of Mount Mariban, toppled trees of the jungle and pumped up the coral and rock bed of the ocean for the airstrip.

Opposition To Health Plan Consolidating

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Tribune says a united front may be forming among provinces which are hesitant about taking the plunge into a national health insurance plan.

In the wake of a federal offer to share the $265,000,000 full-coverage scheme 50-50 with the provinces, Manitoba proposed an alternative which would leave the main job of hospital insurance to voluntary agencies.

The newspaper says that Ontario, cooling towards the more costly scheme, is sending Dr. M. G. Taylor, consultant to the Ontario Hospital Service Commission, to Manitoba soon to investigate the budgest care scheme which went into effect this year. He also will be told about the plan of disaster hospital insurance under study by Manitoba.

Cars of Future May Reach 600 Horsepower

MONTREAL (CP) —Passenger cars of the near future may reach the 600-horsepower class, an American research authority predicted here Tuesday.

R. R. Jones, director of passenger car research for Ethyl Corporation of Detroit, told a service club that "with 600 horsepower, a car could accelerate from a standing start to 60 miles an hour in 5.4 seconds."

Making a short-range forecast, Mr. Jones predicted that next year's automobiles will be built closer to the ground, use more glass and gadgets, and have more power. Some, he said, will use a revolutionary braking system.

Florist Ends Unique Trip

QUEBEC. (CP) — Lyn Cross of Galt, arrived here Tuesday after travelling some 20,000 miles getting his delivery van autographed by fellow florists across Canada and the United States.

The 53-year-old florist, accompanied by his wife, began his journey last October and has already visited 173 cities and collected autographs of nearly 500 florists.

'Shaggy Monster' Was Whale In Reverse

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — That shaggy "monster" lying on a beach south of Yakutat probably is just a sperm whale "turned upside down," F. L. Sitkahn, curator of Alaska's territorial museum, said Tuesday.

Keithahn said published descriptions of "the thing" — the tooth movable jaw, dimensions, hump — generally fit the description of a sperm whale.

Keithahn said positive identification could be made if he could get a specimen of the teeth.

SHARPSHOOTER

Lieut. Edson L. Warner of Londonville, Ohio, finished second in the coveted Queen's Prize competition at Bisley, England, one point behind the winner, Maj. George E. Twine of England, who had 223 points. Warner was a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic team. (CP from National Defence).

Freighter Sinks

NEW YORK (AP)—The freighter Fairlie, rammed by a tanker Monday at the entrance of New York harbor, sank today in 13 feet of water in Gravesend Bay, the coast guard reported it took off safely 12 crew members who had remained with the damaged vessel.

The Fairlie was struck by the tanker San Jose II, 3½ miles south of Ambrose lightship while inbound to dock.

PSYCHIATRISTS TO MEET

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 1,000 Canadian and American psychiatrists are expected to attend the second divisional meeting of the American Psychiatric Association here Nov. 8-11.

Will Probe Seaway Project Property Claims

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Three Judges of the New York State court of claims will travel to Massena Thursday for a first-hand look at property involved in suits against the state power authority.

The delegation, headed by presiding Judge Bernard Ryan, will inspect Barnhart and Ogden Islands in the St. Lawrence River and other property in the Massena area acquired by the authority in connection with the St. Lawrence hydro-electric project. The St. Regis Indians have sued for $33,800,000 claiming that Barnhart Island, principal site of the power project, and the power potential of the river belongs to them.

Three tenants on Ogden Island have demanded $354,000 damages. Other cases before the court carry claims totalling nearly $500,000.

Draws Praise From Bench

WHITBY (CP)—Motorist Fred Hanson of Oshawa drew praise from the bench Tuesday when his evidence led to the conviction of Daniel Brady, 22, of Peterborough, for drunken driving.

Mr. Hanson testified that he saw Brady's car pass three stop lights. He followed to catch up with Brady and persuade him to stop driving.

Magistrate F. S. Ebbs, impounding Brady's car and suspending his driving licence—both for a year—said:

"We have had the unusual evidence of a public - spirited citizen who saw that something was wrong and did something about it. If more persons did the same there would be fewer traffic accidents."

BODY FOUND

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The body of an unidentified man, believed to have been in the water for seven days, was found Monday at nearby Amherstburg, lying on a dike in the Detroit River.

Letter To The Editor

Welcomes Newcomer From Tasmania

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

Harriet Steven's engaging comment on women personalities she has met recently, in Montreal while attending the World Federation meeting of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, makes interesting reading.

The Belleville area is growing in importance, and size. There are an increasing number of women with interest and mentalities to keep pace with activities of women the world over. Our thoughts along this line are quickened and stimulated to read of the newcomer-delegate from Tasmania, Australia, who is so charmed with Canada that she will come to settle in Belleville as a member of the Arbutus and Rotarian Clubs. Miss Dorothy Perkins. Miss Perkins will add to the intellectual wealth of women in various marvelous ways.

In connection with the island of Tasmania a few years distance from the coast of Australia, we recall the visit to Canada of Prime Minister Lyons of Australia and his lady on their return trip from their visit to England at the time of Queen Elizabeth's coronation. The Prime Minister and Mrs. Dame Genevieve were entertained in Toronto as they stopped to view some of the beautiful scenery in the Niagara Falls and the Hydro power plant at Niagara.

The Prime Minister had been in office for twenty one years and, as was customary at coronation time, he might have received as an honor a title. Because Mr. Lyons expressed that he was of the laboring class, he considered that it would be suitable for him to be knighted in coronation honors by the queen, and he suggested that his wife instead be given the title of Dame Gertrude, a very gallant suggestion for a man to make. They related that they had considered the trip to the coronation banquets and had been given as souvenirs a coronation spoon and fork. Mrs. Lyons said what I was told of their conversation, that the coronation medals were alike. The coin I saw which was given by Dame Gertrude to her daughter-in-law, Mary Matheson, was a little larger than a silver dollar and of bronze and was quite handsome.

Harriet Stevens is good publicity for the Ontario Intelligencer. We hope Miss Perkins will find warm friends in Belleville.

We are fortunate in having such women as Harriet Stevens on our writing scope who could credit to any metropolitan paper and equally fortunate in having on the staff of our Belleville paper, as Social Editor—Mrs. Henderson whose continual activity gives us recounting of the social life of this community and is highly satisfactory. Both Harriet Stevens, and Mrs. Henderson are clever writers, on your paper, point the way of the very important growth of this city. These positions and the expanding industries set in such an excellent agricultural district as ours in fifty years to be the greatest between Toronto and Montreal.

I trust that Miss Perkins will understand that while month after month we read the good things of your paper and you have received no word of our appreciation that once we voice our thanks.

Lily B. Mathieson.

Now 20,000 School Ties

(Manchester Guardian)

There are now said to be 20,000 ties of the old school or club kind, and the number may only be worn by favored groups. But they have advanced a long way since the time when a few dull stripes prevailed all the design. For dark and sober colors, quiet and pterodactyls on the ties of certain Farnborough researchers, and Trojan horses on those of the Wooden Horse Club who made escapes from prison camps.

The 150 people who have taken part in an Antarctic expedition can wear one with a penguin on top of the world, and those who have holed out in one, can, apart from buying one for everyone else for weeks afterwards, wear a tie with a complete golf course, a ball, club, figure 1 and flag on it. Anybody connected with the Zeppelin production on the BBC can wear one with a airship and arrow and a large "A" on it. And then, of course, there is the Bath Club, the members in of which must remove a bath tap from a women's college at Oxford and can have their first symbol of their effort embroidered on a tie.

Durability of a Hedge

(St. Catharines Standard)

An advertiser says his rose hedges are strong enough to stop a car going 60 miles an hour. Homeowners will be glad to take his word for it, but point out that a small child running at three miles an hour may stay after, and probably do more damage to the hedge than a car.

Coal vs. Atom Battle Looms

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Two reports in recent days indicate that an era of keen competition between the world's newest source of energy, the atom, and one of its oldest, coal, is approaching rapidly.

Delegates to the World Power Conference in Vienna were told by John V. Donworth, head of the Reactor Physics division of the British Atomic Energy Authority, that recent improvements in British reactor design promised nearly doubling the power production than has hitherto been the case for the same amount of money. The British Central Electrical Authority on world order plans of the improved design from industry to give a performance which, he felt fairly certain, would make them fully competitive with coal, he said.

On the other hand, the coal industry of the United States apparently is confident that coal will have a place for a long time to come not only at home but in European markets, including the United Kingdom. United States mines now are producing overseas export approximately thirty million tons a year and by 1960 the industry expects the demand from Europe will rise to forty-five million.

So strong is the confidence that the coal operators, the coal miners and the coal-hauling railroads of the United States have joined in the formation of a new shipping company to transport these coals overseas.

And another company the Eastern Gas and Fuel Association of Boston, expects the demands for coke from overseas countries to grow apace with the building of new dockside equipment capable of loading fifteen hundred tons a day. Coke ovens now are coming in from points as far distant as Sweden and Argentina.

Nova Scotia also has been able to get in on the expanding European coal market but, compared with U.S. exports, its shipments represent only a drop in the bucket and seventy five thousand tons since sales started last year compared with 30 years' sales in a year sold by American companies abroad. Lionel Forsyth, Dosco President, has said shipping subventions on a long term secured loan are needed before large contract orders can be obtained. Doubtless Ottawa would be willing to give favorable consideration to provide such aid just as it has been ready to give subsidy assistance on overseas shipments of coke.

Every effort must be exerted by those in positions to exert it to get as much Canadian coal as possible into the now expanding overseas markets. At the same time a close watch must be kept on the question of competition between coal and atomic power. If there are clear signs that the British Atomic Energy Authority has been over-optimistic, as some experts in other lands are inclined to feel it has been possible Canadian coal operators and miners would be wise to seriously study the now co-operative shipping agency formed by the industry in the United States. If indications are to the contrary, it will be time to look around for new markets.

Bandit Kept Bad Company

(Edmonton Journal)

The British habit of understatement appears to be spreading to other nations.

A short time ago a meter-reader in Cleveland stabbed a housewife whose meter he was reading, and was dismissed by the city for "discourtesy to the public."

Now we learn that in far-off Viet Nam, a notorious bandit leader, who once commanded an army of 10,000 outlaws, has at last been convicted. The charge: "Associating with evil doers."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

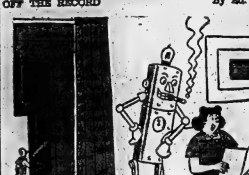
When my wife and I gave an old iron cot and mattress we no longer required at our camp to a neighboring bachelor settler with who we have enjoyed a long friendship, the settler's wife responded with a gift of a jar of her own maple syrup made this past spring off their own wild woodlot.

The flavor of this home-made syrup was so glorious, so old-fashioned and reminiscent of the taste of maple syrup in long bygone years, that we have decided to buy a new iron cot and a new mattress to give our friends in the hope that they will give us two jars of maple syrup next year.

I am told by my business, industrial and financial friends that modern commercial maple syrup, made and marketed in accordance with the pure food laws of the land, and by scientifically designed and efficient modern methods of boiling and evaporating, is far ahead of the old-fashioned home-made bush-boiled syrup that it is not even worth arguing about.

But my sense of taste goes right on arguing. For the sense of taste is being merely sentimental, and that our memory of the syrup we had been using in town was tricking us, we decided, before our gift jar was all used, to send to town for samples of the commercial article. We got three tins of different brands, and I deputed my son in contest with the bush-boiled syrup.

There simply was no contest. The new-improved maple syrup just was not in the running. True, they were cleaner. They were by way of a lighter and more elegant color. But if you took a teaspoonful of the old-fashioned syrup in your mouth, with its tang and redolence, and then a moment later tried one of the scientifically made ones, you couldn't taste anything!



Now, I realize this will outrage all my business, commercial and industrial friends who have a profound faith in new and improved. What I should do is invite them to a tasting party. But we haven't got enough of the old-fashioned stuff to spare for them.

So what I will do is answer each maple syrup manufacturer who now writes me indignantly, to assure him his brand was not one of the three I tasted, even if it was.

And then my wife and I will buy new iron bunks and two new mattresses and make a deal with our backwoods friends to do us up two gallons for next year.

Mrs. R. Naylor has returned home after visiting friends in Buffalo, Syracuse and Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack. B. Jamieson have returned to their home in St. Paul, Minn., after visiting relatives here. Mr. Jamieson is a former Belleville boy, his father, Mr. J. C. Jamieson, was manager of the Daily Intelligencer for many years before moving to St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Beer of Kincardine, Ontario, are visiting the latter's father, Mr. G. Huff, Bleecker Avenue. Mr. Beer is the principal of the Kincardine public school.

Mr. F. Harden is spending some time in Elmira, N.Y.

Latest Style In Strategists

(Christian Science Monitor)

Military and political strategists have their day — perhaps we should say days, because there is recurring glory. A few years ago you were almost sure in the course of a week's newspaper reading to run across some reference to that guide of princes, Machiavelli. Then there was a period in which von Clausewitz was the source of "quotations" as a certain bland movie star. But now it's the — the duke of Plaza Toro.

His name headed one of the most serious columns in one of the most serious metropolitan dailies the other day, and there now here it is in one of the most serious London weeklies. This is evidence that we are going to predict a Plaza Toro trend.

But who was the duke who may now have a hand in shaping — via the advice of the contemporary public press — our destinies? He was that leader of men whom there is a little bit in every good politician — who

In enterprise of martial kind,
When there was any fighting,
He led his regiment from behind—

He found it less exciting.

But when away his regiment ran,

His place was at the fore, O—

That celebrated,
Cultivated,
Underrated
Nobleman.

The duke of Plaza Toro.

In arriving at this authentic information about the duke we took the approach method in quite wide favor today. First we conducted a poll of chance acquaintances' opinions as to whom the gentleman might be. We found no one either in favor or opposed until we met a Gilbert and Sullivan fan, and he was all there.

Well, doubtless at times we all have been for him, no matter whether we knew he may have been running for office.

Personal Health Talk

By DR. WM. BRADY

Be Sure to Get Your Vitamin E

Vitamin E, says Bicknell and Prescott (The Vitamins in Medicine Grune & Stratton, Inc., N.Y.) "cures and prevents muscular dystrophy in rabbits, guinea-pigs and various other animals. . . . It is difficult to understand why wheat germ oil could even be given in preference to whole wheat germ. It is certain that the oil cannot contain anything not present in the parent germ, and it is equally certain that much of the value may be lost in as far as the Vitamin B complex and minerals are concerned."

It has not been positively established that lack of or deficiency of vitamin E is a fact of muscular dystrophy in humans.

There is no scientific evidence to support the notion so widely propagated in health magazines that vitamin E prevents heart failure or cures heart disease.

There is scientific evidence that vitamin E deficiency is a cause of sterility in animals.

Wheat germ is superior to wheat germ oil as a source of vitamin B, probably because wheat germ oil becomes rancid more quickly than wheat germ. Even the slightest rancidity, scarcely perceptive to smell, indicates great loss of vitamin E.

Painful injections of wheat germ oil have no better or greater effect in any case than wheat germ oil by mouth. Beware of the "child" racketeer who keeps you running to his shop for "shots" of this or that vitamin for as long as you'll fit for human consumption.

Keep the five of courses always drinking, adding fuel when required. All through Nature is to be noted the powerful urge to grow and to live. All Nature is endowed with more cells than it can use. Only the will to live, that is lining up on the side of the Creator, can put it in the world.

In the natural course of events we are born to victory, as I believe Emerson laid. And we were "born to succeed, and not to fail" and to resu further said. That wise Kansan, writer and newspaper man, Mr. W. Howe wrote an inspiring little book in which he said that, "Success is easier than failure." Here is an example of three outstanding men who had almost the same thoughts about life. And none of them ever met the other.

The will to live is something upon which you resolve. Never should you lose faith or despair of hope.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IS HUMAN HOPE JUSTIFIED?

Christianity is not a religion of mere ideals but an experience of the willing submission of the mind and will of Christ.

Ideals are often fuzzy and indistinct. They float up into gassy generalities. They easily lose touch with common things and common people. At the core of the Christian gospel is the concrete fact of the Person in whom they originate. Christianity without Christ is as absurd contradiction in terms.

Apart from Christ, what can we say of the world's ideals? What of its high ambitions. Its painful reaching after a noble design in world order, what place for national expansion or culture, what excitement of self-advancement can give us hope? Will all our scientific planning lead only to ruin and catastrophe in the end?

The truth we should never forget is that God takes human life seriously and considers it a thing of such value that He has made the greatest of all possible sacrifices in order that our lives may be spiritually fulfilled. It is astounding to realize that God Almighty, the Maker and Creator of the universe, has in Jesus Christ and his gospel Himself immediately at the disposal of a race of willful and obedient creatures.

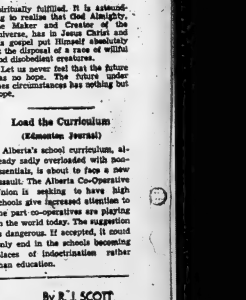
Let us never feel that the future has no hope. The future under God's circumstances has nothing but hope.

Load the Curriculum

(Edmonton Journal)

Alberta's school curriculum, already sadly overloaded with nonessentials, is subjected to a new assault. The Alberta Co-Operative Union is seeking to have high schools give ingressed attention to the part co-operation is playing in the world today. The suggestion is dangerous. If accepted, it could only end in the schools becoming another factor in indoctrination rather than education.

TODAY'S TALK



By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WILL TO LIVE

I like that line from Thoreau where he said: "This life is not for our complaint, but for satisfaction." Complaints never do any good any way. But to keep alive with the will to live, that is lining up on the side of the Creator and of the whole world.

In the natural course of events we are born to victory, as I believe Emerson laid. And we were "born to succeed, and not to fail" and to resu further said. That wise Kansan, writer and newspaper man, Mr. W. Howe wrote an inspiring little book in which he said that, "Success is easier than failure." Here is an example of three outstanding men who had almost the same thoughts about life. And none of them ever met the other.

The will to live is something upon which you resolve. Never should you lose faith or despair of hope. All about us are invisible voices. Men who had known the same Almighty, and if we pay attention we shall be assured that there will be within our conscious hearing and we shall keep high in heart and never despair.

Gum Salesman Is Committed For Trial on Murder Charge

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—James Griswood, 36, a bubble-gum salesman, was committed for trial Tuesday on a murder charge in the June 16 death of Alice Clements, 23, of Montreal and Rouyn.

Evidence was that Griswood had lived with her for four years at Port Credit, west of Toronto, and more recently in a cottage at nearby Van Albert.

The woman's nude body was found by transport driver Conrad des Jardens. It was found on a bridge crossing the Groundhog River on highway No. 11 near Fauquier. She had died of severe head injuries.

The crown called 17 witnesses and produced 33 exhibits in the seven-hour hearing. Griswood is to be tried in Cochrane in September.

Anthony Lafontaine, a Timmins truck driver, testified he had found Griswood amidst the wreckage of an overturned car early June 16. He said Griswood's fingers were bloodstained.

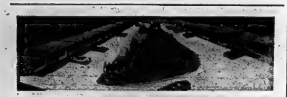
After travelling eight miles towards Kapuskasing, Lafontaine said he stopped at the bridge where the woman's body had been found. The truck driver said he called police on observing Griswood's reactions.

Sawmill workers testified they saw a man trying to dump a woman's body over the bridge but he fled.

G. Evans, defence counsel asked that the press be instructed not to use statements which Griswood was alleged to have made to provincial police. Magistrate Marcel Lege instructed reporters not to use the statements since the evidence might not be admitted by a higher court.

Dr. Albert Moore of Cochrane said the victim died from numerous skull fractures.

Canuck Lumbermen Arrive in Moscow



LONDON (Reuters)—A delegation representing the Canadian Lumbermen's Association arrived in Moscow Tuesday on a three-week visit to Russia, Tass, the Soviet news agency, said.

Roy Halliday of Toronto, association president, is head of the group which made the trip at the invitation of the Russian government.

The Canadians spent their first day with G. M. Orlov, Russian minister of timber industry, and talked with other officials.

The group was scheduled to leave today for Leningrad. Later they will visit timber - producing areas in Archangel, Molotov and the Krasnodar region, Tass said.

Other members of the group are: Roland Bock, Montreal; W. J. LeClair, Ottawa, secretary-manager of the association; J.W. McNutt, North Bay, J. H. Jenkins, Ottawa; Hector Stone, Meschi lake, B. C.; and Angus McBean, Vancouver.

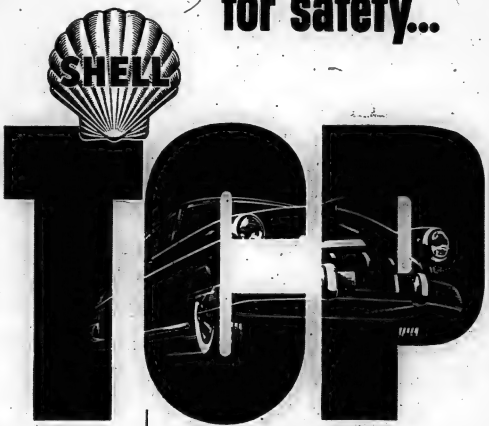
Say West Planned To Drop A-Bomb On German City

BERLIN (AP) — An official of Communist East Germany claimed today the Western Allies planned to drop an atomic bomb on Germany during the Second World War.

State Secretary Otto Winzer said the only thing that deterred the Allies was the "rapid march" of Soviet troops into Germany.



He offered no proof, but quoted West German Professor Leo Brand as saying at a recent Socialist party congress in Munich "it's a fact that a German city almost became the target of the first atomic bomb."

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. John Corrigan announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Margaret, to Harold Vincent Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Buckley of Roslin. The marriage to take place on August 11, at 9 a.m. St. Charles Borromeo church, Read, Ontario.

Clarence Lagabeer, 108 Cedar Street, who has been a patient for the past week and a half in Belleville General Hospital, following a major operation, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ketcheson and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson, Halloway, Ontario, attended the marriage on July 21, of Dorothy Kay Ellis and Betty Ruth Bryan in Trinity church, Grand Valley, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Croll, London, Ontario, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McGuire at their summer residence on Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Atkin, daughter and son-in-law, are holidaying in Picton, guests of Mrs. Atkin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Morden, Paul Street.

Women's Activities

MYLESTONE W.A.

The Women's Association of Mylestone United church held its July meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Thomson on Thursday afternoon. There were 19 ladies and the Rev. H. L. Beare present. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Ken Jones.

Scripture reading, St. John 3 was read by Mrs. Beare, followed by prayer by Rev. H. E. Beare.

Discussion was held on having an afternoon tea, in the near future. Mrs. Clarence Thomson and Mrs. Wells Jones contributed to the birthday bank. Reading was given "On With the Message", by Mrs. Will Rutherford; vocal duet "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus", by Patsy and Nancy Spencer, accompanied at the organ by their sister, Mrs. Clarence Thomson; reading "It's in the Bible's-ide", by Mrs. Fred McKewen; organ solo "Bless This House", by Mrs. Ella Jones.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sanford G. McKiejohn, in Spatchcock. Arrangements for this meeting will be Mrs. Fred McKewen and Mrs. Will Rutherford. The topic chosen will be 'Mercy'. There was also a discussion about re-decorating the church.

WOOLER UNITED CHURCH WA

The W.A. of Wooler United church entertained the grandmothers of the church and community to a pleasant afternoon in th church parlors on Thursday afternoon.

Beautiful corsages were pinned on each grandmother as they entered the parlors and some 35 were present.

A pleasing program was given: a vocal trio by Mrs. H. McColl, Mrs. Mac Anderson and Mrs. Alex. Bell; Scripture reading by Mrs. Jim Putnam; reading by Mrs. Reg Crews; a solo by Mrs. Alex Bell.

Prizes were given to the oldest grandmother, Mrs. Catharine Sharpe to the youngest, Mrs. Andrews; to the largest, Mrs. C. Jarvis; to the farthest, Mrs. Ken Galsworth.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bryant's and Mrs. Fox's group, Mrs. Mac Anderson's and Mrs. Jim Putnam's group.

Ivanhoe W.I. Entertained at 'Pleasant Moments'

The July meeting of Ivanhoe Women's Institute was held at Mr. P. M. Wood's beautiful summer home "Pleasant Moments" on the shore of Moira Lake.

After 24 members, five visitors and a number of children, had partaken of a bountiful picnic dinner the programme was enjoyed around picnic tables on the shady lawn.

The president, Mrs. John McLeroy, opened the meeting with community singing.

The minutes of the previous meeting and financial report were read by the secretary, Mrs. John Wright. Plans and means of raising money for the Institute were discussed and several suggestions were offered.

During the business, it was decided to send a delegate to Folk school which is being held at Snow Lake, in August.

Mrs. John McLeroy read an interesting poem entitled 'Kitchens', Everyone joined in to sing "Happy Anniversary" to Mrs. Percy Downey, the honor of her wedding anniversary which was that day.

Mrs. Barton Haggerty gave an interesting paper on 'Ceylon'. By the use of a map, she took her audience on an imaginary trip to the island, telling of its people, industries and products and of the Institute work carried on there.

A comprehensive report on the highlights of the Guelph conference was given by Mrs. Clarence

Weddings

O'NEILL—WHALEN

St. Edmund's church, Stoco, Ontario, was the setting on July 9th, at 10 a.m., for a pretty summer wedding when the Rev. Francis J. O'Neill, cousin of the bride, united in marriage Patricia Whalen, of Stoco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Whalen, to Patrick Joseph O'Neill, of Erinsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neill. The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Thomas J. Whalen, in bridal gown fashioned of white satin and lace, with bodice and sleeves outlined with sequins and seed pearls, and long pointed lace sleeves ending in lily points. The skirt featured a net overskirt with floor length panel enhanced by flowers of motifs of iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion in lily of the valley design, fell from a corsage encrusted with iridescent sequins. She carried a Colonial bouquet of garden roses and stephanotis.

She was attended by Mrs. Joseph Cassidy of Lively, Ontario, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, who was attired in a waltz-length gown of blue bridal lace falling in points over blue satin and tulle. The bell shaped dress in Watteau style lace was encrusted in sequins and seed pearls and carried a bouquet of yellow and white pom 'mums.

Miss Helen Forestell of Madoc, cousin of the bride, and Miss Joanne Thompson of Tweed, were bridesmaids, gowned alike in pink waltz-length strapless gowns with matching lace jackets. They carried headdresses in matching color, and carried bouquets of carnations and white baby 'mums. All the attendants wore matching mitts.

Little Miss Mary-Jo Cassidy, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl, was served in yellow organdy with matching pokes bonnet adorned with a tiny butterfly. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white pinnocchio 'mums.

Mr. Kevin Whalen of Stoco, brother of the bride, was groomsman, while Mr. James O'Neill of Erinsville, and Mr. Raymond Whalen of Brockville, performed the duties of ushers.

The reception was held at the Hotel Tweed, where, over one hundred (a) guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a powder blue nylon mesh with white accessories and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, attired in French blue lace with navy and white accessories, and corsage of pink roses, assisted in the receiving line.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and circled about the base with misty tulle.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, U.S., and the northern districts of Ontario, the bride donned a pale blue flowered crystalette dress with white accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Whalen will reside in Erinsville.

Guests attending were from Lively, Ontario; Paris, Ontario; Michigan, Batawa, Belleville, Erinsville, Madoc, Tamworth and Campbellford.

Stoco Bride Honored With Beautiful Gifts

Previous to the marriage of Miss Barbara Teresa Whalen of Stoco, to Mr. Patrick Joseph O'Neill of Erinsville, Ontario, about 30 guests gathered at the home of Miss Monica Murphy, Stoco, to honor the bride-to-be with the presentation of a lovely woollen blanket from the organist and choir of St. Edmund's church. Miss Barbara was also the recipient of many other beautiful gifts from those present.

The evening was spent in games and contests, followed by refreshments served by the Misses Joan Whalen, Anne Healey, Frances Whalen and Monica Murphy.

Also prior to her departure from the bank of Montreal, she was the happy recipient of a lovely wrought iron tripht lamp with glass end table attached.

Douglas.

A sincere thank-you was extended to Mr. Wood by everyone for his kind hospitality in entertaining the Women's Institute to a picnic for the fifth consecutive year.

Bathing was enjoyed by some before the meeting and games were conducted for the children by Mrs. William Donnan and Mrs. Lindsay Ellis.

Each child received a small prize for his participation in the games.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Going Shanghai?

It is three weeks since T & T gave shopping news and hints. We are assuming that you are the girls' which, although not very funny, is quite true. Sales in the line of clothes are the order of the day, but, we are forced to admit, not in the line of food. Because it has become repetitious we hesitate to say this again, but, those two hungry boys, the wife and the wherever, blame most of the unseasonal prices on the weather. The weather is the culprit whether it is sales of summer clothes or rising cost of food stuffs.

Ordinary garden vegetables are late and not too plentiful. There are conflicting reports as to raspberries. One source told us they would be late, scarce and expensive. Another source agreed they would be late but that bushes were loaded and all that was needed was a sunny weather to bring them along.

A few luscious berries have appeared at fairly strong prices, with imported plums, peaches, pineapples filling out the fruit counters. Watermelons — we have never seen them so large — appear to be the fruit most in evidence, the price remaining reasonable.

Meat has continued its steady price climb. Again the experts blame the weather.

In a warm summer, they say, the demand for meat is low and the price drops. But with our cool weather the demand has continued and the price has risen. Chicken has now joined the ranks of beef, pork veal and lamb in the price climb. Smoked pork shoulder seems to be the most reasonable choice with ready cooked cold cuts a good buy.

The one good protein food that is plentiful and has not followed the price trend is fish. As a nation with a very fine fishing industry in fresh and salt water fish and seafoods of all sort, we tend to neglect this nutritious product. Fish is quick and easy to prepare. We should serve it more often.

To return to talk of sales again, the opportunities are amazing for the immediate future. Stores have already repeated so monotonously. With real summer weather not materializing, sales in summer clothes have been very slow. Now, with quite a surplus on hand and our merchants anxious to bring in fall stocks, there are many wonderful bargains to be had.

We hear that hats are going 'high hat' for the fall and winter, with gay versions of the old time men's derby vieing with the 'shockproof' high draped striped turbans. Trust the fashions to liven things up.

But the leading hat fashion news seems to be the fur hat, big and dramatic, of every shape and made of practically every fur imaginable, even a bleached blonde chinchilla.

Feathers are definitely coming back we are told, even to the large plumes. The predominating color is black, but bright jewel tones are popular also. From the fashions in the fall issues — and you seen the stretchable clothes that are becoming an clothes page! Made of two lengths of nylon — covered rubber cord, twisted together, the line firmly grips such articles as lingerie and stockings when the cuffs are opened up to grasp small sections of the fabric. A gentle pull will release your lingerie, leaving no marks. Metal hooks at either end permit the line to be hung easily and quickly by wrapping an end around a pipe or a door knob and catching the cord with the hook. The line stretches to ten feet.

We saw a news heading which made us realize that there are still bigger fish in the sea than have ever been caught or, if you would like to ridiculed for a pun, this could be called a whale of a fish yarn. Off the Australian east coast on June the 28th, a harpooned whale attacked a whaling ship and tore a gaping hole in her forepart. However, the chaser managed to return to port towing the whale with her. The master of the chaser, Captain Mills, says the whale turned immediately and charged straight at the ship. He adds: "We had no time to think of steering out of its way, and it crashed into the portside about 8 feet from the bow." The chaser had to go into an adjacent slipway for repairs.

Recently we enjoyed a chat with a lady from the Highlands of Scotland. Those who may read T & T, she told us an interesting sidelight on the clans of the Isles. She said that the Isles were originally settled by the hardy Norsemen who came in the land early in the last century, we asked her if she knew what her blood group was — curiosity! Is it a blood bank and, lo and behold, her blood is 'A'. I wonder if other ethnic groups can claim a particular blood group and the preponderance of 'A' from the Isles?

CUT COAL IMPORTS

LONDON (AP) — Britain imported only half as much coal in the first 26 weeks of 1966 as in the corresponding 1965 period, the ministry of fuel and power said Tuesday night. Provisional figures showed 12,000,000 tons were imported this year, compared with 6,130,000 in the first 26 weeks of 1965.

Donald Clan Holds Reunion At Frankford

The Donald reunion was held recently at Frankford community hall and park.

Among those coming the farthest were: Mr. and Mrs. Max Derry, and Katherine of Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Andy Campbell, Mr. Clifford Card, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sarsons and Norma, all of Bancroft, and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Coe Hill.

The most recently married couple was Mr. and Mrs. Bert Derry of Eldorado, while the youngest baby was wee Janet Ash of Bayside.

The winner of the "calorie handicap" (eating ice cream), was Ray Stickle of Frankford; junior boys' treasure hunt, Bobby Payne; teen-age boys' race, Jack Sager; teen-age girls', Jean Abrams; married women's guessing contest, Jean Derry.

Albert Wease of Lakefield, was nominated president. Ken and Mrs. Morley Nixon, also of Lakefield, secretary-treasurer.

Wife Preservers

If you get a stain on the carpet, act at once. Wash the stain with a mild soap. Then rub the spot at once with a soapy jelly fish. Next, blot it with paper towels, sacking or facial tissue. Next use a clean, slightly damp cloth or sponge and brush lightly over the spot, avoiding wetting and hard rubbing. Work from the outer edge to the center of the stain to prevent spreading.

Italy Leads In Ready-Made Fashions

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)— The Italian fashion showings for autumn and winter have made it clear that Italy leads the world in men's and women's ready-made fashions.

It took only two men's fashion houses — Brioni and Litrico—to prove that Italians are sauntering along in front of every country in cut, new and interesting material, and imagination.

But Italian attempts to produce a new silhouette for women did not impress the hundreds of foreign buyers, mostly from North America, who have spent the last week in Rome and Florence watching more than 30 high fashion and boutique collections.

What was impressive as always was the ability of the Italian designers to develop intelligently last season's Paris lines to make wearable adaptations in beautiful materials with their traditional color sense. Concentrating on this, they can capture the wholesale markets on two continents.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

PUT LIFE AND GRACE INTO YOUR "EVERY DAY WORDS"

Are the everyday words that you say - in greetings, in thanks, in acknowledgments - dead or do they begin to live as you say them? The words of courtesy you use so many times a day to other human beings do they go forth from you gallantly, as if they were freshly painted for each occasion? Or do you say these words dully, lazily, with no suggestion of a thought behind them? Do your greetings, your expressions of appreciation, reveal an ingrown personality or, happily, a come-hither personality?

We can't depend on the life-force of these everyday words that govern our everyday manners, for most of them aren't really pretty words. "How do you do," for example, and the telephonic "Hello," and "I beg your pardon." Therefore, like the alchemist, we must strive to find something that will change a base metal into gold. That magical something is The-way-we-say-the-words.

Take, for example:

"How do you do?" This is the phrase we use when we acknowledge an introduction. It's meaning, then, I grant, for at the moment of introduction, we aren't especially concerned with how the other person 'does.' Nor do we even expect an answer. But watch how Mary Gracious says these words. The welcoming friendliness of her "How do you do" makes us remember her as a charming person.

Even if the meeting is brief, the introduction to Mary Gracious is a toute experience. Dorothy Dull, on the other hand, says these words as if they . . . and she, too . . . were made of wood. She mumbles them either brusquely or unconcernedly, and quite more than muffed an opportunity to register a radiant personality. Let's take a dose of the Gracious tonic . . . it will give new life to a limp phrase.

And how do you say those magical words, "Thank you" and "Please"? Or don't you say them very often? Spend them like a prodigal! They are valuable coins of manners and useless when hoarded. They invoke rich overtones of good breeding and good thinking. Put sincerity in your voice and these kind words will "rise up and called you blessed"!

"I beg your pardon" . . . "Pardon me, please" . . . "I'm so sorry" . . . the very nature of these words demands special attention to the intonation of the voice. Miss Curt says these words with a brusqueness that freezes the words. Mr. Unconcerned delivers his "Pardon ME" with the accent on the wrong word. Mrs. Upplegion-Jones chirps, snippily, "Sorry"—and I wonder if she expects us to believe her? But Mrs. Kindly says the more gracious longer phrase, "I beg your pardon" or "I am so sorry" with such real concern that we know she means it.

"Hello" . . . the way you say this important first word of your telephone conversations definitely reflects your personality. When you talk over the telephone you have neither facial expression nor gesture to help you out. And so you must depend on the pleasantness of your voice to show that you are a pleasant person.

WHITE FLOWERS FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When flowers are used on the altar for a Memorial Service, should only white flowers be used or may another color of flowers be used, for instance a favorite color of the deceased? — M. C.

Only white flowers should be used on the altar for a Memorial Service.

Mother's Helper

WHEN TWO mother-friends exchange frequent visits accompanied by small suppers-for-friends, things may be more peaceful if the hostess mother is each home takes charge. Your child may respond more willingly to the "other mother" than to you, when he's engrossed in his friend's toys.

Family Round-Up

By Mary Moore

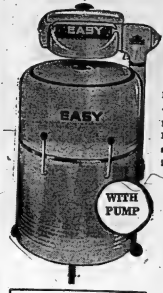
After the Canadian Press Club convention in Edmonton was over more than half of the delegates moved on to Jasper, then via the Ice fields to Banff and Calgary for The Stampede.

My sisters and I had an entirely different and personal project up our sleeves. We quietly boarded the train directly for Calgary, collected up Marianne and Gary and boarded "The Dominion," pointing straight for Pats in Toronto. It was a happy journey with an exciting finale for when we came down the exit passage in Union Station there to be stood all alone as far as we were concerned in spite of the hundreds of other greeters and meeters—with a silly grin on his face. Who should be greet first? His precious nephew whom he had never seen? Marianne whom he had not seen for over a year? Me whom he had not seen since April? He solved that by reaching for Gary in his carbed and letting us both plant kisses on each of his cheeks. The only one present who could speak were Peady and Doris.

Eleven weeks is a long time—it seemed like a lifetime considering the harrowing complications attending the arrival of our new little family member.

Now we are home and visitors are arriving and oh-ing and ah-ing over Gary to our satisfaction, and Marianne is doing the-cooking and I can attend to your letters—which run into the hundreds.

One of them follows:



Dear Mary Moore: . . . my daughter is being married . . . there will be a toast to the bride . . . an uncle wants to toast the bride's mother. . . this will be responded to by the man who gives the bride away. Is it customary for the bride's mother to be toasted or does she refuse because the groom's mother does not wish to be. What I want to know is—is this right?

My answer to this query cannot be definite for so many people are involved. If the groom's mother were not toasted the wedding guests would assume she had been forgotten. This is the order in which toasting proceeds: An old family friend proposes a toast to the bride. The groom responds and finishes by proposing a toast to the bridesmaids, to which the best man responds. Traditionally he proposes the toast to the bride's mother to which the bride's father responds and finishes by toasting the groom's mother to which the groom's father graciously responds. The uncle to whom the writer refers could propose a toast to the bride's mother but if the groom's mother is not retiring or modest or reticent to be toasted her wishes should be respected. It seems strange though that the groom's mother would deny him the pleasure of hearing his mother eulogized.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

MAKE-UP COORDINATED TO WHITE COSTUMES

Garbed in all-white, key make-up to conform.

This is the time of year when women love to wear white—all white from head to toe—especially if they have already acquired that lovely golden bronzed look which comes with summer tan.

The most important rule about wearing white, of course, applies to the white itself. For only the fresh, radiant look you want, your white must be snowy. If it's grayish, yellowish, or has even the faintest tinge of soil, the bandbox look is lost and you might just as well wear any other color of the rainbow for all the effect you'll create.

Maybe you don't want to wear all white—just white accessories. And why not? In collars and cuffs, white gives dark dresses a spanking fresh look. The same goes for blouses. There's nothing like a crisp, white blouse to make a dark suit look summery and refreshing. But the same rule goes for white accessories as for all-white frocks in pique, cotton or what-have-you. They must be crisply white if they're to be effective at all.

And, wearing white, what about your make-up? This is an important question, since the make-up you wear with vivid colors or pastels won't work at all if you'd look your best in an all-white costume. When you wear white you'll have to tone down your make-up.

White floods your face with lights and shows up any cosmetic mistakes you may make. With this in mind, consider your make-up in the light of subtraction rather than addition.

Don't wear too much rouge with white. A pastel shade, neither too dark, not too bluish red, will harmonize best with crisp white. Some of the lovely new pinks are perfect to wear with this type of costume. To make cream rouge look more natural, apply it before spreading on foundation. If it doesn't blend smoothly you'll find a small sponge will help. Wring it out in water so it's barely damp, then use it to blend in rouge.

Apply lipstick—and again, we recommend one of the lovely new pink shades—and let it set a few moments. Blot away the surplus and, unless you're using one of the long-lasting types, dust with powder, let "set" a few minutes, then apply a second coat.

Powder should blend with the present tone of your skin—whether tanned or fair—and you can make up your eyes as dramatically as is becoming.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HERE'S AN INVITATION TO GOOD TIMES, GIRLS!

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

On Friday, June 29, there appeared in your column a letter from "Joyce," indicating that she would like to know where to go to have a good time other than to a bar or a movie.

In our town, girls like "Joyces" will be welcomed at a "cook-out supper" in a nearby park where, after business hours, our club girls, say in Bermudas or levis, have an evening of fun. Sometimes it is a co-ed cook-out, and great are the arguments around the fireplace between the male and female chefs!

Saturdays, outings to the beach or a canal trip barge picnic, coming home under an August moon, fill more leisure hours.

Twirling in gay summer cottons, girls jitterbug, waltz or square-dance every week. Young civilians and service men make Saturday night their night at the Y.

Some more venturesome young people are learning the thrills of underwater swimming in our "Skin Diving Club." This is for qualified men and women swimmers.

There is a welcome for "Joyce" and her friends at the YWCA.

Isabel W. Varley
Y-Adult Program Director

Dear Mrs. Varley:

It was most thoughtful of you to write this answer to Joyce's plea for help in finding a place where girls and boys can have good times together, and I'm very happy indeed to pass on the information you sent in your friendly letter. Certainly there seems to be no dearth of good times for young folks at your Y.

Since, in my own answer to Joyce in my column, I suggested that she visit the Y, I hope that she has already found out for herself how much fun is offered there. If she hasn't, surely this letter of yours will bring her—and any other young girls who feel, as Joyce did that there was a lack of opportunities for healthy good times.

GET YOUR DAUGHTER'S FRIENDS TO HELP

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My problem is about my daughter, who is 22.

For the last two years, she has refused to go any place where she would meet any young men. She goes out only with her girl friends, and, when not with them, she stays home.

The reason is that two years ago she broke up with a young man with whom she had been going steady since high school days. What happened, none of us ever knew, but all of a sudden he went off, and soon after married someone else, leaving my daughter with a nervous breakdown. She now has recovered completely, is in good spirits and has a good job. But nothing we can say to her will persuade her to go out normally with young men again.

What would be your advice?

Mrs. K.F.

Dear Mrs. K.F.:

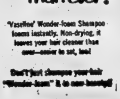
The reason your daughter refuses to act normally toward young men is, of course, because she has not yet actually recovered from the serious emotional shock she suffered. And I don't believe you'll ever accomplish anything by talking to her about the matter, because it's almost impossible to argue anyone out of a purely emotional state of mind. Also, the more you discuss this with your daughter, the less chance it gives her unfortunate experience to slip into the background of her thoughts.

What needs to be done is to find a way of gradually helping to develop in her a desire to return to the normal social life of a 22-year-old young woman, and I rather doubt if you yourself can do much along this line.

My suggestion would be that you try to enlist the help of some of your daughter's friends, from whom invitations to parties, double dates and other activities would come naturally, and see if they can't exert a little tactful persuasive pressure to get her to accept such invitations. Quietly—and without your daughter knowing, of course—get in touch with one or two of her girl friends, talk the whole thing over with them and see what ideas they can come up with that may gradually draw your daughter out. Young people can often put themselves into another young person's place enough to figure out what would appeal to them in similar circumstances. And since your daughter seems quite willing to go out with her girl friends, they might be the ones who would have most influence over her.

I think you should also discuss the problem with the doctor who had your daughter under his care during her breakdown. He should be able to make suggestions as to what can be done to bring about a more healthy attitude on her part.

Wife Preservers



When you are cleaning from room to room, take your plants and put them in the bath tub, utility tub or the kitchen sink. Bathe them with the sprayer attachment of your kitchen faucet or the spray or attachment of the vacuum cleaner. The plants are the better for this type of bath, and the moisture treatment is not overdone.

Say Reds Allow Free Worship

LONDON (Reuters)—The second highest-ranking prelate in the Church of England says his Church and the Russian Orthodox Church grew closer together as a result of a just-concluded conference in Moscow.

The Archbishop of York, Rt. Rev. Dr. Michael Ramsey, returned here Tuesday after heading an eight-man church delegation to the first Anglican-Russian orthodox theological conference.

Dr. Ramsey said he found there is freedom of worship in Russia but religious teaching in the schools is not allowed and active anti-religious propaganda is conducted by the Communist Party.

Camel Buyers Fussy as Women Buying Hats

ATHENIA, N.J. (AP) — Camel buyers can be as fussy as women shopping for Easter hats.

Fred Zeehandelaar, New York city animal importer, shipped 39 camels by rail from Fort Dix quarantine station Tuesday and said he was glad to be rid of them.

"There's nothing as fussy as a camel buyer," he said. "I must have had 20 long distance calls yesterday from people in town buying this lot.

"Some wanted 'em green. Some wanted 'em yellow. Some wanted 'em red. Some wanted 'em short and fat. Others wanted 'em long and lean. These people drive you nuts."

The going rate for the animals is $1 a pound. The big ones weigh around 1,200 pounds. They are sold to zoos and animal farms.

Aussies Want Docker Daimler

LONDON (Reuters) — Millionaire industrialist Sir Bernard Docker charged that directors of an industrial combine who fired him last May had "deliberately tried to hide" Australian offers to buy the famed Daimler golden car.

This luxurious limousine has won world-wide publicity during the last five years for Lady Docker.

The gold Daimler now is in Australia on show at the world trade fair in Sydney.

Docker referred to it Tuesday night in a fresh blast against directors of the Birmingham Small Arms Company, key firm in a £25,000,000 industrial combine.

Director's ousted Docker from his posts as BSA chairman and managing director, and in statements to shareholders since have accused the Dockers of publicity seeking and extravagance.

Gore

GORE — The Victoria W.A. met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Melvin Pulver, Mrs. Sidney Fox, president, was in charge with Miss Audra Brinkman conducting the devotional.

Centre W.A. catered for the McCoy - Roblin wedding reception at Tobe's, Rossmore, on Wednesday.

The ice cream social at Victoria Church on Friday evening, sponsored by the Sunday School, drew a fine attendance.

A program of musical numbers and readings, under the chairmanship of the Rev. W. K. G. Dovey, was much enjoyed as was also the ice cream and cake served later in the church dining hall.

Proceeds of the evening were $70.

Mrs. W. Hubbs spent the week-end at the Waterhouse home on the 2nd concession, with Raymond and Jean. Mr. and Mrs. Waterhouse, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse and Ida motored to Oakville where they attended the wedding of Mr. Gerald Wensmacher on Saturday, later going on to Brantford where they visited the Rev. and Mrs. Bob Wragg and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox and Gerald and their guest, Miss Linda Eden, Toronto, attended a family picnic on Sunday.

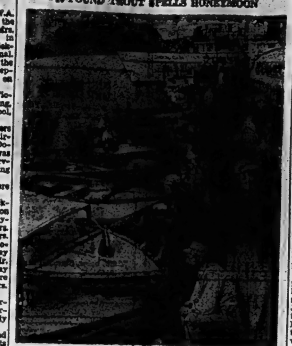
Mr. and Mrs. Asabel Townsend and Shirley, Toronto, were guests of Mrs. Townsend's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Townsend, during the week-end. Shirley, Toronto, who had been holidaying here, returned home with them, accompanied by his cousin, Gary and Patsy Townsend, who will enjoy a holiday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pulver, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pulver and children, motored to Selby on Sunday where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hudgins.

The Rev. W. K. G. Dovey and Mrs. Dovey, Marsha and Billy, left on Monday to take charge of a boys' and girls' camp near Brockville.

Mr. Brickman has received word from the Rev. and Mrs. Van Walsem that they had reached their new charge, Empress, Alberta, safely and had a pleasant motor trip out with fine roads all the way.

Friends of Mrs. Clifford Calnan, 2nd concession, are sorry to know that she is in Kingston hospital. All wish for her a speedy recovery.



CHINESE SWELTERING

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's state council has issued emergency orders to all factories to adopt measures to protect workers against an extreme heat wave. Radio Peiping said Tuesday the summer heat now surpasses all records of the last 100 years.

19-POUND TROUT SPELLS HONEYMOON

Rossport, for 364 days of the year, is a town of 130 inhabitants. Then comes the day of the fish derby, the world's biggest freshwater contest. Ships big and small, canoes, launches, punts, sailboats and rowboats converge on the town turning it into a carnival midway for 10,000 persons. Prize money totals $4,000.

Ewald Thomson and his fiances, Lilo Gehr, are winners of a honeymoon ticket to Bermuda. Their catch was this 19-pound lake trout caught by Ewald while Lilo was pilot of the outboard motorboat. To enter their fish in the contest, they had to race from the spot to Rossport, Ont., where all the catches were being registered. —Central Press Canadian Photos.

IVANHOE

St. Andrew's WMS Holds Fine Meeting

IVANHOE — The regular assembly meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. held at the home of Mrs. John Wright on Thursday afternoon, was well attended.

The president, Mrs. Harry Benson, presided. An opening poem, "Are You Weary," was read by Mrs. Margaret Wright. "Peace Perfect Peace," was sung and the Rev. W. N. V. Walker led in prayer.

An explanation of the seventh beatitude, "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God," was given by Mrs. Alex Johns.

"The conduct and aim of peacemakers will show that they have been born of God, and by manifesting His own disposition, Jesus taught us to love peace. He taught us to be peacemakers. Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them who do things to hurt you, love your self more or yourself. Being a peacemaker means being peace and doing everything we can to prevent a quarrel.

"The peacemakers therefore are those who, because possessed by Divine nature, use all their influence in every direction both in private and public at home and abroad.

"The peacemaker reflects God and manifests His spirit. Therefore they are called his children.

"Peace is an inward possession having its effect on the outward life."

A solo, "Linger With Jesus In Prayer," was given by Mrs. William Donnan.

The president requested articles for the sale to be brought in to the September meeting.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Benson introduced the guest speaker, Miss Doris Donnan who is enrolled at Marion College, Indiana. She is majoring in religion.

Miss Donnan led the group in singing, "Jesus Loves the Little Children of the World."

The children of the congregation had been invited to this meeting as the guest speaker, by use of flannelgraph, told the story of the captive maid, who lived in the house of Naaman. Because this little girl was not afraid to speak for God, the mighty Captain was healed of leprosy. As soon as he was healed he was anxious and eager to tell everyone he met. So each little child can be little missionaries obeying Christ's command. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.'

"By giving our offering we are helping to widen the path of sin and darkness. Jesus was not willing that any should perish."

The speaker closed with an earnest prayer and led the children in the chorus, "To The East, To The West."

A small gift was presented to Doris, in appreciation. Mrs. Lindsay Sills voiced the thanks of W.M.S. members to Doris and also to Mrs. Wright for opening her home.

A reading, "Abiding Peace," was given by Mrs. Don Haggerty and a piano duet by Mrs. A. Hassall and Mrs. Lindsay Sills.

The meeting closed with "Come Thou Fount," and prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Deseronto

DESERONTO — Mr. and Mrs. Sedore of Toronto visited with the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pennell.

Miss Margaret Pennell, of Concession is holidaying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pennell.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adia of North Tonawanda, N.Y., were recent guests of her sister and brother Mrs. Bertha McDonald and Mr. James Sager.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lockhart, of Kitchener, are holidaying with the former's sister-and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Weber.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brant and children, of Guelph, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Thompson.

Mrs. Alec Therrien, Jr., and Mrs. Joe Roach, are holidaying in Rochester, N.Y., the guests of their sister, Mrs. Kit Houle, and family.

Called Example Of Class War

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio has described the United States steel strike as "the greatest example of the American working class struggle in history."

The strike, now in its fourth week, was "provoked by the steel companies themselves with the dual purpose of enabling them to clear vast stockpiles of steel and to combat the workers claims for higher wages and better conditions," the radio said Tuesday in a broadcast heard here.

Town Rocked Again

BHUJ, India (Reuters) — The walled town of Anjar, devastated by an earthquake four days ago, was rocked by tremors lasting four seconds early today, it was reported here.

Saturday's earthquake killed 105 persons in Anjar. The bulk of the town's population of 25,000 fled.

Denies Russia Will Finance Dam Project

CAIRO (CP)—The Russian embassy press attache has denied a report quoting Soviet Ambassador Eugene Kisslev saying that Russia was ready to finance the Aswan dam project if Egypt asked for such aid.

The report was made by state-controlled Cairo radio Tuesday, which claimed Missilev made the statement to one of its reporters.

Ambassador Kisslev did not make any statement regarding the high (Aswan) dam today," the press attache said Tuesday night.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser conferred Tuesday night with Kisslev and two Soviet economic and industrial planning experts now visiting Egypt.

SQUIRREL MAN FRIENDS AGAIN

For decades, electric power and telephone companies have been frustrated by squirrels and other climbing animals who have an instinct to chew. The animals chew their way through lead-covered wires, short-circuiting electrical systems and ruining transformers. Thousands electrocuted themselves but other thousands kept chewing away, interrupting service and causing linemen to be on the job at all hours. Now, however, a new synthetic cap has been developed for transformers so the hydro lineman here has a pleasant smile for his bushy-tailed friend. Mr. Squirrel won't be able to chew through the plastic and the lineman will have more regular sleeping hours. —Central Press Canadian.

New Type Farming Is Developing

CHATHAM (CP)—The touring Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association was told Tuesday a new type of farming is coming to the province.

G. Harry Wilson, a retired farmer in nearby Charing Cross, said livestock is moving into the cash crop districts and mechanization is opening up the north to agriculture.

The farm of the future as pictured by Mr. Wilson is of large acreages with part devoted to livestock and part to production of the specialized crops. It would be completely mechanized.

He predicted farms would get larger in size and fewer in number as has been the trend in the United States.

Lawyer Choked While Drunk

LONDON (Reuters) — Derek Curtis-Bennett, crack British criminal lawyer found dead in his home Monday, died of asphyxia while in an alcoholic stupor, a coroner's inquest said today.

Curtis-Bennett, who had defended some of the most notorious criminals in recent British court history, was found in the same London apartment where his 36-year-old wife, Janet, committed suicide last May by taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Medical evidence showed that at the time of death he had drunk the equivalent of nearly 11 pints of beer or 5½ fluid ounces of spirits.

CCF Fails in Its Effort To Hurry Small Loans Bill Back to House for Action

KIPLING'S DAUGHTER

Mrs. George Bambridge, daughter of the late British poet and author, Rudyard Kipling, receives honorary doctorate of laws degree conferred on her during a special convocation at Dalhousie University, Halifax. The convocation coincided with the opening at Dalhousie of Kipling collection, a bequest of the late J. MacG. Stewart, Halifax corporation lawyer. (CP Photo).

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member of the Commons banking committee says "lobbyists" are sitting in on committee sessions on small loans legislation.

R. R. Knight (CCF—Saskatoon) was ruled out of order Tuesday when he tried to get the "lobbyists" named and have them called as witnesses.

"The public has a right to be here," chairman John Hunter (L—Toronto Parkdale) said.

"If you want to natter on in this way, I'll have to report you to the house," he told Mr. Knight. The CCF member then dropped the subject.

DAY OF WRANGLING

His lobbyist contention came on a day in which the committee wrangled, in afternoon and night sittings, over procedure in handling a government bill to enlarge federal control over borrowings from small loans companies.

Finally, Hunter ruled chairman, at an afternoon session, ruled out of order a motion by Mr. Knight that the bill be reported back to the Commons.

Mr. Hunter called on Speaker Rene Beaudoin for a ruling after the CCF appealed his decision. Mr. Beaudoin sent the issue back to the committee, saying it was not one to be decided in the Commons.

THREE VOTES HELD

It took three votes in the committee at night before the members finally defeated a reference from C. M. Cawker of Belleville, president of the Consumers' Loans Association, an organization of small loans companies.

The CCF appeal was thrown out by a vote of 13 to 8. Then the committee defeated a CCF motion that it consider the bill immediately without more evidence, and another motion—this one by the Progressive Conservatives — that the CCF motion be referred to the committee's steering group.

During examination of Mr. Cawker, Colin Cameron (CCF—Nanaimo) read excerpts from an issue of the official publication of the United Automobile Workers Union saying that an employee of Personal Finance Company had impersonated an unemployment insurance commission official in getting information about a defaulting borrower.

"If such horrible details are true," Mr. Cawker said, "I am amazed that there was not some legal action."

LETTER OF THANKS

He read a letter from the Oshawa local of the UAW thanking a finance company for showing considerable leniency to workers who had been unable to meet loan payments during a strike.

In the afternoon, Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) denied newspaper reports that the Liberal and Progressive Conservative members of the committee are trying to "scrap" the legislation.

The bill has been before the committee for months. The CCF, which wants it passed, apparently became impatient with its slow progress in the committee. By getting the bill reported back to the Commons, they would be putting it back before the house so a decision could be made on it this session.

The legislation would widen the scope of federal control over interest rates on small loans to cover loans up to $1,500 instead of $500 as at present, and fix a sliding scale of flat maximum interest rates that may be charged.

The newspaper report quoted by Mr. Fleming stated that the bill would be shelved for this session and returned, revamped, at the next session.

Apartment House Owners May Refuse Tenants

TORONTO (CP) — Apartment house owners may legally turn down prospective tenants because of their race, color or creed, Judge Douglas C. Thomas ruled Tuesday.

In rejecting the application of Sidney Forbes, a Toronto Negro, to have an owner prosecuted under the Ontario Fair Accommodation Practices Act, Judge Thomas said Mr. Forbes was undoubtedly refused an apartment because of his color, but he ruled the act does not cover apartment houses.

Judge Thomas said a defence contending that the act covers only places where the public is customarily admitted must be upheld.

He said the fact that covers only places where the public is customarily admitted must be upheld.

He said the fact that a vacancy an apartment owner does not throw his building open to the public.

Judge Thomas recommended in his report to Labor Minister Daley who is responsible for administering the act, that no action be taken.

Sleep Brings Death

WINDSOR (CP) — A Montreal man was killed early today when his car left Highway 2 and plunged into Moison creek, about a mile east of the intersection of Highway 39 and 2.

Dead is Elie Tudosi, 50. Police said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

No Deaths if Young Marines Followed Leader Is Defence

By BEMI PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP).—The main line of defence in the court martial of Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was clear today: If the Marine recruits had followed where he led there would have been no deaths.

McKeon is the 31-year-old drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., who led a 74-man platoon on a night disciplinary march April 8 into a tideswept marsh. Six were drowned.

Scared and nervous survivors of Platoon 71, mostly youngsters in their teens, testified Tuesday, seven a day of the trial.

By the time the 14th witness had appeared a pattern began to emerge in their testimony.

Platoon 71 had not maticulated any real formation but had broken up into loose groups as the members plowed through the muck and dark waters.

McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

Three of Tuesday's six witnesses testified they were following the column, or thought they were, when they entered water over their head.

A matter of whether the defence should have the right to call 108 ex-Marines as witnesses ended a recess Tuesday.

Afterward defence lawyer Emile Zola Berman said he had trimmed the list to 40 and that he was requesting subpoenas for them as a right away.

These ex-Marines, he said, will testify that a night disciplinary marching into the water and marshes around here were a common practice.

British Airman Shot and Killed With Own Pistol

NICOSIA (Reuters)—A British airman was shot and killed in Limassol, southern Cyprus, today about 300 yards from his home.

Police cordoned off the area and began a thorough search.

Police found a .38 calibre revolver with three unfired shots in the airman's pocket. Police are working on the theory that the airman snatched the weapon from his assailant before he died.

He was the 50th Briton to be killed since the outbreak of Cyprus terrorism, not counting the 21 soldiers killed last month in a forest fire that authorities say might have been started by terrorists.

FOUR INJURED

In Kolossi, near Limassol, four persons were seriously injured when an unknown person threw a bomb outside a house. The injured were a Greek-Cypriot man, about 50, a Greek woman and two young girls. The reason for the attack was not known.

Elsewhere in Cyprus Tuesday night a Turkish-Cypriot policeman was injured slightly when assailants sprayed a police car with shot-guns.

At Galousa, in northeast Cyprus, a Turkish-Cypriot was shot and killed. Political statements said the murder was considered "non-political."

Russia Presses Plea for Action On Disarmament

LONDON' (Reuters)—Russia has asked the British government to bring to the attention of Parliament the U.S.S.R.'s plea that Soviet for international steps to end the world's arms race.

The foreign office said today the appeal was made in a note the committee's steering group. Secretary Selwyn Lloyd by Soviet Ambassador Jakob Malik. A similar note was delivered to the United States Tuesday.

The note, calling on the big powers to follow Russia in reducing their conventional armed forces, was adopted by both houses of the Supreme Soviet on July 18.

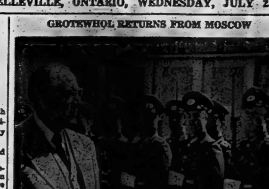
The note was regarded in official quarters here and in Washington as a propaganda move.

Chicago Reports 18 More Cases In Polio Epidemic

CHICAGO (AP)—West of Chicago's Loop—where the wealth of Gatsby Street gives way to railroad yards, factories and crowded low-cost housing—health officials today fought a vicious battle against polio.

Eighteen new cases Tuesday brought Chicago's 1956 total to 305. Deaths have been eight. Nearly half of the cases are in a rear west-side area.

The neighborhood has nearly as many classes and races of people as it has variety of buildings. Some live in up-to-date housing developments, while many live in substandard flats and rooming houses sandwiched between rundown stores and warehouses.



Board of Health officials call it "the high incidence area" and frankly admit they can't explain why. They report that youngsters in such areas usually develop more natural and earlier immunity to the disease.

Canadian Capitalists Are Said Timid Lot

DETROIT (CP) — CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald of Ontario said today that few Western countries have as great a need for investment capital as Canada at the present time.

He told the convention of the United Mine and Ceramic Workers here that widespread Canadian opposition to growing United States investment in Canada is due to "the justifiable conviction . . . that their governments, provincial and federal, are not taking vigorous enough action to protect Canadian interests."

Mr. MacDonald said Canadian capitalists "are among the most timid and uncenterprising in the whole capitalist world." Despite the propaganda claims of Canadian press enterprisers, who would lead the public to believe they are a "red-blooded, hairy-chested lot."

250 Defiant Greek Cypriots Demand Release as Newsmen Are Invited to Inspect Camp

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Defiant Greek-Cypriots held in a British detention camp near Nicosia have demanded their release and charged they are being "badly treated."

A spokesman for 250 Cypriots detained under the British emergency regulations Tuesday told a group of newspaper men at Kokkinotrimithia detention camp:

"We were hauled from our beds at one o'clock in the morning and put through it here."

Spokesman Michael Pissas, a prominent Cypriot trade unionist, made his demand for freedom in the presence of the British camp commandant and other senior officials.

The camp, surrounded by barbed wire palisades with watchtowers and machine-gun posts set at regular intervals, is one of two used by the British to detain Cypriots on suspicion of complicity in terrorist activities designed to drive Britain out of the colony and unite the island with Greece.

These camps have been dubbed "Buchenwald and Dachau type" detention camps by Athens radio, a reference to notorious concentration camps run by the Nazis during the Second World War.

Before the visit to the camp, organized in reply to the Athens' radio broadcasts, a statement purporting to be an excerpt from a broadcast July 17 was distributed to correspondents. It charged camp inmates were "in rags and reduced to skin and bones."

The British camp commandant, superintendent Timothy O'Donnell said the Athens radio description of living conditions in the camp were completely untrue.

Correspondents found that while all the detainees complained about ill-treatment and the lack of food, they made it clear that their main complaint was their detention without trial.

EIGHT MISSING ON GEORGIAN BAY

Four passengers of this Lightning class sailboat are missing in Georgian Bay, Ont., along with four passengers from another and larger boat. The Lightning was found drifting on the bay after having been seen towed by the larger craft at the beginning of a storm. An air search was sighted from an airplane and helicopter. A small craft patrolled the bay near Collingwood where the larger ship, the Karma, was last seen. Missing are Mr. and Mrs. John Bonham, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hyland, all of Toronto; Adam Smith, and Harris Jones of Collingwood; Harold Sanderson, Jr., and Ralph Corsline, Toronto. —Central Press Canadian.

Abandon Hope For 8 Missing On Georgian Bay

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Searchers have virtually given up hope of finding alive eight persons missing on Georgian Bay since Sunday.

An air and sea search was scheduled to continue today. As darkness drove the seekers home Tuesday night there seemed little chance the missing 30-foot motor sailboat would be found afloat.

The vessel, carrying Harris Jones, 37, Adam Smith, 34, Harold Sanderson, 25, and Ralph Gorsline, 31, all of Collingwood, left nearby Craigleith Sunday accompanied by a 16-foot outboard equipped with sail.

In the smaller craft were John Hyland, 35, his 36-year-old wife, both of Collingwood, and a Toronto couple, Glen Hyland, 38, and his wife, June, 25.

The smaller boat was found capsized on Monday. But reports indicate its passengers may have taken refuge on the schooner before a sudden squall struck.

It is feared that all may have been drowned.

Once Walked Length of Africa, Retires at 81

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—The first man to walk the length of Africa from Capetown to Cairo has retired at 81 from a remarkable career in the development of the dark continent.

Col. Brett Scott Grogan left politics at the end of the Kenya legislative council session this week to settle down on his 100,000 acre farm at Taveta, near the Tanganyika border.

His walk from the Cape to Cairo in 1931 to 1932 was undertaken to nearly cost him his life—once at a cannibal feast.

He did it partly to discover the sodrces of the Nile on a commission from the British government.

Ban Is Expected On Military Aid For Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's two ranking Republicans predicted today a roll call vote by the House will accept their amendment to ban military assistance money for Yugoslavia.

Sen. Knowland (Calif.) said appropriations bill, embodying the amendment, was passed by the Senate Tuesday night, 56 to 30.

But the Senate rebuffed by a vote of 51 to 35 President Eisenhower's personal plea for a free hand to deal with the situation created by the Hungarian revolt. It resumed friendship with Russia.

The sponsors of the amendment, Senator William Knowland of California, Republican leader, and Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican Senatorial committee, will serve as Senate conferees late today in a meeting with representatives of the House of Representatives to settle differences over the measure.

Driver Gives His Experience As Ten Minutes

KITCHENER (CP) — Rudolph Fleck was given the heeday as telling a policeman he had 10 minutes driving experience before he took a driving-in-test through two fences into an oat field.

Fleck was fined $10 and costs for driving without a licence; his son-in-law got the same penalty for allowing an unlicensed person to drive his car.

Police Const. Robert Schwartz said that when "I asked him how long he had been driving, he looked at his watch and said 10 minutes."

"When I first asked him for his driver's licence, he handed me a Kitchener bicycle permit."

Bishop Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Right Rev. W. T. Hallam, assistant Anglican bishop of Huron and professor of pastoral theology and catechetical theology at Huron College, died in hospital here today from a heart ailment.

Bishop Hallam came from Saskatchewan to Huron College by appointment in 1949 and was elected assistant bishop of the diocese the same year.

Stassen Connection With Party Said Hanging in Balance After Failure to Oust Nixon

By JACK BELL

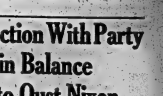
WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen's connection with the Eisenhower administration hung in the balance today after a crushing defeat of his effort to force vice-president Richard Nixon off the Republican ballot.

Stassen's drive to substitute Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts for Nixon was swallowed up in a tidal wave generated largely by Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Hall got Nixon and Herter together on the telephone. The result was an agreement that Herter will place Nixon's name in nomination at the party's convention in San Francisco next month.

NO RECIPROCAL AGREEMENT

Nixon said there was no reciprocal agreement under which he would support Herter when Hall and Herter might withdraw later to trade roles, as Stassen had suggested.



Herter told a press conference Tuesday he is not a candidate for anything, despite Stassen's statement. He added he is ready to do anything Eisenhower asks him to do for the good of the party, including running for governor.

Stassen, still battling, contended the rapid developments "only strengthen" his contention.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty held a press conference no other member of the White House staff was backing Stassen's move to drop Nixon from the ticket.

Earlier developments left Stassen, Eisenhower's assistant on disarmament, stranded without public support, although he had a press conference he expects unnamed "other Republican leaders" to back his drive within a few days.

Strikers Given Ultimatum by Two Companies

WALLACEBURG (CP) — Some 360 union employees of two local companies received an ultimatum Tuesday night to accept employment within 48 hours 'to end an eight-week-old strike or the companies will go out of business.

It was given by E. W. Sanger, managing director of Schultz Die Casting Co. and its affiliate, Sydenham Trading Company, after a management-union meeting.

He urged members of the United Automobile Workers local to return to work on a 40-hour week basis, at the same pay, while working conditions and other factors in the plants are investigated.

A wage increase of three cents an hour was promised within a year.

The men struck in mid-April for a reduction to 40 from 44 hours a week, with the same take-home pay.

Three Boys Die

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Three small boys trapped in an upstairs bedroom died early today as fire destroyed the upper part of a frame house in northeast Indianapolis.

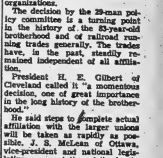
The children were identified as George Bevis, 8, and two young sons of Mrs. Janette Owens.

Thunder-Showers in Alberta Cut Fire Hazard in Forests

EDMONTON (CP) — Thundershowers have given temporary relief to Alberta's fire-ravaged forests.

Downpours Tuesday helped check about 20 fires burning in scattered areas over the northwest of here. But the public wes-ther office in Edmonton said sunny weather will return to the fire areas today and winds could increase the fire hazard.

Firefighters, with the aid of showers, have gained the upper hand in the battle against flames which threatened the mining community of Mercoal, 40 miles northeast of Jasper.



Some of the town's 1,200 residents moved their belongings out when the fire at one time burned within three miles of the town.

An evacuation train, standing ready since Monday, was recalled to Edmonton.

Twelve other fires—the majority started by lightning—are burning in remote districts in the Edson-Whitecourt area, in the west-central and northwest of Edmonton. Many of these are difficult to reach.

Other fires are reported near Sturgeon Lake, 60 miles east of Grande Prairie, and near Porcupine mountain on the Alberta-British Columbia border, 90 miles west of Grande Prairie.

Montreal Mother, Father Charged With Beating Son

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal mother and father were remanded without bail here on charges of wounding their four-year-old son with intent to murder.

Fernand and Marguerite Larocque, 28 and 30, pleaded not guilty and will appear for preliminary hearing July 31.

Police said that the father, an unemployed electrical worker less than five feet tall, used a three foot wooden lathe to beat his son, Serge, one of his three children. Police said both parents tied the boy to his cot by his wrists for more than 13 hours. It was earlier reported that a daughter, not a son, had been beaten.

Duke Calls Athens Radio Programs 'Tripe'

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Edinburgh yesterday described the anti British propaganda beamed at Cyprus by Athens as "a lot of tripe."

The duke did not refer to the Greek government directly, but made it clear he was talking about Athens broadcasts aimed at whipping up hatred for the British in Britain's Mediterranean island colony.

The duke, who was the former Prince Phillip of Greece, told a regiment of British soldiers leaving for Cyprus:

"The inhabitants in Cyprus are being subjected to a considerable amount of propaganda which makes us look like ogres and monsters.

"It is up to you to prove that this is a lot of tripe, and that we are quite reasonable people."

QUEBEC MEMBER

The vote was the first in which Ross Thatcher, former CCF member who switched Monday from independent status to Liberal ranks, voted as a government supporter.

The federal proposal is designed to replace the current tax rental agreements which expire next March 31. Under these, all provinces except Quebec lease their direct tax fields to the central government in return for annual payments.

Mr. Pickersgill said there would be no need for tax arrangements with provinces if all had equal taxraising capacities.

"It is not the business of this Parliament to raise revenues for provincial purposes except to equalize the situation across the country. That is the only purpose of this bill."

However, John Diefenbaker (PC —Prince Albert) said the five-year plan, effective next April 1, will not provide the provinces with sufficient revenues to meet their obligations.

The federal government had taken the position of a feudal lord, denying the provinces a chance to negotiate terms. The provinces did not have to accept the offer, but what was the alternative?

"The provinces are powerless to resist, believing as they must that a half-cent is better than none."

Finance Minister Harris opposed a suggestion by William Hamilton (PC — Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) for appointment of a federal minister of provincial affairs. Mr. Hamilton said it is regrettable there is no such minister to deal with overlapping federal - provincial problems.

However, Mr. Harris said such a portfolio would only aggravate problems between the two levels of government. It was best to have direct contact between governments in dealing with problems arising between them.

CARS DAMAGED

BRAMPTON (CP) — An improperly loaded gravel truck caused $700 damage to four cars near here recently. The truck spewed golf ball sized stones along the highway, breaking windshields, headlights, and puncturing radiators.

Mountain View

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Mrs. E. Frankish of Toronto, spent several days with her cousin, Miss Lillian Sprague. And Mr. Charles Sprague. Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson and children of Toronto were recent callers at the same home.

The children of the community have been attending Bible school in the Sunday School rooms during the past week under the leadership of Mrs. Craig.

Miss Betty Ellen Sprague has returned home after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. R. McGechie, Mr. McGechie and Susan of Toronto.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late Mrs. P. B. Hamilton. Mrs. Hamilton was Sunday School superintendant of Mountain View Sunday School for over 30 years.

RICH REWARD

KITCHENER (CP) — Three boys, told by a dairy worker that a police child was hiring boys to deliver pamphlets, were recompensed for patiently waiting four hours for the non-existent job. The practical joker gave the boys a half-gallon of ice cream as their consolation prize.

VANDALS BUSY

GUELPH (CP) — A school in nearby Garafraxa Township was visited recently by what may have been vengeful students. A teacher's desk was shattered, light sockets were ripped out, inkwells broken and desks damaged by the raiders.

Little Benny's Notebook

Shorty Judge's grandfather Mr. Peevy was smoking his short pipe on the frunt portch, and I said, Did you always know exactly where you were and where you were go-ing the next week under the leadership of Mrs. Craig.

Well yes, at least when there was nothing around me but salt water. Mr. Peevy said. It was a different story the night I got lost in the heart of the jungles without my pocket compass, he said, and I said, What were you doing in the jungles?

Just taking a stroll to see what I could see ? Mr. Peevy said. It didn't take me long to find out I couldn't see anything by that time I was as lost as a needle in a haystack. I tried to get my direction from the stars, but the foliage hid the important ones, and the unimportant ones were just too unimportant, so I just walked and walked, and I bet you know enough about jungles to know what I walked in, he said.

A cercle? I said, and he said, Yes sir, a perfect cercle. I walked in that cercle for 2 weeks.

G, what did you eat? I said, and he said, Nuttcandy ones, and I drank coconut milk.

It must of been better than nuthing, I said, and Mr. Peevy said, Maybe, but it got awful tiresome. Well sir, I wore a round trail in the heart of those jungles, and that's what saved me, because every time I came to the trail I got off it, and the result was a kind of zigzag strate line that finely brought me back safe to the sea, but I still cant eat a bannanna without it going strate to my stumanick. And no I got to go and write a personal letter to the secreterry of the navy, he said.

And he went in the house.

So near at hand ... so far ahead

PEOPLE No matter how big or how small a business may be, its reputation depends on two factors: the products it brings to the market place and the people who are its public representatives.

In your community, for example, General Motors is represented by the cars and trucks we build and by the people who sell and service them. We are very proud of our products – and very proud of our people, too.

They are as near to you as your own Main Street. And they possess in full measure the qualities and skills necessary for taking good care of their customers.

SERVICE Customer satisfaction is the secret of all business success.

We know that, and our dealers know it, too. That's why they're buying new machines, new tools and new facilities to service the rapidly growing number of cars they sell each year.

But this is only part of the story.

In addition, we have established Training Centres across the country in which dealers' trained mechanics receive additional instruction on the new engineering advances built into modern cars and trucks.

You, the customer, reap the benefit in the form of quicker, more efficient service at lower cost.

PLACES We confidently believe in the greatness of Canada's future – and so do our dealers.

We have built the nation's largest and most modern automotive plant; they, on their part, can point with pride to an unrivalled network of up-to-date dealership premises, designed with you, the customer, in mind.

Your General Motors dealer's investment is concrete proof that he, and the people who work with him, have a serious and permanent interest in the welfare of your community.

PROGRESS Year after year, General Motors has brought you glamorous new products – new engineering and styling advances – new features designed to make motoring safer, easier, more luxurious, more enjoyable.

Year after year, our dealers have kept pace with this dynamic progress.

Near at hand to serve you, far ahead in all ways, great and small, they too, are dedicated to the exciting task of bringing you, in fullest measure, all those things that lead to happier motoring.

TEMPTATION LEADS TO DISASTER

With his trunk checked on one side of the bars and his tail on the other, this baby elephant is in real trouble. Tempted by a special handful of attractive delicacies, the little rascal got the gate only to wind up in a tight squeeze. It took several assistants at Central Park Zoo, New York City, to free him. — Central Press Canadian.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both — Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astounding statements as "I have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute.

Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H® suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Wild Carrot Acts As Host to Rust Fly

Wild Carrot, the black sheep of the carrot family, is also known as Queen Anne's Lace and Bird's Nest but by whatever name it is called it is still a pest to the farmer who has to contend with it, says the field crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The weed came from Europe and may have been brought originally as a garden flower, but since then it has spread through almost all sections of Ontario. It not only grows along roadsides, through pastures and crop land robbing crop plants of nutrients and water, but it also plays host to the carrot rust-fly which attacks garden carrots, parsnips, celery and parsley.

Wild carrot is a biennial with a fernlike appearance of a garden carrot above ground and with a grey, fleshy, cone shaped root. Slender, strong, hairy stems support a four-inch flat topped, lacy white flower which blooms from June through September. By autumn the flower is replaced by seeds and the head assumes the shape of a bird's nest. This seed head breaks off during the fall and winter to be blown from one place to another spreading its seeds as it goes.

Sheep are useful in the control of the weed as they will keep it well trimmed. Frequent close mowing is also helpful. Chemical control of wild carrot has met with varying results in the past few years. Classed as a weed susceptible to 2, 4-D, six to eight ounces of 2, 4-D acid per acre should be adequate for all practical purposes, at least for the control of top growth. On roadsides, fence rows, etc. the amount should be one pound of 2, 4-D acid per acre, with plenty of water and pressure. In some areas where 2, 4-D does not give adequate control a mixture of Atalcide and 2, 4-D, or 2, 4-D-2, 4, 5-T brush - kill formulation may have to be used.

Spraying should be done while the plant is actively growing, with early June being the best time to spray roadsides. Late fall is also a good time to spray roadsides as the grass is usually short and the new wild carrot seedlings are showing at the time.

RCAF Transport To Bring Massey Home From West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Monday, July 23, 1956

Ross Thatcher, Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, who last session bolted the CCF to become an Independent, announced he has joined the Liberal party.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) accused the government of starving the provinces to produce a big surplus for election-bait tax cuts.

Social Credit leader Low said the government's new tax-sharing proposals fall far short of the provinces needs.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair said the new formula will provide the provinces with 26 per cent more than under the tax rental agreements.

Harold R. Winch (CCF — Vancouver East) said the new proposals are a retreat from an overall tax plan that prevents double taxation.

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THIS IS IT!

Jack Solomons, the jolly ex-fishmonger of Bow Bells has injected a touch of the old British prize ring into tonight's heavyweight battle between Archie Moore and Canada's James J. Parker.

Way back in the old days when matches were staged their shrewd and cheerless, and the hardy menfolk guzzled out-o'-tar, gin and cheese or perhaps a pint of mild-and-bitter, they had ring luminaries dubbed with names de-ring that shocked the genteel ears of London's blue-bloods.

There was the "Birmingham Basher," the "Tottenham Terror," "The Killer from Cork," the "Fulham Flash", the "Bermondsey Bullet," the "Clapham Conqueror," among many other colorful monikers of the squared circle.

Now Solomons has dubbed Moore the "Old Gypsy" and Parker the "Barrie Blaster." Blimey, wot next, guvnor?

Just where Solomons gets the Parker tag "Blaster" is hard to imagine for the Canadian has not knocked out any opponent of Moore's either and, with the exception of his kayo of the German Hans Nethaus, he hasn't heard a referee count ten over an opponent since he sent Jimmy Carello bye-bye in Providence, Rhode Island on November 8, 1953.

Those last eight Parker has engaged in five bouts, winning four, drawing five and losing one. On the other hand, Moore has taken part in 18 bouts, one an exhibition. In ten of them he registered knockouts, five he won on decisions and the other one-half was the time Rocky Marciano gave him a leather sleeping pill.

Perusal of the public prints from both sides of the border reveals Moore to be the outstanding favorite. Word from the American boxing "mob" has it that International Boxing Club boss James Norris, who will be at ringside tonight, maintains that Moore wouldn't have been permitted to take the Toronto bout if Floyd Patterson's heavy hitting hadn't looked so serious after the latter's win over Harrington Redmon.

However, it is stated that those who know Norris best, still can't see him countenancing Moore's move to Toronto unless he felt Ageless Archie was sure of handling the assignment.

Bill (Ottawa Journal) Westwick says "A $40,000 guarantee is one that Moore couldn't take lightly either, and there is no telling what kind of an increased fee is involved in the event a return bout is arranged if he should lose. It could be that Moore would be in an even brighter spot, financially speaking, should Parker, perchance, put the lid on him."

Parker is said to pack a heavy punch. And when a fighter announces this there is always the chance of dropping the feature. It is recalled that Ezzard Charles made Archie hit the deck while beating him thrice times. Marciano coaxed him in nine. And Westwick says, "This along with the ever present hope that a young Canadian with power might land one lucky right spot, has the faithful revving up to this fight. So much so here it is, the evening of the fight experts a lot of people apparently want to be around — just in case."

Both camps have predicted victory. Here's the latest from Parker's publicity department:—

"Moore was a 2 to 1 public choice but it's amazing the way public sentiment has been swaying. Already the odds have gone down to 5 to 4. On the basis of the 'Barrie Blaster's' impressive training performances, experts attending the Maultsby Lodge headquarters are of the opinion that Parker is a greatly improved fighter, fully capable of registering a stunning upset. Article "the Gypsy" is so crafty and hard-punishing a fistfighter as we have around but Parker, the hungry one, is confidence personified.

The "Tale of the Tape" gives ample evidence of what can happen and what Parker is talking about. Only in years of experience and Moore the edge but so far as age, weight, height and reach go, everything leans towards the challenger, James J., 28 years young against Moore's 39, also boasts other physical edges over his rival. Hefty mister the ring about 206 pounds against 186 for Moore. Parker's 6 feet 2¼ inches in height overshadows Moore's 5 feet 11 inches. As for reach, it's 77½ inches against 73½ inches in the Parker favor."

A GOOD SHOW

Track and field fans should not pass up the racing feature "Glyn" starring a three-day run at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow. It shows the seamy side of the sport but this is offset by a romantic love story and all the color and glamor that comes with the track. A feature is the actual filming of the new Xmas race between Hashua and Swaps.

Adds Homer to Tenth Victory As Brooks Batter Cincy 10-5; Indians Wallop Senators 11-0

By Ed Wilks
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn, the southpaw veteran tabbed "over the hill" by some sports writers a year ago, now is within striking distance of becoming the National League's first 20-game winner since Paul Derringer of the Cincinnati Reds won 25. Milwaukee Braves can keep up the pace of a pennant winner, it may be a breeze for their one-time ace.

Milwaukee's championship machine continued to hum Tuesday night as the Braves came from behind after being held hitless for five innings to nail New York Giants 4-3 with a two-run ninth. Spahn, 35, went all the way—becoming for Milwaukee's first hill in the sixth—for his 15rd career victory and 10th of the season.

Johnny Logan's two-out homer broke it up in the ninth.

BOOBY MARKUP

Spahn gave the Braves 13 successes in the last 15 games and the third in a row—all by one-run margins. The margin to 3½ games, the widest-edge enjoyed by any of the no-percent contenders this season.

Brooklyn's third - place world champs had a hand in spoiling up Milwaukee's lead, battering the runsurgy Cincinnati Redlegs 10-5 as Sandy Amoros drove in five runs with two triples and Duke Snider belted home three hits and 22nd and 23rd home runs.

Philadelphia took over sixth place from Chicago, defeating St. Louis 7-3 while the Cubs were losing to Pittsburgh 6-2.

Spahn, who has lost nine this season, edged a bit closer toward a reign as the NL's only active 300game winner since Paul Derringer collected 311 in 1954 by scattering 10 hits. The Giants, who have lost six straight, got all of their 3 runs on two homer from Dusty Rhodes.

Amoros, who also doubled, broke up a 3-3 tie with a bases-loaded triple in the sixth for the Brooks who then added four in the seventh for a happy return to Ebbets Field. Snider collected for three runs with his homers off loser Johnny Antonelli, his 22nd and 23rd of the season.

Roberto Clemente batted in four runs for the Pirates with a triple, home run and sacrifice fly as Ron Kline checked the Cubs with relief help. Bob Rush lost it.

Billy Pierce became the winningest pitcher in the major leagues Tuesday night.

New York Yankees went down 11-5 before Pierce and Chicago White Sox in a game dotted with homeruns including a spiking spot of Yanks' second baseman Billy Martin.

New York's American League lead dwindled to 7½ games from the night's results when second-place Cleveland spanked Washington 12-6. Boston defeated Kansas City 3-2 on Mickey Vernon's ninth inning home run. Detroit and Baltimore split a doubleheader, the Tigers winning 8-7, then losing 11-5.

15TH FOR PIERCE

Pierce, winning his 15th game, handed Yankees their fifth straight defeat in Chicago.

Martin was spiked out of the game when he collided with the third baseman Boyer in the third inning by Sox outfielder Larry Doby who broke up a double play.

It wasn't the first run the only incident that nearly brought on a player's brawl.

It all started when Yankee outfielder Bob Cerv, a 215-pounder, belted into Chicago's third baseman Fred Hatfield as Hatfield tried to break up a double play in the second inning.

And it ended when umpire Ed Hurley warned Yankee pitcher Tom Sturdivant about throwing beanballs. Sturdivant sent Doby to the ground the first time the outfielder batted after Martin had been spiked.

Doby and Minnie Minoso each homered for the Sox, driving in six runs between them. Gil McDougald, Bill Skowron and Cerv homered for New York.

INDIANS RUN WILD

Mike Garcia three-hit Washington while the Cleveland Indians with seven runs on three hits and five walks in the eighth inning. Rocky Colavito recalled from the minors, socked a baseloaded triple and two singles for the Tribe.

Vernon's homer followed a walk to Ted Williams, the only pass given up by rookie Wally Burnett who had been Boston batter allowing a first-inning run. Ike Delock won it in relief.

The Tigers and Orioles traded three home runs apiece in the opener with Charley Maxwell's two-run shot tieing it in the sixth for reliefer Dave Gromek. The Birds came back with five runs in the first inning of the nightcap against a wild Bob Miller with the help of Willie Miranda's bases loaded triple.

"Lip" Reichler Manager Posts Of Two Clubs

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK (AP)—Leo Durocher has rejected managerial offers from two National League clubs and has had a feeler from a third club.

The former manager of the New York Giants declined Tuesday night to say whether the feeler came from the Cleveland Indians, reportedly offered him a five-year contract at $100,000 a year. He refused to identify the two National League clubs.

"I'll tell you this, though," he said in reference to the direct offers, "neither of them was from Milwaukee."

The belief is the offers came from either St. Louis or Pittsburgh and Chicago.

They were both wonderful offers," Leo said, "I was told to name my own figure but they didn't even tempt me.

"I'm through with baseball. I've got the greatest job in the world. I'm getting more money than I ever made in baseball."

In New York business in his capacity as an executive with the National Broadcasting Company, Durocher declared the only thing that might cause him to reconsider would be "if I got an offer that it simply can't refuse."

Weight shifted on left foot

To play an uphill lie or a sidehill lie when the ball is higher than your feet take a closed stance and allow for the hook you're going to get. Position yourself so the ball is about opposite your left heel and your hands are close to your body, not reaching for the ball. Keep your weight a little heavier on your left foot so you won't be inclined to fall away from the ball on your backswing. Take your body turn easily in your backswing, hesitate a wee moment at the top of the swing, then turn back at the ball and give it a snappy whipping.

Experts Predict Moore Will Win By Knockout Before The Tenth Round

Say J. J.Hasn't "Know-How" To Match 'Old Archie's' Guile; Sell-Out Crowd to See Fight

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The ballyhoo and drum-beating silenced to a whisper, the fighters take over today for what promises to be the biggest fight attraction in Canada's boxing history. It could be over in a hurry.

Shortly before 10 p.m. EDT, 26-year-old James J. Parker and Archie Moore are scheduled to climb into the ring at Maple Leaf Stadium for what the promoters term the world heavyweight title. To every boxing association in the world, it's simply another fight between two big men.

IMPORTANT TO PARKER

But, championship or not, it's a mighty important fight for the 26-year-old Parker, not listed in any world rankings. A win over Moore No. 1 contender for the vacant world crown, would open the door to a bright future for the Toronto battler.

But most experts here for the 15-round fight predict that Parker won't be around for the full route. They think that the Canadian will be a knockout victim before the 10th round.

The reasoning is that Parker hasn't the ring know-how to stand up to the crafty Moore who has learned the art of self-defence in 154 professional bouts over 30 years. Experts predict that Parker's fine sense in knockouts, proof enough that he has the punch to go with his ring savvy.

FAVORED BY TAPE

Parker, who has had only 37 fights since he first got his left foot in the ring, has the "tale of the tape" in his favor.

At 26, he is 12 years younger than Moore. He stands six feet 3¾ inches against Moore's five feet eleven inches. His reach of 77½ inches is two inches more than Archie and he weighs about 208 to Moore's 185 or 187.

The fighters finished their training Tuesday at camps about 135 miles north of Toronto and motored into town at a time when the ticket buyers became rushed. Promoters, who have been lining up gimmicks to go with the fight, confidently predicted a sell-out. The weather forecast is for variable cloudiness with the temperature about 80.

RECORD GATE EXPECTED

Prices range from $3 to $20 for ringside seats. A record fight gate for Canada is forecast. 'I'm more than satisfied and agreeably surprised at the sale," promoter Jack Solomons of England said.

The estimated gross gate now is $140,000 against the present record of $76,233 set in Montreal in 1940 when Laurent Dauthuille of France knocked out Johnny Greco Canadian welterweight champion, and in five rounds.

Moore will collect $45,000 or an option of 35 per cent of the gross gate. Parker's percentage is 22½ of the gross gate.

The promoters have been busy lining up what they call as "extravaganza." It will include everything from a fife and drum band to a red carpet for the $30-seat ringside customers.

SHOORS IN WEIRD GET

Moore added his own touch of color to the affair Tuesday night when he turned up at a hastily-called press conference in a top hat, white tie and tails, white gloves and a white carnation in his button hole. But it turned out to be a picture-taking affair with Moore dodging all questions directed at him by sports writers.

The CBC will broadcast the fight but there will be no television. The broadcast will be carried on 21 stations in Canada only.

The fighters will wear six-ounce gloves, the mandatory eight-count has been waived and there will be no stopping because of cuts without the recommendation of the ringside physician, Dr. Charles E. Pomeranteld.

A referee and two judges will be named about two hours before the fight.

The bout will be scored on the points system and unanimous decision. The winner of a round will receive five points, the loser proportionately less.

Par Shots
From Quintz's Links

The final rounds for the club championship flight were played on Saturday between Doug Green and Harry Hider with Hider winning the match on the 21st hole. Today was also semi-finalist in this contest at 2 p.m.

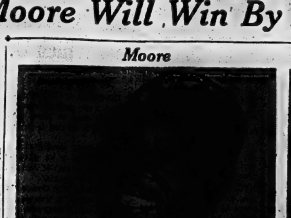
JUNIOR GOLFERS

The junior members are very active this week and are proving they are worthy competitors to represent the club. Keri "Sonny" MacDonald qualified for the recent Ontario Junior Golf championship which was played at Scarboro Golf club. While Sonny did not get the best of the province. Last Saturday another junior, Gary Bowerman, journeyed to Brockville to compete in their annual invitation field day and won the low net honors for "E" flight.

The draw sheet will be posted in the locker room for the Junior Club championship tournament. Junior members will be eligible to compete in this competition should get their names entered right away. This is to be a match play elimination tournament.

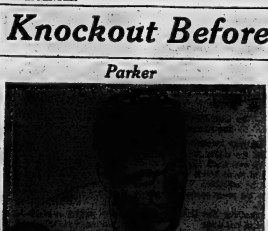
CLUB COMPETITIONS

The Consolation Flight of Club championship tournament seems to have completely bogged down either through lack of interest or the fact that a large number of players are away on holidays. This tournament should have been completed by now.



The men's two-ball foursome is nearing the semi-finals and will likely be completed in the next couple of weeks.

The C. H. Morgan tournament for players with handicaps of 15 and over is entering the second round and had one of the largest entry lists of any competition so far this year.



The club tournament for all handicap players is about to be drawn and any members wishing to enter this competition should immediately get their names entered.

HANDICAPS

The committee have just revised all handicaps and members should check their cards before playing further matches. Most members are co-operating with the committee by handing in their scores however a few still refuse to observe the rule and posted scores this season and may find their handicaps reduced accordingly.

Gomez, Adcock Feud Ends on Peaceful Note

NEW YORK — The diamond engagement between hard-marging Joe Adcock, 210, Milwaukee, and fleet-footed Ruben Gomez, 175 New York, started off on a promising pugilistic note Tuesday night but ended in an aura of peace and friendship.

Before the start of the Giants-Braves game a photographer asked Adcock and Gomez, participants in a hit-and-run affair in Milwaukee last week, to pose together for a picture. Adcock, who had charged Gomez after the latter pitcher had hit him twice with a ball, readily agreed.

Gomez, who had raced for shelter after his second toss at the big first baseman, refused.

"No, no, I don't want picture," the Puerto Rican righthander cried excitedly. "Please go away."

Gomez was asked whether he still intended to pitch "tight" to Adcock, as he had done in Milwaukee.

"Sure," he replied unhesitatingly. "That's the lock on him. Pitch him high and tight. What you think I pitch to his powerhouse?"

Gomez was as good as his word. His first two pitches to Adcock were inside and "tight." Adcock fouled off the first, then grounded into right field. Ruben fooled Joe in the next time round, with a third-inning curve that cut the outside corner. He got Adcock on the third time on a foul, in the ninth, however, he threw four straight balls, all wide ones.

Adcock was asked after the game, won by the Braves 4-3, whether any incident occurred between him and Gomez during the game.

"Yes," the good-natured southerner said with a straight face, "When Gomez arrived at first base on his second inning single I turned to him and said, 'Hello, Ruben, how are you?'"

And what was Gomez' retort? He said 'Okay, Joe, and you!'"

Burke Defeats Kroll 3 and 2 To Win Pro Golf Championship

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

CANTON, Mass. (AP)—The victory was Jackie Burke's in the 38th Professional Golfers' Association championship — a whopping big one that proved the young pro from Texas finally has become the great golfer everyone said he could be.

But the story might be Ted Kroll's—a story of utter frustration.

It must have brought a lot of satisfaction to the 33-year-old Burke, once tabbed the "perennial rookie of the year" when he beat Kroll 3 and 2 in Tuesday's tough 36-hole final and won his second major tournament within a year.

He was threatening to quit tournament golf and stay at home with his family in Houston before he broke through to win the Masters last April. Now he's established with Sam Snead as the only players who ever won these two major titles in the same season.

CHIPPING FACTOR

Burke credited his afternoon comeback to "an amazing round of chipping" plus a few other factors. Three down again after the 18th hole, Jackie suddenly regained his birdie-shooting touch and reeled off five sub-par scores on six holes. That put him two up and he never let Kroll off the hook.

Burke took some good putts during the afternoon but it was principally his chipping and short iron shots that put the finishing touches for all those birdies.

It was the second recent near miss for Kroll, a dead-penned guy who makes his living playing golf. A little more than a month ago he had a chance to capture the national open just by shooting par on the last few holes. He blew to a tremendous seven on the 70th hole and flubbed chances he had since Cary Middlecoff.

Whipper, Pico Clash Friday

Ever since Whipper Watson won the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, he's been defending his holdings against numerous challengers of various types, all of them dangerous. Latest of these is big and rugged Roberto Pico, 250-pound Mexican powerhouse, Whip's opponent on Friday night at the Memorial Arena.

Pico's a good wrestler, a rugged one and has plenty of experience as many fans who have seen his matches on TV can attest. He claims he hasn't met a rival of his standing as yet. That will be up for proof in the ring.

A tag team match will have a supporting spot on the card, with the garrotting Gallagher brothers, Doc and Mike, meeting the partnership of fast and talented Dick Beyer and Brian Clary.

Mark Lewin will tangle with Jan Gotch in the other event.

Monarchs Edge St. Kitts 9-8

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Bert Russell scored four goals in leading Long Branch Monarchs to a 9-8 victory over St. Catharines Athletics in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game Tuesday night.

It was the first victory for Monarchs in their last eight games. It also snapped an eight-game winning streak by the league-leading Athletics.

Ralph McCormick followed Russell with two goals. Howard Smith had two. Ted Howe, Doug Smith and Jim McNulty each added one. Cy Catharines' Don Moore and Wally Ridgewell fired one each.

Marlins Cut Leafian Lead; Wings Down Jets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two seven - game winning streaks were put on the line Tuesday night in the International League, and it was the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs who faltered.

The Leafs, who jumped into the league lead a week ago, had their streak run to 2½ games when Miami Marlins outlasted them 6-4 as Toronto squad started a swing of the southern cities. It was the Marlins' eighth straight victory.

Rochester, tied with Miami for second, kept pace by downing Columbus 5-0, and Montreal exploded for six runs in the 10th inning to defeat Havana 8-3 in the other games. A scheduled contest between Richmond and Buffalo was rained out and will be played tonight as part of a twilight-night doubleheader.

SHARP FIELDING HELPS

Miami's ancient Satchel Paige preserved the victory for lefty Seth Morehead with the help of an "impossible" play by second baseman Ben Tompkins who threw out pinch hitter Carl Sawatski to end a Leaf threat in the eighth.

Cal Abrams' bases-loaded triple was the big blow as the Marlins got five of their six runs in a big fourth inning after Miss Canada's 14th homer had given Toronto a 1-0 lead in the top of the frame. Bill Wilson later hit a two-run homer for Leafs.

Rightfielder Garry Blaylock turned in a brilliant two-hitter in Rochester's whitewash of Columbus, allowing no hits after the second inning. Rochester had 13 hits while the Jets were stopped cold after Curt Roberts doubled in the first inning and Butch McCord doubled in the second.

Montreal trailed Havana 3-2 after the second inning, finally got even with two runs in the eighth, then broke away in the 10th against three Sugar King hurlers.

Gotham's Sportswriting Elite Takes Sly Digs at Big Fight; Don't Take Canadian Seriously

NEW YORK (CP)—The straw-cy of Rocky Marciano that made him heavyweight champion of the world was saturation. If he kept punching long enough, he was bound to get through his opponent's defences.

The same tactics have borne fruit in the campaign of the promoters of Toronto's Archie Moore-James J. Parker fight to penetrate the lofty indifference of New York's sophisticated sports columnists.

Lazily publicity salvoes left the Manhattan writers unmoved. But gradually they began to express reluctant admiration for the promotional pyrotechnics.

RELUCTANT DUDE

Last Monday the New York Post capitulated to the extent of running a picture of Al Buck, fistic boss boxing writer, seated at his typewriter in formal attire, top hat included. One of the publicity handouts had announced that fancy duds would be required for those seeking to occupy the first row ringside.

The New York writers, who banned Archie Parker since he lost to Nino Valdes in Detroit, are about a couple of seasons back. Here's about how far back their chances seriously.

"It isn't the fact how," was Buck's summation of Moore's chances of victory over the Canadian.

Joseph Nichols of The Times attacked another angle as he noted with interest that the venerable Jack Kearns has a hand in the promotion of the Toronto venture.

NO OIL HERE

Noting that the 78-year-old Kearns was the hero and sole beneficiary of the 1923 title fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., and that the citizens of Shelby had to strike oil to recover from the financial disaster, Nichols wondered if Kearns is going to make off with the Toronto subway this time.

On the other hand, Dan Parker of The Mirror, former assistant to the qualifications of Dave Rush, the astute, 84-year-old Toronto magnate in the deal. Parker concluded that if anyone loses his shirt this time, it would be Rush as Kearns has a stock up on sunburn preventative.

Minor Baseball

Three games took place in the Belleville Minor Baseball Association, on Tuesday evening, the last evening.

In the zone peewee contest, the TPT's racked up a 14-3 victory over Deacon Quakers. This was a re-scheduled game from an earlier date.

In the CNRAA Park, Stewart-Warner midgets captured an abbreviated fixture from Elliott Motors, 4-1 deficit to win it. Norm Rushlow and Ron Elliott hurled for the winners, Mike Ryan and Carol Fuller for Elliott's.

The other game, played at the Fairgrounds saw Vaughan's down Williams-Oil-O-Matics by a 6-3 score.

Vaughan's and Stewart-Warner are in a very close battle for first place and they meet Thursday night at the Fairgrounds in the final league game of the schedule.

Trenton Defeats Madoc 10-3; Need Another Win

Trenton Legion Juniors tightened their grip on the fourth and final playoff spot in the B. and D. softball league last night by whipping their nearest rivals, Madoc, by a 10-3 score.

The Juniors have won four and lost two while Madoc have three victories against 12 setbacks. These two clubs meet each other once more, in a postponed game at Madoc, but no date is available as yet. Trenton also has a game with the Belleville Bobcats.

Madoc took a 3-0 lead in the top of the fourth on a couple of home runs last night but Trenton plated the tying and winning markers in their half of the inning. Five in the seventh wrapped it up.

Roger Drake started the deciding rally with a base hit and Bob Burns doubled him to third. Both runs scored when Fred Nickie of Madoc dropped a throw to first on Howard Cole's ground ball. Whiteman had slammed a two-run homer and Doug Devolin a base on empty blast in the Madoc half of the frame. Devolin's homer was his fourth, tops in the league to date.

Ron Wannamaker went the route for Trenton and with the exception of the fourth was in complete control. He scattered eight safeties, not allowing any Madoc batter more than one hit. He struck out four and did not walk a single batter.

Wayne Shaw started and was tagged for the loss in six and one-third innings. He fanned two and walked two. Ken Pigden completed the chore with whiffing one and passing one. They allowed 14 safeties, Shaw surrendering most of them.

Third baseman Guy Austin led the Legion lads with the lumber, poking a trio of singles while Bob Burns had a double and single. Mel Kennedy and Roger Drake each had a trio of hits, Kennedy and H. Cole doubles, Scott, Foshey and Wannamaker one baggers.

Whiteman and Devolin honnered for Madoc with both hits going to Bob Bateman, Clare Hagerman, Ernie Carwell, Doug Burnside, Jud Scratch and Wayne Shaw.

One more victory for Trenton will assure them of the final playoff spot and eliminate Madoc.

Batteries — Madoc: Shaw, Pigden (7th) and Devolin; Trenton: Wannamaker and Foshey.

Umpires: Williams and M. Carson. Scorer: Don Harvey. Time 1:45.

Line score	R	H	E
Madoc	000 300 000	3	2
Trenton Jr.	101 210 30x	10	0

Sox Win Two From London

Belle COOL Smoking Loges

BY SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You may remember my story about the player with 13 hearts in his own hand. His grand slam bid of seven hearts was doubled and he redoubled. When opponents bid seven spades he nearly died.

Something like it is the incident in this deal:

♠S 4
♥A 9 6 5 4 3 2
♦T 9

WEST
♠K J 7 5
♥K Q J
♣Q J 10 5 4 3

EAST
♠10 6 3
♥10 9 8
♦J 10 8 3 2
♣9 7 6 2

SOUTH
♠A Q 9 8 2
♥K J 10
♦A K Q 6 4
♣A K

The bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
6 No-T.	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
6 ♥	Double	Pass	Pass
6 No-T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

In all advanced groups, the double of a slam requests partner to lead the first suit bid by dummy. Therefore, south realized that the west double asked east to start with a diamond lead.

There could be only one reason for such a request, south knew. It meant that west must be void in diamonds and would ruff that suit in third. This quick lone might help to kill the slam, south feared.

It happens that the small slam in hearts would make despite the first ruff of a diamond. Immediate diamond lead. But south did not know this and decided it was time for a change.

So, he traded it for a small slam bid of six no-trump. Opening lead from west was a club and 12 tricks came rolling home. One bit of carelessness could spoil the result, as you may see.

Reminds me to tell you the player with 13 hearts did not die. He got mad and bid seven no-trump. When opponents doubled this, he redoubled, defying them to top that. They couldn't. But he could not get into his hand and lost all 13 tricks.

Now he has nightmares of flying saucers that look like hearts.

The Romance of Helen Trent Oldest Soap Opera on Radio

BY CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — At 12:30 p.m. EDT Tuesday a soap opera called "The Romance of Helen Trent entered its 24th uninterrupted year of broadcasting on the CBS radio network.

As far as anybody can find out (and just watch a couple of authorities from somewhere arise to dispute the statement) Helen Trent now is the oldest consecutive soap opera on the air. Its 7,500 scripts, if laid end to end, would consume 61 solid days and nights of heartthrob.

Helen has survived by a simple, neat formula that has endeared her to millions of women as they have over their ironing boards and cookstoves. She demonstrates —in fact, she proves—that a woman of 50 or older may still have romance in her life.

Created that form, a successful Hollywood dress designer, may have been 35 when her perpetual and persistent romance began back in 1932, she now is a mere 42. Helen has been courted only by wealthy men—it's doubtful if anyone knows by how many. Yet not once has she been led to the altar.

Listeners have their favorite suitors, of course. One sector who picked a suitor's role some time ago says he used to receive constant communications from a listener, a sweet little old lady in Chicago, who was rooting for him. She'd report to him by mail the things that were being said about him behind his back on the program. She urged him to "Strike back!"

The present Helen, who took the job at the age of 27 and will be 40 in November, is an actress named Julie Stevens.

Jaremey Seeks Second Win Over Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Johnny Jaremey, a 36 - year - old stenographer who found fame early Monday by becoming the first man to swim across Lake Ontario, said today he wants to be the first person ever to make the rugged 32-mile crossing twice.

He said he will make the attempt in August or September, aiming at prize money offered by Harding Breweries, Ltd. for a protected marathon contest.

He also said he will help a Vancouver housewife in her attempt to cross Lake Okanagan. He planned to leave for Penticton, B.C. next weekend. Mrs. Ann Merawa, 34, is to attempt to swim from Penticton to Kelowna Aug. 8.

Jaremey, a native of Port Arthur, said his manager - coach, Pat Roach, will accompany him.

Dors for Monroe Lend-Lease Deal Which U. S. Will Enjoy

At The Capitol

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The nicest lend-lease I can think of is having the British send us Diana Dors while Marilyn Monroe is in Old Blighty.

The best thing about it is that we'll be seeing a lot more of Diana. She'll be staying here for more than one picture.

Now laboring with George Cobel on I Married a Woman, she is going to sign a three-year deal for a picture a year with RKO. She'll earn $75,000 for the trio, compared to her $65,000 a film in England. The first will be The Lady and the Prowler. After that, maybe a comedy with Tom Ewell at 20th Century-Fox.

"But I won't be staying here all the time," Diana said with a flash of her platinum blonde hair. "Both my husband and I have too many interests in England. We have a lot of property there—you know, flats, farms and coffee bars, as well as our own lovely home 20 miles from London."

MAE BUT HARMS HOUSE

She disclosed she was planning to add to her property buying a home here. She has her eye on the Harold Lloyd Hamilton, have just about settled on the Alice Faye-Phil Harris estate in Encino.

The curvaceous actress admitted she had fallen under the California spell.

"The climate is simply wonderful," she enthused.

Her sole objections: The traffic and the fumes.

"The drivers here are even worse than they are in Paris, and I thought they were the maniacs," she observed. "Especially the women drivers."

TOO MUCH FOOD

As for the food: "My chief objection is the amount that is served at one meal. I'm sure that you can possible eat . . . I think the cooks here would do better to concentrate more on quality than quantity."

Diana said she is contractually bound to her native land, since she has a five-year deal with J. Arthur Rank for a picture a year. It's too early to consider American citizenship, she declared.

"I might find out they don't even like me here," Diana remarked.

Silly girl.

LOTS OF REALISM IN RKO'S "GLORY"

For the first time since Hollywood film studios adopted the wide screen in one form or another, audiences are presented with the opportunity of viewing one of America's great sports spectacles in this medium.

The picture is "Glory" and its stirring climax is the Kentucky Derby of 1955, hailed by sports pundits as the greatest Derby of them all, when Swaps the California champion, humbled the great Nashua thousands cheered and tens of millions were glued to television sets.

The special, and much coveted privileges, of photographing this great event and of incorporating it as a dramatic sequence in a film was accorded by officials of the Churchill Downs racetrack at Louisville, Ky., to David Butler, producer-director of "Glory".

Not only did cameras on the scene at the crowd awaits in hushed expectancy the arrival of the prancing thoroughbreds on the track. You can feel the excitement thrill as the band in smart uniforms breaks into the slow, measured cadences of "My Old Kentucky Home." And there is the quick surge of hearts beating in the announcer's cry: "They're off and running!"

This is the realism that Superscope film brilliantly color process brings alive to the screen in this RKO Radio feature, which comes to the Capital Theatre on Thursday.

Former child - star, Margaret O'Brien, now a lovely young lady of eighteen, makes her first starring appearance in a grown-up role in "Glory". Costarred with her are Walter Brennan and Charlotte Greenwood, with John Lupton, Bye-Bye Kyser and Lisa Davis prominent in the cast.

SECOND FEATURE

The new exciting underwater world, which has been the subject of so many features in the magazines, is revealed on the screen in Technicolor and Superscope in Howard Hughes' "Underwater!" RKO Radio's $5,000,000 adventure drama of skin-diving action and aqua-lung thrills, which is the added attraction at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday with Jane Russell, Gilbert Roland, Richard Egan and Lori Nelson in the co-starring roles.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which you birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, July 26, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This can be a progressive, fortunate day if you hold temper and emotions under control. Think considerately of others' rights and desires and you will receive generous advantage.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Grand inclinations for you kind, intelligent sons. The only admonition is: do not fret or become irritated. Trivial annoyances never bother those who are really big and that means you!

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Grand Mercury, Moon and Sun configurational Naya an interesting, fruitful day along lines with which you are familiar, and in new, useful ventures, if you reasonably can.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This can be an intriguing, benefical and very happy time if you bypass non-essentials and take advantage of the many opportunities offered this stimulating day. Be smart! Join the De-Pep.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — It's up to you whether you make this a big and gay day or a mediocre one. Remember, ordinary efforts produce like results. Matters close to heart and home favored.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — All mental work and personal affairs are honored by Mercury, Moon and Sun positions now. Maintain your sense of humor, also your graciousness.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Just the sort of period you folks should enjoy because it can afford you room for personal expression, airing views on matters of government, state, community. You can be a good, loyal, loving citizen.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Some warnings here. Remember that best results are produced when you work with calmness and control your emotions. Plan wisely in all interests and activities.

November 23 to December 21— (Sagittarius — Today favors mental alertness, family and domestic relations. Do not be irritated if others offer well-meant suggestions.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — This cannot be classified as an entirely generous day but you can bring out many good possibilities by your intelligent management and innate gift for handling people and affairs.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — You cannot afford to procrastinate in anything now. Keep pace not only with this day's needs, but keep an alert eye on what's necessary for your future development and security. Think!

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Neither overly favorable nor wholly restrictive influences now. Be your astute, cagey self and pluck the advantages and offerings as you discard the chaff. You born today are a happy combination of fun, good humor and ingenious ability. You have mechanical ability, can entertain, tell incidents and stories vividly, interesting; have a good memory, usually a genial disposition though tend at times to be quick - tempered. However that quick temper doesn't last long and you forgive readily. You are cooperative if treated considerably but do not like being forced or commanded to do things. Educate yourself as much as possible. 1956 has many good advantages, opportunities ahead. Birthdate: George Bernard Shaw, Brit. dramatist, author.

Gable Is Tops Says Crawford

LONDON (AP)—Joan Crawford looked back on 30 years of movie-making today and nominated Clark Gable as the all-time king of Hollywood. The queen? Greta Garbo.

Miss Crawford arrived Tuesday to make her 73rd film — Nicholas Monsarrat's The Story of Esther Costello. She said it is the first time she has been in England since 1933.

With Miss Crawford is her fourth husband, Alfred Steele.

"She arrived in the almost forgotten style of the great stars," says the admiring Daily Mail. "She brought 28 suitcases, 43 film costumes, one trunk of suits, one trunk of furs and a millionaire husband."

Reporters asked Steele how it feels to be married to a celebrity.

"I married a lady," he replied. "It was only later I discovered she was a film star."

LINERS COLLIDE IN FOG, 1,634 RESCUED

Many Hurt But Only 3 Perish As Dramatic Sea Epic Written Off Coast Of New England

Italian Ship Sinks After Passengers And Crew Saved

NEW YORK (AP) — A violent crash between two ocean liners in Atlantic coast fog late Wednesday night took three lives and injured hundreds. One of the vessels, the luxurious Italian liner Andrea Doria, plunged beneath the sea at mid-morning today.

Before it sank, however, its 1,634 passengers and crew members had been rescued by other ships in one of history's greatest sea epics.

It had collided shortly before midnight off Nantucket Island, Mass., with the Swedish liner Stockholm.

Fifty passengers from Canada are aboard the Stockholm. Five Canadians were among those rescued from the Italian ship. There was no immediate word on possible injuries among Canadians.

The end came at 10:09 a.m. EDT today.

The succession of radio messages from a U.S. coast guard cutter at the scene gave this dramatic picture of the multi-million-dollar-liner's final moments:

"Settling rapidly," abandoned by captain and handful of senior officers who fought to the last to save their ship.

"Sinking. Just her fantail is showing."

"S. S. Andrew Doria sank in 225 feet of water at 10:09 a.m."

This final word did not come to the coast guard there until 10:55 a.m.

There were indications of a fourth death in the accident. A Coast Guard message said a cutter at the scene was "retrieving a body alongside the Stockholm."

The Andrea Doria went into the watery deep in just a little less than 11 hours after the collision.

One of the dead was identified as Alf Johannsson, 30, crew member of the Swedish liner. He died after being flown by helicopter to Nantucket Island, about 45 miles north of the crash area. He was one of five persons, including a seven-year-old girl, taken off the Stockholm by helicopter.

CALM SEAS HELP

The 30,000-ton Andrea Doria, Luxurious pride of the Italian merchant fleet, was bound for New York from Genoa, Italy, carrying many Americans.

The 12,000-ton Stockholm sailed from New York Wednesday.

Their disastrous crash — which happened despite the latest in radar equipment—occurred shortly before midnight in a fog patch 200 miles northeast of New York. Calm seas in the area, but fog in the seas were relatively calm—visibility only hundreds of feet. Many of those forced to take to lifeboats after going down ship's ladders.

Frantic calls for aid came from the Andrea Doria's radio room reporting over at a dangerous angle and rescue vessels raced from all directions.

Upon arrival, they spewed lifeboats into the ocean in their haste toward the Andrea Doria, which could not lower its own lifeboats because of its listing position.

CRAMB DOWN NETS

Within five hours, all but a handful of its passengers and crew had been lifted to safety on the other ships.

At 10:12 a.m. the coast guard cutter Evergreen at the scene reported:

Passengers and crew had to flee the sinking vessel by clambering precariously down ladders and cargo nets lowered over the side.

Among the rescue vessels were the giant French liner Ile de France, which took aboard about 720 persons; the United Fruit Company freighter Cape Ann, with 168, and the military sea transport Pvt. William H. Thomas with about 165.

All headed for New York, with arrival times listed as late today and tonight.

The Stockholm also was returning to New York.

Nantucket Island, near which the Stockholm docked, is 25 miles southeast of the Massachusetts coastline and about 200 miles northeast of New York City.

PROUD OF CREW

Cause of the crash remained a mystery, considering that ships with such radar are able to spot other vessels many miles away.

Helicopters reaching the crash site at first were thwarted by fog in efforts to remove the injured.

But five finally were taken from the Stockholm in wire baskets lowered to the deck from a helicopter.

Another of the rescue ships, the United Fruit liner Cape Ann, radioed at 7:30 a.m.:

"Our count is 168 survivors. They are all over and it is difficult. Two s.s. are in the area. Bruises and shock plentiful but no deaths in attendance. Are leased by Coast Guard and proceeding at best speed.

"Used all life boats. Very proud of conduct of officers and crew. Arrive 4 a.m. Whose Light (New York) 5 p. m."

The 7:30 a.m. EDT message from the Cape Ann was the first of the rescue ships racing to the stricken liners.

Requests for help including medical aid, crackled through the night air.

"Send lifeboats" the Andrea placed the time and again.

The Italian liner termed herself in "immediate" danger. She said she was listing badly.

"Need as many lifeboats as possible," the message said.

Details of the crash were sparse. Airwaves were being reserved for more pressing communications.

MILLER CITED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives voted a contempt citation Wednesday against Arthur Miller, New York playwright who recently married Marilyn Monroe, in the action sends the citation to the justice department for possible prosecution. Miller was accused by the House committee on un-American activities of refusing to answer questions.

Radio Log Tells Story Of Sea Drama

BOSTON (AP)—Some of the drama surrounding the collision of the Italian liner Andrea Doria and the Swedish liner Stockholm was contained in the following radio messages picked up by the Coast Guard:

11:22 a.m. EDT (from the Stockholm): We have collided with another ship. Please. Ship in collision.

12:06 a.m., from the Stockholm: Collided with another vessel in position 40-34 n 69-45 w. But still undetermine our damage.

12:08 a.m. (From the Stockholm): Badly damaged. Full bow from front No. 1 hold filled with water. We have to stay in our position. Help if you can.

12:22 a.m. (from Stockholm to Andrea Doria): Lower your lifeboats. We can pick you up.

12:25 a.m. (from Andrea Doria): We are too heeding (listing). Impossible to put boats over side. Please send lifeboats immediately.

1:05 a.m. (from Ile de France to Andrea Doria): Am near the scene. We shall be area at 1:45 a.m. What can I do to help?

1:10 a.m. (Cape Ann to Ile de France): He says immediate need are lifeboats for about 1,000 passengers and 500 crew.

1:15 a.m. (Cape Ann to Ile de France): We have dispatched two lifeboats.

1:15 a.m. (Stockholm to Andrea Doria): We are launching all available life boats.

1:25 a.m. (apparently from Stockholm): The Andrea Doria has begin to abandon ship.

1:35 a.m. (Stockholm to Ile de France): Impossible forship damaged. Our number one-hold flooding. Otherwise ship all right. Will try to proceed to New York at slow speed. If you are going to New York with passengers from Andrea Doria can we keep company?

1:37 a.m. (Ile de France to Stockholm): Will proceed New York full speed when all rescued. Please ask another ship. My schedule imperative.

1:38 a.m. (from Ile de France): Yesterday noon was 24 miles proceeding New York full speed—no more help needed.

Settlement of Steel Strike Being Delayed by Details

NEW YORK (AP) — A haze of unresolved details today cast a shadow over the expected announcement of an end to the United States steel strike now in its 28th day.

Negotiators, weary from a pattern-midnight session, scheduled another meeting to try to get a new contract in shape for presentation to two groups of union chieftains later in the day.

Officially, the four-man teams from both sides were merely "making progress"—a phrase that has been used to mask details of the discussions since Tuesday.

However, John A. Stephens of U.S. Steel, chief industry negotiator, and David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, have not denied the accuracy of widely-circulated reports that a three-year no-strike contract was all but signed.

Arthur Goldberg, general counsel of the union, was smiling and apparently not discouraged when he left the hotel conference room at 1 a.m., after eight hours of intermittent meetings.

He said the lengthy closed-door conferences were "normal operation procedure at this type of meeting," and admitted the negotiators had been "doing some drafting."

Meanwhile, the presidents or top executives of the 12 major steel firms involved in the talks arrived in New York, apparently to be on hand for an official settlement announcement.

The union called in its 31-man executive board and its 170-man wage policy committee which has the final say on accepting a new contract.

The agreement is said to contain a 30-cent hourly package increase spread over three years.

Pre-strike pay in the industry averaged 32.46 an hour.

Allan Hints Crack-Down On Slow Drivers Is Coming

TORONTO (CP) — Police throughout Ontario, who have been cracking down on speeding motorists, may get equally tough on drivers who crawl along controlled-access highways at speeds below the limit.

Highways Minister Allan, addressing a gathering in the presence of Ontario publishers, police officials and safety directors, said the use of minimum speed limits now is being studied.

He was replying to a suggestion by Oakley Dalgleish, editor-in-chief of the Toronto Globe and Mail, who said the slow driver is a bigger menace than the fast driver.

The conference was called by Attorney-General Kelso Roberts to discuss methods of reducing accidents.

UNIFORM TICKET SYSTEM

Mr. Roberts told the conference Ontario soon will adopt the uniform traffic ticket system under which a motorist is stopped at the time he commits an offence and is given a ticket. The ticket will cover the violations of the rules of the road which are responsible for 80 per cent of the accidents, he said.

Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake of Newmarket, said drivers have lost confidence in magistrates' courts because of indiscriminate handing out of traffic tickets. This was particularly true, he said, when motorists prefer to pay their tickets out of court.

Mr. Roberts reported that Ontario now has a strength of 1,542 provincially police and about 600 cars. Eventually this force would have 2,000 and cost $10,000,000 annually.

Provincial police in the Hamilton, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls areas are being assisted in traffic problems on busy weekends by civil defence workers, W. H. Clark, assistant provincial police commissioner, said.

Next Topic For Lecture Won't Be Murder

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Lieut. Tom Logan of the Oklahoma City fire department declares there'll be no lecture tonight at the city airport.

A month ago while advising what to do in case of heart attack, Logan was notified that a paramedic had suffered an attack in the waiting room.

Tonight's lecture was planned Wednesday when a refrigeration gas tank exploded in the basement of the airport. His subject: "Expanding gasses and the danger of explosion."

Amputate Leg To Free Worker Trapped in Sewer

EDMONTON (CP) — An emergency operation deep in an Edmonton sewer has saved the life of a 44-year-old worker, trapped for 2½ hours when a new tunnel caved in.

Four mud - splattered doctors operated on George Knoot, who suffered fatal injuries to his left leg. Knoot was crushed by a steel support in the eight-foot-wide tunnel, 700 feet from the end of a shaft that emerges along the North Saskatchewan River in east Edmonton.

The doctors, who said Knoot was suffering from shock and would die if not removed quickly, gave him a general anesthetic, operated, placed him on a stretcher and sent him to hospital.

POOR EQUIPMENT

He was reported in good condition Wednesday night. He was being kept in bed to receive a transfusion of blood.

Knoot and two other men, all in one part of the tunnel wall slide down, pinning Knoot on his back and bury him in mud and icy, cold water up to the neck.

Carl Schmieder, gang foreman who arrived at the cave-in 15 minutes after it occurred, said he might have taken a half-hour to rescue a horse in the mud.

The doctors — Frederick Day, Jack Lees, Merl Dolgoy and A. J. Gordon — decided, however, that immediate operation was necessary.

During the rescue, heavy rain fell outside and turned the shaft-head into a muddy slough. Rescuers worked by flashlight as sand fell from the dark tunnel's ceiling during a short power failure.

The tunnel is part of a $1,500,000 sewer project being undertaken by the city engineering department.

Gasoline 5 Inches Deep in Cellar Worries North Bay Furnace Tender

NORTH BAY (CP)—A property owner says that a whole city block could be destroyed unless a section is in danger of being wiped out by fire unless a dangerous gasoline leak is found.

Gasoline which experts believe has been leaking from one of four nearby service stations has been seeping into basements in the block and flooded some to a depth of five inches several times.

C. E. Callardi, part owner of a building housing Lindsay and McClusky, Ltd., a fuel company, said the gasoline in his basement had him "scared silly all winter long."

Crews from the city engineers department Wednesday began digging trenches in the heart of the business section, looking for the leaky source.

Mr. Callardi said: "When I had to go down stairs in the middle of winter to fire the furnace late at night I wasn't certain whether I would get out alive or not.

"There was raw gasoline on the floor and I was lugging red hot clinkers out of the furnace. If one of those clinkers ever fell on the floor and ignited the gasoline I would wipe out the whole city block."

In August last year investigators examined the nearby gas station in a vain attempt to uncover the leak.

Tax Pact Designed to Help Canadians Buy Stock in Subsidiaries of U.S. Firms

OTTAWA (CP)—Legislation will be introduced by the government at the current session of Parliament to enable Canadians to play a larger role in affairs of American-owned portions of their stock in Canada.

It was learned here Wednesday that Canada and the United States have completed months of negotiations on tax treaty amendments to make this possible. A new bilateral pact is understood to be signed here shortly. It then must be ratified by Parliament and the U.S. Senate.

It is believed that Prime Minister St. Laurent was referring to the pact when he told the Commons Wednesday that Finance Minister Harris may have another piece of legislation to introduce before the end of the session.

SPEEDY APPROVAL

Sources here say the Canadian government plans speedy ratification of the pact as a hint to American legislators that it would like to see the U.S. Senate take fast action.

Under the new pact American companies would be free to reduce ownership in their Canadian subsidiaries without tax penalty. This might encourage U.S. firms to offer greater portions of their stock to Canadian investors.

The royal commission on Canada's economic prospects has heard complaints that Canadian laws restrict Canadian investment in U.S.-owned firms.

At present, subsidiaries of U.S. companies operating in Canada pay a five-per-cent withholding tax on dividends shipped back home, provided the parent company controls 95 per cent or more of the Canadian operation. If the parent company owns less, the tax increases to 15 per cent.

ENCOURAGES U.S. CONTROL

This tends to encourage American companies to retain virtually complete control over their Canadian subsidiaries to avoid the higher tax. This, in turn, prevents Canadians from buying shares and taking part in foreign-owned Canadian operations.

Under the new arrangement it is understood the subsidiaries still will be subject to the lower five-per-cent tax, provided the parent companies own more than 50 per cent of the foreign operation.

The new tax arrangement would work both ways. It would apply equally to Canadian companies with subsidiaries in the U.S. Similar agreements have been completed with a number of other countries.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: The surge of cooler air that moved into Northern Ontario Wednesday continued rapidly southward and this morning had covered most of eastern Ontario and all of southern Ontario except extreme southwestern counties. Meanwhile variable cloudiness and scattered showers moved into Northern Ontario and temperatures began to moderate.

An extensive disturbance centred over the Dakotas is causing showers and thunderstorms over the eastern Prairies and the northcentral United States eastward to the western Great Lakes. To the rear of the low pressure area cooler air has moved into the Prairies and will continue eastward to cover most of Ontario by Saturday. Meanwhile, unsettled weather with scattered showers and thunderstorms will be general over the central portion of the continent including Ontario.

Ghosts Plague 'Communist' Party Women

BERLIN (Reuters)—Affaller, a remote mountain village in the Bavarian Forest, famed for gingerbirge, is haunted by reactionary ghosts who always pick on progressive women, according to a report in the Chemnitz Communist Party paper Volkstimme received here.

The sprightly spirits took the shape of "leaping lemas" who popped about the village at night and genuinely frightened otherwise progressive and socially conscious women, the newspaper said.

The fact that the "spirits" concentrate on Communist Party members and use stills with coiled metal springs suggests the motive, it added.

MONTREAL (CP) — The RCAF claims a Canadian endurance record for a helicopter which flew non-stop recently from Chesterfield Inlet on Hudson Bay to Port Churchill, Man., a distance of about 335 airmiles.

Shaw Would Love This Controversy Was He Great or Just Show-off?

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — George Bernard Shaw, who loved a fight, would have chuckled over the controversy raging today on the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Was Shaw really great? Was he a genius? Was he overrated by he? Will his name be inscribed on the roll of immortals of English literature?

Critics can't agree.

Some feel that the arrogant Irishman with the sarcastic tongue will battle with the years — still read but not revered. Shaw supporters think his greatness will grow with time.

One thing is already evident—Shaw has failed to command the respect of the masses he often ridiculed.

An attempt to create a Shaw memorial fund of $700,000 was a flop. Sponsors gave up the idea after five years of campaigning raised $1,120.

The centenary of Shaw's birth has been virtually ignored in London's West End theatre district. Not one of his plays is showing.

Frank Jackson, theatre critic of Reynolds News commented:

"Some celebration! This puny tribute to a great writer is a national scandal."

Howard Culpin, another British critic, says Frank Shaw feared most in his later years has come to pass.

Referring to the frequent tart notes with which the playwright bombarded newspapers, Culpin says:

"Without that constant flow of has slumped."

Shaw died six years ago at the pungent postcards to bring him ever before our attention, his fame age of 94.

Toronto Man Lost $13,000 Sponsoring Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Dave Rush, young Toronto mining promoter, today said he lost $13,000 sponsoring a 15-round heavyweight boxing bout Wednesday night between Archie Moore and James J. Parker.

Moore won by a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Mr. Rush said he lost money on the fight promotion, a million dollars worth of satisfaction."

"My only disappointment is that Jimmy didn't knock him out."

Accountants and tax experts, meanwhile, were awaiting word on a split on a $148,000 gross gate for the show at Maple Leaf baseball stadium.

Mr. Rush said it was his first and last fight promotion. Arranging the extravaganza had kept him away from his business interests too long.

"I don't care about the money but I'm glad I was able to prove to a few thousand people that Toronto is a big-league town—one of the best sports towns in the world."

PLANTS STOLEN FROM CEMETERY

Theft of plants from graves at Elmwood Cemetery north of Consecrable has been reported to provincial police.

Police said that two begonia plants had been taken from graves in the cemetery sometime during the past weekend. They warned against trespassing on cemetery property and promised that persons caught stealing plants from graves would be severely dealt with.

37 TRAFFIC CHARGES LISTED IN COURT

Indications that provincial police are not slacking down on their drive checking motorists in an attempt to reduce the accident toll, was seen in the morning county magistrate's court docket with 37 traffic charges of various kinds listed.

Topping the list insofar as numbers was concerned were 27 speeding charges, with 13 motorists being summoned for infractions of road regulations. Others set charged for failing to have proper equipment and miscellaneous matters.

St. Louis Tosses No-Hitter in Juveniles' Win

Gord St. Louis pitched a seven-inning no-hit no-run game last night as the Bellerille Juveniles blanked Foxboro 9-0 in a South Hastings baseball league contest at the village.

St. Louis nailed 10 batters on third strikes with curves and fastballs while walking three. He hit two other batters.

Belleville broke a 0-0 tie with three in the third and went on to rack up further runs throughout.

St. Louis helped his own cause with a double and single while Ross Walmsley banged a brace of singles. Catcher Bill Foster drove in a pair of runs with a sharp single.

These two clubs meet at Belleville's Exhibition Park Saturday evening at 6.45 in the final league game. The juveniles will not participate in the league playoffs but will enter the OBA Juvenile playdowns in August.

Two other games were scheduled in the league last night. The loop-leading Latta nine racked up a 10-3 victory over Read. No result is available on the Shannonville, Canniffton fixture.

Fire Forces Family From Front St. Home

Members of a Front street family, together with a boarder, were forced from their rooms early today when fire was discovered in a hallway at 390 1/2 Front street, sending heavy smoke billowing into three upstairs apartments.

Ray Van Allen, boarder at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horton, discovered the blaze shortly before 12.30 this morning when he smelled smoke. He roused other members of the family, including the three Horton children and with them escaped through a window to the roof of the Provincial Tire building next door.

Two other families, Mrs. E. Hicks and the Keller family, were away on holidays at the time of the blaze.

Belleville firemen confined the blaze to the stairwell leading to the apartments above and little more than smoke damage resulted to the living quarters.

Two businesses on the ground floor, Weese's Candy Store, and Buy-Bite Supply Company, were not damaged.

Firemen said that the blaze was believed to have started from a cigaret thrown into the hallway by a careless smoker.

"It could have been a bad fire," stated Deputy Fire Chief Gerald O'Brien. "Fortunately it was discovered in time."

No estimate of the fire damage was obtained although it was felt that smoke damage in the upstairs apartments would necessitate re-decorating.

Napanee Youth Rowed to U.S.; Is Returned Home

DETROIT. (CP) — The second of two Canadian youths, held here last weekend after they rowed to U.S.-owned Belle Isle, has returned home, U.S. immigration officials said Wednesday.

Anastasias Kyriapoulos, 17, of Napanee, crossed the border Tuesday on the way home. Curtis Kotsodoe, 16, of Kingston, was returned at the first of the week to relatives in Kingston.

The two, Greek Immigrants, were picked up by Detroit police after they borrowed a boat in Windsor and rowed to Belle Isle.

Confirm Ruling Marmora Mine Strike Illegal

TORONTO (CP) — The United Steelworkers of America (CLC) says the Ontario Labor Relations Board has ruled illegal strikes at two Canadian subsidiaries of United States steel companies.

Employees at Marmoron Mining Company at Marmora, a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel, and Union Drawn Steel of Hamilton, a subsidiary of the Republic Steel, walked off the job July 3 when the U.S. steel strike started.

Although the strikes have been ruled illegal, the companies would still have to apply to the OLRB for permission to prosecute the unions.

The Hamilton firm employs 40 persons and Marmoraton 300.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES E. COOK

Following a lengthy illness Mrs. Margaret Cook, resident of the Hastings county home, died in Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday. She was in her 77th year.

Born in Belleville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pringle, she had lived in the city all her life. Her husband, the late James Scott Cook predeceased her in 1942.

She is survived by one son, James M. Cook, of Belleville, and two brothers, Wesley Pringle of Belleville and F. Pringle of Winnipeg. A son Jack Cook predeceased her in May 1953.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Raspberry Supply Moderate

Raspberries were in moderate supply on the local market this morning. Sales moved steadily and the fruit which sold at 60 cents per quart for reds and 50 cents for blues.

Montmorency cherries were down to $1.50 per six-quart basket, and 35 cents a quart. Red currants brought 35 cents a quart while white currants and gooseberries sold at 25 cents. A light delivery of English black currants moved at 60 cents a quart.

Vegetable offerings were light with new potatoes forming bulky part of the sales. Prices were $1 per basket and 25 cents a quart. Pencil-pod beans brought 25 cents a quart while lettuce was 25 cents a basket. Cabbage was 15-20 cents per head, peppers two for 15 cents.

Grade A large eggs were 45 cents a dozen.

Brighton Man Killed in West

ABEE, Alta. (CP) — Frank John Halliday, of Brighton, Ont., was killed Tuesday when the truck in which he was a passenger crashed into a ditch.

Police said the truck, driven by Archie Cardinal of Fort McMurray went out of control after striking a patch of loose gravel. Abee is 55 miles north of Edmonton.

Police Blotter

Two minor accidents and a complaint that a car had been stolen, comprised police activity during the past 24 hours. The car was later located on the parking lot where it had been left.

Wednesday afternoon a car driven by Lillian Hill, 93 Borwell street, ran into a hydro pole on Highland Ave., doing approximately $100 damage to the car. The pole was not broken. Driver of the car was learning to drive when she failed to straighten up the car after rounding a curve.

The second accident occurred this morning at the corner of Bridge and George streets when a car driven by Flossie Polmer, Carrying Place, and a truck driven by Earl Lavallette, Belleville, were in a minor collision.

During the night a West Hill resident complained his car had been stolen from a parking lot at the rear of Front street store. Police later found the car parked on the lot where it had been originally left.

Gets Glass Eye, 'Am I Pretty?' Asks Blind Boy

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Wednesday was a happy day for Mike Slipke. An artificial eye was fitted into the socket where his own left eye was removed a week ago, leaving him blind.

It was supposed to be several weeks before four-year-old Mike got a new left eye to match the right one, put in after the cancer operation two years ago.

But a heat rash under the bandages made Mike uncomfortable and he asked for it now. His doctor obeyed him and an optical firm representative fitted the artificial eye.

"Do I look pretty again?" Mike asked his dad, Rev. James Slipke.

Low Planes Tizzy Turkeys

WOODSTOCK (CP) — The department of transport has ordered planes not to fly low over local turkey ranches because the birds get scared and suffer an injury.

Frank Lemon of Norwich said that when low - flying planes zoomed over his ranch, his flock of 3,000 birds started battering themselves against a fence.

"They received broken wings scarred and bruised bodies and lost weight," he said.

Mr. Lemon and other farmers complained to the department and local airfields.

Reject Attlee's Plea Makarios Be Brought Back

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Wednesday night rejected plea by former Labor prime minister Earl Attlee that Archbishop Makarios, leader of the union-with-Greece movement in Cyprus, be brought back from exile.

The plea was rejected in the House of Lords by Lord Salisbury, spokesman for the government, who said Makarios was deported to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian ocean last March because he connived at and fomented a campaign of violence against our troops and our friends on the island.

"Let-him publicly condemn violence," said Salisbury, "and a new situation would be created and many things might be possible."

Salisbury was answering Attlee's contention that the deportation of Makarios "to put it mildly, was an error of judgment." It accomplished "nothing whatever."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said Makarios will have to be brought back some time. He could not be exiled or separated from his church for ever.

Fish Are Biting, Party Gets 25

TRENTON. (Special) — Out Twelve O'Clock Point way, the fish—in particular pike—have started to bite.

Yesterday a tourist party headed by Herb Reilu, Lockport, N.Y., caught 25 pike and bass in the region of the point.

Biggest haul of the entire catch was an eight-pound pike.

MONTREAL FIRE KILLS ONE, INJURES NINE FIREMEN

At the height of a fire in Montreal, Que., an explosion knocks one fireman to the ground and causes others to huddle against a wall. The fire, which began in the basement of an importing firm, claimed the life of Shirley Goldner, an employee, who was trapped in the basement. The fire spread up the dumb-waiter to the upstairs floors. Nine firemen were overcome with smoke. — (Central Press Canadian.)

Plasterers Are Annoyed By 'Plastered'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Use of the word "plastered" to describe one who's had too much to drink has plasterers up in arms.

The Arizona Lath and Plaster Institute has adopted a resolution declaring that "linking our trade with overindulgence detracts from the dignity of a respected industry."

Said William F. Mitten, executive secretary:

"You don't say a person is chlinged', 'painted', or 'landscaped.' Then, why say he is 'plastered'? Plaster is symbolic of rigidity. A man who is inebriated is seldom rigid—unless he happens to be laid out cold."

Mine Spokesman Denies Company Ordered Lockout

MONTREAL (CP) — A spokesman for the Sullivan Consolidated Gold mine at Val d'Or, in northwestern Quebec, denied Wednesday that the company has ordered a lockout at the plant.

Alderic Archambault, secretary-treasurer, said:

"Following an irregular and illegal strike July 12 the company was forced to advise all its hourly-paid employees to call at the mine office to receive their salary cheques and personal effects.

"The company sent cheques and unemployment insurance books by registered mail to those employees who ignored the notice."

A spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America, which represents the 200 men at the mine, said the workers were refused admission by mine superintendent L. C. Belliveau when they tried to return to work July 17.

He said this constituted a lockout.

Firemen Declare CPR Tells Only Half the Story

WINNIPEG (CP)—Top officials of the 86,000 member Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen have accused the Canadian Pacific Railway of telling only "a half story" to a federal conciliation board hearing a dispute between the union and company.

Union strategy in the dispute was discussed by officials behind closed doors. Discussions followed a two-day meeting by the general policy committee of the brotherhood.

John Graham of Montreal, the brotherhood's chief negotiating officer with the CPR, joined leading U.S union officers at strategy sessions Wednesday and promised that "all of their skill" would be given to the conciliation board at an Ottawa hearing July 31.

Police Sergeant Draws Suspension

WELLAND (CP) — Sergeant Hugh Bradden, 37, a 15-year man with the Welland police force, was suspended Wednesday night, accused of breaches of the Ontario Police Act.

Chief Orval Rounds, announcing the suspension and charges, said Bradden would be granted a hearing before the Welland police commission Aug. 1.

Constable Harry Read was suspended on late May after his arrest on charges of breaking and entering and of being in possession of stolen money following a $78,000 post office robbery in 1955.

On July 12, Earl Kirk quit the force giving as his reason the "reverse publicity" the force was receiving.

Howe Defends Aid Given Firm To Build Guns

OTTAWA (CP — The government has been charged with giving an improper handout in profits to a gun-making firm, but Defence Production Minister Howe denies it.

Opposition members Wednesday raised a storm in the Commons over the issue, with Mr. Howe contending the government paid only a "reasonable" amount to Sorel Industries Ltd. for guns for its new destroyer escort ships at Sorel, Que.

Progressive Conservative and CCF members variously described the gun deal as "an unjustified handout," "highly improper and unjustifiable" and "gravy" for the firm making the armaments during the Korean War.

MAINTENANCE TARGET

Most of the blueprinting centred around the fact that the government, to get the company into gun production after a layoff between the Second World War and 1950, assumed $2,800,000 of its cost of plant maintenance in the five-year period. Mr. Howe said this was about the figure for "dead loss" on plant upkeep, though opposition members called it a contribution to Sorel profits.

In the defence production debate which continues today, Mr. Howe tackled a miscellany of members from the Conservative and CCF parties contending he was too lavish with federal money on the gun contract.

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth) called the government's plant maintenance payment—for which Mr. Howe said he takes full responsibility—"unjustified handout to the company."

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) described it as "highly improper and unjustifiable."

"It sounds like gravy," said John Diefenbaker (PC — Prince Albert).

"CANNON BACKS HOWE

Liberal Charles Cannon, chairman of the Commons public accounts committee that recently scrutinized the gun transaction, backed Mr. Howe by revealing that the committee's steering committee has approved a report which does not criticize the government in any way."

PAID MORE THAN U.S.

Mr. Monteith also criticized the minister for the fact that his department paid profits for the guns than did the United States navy, which took 120 off the weapons.

The U S participation had greatly lowered the over-all cost of getting the Sorel ship production, Mr. Howe said, by taking up overhead expenses.

When the debate switched to other aspects of defence production, Mr. Howe told Mr. Fleming he would not object to bringing in a bill next session to reduce by $50,000,000 the $150,000,000 in a revolving fund for the stockpiling of defence materials. The maximum committed under the fund was $111,000,000. By last March 31, only $58,000,000 was committed.

Still on Cross, Hopes to Stay For Fifteen Days

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP)—Tegare, 25-year-old ventriloquist who was voluntarily nailed to a cross in the bull ring here four days ago, said Wednesday he hopes to say on his cross for 15 days. He's doing it for money, he said, and will give 10 per cent to the Mexican Catholic Church.

Church officials said they had nothing to do with the exhibition and had not given permission for it.

Tegare, dressed in a white silk suit, lay on the cross as he talked with reporters through an interpreter today. The cross was supported by two carpenter's sawhorses. Small electric fans stirred the hot air in the room.

Tegare said the wounds in his feet and hands hurt, but he gave no indication of suffering great pain. He did not appear to be in a trance.

SIX-INCH NAILS

Tegare was first nailed to the cross. His feet had been removed, but the nails were driven between and they were bandaged on the bottom.

The nails were about six inches long and slightly larger than a wooden match in diameter.

Tegare, whose real name is Ijenio Garcia Carmona, was nailed to the cross before a capacity crowd of about 5,000 about 7 p.m., Sunday. About an hour later, four men lifted the cross from where it lay in the bull ring and carried it to their quarters in a room Tegare had rented about 2½ blocks from the Reynosa Square.

The cross has never been upright.

People from Mexico and the United States have come to the room and paid about 25 cents to see the actor on the cross. On Tuesday the mayor of Reynosa, Dr. Jesus Ramos Castiliero, ordered that no more people be admitted to the room.

Tegare said he learned to endure pain from his father, who learned the art from a tribe of Indians. He said he began by pushing cactus spurs into his feet when he was 9 years old.

New Management Offer Ends Nine-Week Strike

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP)—Faced with an ultimatum that the Schultz Die Casting Co. and its affiliate Sydenham Trading Co. would pull out of Wallaceburg, 350 union employees Wednesday night accepted a new management offer, ending a nine-week strike.

The UAW strike began the week with a three-cent wage increase within a year, and a union-management study of working conditions. The union had demanded a 30-cent reduction to 40 from 45 hours, with the same take-home pay.

Company officials said Tuesday that unless the union accepted a settlement within 48 hours the plants would be closed permanently.

Struck by Car Boy Dies

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Six-year-old Joseph Dicker Ladashic was killed Wednesday night when struck by a car on a street near his home here.

Chalk River, about 100 miles northwest of Ottawa, is the site of Canada's atomic energy plant.

The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital in nearby Deep River, a few minutes after the accident. Police said the car's driver, Thomas Curley, apparently observed in an unsuccessful attempt to miss the boy who crossed the street from behind a parked car.

Bitten by Lion, Child Recovers

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) Three weeks ago a 270-pound lion clamped its powerful jaws about the head of 23-year-old Beatrice Ann Harris.

Her father, Jamming a leg and arm in the animal's mouth, freed her, but she suffered critical deep facial fractures.

On July 4 Beatrice Ann underwent the last surgery. Tuesday night she left hospital. Doctors say her condition is fine.

VEGETABLES ON COFFIN

PARIS (Reuters)—A "bouquet" of vegetables formed the base of a wreath of gladioli on the coffin of France's Prince of Gastronomers, Maurice Sailland, at his funeral here Wednesday. Sailland, writer and gourmet, died Sunday aged 83.

SURGERY SEPARATES SIAMESE TWINS

Tension mounted in San Diego, Calif., as doctors cut through the band of tissue that joins the lower backs of Siamese twins Gary and Larry Hutchens. Two teams of surgeons worked 94 minutes over the infants, who were born July 2 to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hutchens. A small nerve connection was found in the tissue and some spinal fluid was lost but the separated twins are reported "fine." — (Central Press Canadian.)

Rooming House Keeper Faces Murder Charge

COCHRANE (CP) — Walter Fashkai, 52-year-old rooming-house keeper was committed for trial Wednesday on a charge of murder in the death of Thini Dai on Jan. 40, June 21.

The woman's body and the unconscious form of Fashkala were found in the kitchen of their home by the other two occupants of the house, Kaspa Kourkas and Nerka Kaarin.

Kourkas and Kaarin told Magistrate Montreuil Leger that they left the couple quietly drinking fairly steadily for three days before the slaying. They said that they were in their rooms upstairs they were in their rooms upstairs when they heard two or three shots fired. Both were hazy about events of the day before the shooting.

Kaarin said that he had heard Fashkala threaten the woman's life before, and he had seen a pistol which Fashkala threw into about a month previous. The pistol with which the woman was shot was not found by police.

Other witnesses from farms near Cochrane said the couple were frequent visitors, and that Fashkala had done some shooting with a pistol on their properties only a few days before the shooting.

Shells recovered by provincial police inspector J. P Lazerires were stated by an RCMP ballistics expert from Ottawa to match shells found in the kitchen of Fashkala's home following the fatal shooting.

Shaggy Whale Said Rare Beaked Species

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Michigan State University fisheries biologist has identified the monster carcass washed up on the lonely Alaska beach as a beaked baird whale, one of the rarest of the beaked whale species.

Dr. Peter Pack, head of the Michigan State fishery and wildlife department, flew Tuesday to the spot where the creature was beached some months ago 60 miles south of Yakutat.

Dr. Tuck said Wednesday after examining the remains its probable length was about 30 feet. Original reports had estimated the creature, which has become nearly buried in the sand, is much longer.

The so-called "red hair," he said, turned out on close examination to be fibrous tissue which is the residue of decomposing whale flesh and blubber.

College Boys' Roulette System Yields $96,000

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A Harold's Club official says the club has lost an estimated $96,000 over a period of weeks to a group of college boys with a 24-hour-a-day 'system' for playing roulette.

Manager Guy Lent said he believes seven University of Nevada youths were involved, but doesn't know their names.

'And I doubt that anyone else in the club does either,' he added.

Vagueness and anonymity always surrounded the big gaming winnings here because of the internal revenue service's interest.

General Motors Business Decline Said "Too Big"

NEW YORK (AP)—A report by General Motors Corporation of a $644,000,000 decline in its business for the first half of 1956 was accompanied Wednesday by a statement by the American Institute of Management saying the company is just plain "too big."

The 107-page report of the world's largest auto maker said net profit was down $157,000,000 compared to the first half of 1955.

The report said, however, that sales and production of GM cars outside the United States "exceeded last year's record levels." Canadian production for the second quarter was 78,376 cars and trucks against 74,142 a year earlier.

Frogmen Hunt Missing Couple

NORTH BAY (CP)—Four frogmen Wednesday scoured the bottom of Trout Lake in an effort to find some trace of Allan Campbell and Mrs. Jessie Mabel, 44. They have been missing for more than eight weeks and are presumed dead.

The two-hour search was a fruitless effort for the frogmen and 20 other searchers who combed about five miles of shoreline and three islands in the vicinity of the Campbell cottage.

Skin-diver combed the shallow waters while the frogmen searched the deeper waters. Land searchers combed three islands in the area but found nothing.

Will Stand Trial For Killing Sons

SOUTHEND, Eng. (Reuters)—A 35-year-old mother fainted in court Wednesday when committed for trial on a charge of murdering her two - year - old twin boys.

The woman, Mrs. Violet Lavinia Clark, also known as Violet Wright, had been charged with Mrs. Joy Richardson, 27, with the murder of Colin and Reginald Wright.

The case against Mrs. Richardson was dismissed.

The two boys died in a fire aboard a houseboat at South Benfleet, near here, on May 17.

Russian Ship Not Touched By Frogmen

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—A Soviet tourist ship is carrying Nikita Khrushchev's daughter and Premier Nikolai Bulganin's daughter-in-law left Wednesday after Italian authorities gave formal assurance that frogmen had not tampered with the ship's hull. The next stops are Athens and Odessa.

A Russian protest against a diver's activities near the tourist ship recalled the mysterious case of British frogman Lionel Crabb, who disappeared last spring while diving at Portsmouth near the Soviet cruiser which carried Bulganin and Khrushchev to Britain.

The cruiseship Pobeda victory arrived here with 400 tourists a week ago. Only when the episode of the complaint over tbh diver was made public did it become known that relatives of Russia's leaders were among the passengers.

The harbormaster said the diver was arrested after he had been in the harbor bottom some 50 yards from the Pobeda.

STUDENT RIOTERS HURT

MEXICO CIT Y (AP)—Twenty students were injured Wednesday in a riot after several hundred students engaged in a bus picket lines at the national university. The students have been striking for better dormitory conditions and food, among other things.

Farm Union Seeks Amalgamation With Federation

SASKATOON (CP) —Amalgamation of the Unionized Farmers Union Council with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture was approved Tuesday at a session of the joint board of directors meeting at which local unions of five provinces were represented.

A resolution adopted by the board recommended that the IFUC and CFA amalgamate into a national farm organization composed of affiliated provincial organizations.

It was also resolved that if the IFUC's offer is refused by the CFA, the IFUC will be instructed to appoint a committee to draft a constitution for a National Farmer's Union and call a convention of all farm unions with one delegate from every 500 members.

Bench Reduces Drunk Charge

TORONTO (CP)—A magistrate has ruled that the percentage of alcohol in a man's blood can not settle the difference between drunken driving and driving while ability impaired by alcohol.

Magistrate W. McKeown Wednesday reduced a charge of drunken driving against John Driedzik to one of driving while impaired.

Testimony was that Driedzik had an alcoholic content in his blood of 2.7. Doctors have said that 1.5 is generally accepted as the borderline between intoxication and sobriety.

Killed Under Ditched Car

BRANTFORD (CP)—Mrs. Ethel Chorney of Wyandotte, Mich., was killed Wednesday under a ditched car. Police said her husband Lawrence, 44, was arrested hitting a cyclist who turned into his path on a highway seven miles west of here.

Her husband, Frank Chorney, and three children are in hospital.

Marie 'The Body' Gets Divorce

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) — Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald was granted a divorce from her wealthy shoe manufacturer husband Wednesday in the bedroom of her home. She charged cruelty. Miss McDonald, 33, expecting a child in October, testified while propped up in bed by pillows.

She told the court that once during a reconciliation attempt last May, Harry Karl, 48, struck her and ordered her to "take the children and get the hell out of here."

Judge Alfred E. Pecaness asked her if another reconciliation was possible. "No, absolutely not," she replied.

READY IN 1960

OTTAWA (CP)—A one-volume history of Canada's part in the First World War, recently commissioned by Defence Minister Campney, is not expected to be published before 1960.

The job, expected to involve a great deal of research, will be undertaken by the army's historical section under Col. C. P. Stacey.

TO ARMS, MEN!

To arms, men.

Since Marilyn Monroe pins a brand new husband arged in England midst national newspaper and other acaim, reporters of the distaff side "aint been doin' right our Neil."

Scores of them have raised their hackles, arched their cks, unsheathed their literary claws and ignored comletely the falled adage that a feline may sneak a surreptitious glance at a feminine member of royalty.

The London correspondent of a Canadian metropolis daily doesn't exactly picture Marilyn as a model for future debutantes, movie stars, or feminine Einsteins.

She infers that our gal would make an excellent model for a "Before I took your product" picture of a right-reducing company's advertisement, since she writes "After observing Miss M. at close range enough to count her goose pimples — three — I'd say weight was the last thing she needed."

Referring to the more or less sensational dress Marilyn wore at a London function, she writes it looked like "two bewitched mice miraculously applied to a size twenty figure."

Our undercover operator says his late grandmother had a size twenty figure, and that wonderful old lady did not have the privilege of seeing her knees during the last 20 years of her life.

And get this, men. The reporter writes, "Despite the ever gilt hair. . . a mouth she has apparently been told ever to close. . . she talks in the breathless squeak of a five-year-old reciting at a church social. . ."

Many men would say that at one time or another. For after all it is the squeaking wheel that gets the most grease.

With regard to the mouth-closing affair Joe DiMaggio's "ex" stands alone among millions of her sex. Never in the history of mankind since Eve talked her way, along with Adam, out of the Garden of Eden has woman refrained from talking on the slim alone word of command, when requested to keep one of her main weapons of offence and defence open.

To the surprise of the male of the species, especially married—the singles just wish and hope—has through the ages by covert glance, under-the-table physical contact or by direct word of command, conveyed the idea that it would be well if the vocal cords of his mate took a well-earned rest.

Even if our Marilyn is possessed of all these faults, at squeaking voice and dumbness she still looks mighty good on that calendar. And as long as we do not have to close-hand her obesity nor listen to her squeaky voice, she will do very nicely, thank you.

HOW TO LIVE TO BE 100

Stories about people living to amazing ages in Georgia, in the south-east section of European Russia, are too numerous to be dismissed as fabrications.

In the Georgian pavilion at the USSR Agricultural exhibition there is now exhibited a "Longevity Album" which describes fifty old people, from among 10,000 registered as nearing the century mark or well past that milestone.

Included is the story of Yagor Koroyev, who was born in 1801 and served as a kitchen boy for the Russian General Yermolayev, who fought against Napoleon.

"The opinion has been prevalent so far that people living in the mountains live longest," says a Soviet news release. "Scientific expedition data now confirm this, but no matter where they reside biographical data on longevity points to one thing — all of them began to work at an early age."

Prof. E. Nagovitsyn, in a book "Aging and Prolongation of Life," says: "It should be considered as proved that one of the necessary conditions of longevity is constant and, sometimes even heavy, work often continuing almost right up until death. It can be asserted that not a single long-liver has reached old age: all old people conducted a very active way of life."

MARILYN CONQUERS TYPEWRITER

The most readable stories on Marilyn Bell's experience in training for a daring assault on the Strait of Juan De Fuca appear to come from Marilyn herself.

The Toronto bobbi-soxer's graphic stroke-by-stroke diary reveals the natural charm, friendliness and buoyancy of spirit which have endeared her as a national heroine. The finish of easy readability of her reporting, unusual for an inexperienced writer, indicate that the intrepid little mermaid should have little trouble in negotiating the hectic waters of the fourth estate should the event end in a newspaper career.

How she finds the energy to battle the icy, angry Strait for hours and to bat out a column the same day bears every ounce of reserve is vital for the big test, is indeed one of the wonders of youth.

With a bodyguard of Toronto Telegram reporters accompanying her at all times except in the chilly brine and protected by a police launch, and the Star's Marilyn has had an outstanding chance to gather material for an article which might be entitled "Newspaper Reporters I Have Known and How They Conduct a Swimming Promotion."

THE SWEET BOY GRADUATE

For years the poets all have sung
Of the golden age of youth;
They've raved about their azure eyes
And wealth of golden curls.
But I would sing another song,
Now I'm about to choose
The one who long has silent been Unsung.
The sweet boy graduate.

The charming maid, in gown of white
Is destined to become
The mother of our future men
And queen of many hearts.
But yonder, awkward-looking boy
Is destined to be great.
The ball of fame was built for him
The sweet boy graduate.

On him the popular robe of power
Eventually may fall,
Or it may be that he may pitch
A winning brand of ball.
His hand in future years may guide
This noble ship of state,
And so I speak his health today—
The sweet boy graduate.

His voice for liberty may ring,
His blood for us be shed.
The laurel wreath of victory
May rest upon his head.
Or he may merely hold a job,
While is a common fate.
But even so, good luck to him!
The sweet boy graduate.

Letter To The Editor

Should Expand On Poorer Land

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

In my opinion that editorial "Let's Save Our Farmlands"! is right on the target. I was impressed a lot by the following picture which, to me, briefly spells out the principle of industrial decentralization: "We must look to the expansion of our urban centres on land which is marginal. . . It may well be that the best solution to our problem would be to seek to establish new urban centres, rather than to expand present ones."

Curiously enough, while our farms are declining in numbers and increasing in size, 135,000 fewer farms than the 6300 farm total in 1939, it seems to me that it would be a smart policy for governments at all levels (municipal, provincial, federal) to support actively the idea of small, smaller cities, and more of them.

Needless to say I am decentralizing industries, across the Industrial East and across Canada would be a great help to our 6300 farm units, this spread across this great land of ours.

If the Canadian people want it, they can vote the social and constructive measure of "industrial decentralization' into the policy veins of the nation, on Parliament Hill but it must be the legislators from coast to coast. No need to be afraid of Montreal, Toronto, and other giants. They are powerful, but not that powerful.

Man Weighs Over Jeans

(Hamilton Spectator)

When a mere male has the temerity to comment on women's fashions — adversely at that — he should take the precaution to don a suit of armor to protect him from the slings and arrows of outraged womanhood. Undaunted, we have been repeatedly reminded, do not hesitate to provoke the admiration of the opposite sex (at least, not often) but to inspire envy in other members of the feminine tribe. This may be so, but we doubt if it is the primary motive behind their influence.

An observant female in our midst several weeks these days cannot help noticing how many girls have discarded the once-popular, curious matador-like pantaloons, popularly known as "pedal-pushers," in favor of the more chaste attire. The explanation would no doubt be that they are "comfortable", but it is going to be a poor world if girls abandon charm, individuality and grace in favor of attractiveness for drab comfort. Even the bicycle, which is now only occasionally, it often downright dangerous. Those who have taken moving pictures and comic strips have no influence on our young men, who would prefer to think they have on fashions. That overworked word "casual" is becoming nothing but a synonym for slovenly. We recall the first time we saw in Paris those fine cotton pantaloons which have now become so popular. An elegantly dressed man escapes us, brightly and bravely wore them as a sort of neglige topped with a smart jacket. He carried a jet cigaret holder about which he flicked his ashes, and at all to withhold our admiration from a woman — even as structive as she was — in tailored, ill-designed breeches. In the circumstances, we approved the cigaret holder.

What a charming — and in these days of feminine drab, rare — sight to see a family of girls on their way to church, all dressed appropriately, tastefully and attractively attired in summery dresses. The contrast with the drab we usually see so often gets on our downtown streets these fine days is a tonic for the eyes and a heart-lift. One recognizes them at once as girls.

There was a time when that most necessary instrument, the handkerchief was considered to be concealed. A woman with her hair caught in the grip of bobby pins did not herself almost with the indulgence of a harem lady from the gaze of strangers, and even the bobby visitors who knocked at the door. In this there was wisdom, for whatever else a clothes horse might be, she have now emerged into the open; they have become a form of headgear; one sees them quite often downtown and they scarcely enhance the appearance of the wearer. Even ten years ago, a woman would not have slipped to the corner store in bobby pins.

Without being too partial, we can boast that we have lovely girls in this district. But many of them are wasting their charms slouching around in jeans or breeches which inspire neither admiration nor respect from the wear, but for social occasions and even an outdoor lunch . . . well, it's enough to make a man weep.

Damned Nile In 1790 B.C.

(National Geographic Magazine)

Nearly 40 centuries ago, rulers of Egypt established Nile reservoirs and water systems that were forerunners of the great controlling projects of modern times.

One of these rulers was Amenemhet III, whose Hawara Pyramid lies in the Fayum region some 80 miles southwest of Cairo —has recently yielded new relics of gold, silver and alabaster. Rivaled with the progressive and prosperous era of the XIIth Dynasty, Amenemhet III was the last of the great pharaohs of the Middle Empire family that held sway from about 2000 to 1790 B.C. Like his predecessors, he was noted for monumental building and encouragement of the arts. He carried on profitable trade with his neighbors and worked Sinai's copper and turquoise mines.

The Greek historian, Diodorus, who visited Egypt in the first century B.C., considered Amenemhet III with creating a remarkable canal-and-dam system in the Fayum, and he also mentioned the oasis' big Lake Moeris, now called Qarun.

The achievement cost "incredible toil," the Greek traveller commented. "Who, on considering the greatness of the construction, would not reasonably ask how many tens of thousands of men must have been employed and how many years?" Amenemhet III also built a massive labyrinth, compared by scholars with the famous Cnossos labyrinth in Crete.

Now in ruins, the vast sprawling complex of Fayum buildings include the crumbled remains of Pyramid. One of two memorial structures that King Amenemhet raised to himself, the huge funerary temple is believed to be the one in which the ruler's body actually rested.

It is itself a labyrinth, as explained Sir Flinders Petrie learned when he originally excavated it in the 1890's. Like all sovereigns who tried to protect their treasure-filled tombs from future looters, Amenemhet III, as his pyramid tunneled with intricate and deceptive passages, and his burial chamber sunk in solid rock beneath the building.

But again, as was so often the case, grave robbers discovered the hidden entrances and the true passageways, and eventually stripped the tomb of its wealth. When Petrie reached the burial chamber, he found it completely empty. The larger one, he concluded, was that of Amenemhet III's smaller one was intended for the king's young daughter Princess Neferuptah. Recently another sarcophagus, also empty, has turned up bearing the name of the Princess Plahnefru.

Parking Meter Versus Tree

(Regina Leader-Post)

A "perfect squelch" happened the other day in Regina's own front yard. It was a little scene appreciated by Regina's tree lovers.

The locale: In front of the public library where city axemen were felling a fine massive poplar, preparatory to the widening of Lorne street from Twelfth avenue to Victoria.

A Regina woman, obviously agitated by what she considered to be wanton vandalism, stopped and asked: "Why don't you leave the trees along and widen the street on the other side where you have the parking meters?"

"Lady," replied the tree foreman, "are you aware that it would take us a whole day to move those parking meters?"

"Sir," haughtily replied the irate woman, "be you aware that it took 50 years to grow that tree. . . your gang is chopping down?"

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THINK—AND DO IT

"There is no more Herculean task than to think a thought about this life and then put it expressed." This was said by Thoreau, and for all his adult life he was forever thinking. The late Thomas Edison published a most interesting house organ by the name of think. It impressed thousands, I am sure. It took a world of thinking to create the great organization that Watson built, one of the most remarkable in history.

They even have machines now that do much of the thinking for men and women. But we will always need this brain machine of ours. The brain is mediocre, but not so the heart. Thoughts that come from the heart live and scatter themselves, and we have them to inspire us all through life.

Many people think, in their way, but fail to do anything about it. Merely because a thought is a great deal is no evidence that any thinking is going on inside the brain of that one. The chances are against it. Lincoln thought from the heart. Read any of his remarkably clear speeches and note that there is much of the heart in them also. That's why his influence, left behind, travels on and on.

Think! Then do it, whatever that task may be. Thoughts often need great deal of warming before they appear ready for birth and a long life ahead. When we read the thoughts of those who prospered them centuries ago, we begin to realize how important it is to think and act.

Every problem and every difficulty has been solved by someone. How important if both labor and capital always settled their disputes over a common table of discussion and understanding. Think of the value of time and money that really is lost forever. Under such circumstances, this small word think may well be the arbitrator There always comes a time when it is too late to think. A burden or may be forgiven but it cannot be recalled.

Thoughts About Miracle Medicines

"About a year ago I sent for your pamphlet 'Calcium and Rheumatism.' I'm says a 56-year old Indiana lady—and I thank her and a few others who humor me by not changing their mailing address—rheumatism.

"Previous to that," the lady continues, "I had taken shots—and I refrain from commenting on shots' at the moment—for arthritis. They hadn't given me any relief. So I just stopped them and followed your advice."

Here, with the nice kind lady's permission, I'd like to mention, for the benefit of readers with joint disability, that the advice I give in the pamphlet is far from unique. I'm only advice I can give for arthritis is consult a physician.

"My joint soreness, continues the Indiana correspondent, is all gone. Thanks from the bottom of my years old. Believe me, I shall keep right on. . . " (Mrs. W.B.)

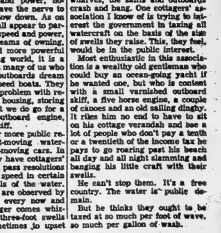
This is a testimonial. Not to be taken seriously. I mean by that to say a testimonial or a handful of testimonials selected for the purpose of selling bitters should not be taken seriously. I am sure the Indiana lady is perfectly sincere in what she writes. I'm sure, too, what she called "arthritis" was really rheumatic—not inflammation (arthritis) but physical degeneration of joint tissues (rheumatic). And so I file her testimonial with others like it.

On the bowling green a crony notices that I was pampering my left shoulder. He licked it at once. "Bursitis. I had it a year ago, and I had a single injection of cortisone, maybe it was my imagination, "and it cleared up in 24 hours."

Now I know George wasn't trying to drum up business for a doctor—in fact he didn't name the doctor, though I think he mentioned the doctor was an osteopath. I had seen many reports of similar effects of cortisone or hydrocortisone, in the medical journals.

But the shoulder became much less painful in a day or two and entirely normal in less than a week.

I do know enough about cortisone and hydracortisone to hesitate to have such treatment in any circumstance. I'd certainly want such treatment if I had as much pain as I had from bursitis in my right shoulder years ago—I was glad to have several injections of morphine then.



Having mentioned cortisone and hydrocortisone, I feel it is only fair to add that to the best of my knowledge these medicines seem to help arthritis in some cases, such as Bill's (though the shoulder was, without cortisone, was not unimpressive). extraordinary relief for arthritis in other cases, and some frightful consequences if especially if taken in other cases. I have yet to learn of a cure of chronic arthritis by cortisone or any other miracle medicine.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of the most familiar institutions at summer resorts everywhere are the speed boats and their swells or wake. Already there have been some accidents due to speed small craft in the swells of larger boats. And the danger to water skiers, through being crashed against wharves and docks is too complex to be dealt with briefly. I like to see the age of speed and power, novel though it seems to some of us, but suggest that we slow down. As on the highways, we all appear to partake of the age of speed and power, and each of us dreams of owning, one day, a faster and more powerful car. In the boating world, it is a little different. Not many of us who are content with outboards have dreams of owning large speed boats. They are too much of a problem with regard to wharfage, housing, storing for the winter. But we do go for a more powerful outboard motor, even on the old skiff.

Thus we find far more public resentment of fast-moving watercraft than of fast-moving cars. In many centres there are by-laws and associations which pass resolutions locally restricting speed in certain areas and channels of the water. These restrictions are observed by the local folk but every now and again some stranger comes whizzing by, leaving three-foot swells to scare and sometimes jo upset children and elderly people in small boats.

It is not always the newest and fastest craft that heaves the biggest swells. Indeed, some of the old-time launches around our lakes and rivers are responsible for the scow-like rollers they kick up in passing. And in their wake, again, the small boat suffers most. Small wharves, the skiffs and outboards moored to the beach cottages' association I know of is trying to interest the government in taxing all watercraft on the basis of the size of swells they raise. This, they feel, would be in the public interest.

Most enthusiastic in this association is a wealthy old gentleman who spends all night slamming and banging his little craft with their swells.

He can't stop them. It's a free country. The water is public domain.

But he thinks they ought to be taxed at so much per foot of wave, so much per gallon of wash.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

DON'T BE AFRAID

A college student who had failed examination was explaining it to his professor.

"I really knew most of the material," he said, "but when I was reading over the exam at the beginning and came to the last question, I realized that I couldn't answer it and became panic-stricken. Then I became panic-stricken, and could not remember the things that I really did know."

Didn't ever let the fear of what you cannot do prevent you from doing what you can do. Fear of failure is at the heart of many psychological problems. It can be a crippling paralysis, spreading from one area of your life to another, so that fear of your inability to accomplish one thing makes you unwilling even to attempt anything else.

Fear of failing to achieve the goals we have set may be the greatest cause of that failure. And it is more important than in one sense, we all, as humans, must expect to fail often. Perfection is not compatible with our mortal, fallible nature. Of course we shall often fail in the important as well as the unimportant things that are part of our life.

Don't be afraid to set high goals, therefore, and don't be afraid to attempt to reach them. Having them in more important than reaching them: trying, more important than successful.

Don't be afraid!

Knowles Charges CNR Gets Around Labor Contracts

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF labor expert Stanley Knowles suggests the CNR is "getting around" some of its labor agreements by letting out contracts to private firms for some of its work.

The member for Winnipeg North Centre mentioned specifically the case of boxcar cleaners at Midland and Sarnia in Ontario and the restaurant service on the Toronto's Union Station.

He said boxcar cleaners were getting $1.23 an hour when laid off by the publicly-owned CNR after contracts to do the work were let out to private companies. Some workers were rehired by the companies at $1 an hour.

WAITRESSES PAY CUT

As of next Sept. 1, waitresses at Toronto's union station, now getting $1 an hour, would be paid 60 cents under a contract agreement with a private firm. Short-order cooks now getting $1.37 would be paid 70 cents, if they wished to work for the contractor.

The practice of letting out such work should be stopped immediately, Mr. Knowles said.

He spoke as the Commons approved an interim supply bill authorizing the government to spend more than $276,500,000 during August.

Transport Minister Marler said it is proper that the CNR management should be free to let out some of its work to private contractors when it is good business to do so.

Eight workers at Sarnia and 17 at Midland were affected. Two of the Midland car cleaners were given other CNR jobs.

Mr. Marler rejected the suggestion that the CNR is trying to get around its labor contractual obligations by letting out work to private contractors.

Menzies Arrives For Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Menzies of Australia arrived in Ottawa by air Wednesday for a three-day visit on his way home from the recent Commonwealth prime minister's conference in London and brief visit to Paris.

He was greeted on his arrival by Prime Minister St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Northern Affairs Minister Lesage.

At a reception later, auto maker Henry Ford III made a surprise appearance.

Mr. Ford told a reporter that he is an old friend of Mr. Menzies and wanted to see him. The visit was "purely social." However, it is known the Ford Motor Company is interested in the Australian market.

Fights off Dog To Save Woman From Flames

VANCOUVER (CP) — Seventeen-year-old Bill Hill fought off a vicious dog to pull an elderly woman from her burning home here late.

Hill saw flames shooting from the roof of the home of Mrs. J. Doughty Wednesday and the elderly woman rushing in and out of the house.

The young telephone worker said he twice pulled Mrs. Doughty from the house while the dog snapped at his ankles.

The house was destroyed.

REDS SEEK HARVESTERS

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia has asked the youth of Britain to come here and help gather in the harvest. The invitation from the Soviet youth committee Wednesday asked Britain's National Union of Students to send 60 young people to work in the Siberian fields.

Pennsylvania RR Denies Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad today denied reports that it was preparing to shuttle its first class passenger business as a means of cutting down passenger deficits.

Both the Pennsylvania and the New York Central had been reported in the New York Times today as ready to ask for hefty boosts in first class fares, perhaps as much as 30 per cent. This would price pullman rail travel far above first class air travel and would have the effect of relegating first class traffic to the airlines.

Today's Pennsylvania Railroad statement said this was "not factual, misleading and an unjustified deduction." The Pennsylvania added:

"We are buying new passenger equipment and, of course, last month we put the Keystone (a lightweight train) in service. We are exploring the possibility of reducing passenger expenses."

The railroad declined to say whether it was preparing to seek new fare increases. The railroad's statement said, however, any increase would not be designed to eliminate traffic.

Israeli Plane Is Fired Upon Near Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israel today confirmed that an Israeli plane was shot at near Jerusalem by Jordanian anti-aircraft fire Wednesday during a series of clashes along the Israel-Jordan border.

An Israeli military spokesman said the plane was slightly damaged by Jordanian fire and forced-landed. He said there were no casualties.

Jordan said Wednesday that the plane had violated Jordanian air space and had been shot down, crashing in the Israeli section of Jerusalem.

At the same time, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, United Nations chief truce supervisor in Palestine, announced through a spokesman he would confer today with Jordanian Chief of Staff Maj-Gen. Ali Abu Nawar and Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meyer about the renewed flareups along their border.

Strike Halts Auto Production At British Ford

LONDON (Reuters)—Strikes in Britain's automobile industry today halted production at one big plant and slowed work in factories of another firm.

Twelve thousand men quit work Wednesday at Ford Company plants at Dagenham, Essex, as an indirect result of a strike by about half the 51,000 employees of the rival British Motor Corporation. The BMC, Britain's largest auto company, makes Austins, Morrises, Rileys, MGs and Wolseleys.

The Ford workers protested against the firing of more than 2,000 of their fellow-workers due to the non-delivery of essential car body parts made for the firm by a BMC factory.

Some 21,000 employees of BMC have been on strike for four days because of the summary dismissal of 6,000 as the result of falling auto sales. Their unions claim they should have been consulted before firings, and that the men should be given compensation.

The BMC strikers already have pledges of support from transport workers and longshoremen. In most ports the latter have refused to load BMC cars for export.

Jet Hits Store, Nobody Injured

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — A stricken air force jet training plane dropped out of the twilight sky Wednesday night, crashed into a building housing a grocery store and apartments and burst into flames.

The two-man crew bailed out shortly before the crash. They suffered minor bruises as they landed in a field eight miles away.

Only Mrs. Sylvester Bockum was in the building when the plane hit. She ran screaming to safety and was taken to hospital for shock.

No other persons in the neighborhood also were treated for shock.

The fire was brought under control within 3½ hours. Damage to building and contents were estimated at about $75,000.

Garage Burns, Sleeper Dies

BRANTFORD (CP) — George Olmstead, 83, was burned to death early today when fire destroyed a frame garage in which he was sleeping.

Firemen said Olmstead had been boarding at the home of Howard Carpenter and sometimes slept either on the sun-porch or in the garage. Fire Inspector Neis Rathbun said Olmstead was believed to have been smoking in bed.

A neighbor, Ernest King, who was aroused at 4 a.m. to care for his baby, discovered the fire and gave the alarm.

Discover Body Of One of Eight Missing Persons

OWEN SOUND (CP)—The body of one of eight persons aboard two boats which disappeared during a fierce Georgian Bay storm last Sunday was discovered Wednesday at the mouth of Pretty River at Collingwood.

The discovery of the body of Mrs. John Rexford, 36, substantiated fears that all eight were drowned. They were last seen aboard the 32-foot schooner Karma which towed a smaller craft, whose occupants went on the Karma.

Still missing are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hyland, Toronto; Mr. Borland, 35, Hagris Jones, 37, Adam Smith, 36, Harold Sanderson, 35, and Ralph Goruline, 21, all of Collingwood.

Mrs. Borland's body was found by Clifford Raymond of Toronto who has a lakeshore cottage at Pretty River Park. He spotted the body floating offshore in about two feet of water.

Constable Maurice Lewis, who investigated, said "Mrs. Borland was dressed in a two-piece bathing suit and her wristwatch had stopped at 4:17."

Police said the storm started at 6:15 p.m. Sunday.

The RCAF, which had been sending out search planes, has called off its search for the schooner. Two private planes, however, are continuing an air lookout.

Police Check History of Vicious Gun Found in Desk in Calgary

CALGARY (CP)—A vicious gun, found hidden in a desk and which could fire two bullets into an unwelcome office visitor simply by opening a desk drawer, is being checked by police to try to uncover its history.

The deadly gun was found five years ago, behind a panel in an innocent-looking desk, rusted and corroded by burnt gun-powder. Both its .32-calibre barrels had been discharged.

Finder R. F. Prieur thinks it may have been the property of a gambler back in Calgary's frontier days, when it may have been necessary to kill a man simply by asking him to sit in front of the desk.

Mr. Prieur turned the gun over to the RCMP after reading about an unsolved killing in the area many years ago. Police, however, say the gun was not used in that particular slaying.

Here is how the gun worked:

The prospective victim would be asked to sit in front of the desk, directly in line with the barrels, hidden from his sight by a thin panelling.

By opening a desk drawer, the man behind the desk would break a simple electric circuit. This would release two electro-magnets which had been holding back a heavy metal bar.

NEVER SEE GUN

The bar would fall forward, striking two firing pins. The pins would hit the bullets in the barrels, and the victim could be killed without even seeing the murder weapon.

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — U.S. State Secretary Dulles arrived Wednesday from Bogota, Colombia, for a visit here continuing to Lima, Peru, for the inauguration Saturday of Manuel Prado as Peruvian president.

Sunday School Picnic

FRONT ROAD S.S.

The weatherman provided ideal weather on Tuesday for the Front Road Sunday school picnic, held at Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Grastrix's cottage, overlooking the beautiful Bay of Quinte.

At noon the tables were colorful with their gaily colored cloths, laden with salads, pickles, fruit, sandwiches, cakes and pies. After all were seated, Mr. Bruce Besley, student minister, said grace, and ample justice was then done to the sumptuous repast.

After dinner, a ball game got under way with the captains of the two teams being Mr. Clinton Brown, supt. of Sunday school, and Mr. Bruce Besley. Mr. Besley's team won with a score of 18-17. This game provided much hilarity when many mothers took part.

RACES

Under the supervision of Mr. Brown and Mr. Besley races were also enjoyed by everyone. Children, five years and under, received a reward for entering. girls 6 to 8 years—Nesbitt Woods, Norma Botting; boys, 6 to 8 years —Allan Ray, Ray Summers; mixed race, 9 to 12 years—Allan Cleary, Terry Grastrix; mixed race, 14 to 16 years—Earl Akey, Douglas Bradshaw; running race for men—Mr. Besley; three-legged race—Earl Akey and Garry Jones; women's kick the shoe contest was held with many women taking part and the winners were Mrs. Besley and Mildred Woods.

Breaking the balloon contest for the women provided many laughs besides many bangs.

To finish off the events, a peanut and candy scramble was held for all and clothes pin scramble for the ladies.

Everyone was treated with soft drinks, crackerjack, suckers and generous slices of watermelon.

Swimming was enjoyed by young and old, even though the bay was rough.

Mr. Clinton Brown expressed his thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Grastrix for the use of their shoreline and to all the donors of the prizes, drinks, and treats.

To end a perfect day, everyone went home tired and sunburned, but happy.

REDLAND DIVIDENDS

LONDON (Reuters) — Industrial and commercial concerns in Communist China which became joint state-private enterprises in 1956 will pay dividends to private shareholders at an annual interest of five per cent as of Jan. 1 this year, the New China news agency reported.

Bateman Clan Holds Reunion, Plans Bursary

The 27th annual reunion and picnic of the Bateman clan and its descendants was held at Tweed Memorial park, Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 18th, with a good attendance.

Following the dinner at noon, the president Burton Bateman of Springbrook, welcomed all present and asked everyone to observe a minute's silence in memory of the deceased members.

Dr. Henry Bateman, Belleville, was called on and addressed the gathering re starting a scholarship or bursary fund by and for the clan. He said this would encourage the boys and girls to make a better success in life.

Dr. Russell Bateman also spoke regarding this matter, and stated he was also deeply interested in the suggestion. Several voiced their opinions re a bursary fund, and what it might mean, to the generation growing up and especially to those interested in securing a profession. The feeling was unanimous and in scarcely no time practically every family present had contributed toward the fund.

A special committee was suggested to follow up the matter, Mrs. (Dr.) Wilkinson, Toronto, Douglas Bradshaw, running race for men—Mr. Besley; three-legged race—Earl Akey and Garry Jones; women's kick the shoe contest was held with many women taking part and the winners were Mrs. Besley and Mildred Woods.

Breaking the balloon contest for the women provided many laughs besides many bangs.

Mr. Clinton Brown expressed his thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Grastrix for the use of their shoreline and to all the donors of the prizes, drinks, and treats.

To end a perfect day, everyone went home tired and sunburned, but happy.

to the third Saturday in July, so that more members from a distance might attend.

Several prizes were given to the children in various races and gifts were presented as follows—the two oldest attending, Mr. Henry Gerow, Foxboro, and Mr. W. J. Tanner, Harold. Mr. Gerow was presented with a long-service and honorary badge; youngest member present, 11-month son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bateman, Springbrook; largest family of children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bateman, Springbrook; member coming the farthest, Mr. Wilbur Countryman, New Hamburg, Ontario.

Mr. Bill Taylor, Ottawa, captured the prize for the largest feet and Mrs. Ada Turner, Waterloo, for the lady wearing the largest earrings.

Mrs. Burton Bateman received a prize for the lady with the most items in her purse and Mrs. Helen Meiklejohn, the lucky spot winner.

The children enjoyed a peanut scramble and several games were played. A number stayed for a picnic supper and more games were played in the evening.

A generous collection was received to cover the costs of the grounds, prizes, and gifts. It was decided that the same executive and committee be re-appointed for the coming years: president, Burton Bateman, Springbrook; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hazel Mumby, Springbrook; committee —Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bateman, Stirling; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Bateman, Belleville; Dr. and Mrs. Russell Bateman, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. William Bateman, Madoc; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bateman, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bateman, Eldorado; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bateman, Tweed; and Mrs. Mrs. W. J. Morrison, Stirling.

Women's Activities

PLAINFIELD W.M.S.

The July meeting of Plainfield W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Hall with an attendance of 15 ladies and two children. In the absence of the president, the meeting was taken by Mrs. Grant Kerr.

Mrs. Garnet Denyes had charge of the worship service and opened with a reading "Christ and the Lilies". Scripture passage was read by Mrs. Blanche Emerson; Mrs. Denyes gave a splendid reading entitled "Ordinary People are the Backbone of Civilization".

A solo by Mrs. Will Sills, "No One Ever Cared for Me Like Jesus", was enjoyed, while the leader closed this part of the meeting with prayer.

Business was discussed and it was decided to have a quilting in the hall on July 25th. The treasurer, Mrs. S. Parks, reported the sum of $86 having been raised this year, so far.

Mrs. Clarence Hall gave a Christian stewardship reading.

Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton and Mrs. Will Sills had charge of the program which was instructive. Mrs. Middleton gave the chapter in the study book "New Canadians and Old Canadians", also a splendid talk on the Indian people. This was followed by a discussion between two groups which showed how a group of Christian women can help these people.

Mrs. Will Sills gave an interesting talk from one of Dr. Bird Pierce's books "Other Sheep". Dr. Pierce first had the missionary vision of the vast needs of the Orient and returned to present this need by films and the spoken word. Today "World Vision" has become a world-wide ministry, and through its efforts many have become Christians who otherwise would not have heard of Christ.

Mrs. Clarence Hall closed the meeting.

Offering amounted to $4.30.

The hostess and Mrs. Sills' group served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed by all.

'Casual' Look Keynote for Fall, Winter

LONDON, (Reuters) — The "London look" for the coming fall and winter is without any doubt the "casual look."

Only skirts fit closely; jackets have loosened up.

Generally the skirt length is shorter than last winter.

There are pointed toes and slimmer spike heels.

Black is seen everywhere with brilliant flashes of red and smokey blue.

Henry Amies adapts the empire high waist for dresses by high-wrapped cummerbunds or a raised waistline. The whole line is relaxed and easy.

Coats are straight and rather severe. Classic suits have short matching coats.

Creed's classic tailored suits also have high upstanding collars and sometimes a regency choker tucked in.

Many Pilgrims To Visit Indian Maiden's Shrine

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que. (CP)—Kateri Tekakwitha, The Lily of the Mohawks, was born 300 years ago this year.

The 30,000 pilgrims expected at the Indian maiden's shrine this summer will pray that 1956 will also mark the passing of another of three steps towards sainthood in the Roman Catholic Church.

Rev. Henri Bechard, Canadian vice-postular of the Jesuit Order, says he is hopeful that the Vatican will take some action soon towards that end.

STAUNCH CHRISTIAN

If canonized, Kateri, who once defied death by tomahawk for her faith, would be the first native-born North American so elevated.

A 1943 decree from the Vatican termed her virtue heroic and allowed her to be called venerable. Now, if and when two of hundreds of "miraculous instances" attributed to her are accepted as genuine miracles, she will be called "Blessed Kateri." The next step after that is sainthood.

The Indian girl was born 300 years ago near Albany, N.Y., daughter of an Iroquois chieftain and a captured Algonquin girl who was a Christian.

Her parents died of smallpox when she was four and she was left with a badly-scarred face and weakened vision. She was adopted by an uncle, strongly opposed to Christianity, but she asked a Jesuit father to become a Christian some years later.

She was baptized at 20 in 1676 and fled from her home the following year, through the assistance of an Oneida chief, to this area near Montreal.

The Jesuits, history records, quickly noted her piety. She attended mission mass each morning at 4 a.m., even in sub-zero weather, spent her Sundays in church and frequently inflicted forms of suffering on herself as penance. She also took the vow of chastity. She died in the winter of 1680.

A Father Colonnec records: "At great distance took place in her appearance after her death when her face, pitted with smallpox scars, became almost instantly very beautiful and fair."

The bishops and archbishops of the third plenary council of Baltimore petitioned the Holy See to institute her beatification process in 1884.

Nature of the two examples of her miracles now under scrutiny are not disclosed.

GUEST COLUMN BY PETE

Hello People! I told Mum about a dessert which had impressed me very much, and because of my enthusiasm it seems I have to write about it!

Zeni, to whom I am engaged-to-be-engaged (fraternity pinwise), served this dessert, and while there isn't too much to it, it looks sensational and is ideal for summer. Hope you like it as well as I did:

A whole bunch of fresh fruit is prepared and thrown into a bowl and chilled. Strawberries (or raspberries), big black cherries (with pits in), sweet white grapes (they're really green, but I think that's what they are called), cubes of cantaloupes, watermelon and pineapple, and quarters of fresh apricots are all used. Then whole Brazil nuts and blanched almonds are scattered over the top. No sugar.

When the time comes to serve, this colorful array of fruit is ladled over a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Zeni had some handsome chipped-ice glasses (like clear glass soup bowls with stems, much larger than sherbet glasses, in case anyone hasn't heard of them before, like I hadn't) and served the dessert in these.

She also put doilies under the glasses and was teased about them. Suit yourselves.

All the best from a fresh fruit fiend!—Pete.

Mary taking over at this stage. Marianne and I had to make some careful plans for we knew that in the four weeks that she is here we would have extra visitors to see her and Gary. We decided that if I was to get my columns written and your letters answered, we could not have dinner parties. So we compromised on inviting our friends for dessert.

Pete brought Zeni for dinner one night and together they made the above fresh fruit medley. It was beautiful to look at and glorious to taste so icy cold. The folks who were coming to have dessert with us are a doctor's family. Margie and Kay are knowns to some of you. They did not arrive until his evening office hours were over—about 10 p.m. To serve nine we had three of those round cartons of ice cream and about two quarts of the fresh fruit. No cake. No cookies. Plenty of coffee though.

We're readying for another dessert spread tomorrow. If it is as successful as Zeni's lovely creation I'll let you know the details.

Mother's Helper

NO DOUBT you'll have to re-do the Job Interview, but it's a good idea to finish a Pick-up Time as part of the fun whenever your toddler has friends in to play. A small treat to follow will counteract the realization that the party's over.

SALEM WA

The July meeting of Salem WA was held in the church hall on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. T. Clendenning as hostess. President, Mrs. Holden opened the meeting, and read an appropriate poem.

Business was discussed and "thank-you" notes read.

Mrs. Ern Broadworth took charge of the meeting. Mrs. H. Holden read the Scripture lesson, 123 Psalm and Mrs. J. B. Hagerman gave the comments. Mrs. Bert Heagle led in prayer. Mrs. Lorne Hagerman gave an interesting report of the 24th convention of the WA which was held in Tabernacle church, Belleville.

A song was sung by eight Sunday school girls and readings were given by Mrs. William Johnston, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. Frank McGee and Mrs. Albert Twiddy.

Helen and Ruth Sarles rendered a duet.

Mrs. Ivan Sarles thanked the hostess and all who had helped with the program.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served.

Casual Comfort

By TRACEY ADRIAN

Natalie Wood, gifted young Hollywood star, has selected these fer type shoes for her leisure time away from the studio. She s that they are the last word in foot comfort and that they go ıtifully with play suits and casual clothes.

The tops are of washable denim in a wide choice of colors and shoes are hand-lasted with a full, flyweight rubber sole. There ıust a suggestion of a heel and a string tie. —Warner Bros. Pic-es.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'RE "REAL QUICK" AT JUMPING TO CONCLUSIONS, AREN'T YOU?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

There is a boy I like very much who has asked me out three times, but I wasn't able to go on any one of them. Once I had to baby sit, as I had promised the lady way ahead of time, and the other two times my mother was ill. But I hated to turn him down.

I see this boy every day, and I'm planning on having a birthday party and inviting him. I like him an awful lot and I don't want to lose him. I know if you would help me real quick, I could keep him. —T.C.

Dear T.C.: Aren't you jumping to a conclusion "real quick"? You haven't even been out with this boy once, yet you talk about not wanting to "lose" him, and also say you're sure that, with a little help, you could "keep" him. How can you either keep or lose something you haven't got? Certainly you haven't even got this boy's friendship yet.

You're going about it the right way by inviting him to your birthday party. But if he accepts your invitation and comes to the party, I would suggest that you be very careful lest you make it too obvious that you're trying to attract him. If you give him special attention, you'll be very likely to embarrass him, which might mean that he'd shy away from you for good.

If he does come to your party, it will, of course, then be up to him to ask you out on a date. If he does this, you'll know he was pleased at having been invited to the party and wants to be friends with you. If he proposes a date, you might suggest that he call your mother and ask her if you could go. She'd certainly be pleased to see that he had the courtesy and consideration to do this and would probably give her permission willingly. It would also make her readier to give permission in the future, if he continued to ask you.

Don't worry about the times you couldn't accept his invitations. If you explained what good reasons you had for not being able to go, I'm sure he understood.

YOUR LOCAL FAMILY SERVICE ORGANIZATION WILL HELP YOU

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a unwed mother and I'd like to know if I can get support for my child and, if so, how to go about it.

The baby's father is in another province and I don't even know his address. He used to write, but now he doesn't any more. He promised to support the baby, but he's only given me ten dollars, although I've wailed and wailed.

Another problem is that I've learned he is now married. He wasn't married when I met him, because we became engaged. But he never showed up on the wedding day. — A. G.

Dear A.G.: Perhaps you were mistaken about this man not being married at the time you knew him and he promised to marry you. That may have been the very reason why he didn't show up on the day you thought you were getting married.

That is neither here nor there now, of course, but I mention it in the hope that it may make you a little more cautious in the future.

What you should do is to go to the Family Service organization in your town and tell them your whole story. Look up that name in your local telephone book, call them and ask for an appointment to discuss a serious problem. I'm sure you will find them anxious to be of help to you.

If they feel the wisest and most practical thing to do would be to try and locate the father of your baby, they will know just what steps should be taken and will guide you in taking them. On the other hand, if they think this would be useless, they will help you make plans to care for yourself and the baby.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

IS IT DISCOURTEOUS TO "OMIT" A COURSE?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Two of my girl friends and I would appreciate your answering this question: When a girl is dining with a man in a restaurant where the menu is table d'hote, is it discourteous for her to tell the man she wishes to omit a certain course or even certain courses? For example, even if we don't like a heavy cream soup, or don't want a dessert, must we order them just to keep the host "company," as many girls seem to think? And we don't see why a man should hesitate to order the course just because the girl, his guest, doesn't. Please advise us.— We Three Girls

It is not at all discourteous for a girl to tell the man with whom she is dining that she wishes to omit a course or even courses (such as soup and dessert). There is no reason why she shouldn't be graciously direct about this, and there certainly isn't any reason why the man should feel the slightest hesitation about ordering the course for himself. (He may say, "Do you mind if I order soup?—I like this kind very much.") He doesn't need "company." Today eating preferences and eating habits vary so very much, and for such different reasons (shall we mention "calories"?) that it makes sense to be practical about them!

SHOULD DIVORCED MOTHER WEAR HER WEDDING RING?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have just received my divorce and the custody of my two children. Before I applied for my divorce I discontinued wearing my diamond engagement ring, but continued to wear my wedding ring, a simple, narrow gold band. What should I do now about my wedding ring—continue to wear it, or discontinue wearing this ring as well as my engagement ring?—C.S.

Actually you do as you choose. But usually and with good taste and consideration for her children, a woman who has children continues to wear her wedding ring.

WRITE A BREAD-AND-BUTTER LETTER

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I went to another city to visit a friend of mine for a week of my vacation, and the following week I stayed with another friend of mine, in the same city, for the second week of my vacation. Before I left, for home, I telephoned the first friend and thanked her. Now is it necessary for me to write the first friend a thank you note?—Friends M.

Yes certainly. This telephone message of thanks would not take the place of a bread-and-butter letter. The bread-and-butter letter, to thank for a visit, is a very important social item, to be written as soon as possible after returning home, and with special graciousness for the hospitality and happiness given to one. A casual telephoning of your thanks won't do at all.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

'LITTLE ITEMS TO GLAMOURIZE YOUR BOUDOIR'

Facial tissues in a decorative "boudoir box" add elegance to Milady's dressing table.

Pretty is as pretty does, and you can help yourself to a glamour mood by 'setting the stage" of feminine fancies. It's easy, too, these days. The shops are filled with pretty containers for lotions, creams, powders and all your other make-up items. So, if you think your dressing table would look prettier with your cosmetics placed in matching jars and bottles, why not buy a set? Then you won't be distracted if you happen to like so-and-so's cream, whatchamacallit's face lotion and whosis's powder. Package colors and labels won't clash, and you can key your dressing table to the color of your room.

Anticipating the needs of fastidious girls who like to plan their boudoirs in this manner, the manufacturers of one brand of facial tissues, in a most uncommercial manner, have packaged their tissues in a box which, when opened, leaves no label at all and will add a decorator accent to the most extravagantly appointed room. Once the label is removed, Milady has a handsome tissue dispenser in gold-and-white which can proudly take its place in her bathroom and boudoir alongside her most costly crystal or beribboned appointments. A radical departure in the packaging realm, the trend-setting "boudoir package" eliminates the expensive and bothersome practice of transferring tissues to decorative dispensers from their original containers.

Yes, the tissues inside this outstanding "boudoir package" are new too. Thanks to a new manufacturing process they possess a strength and lint-free quality never before achieved in the making of facial tissues. They are at long last the answer to the age-old problem of achieving maximum softness without sacrificing strength. Their strength, and absorbency make them ideal for heavy duty in boudoir or nursery as well. Look for them in your favorite department or drug store.

Five Arrested Following Riot One Man Shot

MONTREAL (CP) — Five men were arraigned in court Tuesday in connection with a small - size riot that broke out following a religious celebration Sunday.

One man was shot in the stomach by a police constable during the uproar in which 47 police battled men wielding baseball bats, lead pipes and knives.

Arraigned on eight charges each today were Frank Catesi, 36, Jean-Paul Laurin, 24, Wilfrid Lussier, 21, Raymond Sutton, 31, and Paul Tremblay, 32.

Another man, Yvon Duquette, 25, is scheduled to face similar charges when he is released from hospital, where he is in serious condition from a bullet wound.

A Roman Catholic priest in the district said he believes the mob was inspired by vengeance, hitting back because of a sermon criticizing rowdies that had been made in the church earlier.

STIRLING. — Mrs. Alva K. Christie and Mrs. J. Bentley, both of Elizabeth Street, are planning to spend three months with relatives in England. They will sail on the "Empress of France" on the journey over, and return on "The Empress of Scotland", at the end of October. It is 13 years since Mrs. Christie came as a war bride to Canada. She plans to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ball, Southport, in Lancashire, England.

Mrs. Bentley will visit her son, who is married and her sisters, in the London area. Both ladies are looking forward to a most enjoyable holiday.

Misses Dianne and Karen Reid spent a few days last week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Williams.

Mr. James Bailey had the misfortune to injure his knee cap last week while engaged in farm operations.

Mr. and Mrs. James Menzies entertained on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. George Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bird and Karen, Frankford; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bird, Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wood spent an evening with Mr. and Mrs. Sid Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Carman Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Tummon visiting in New York State, recently. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pitcher, Douglas and Nancy, have returned to Montreal, following a visit with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morrison entertained at their cottage, Oak Lake, Mrs. M. McInroy of Moira.

Russ Leaders Use Vodka Freely To Prove Themselves Human

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost any day can turn out to be V-Day —vodka, that is—in Moscow.

And whenever Nikita Khrushchev and his boys get a little carefree, foreign correspondents whip out notebooks and wait for diplomatic history to unfold.

Some are even beginning to wonder whether Khrushchev will drink too much once too often and suddenly be unloosed as the boss of world communism, but it's not likely. Drinking or sober, the leaders of world communism seem to know what they're about.

WARMING DRINK

Serious, two - fisted drinking among Russian leaders is nothing new. Moscow has a chilly climate and vodka has a way of sending a warm tingle through the veins. The big difference today is that the leaders are taking it on in public.

At least a dozen times in its brief reign, the new 'collective leadership' has shown its ability to demolish huge stocks of vodka collectively. Each time it has made news.

Garden parties, banquets, receptions roll by in a crescendo of conviviality. One gets the impression that the Russian leadership will present themselves to the outside world as human beings or paralyze themselves in the attempt.

The first time Western correspondents were privileged to see the Soviet leaders bending elbows with reckless abandon was in November, 1953. This correspondent was there, and got the idea that the boys were letting off steam, celebrating the passing of Stalin.

DRINK TRADITIONAL

Historically the Russians are not teetotalers, and have a special attitude toward drinking. No Russian cop considers a man drunk until the man is on his face, unable to move. Russians are tolerant toward drunks. The "vytrezvitel"—literally a sobering - up place where drunks are doused back to consciousness—was an institution in the czar's day and still is.

But in Stalin's day, when the Russian leaders drank, it usually was under the baleful eye of the leader. There was no real joy in it. Any one of them could have been wiped out any day by their beloved leader, and drinks were a solace.

Even then, though, stories leaked out. One of the more famous concerns V. M. Molotov, who, as foreign minister in wartime 1943, took on a few too many vodkas and insulted the Swedish ambassador publicly. Molotov hasn't been drinking as much since then, but others are making up for it.

Double - meaning diplomatic toasts also are nothing new to the Russians. Stalin, with his love of intrigue, reveled in such things—but it was always in the privacy of diplomatic gatherings, without the glare of world publicity. Today the Russian leaders actually seem to want the publicity. They are trying to look human to others, trying to make the world forget that they were all colleagues of Stalin.

POLICEMAN KILLED

CHICAGO (AP)—A policeman, Robert Giovannoni, 37, was found shot to death Monday outside the front door of the suburban Mc-Cook police station—minutes after his cry for help crackled over a police radio network. Police issued a warrant for a 17-year-old Negro, detained for speeding by Giovannoni shortly before the shooting.

CAN EAT MEALS WITHOUT FEAR OF GAS, SOUR ACIDITY

Those Awful Attacks of Indigestion are Gone, I am Free of Pains in Back and Muscles, My Nerves Are Calmed Down and I Sleep Soundly Once More.

"For a long time I suffered with weak, nervous upset stomach and Sinulon is the first medicine to really help me," said Mrs. Pharfide Visenor, R.R. 1, Hawkesbury (near Chatham), Ontario, in a recent report.

Tells Her Experience

"I had become discouraged trying one thing and another and getting only temporary relief, so you can imagine how happy I am to tell you that Sinulon has given me lasting relief. I feel fine days after I began taking it. I am glad that the aches and pains were relieved and as I continued, it cleared up the gas, indigestion and heartburn. Now my nerves are calmed down, I eat what I please, sleep soundly all night and feel rested and refreshed when I awaken mornings.

"I have more energy and feel better all day long."

Sinulon is for sale at Mrs. Visenor did. NOW is the time to try SINULON. It has helped thousands of men and women troubled this way and can do the same for you. Evening is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

Sinulon is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan the Druggist.

National Hospital Insurance Scheme Is Now Not Possible Before 1958, Ottawa Reports

India Praises British Record In Togoland

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters)—India has introduced a formal resolution in the United Nations trusteeship council to end Britain's administration of Togoland and unite the territory with an independent Gold Coast.

Arthur Lall, India's permanent delegate, Wednesday told the 14-nation council it is a "striking fact" that within eight years of Britain's signing the trust agreement with the United Nations she should be able to come back to the world organization to ask for its termination.

Sir Alan Burnes, a former Gold Coast governor and now Britain's representative in the trusteeship council, said once the Gold Coast legislative assembly passes a motion calling for independence Trusteeship steps will be taken by Her Majesty's government to give effect to this motion."

Child Is Killed

TIMMINS, (CP) — Helen Lasnille 5, was killed Wednesday by a panel truck which struck her as she crossed a street near her home.

The truck was driven by Rene Biosvert, 34.

CONVICTED DESPITE DENIAL

WHITBY (CP) — John Lacourcière, 32, of Toronto, who testified he has not touched a drop of beer for five years, was sentenced Tuesday to 30 days in jail for drunken driving. Police said they found two bottles of beer in his car after a collision.

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal authorities have ruled out the possibility of a national hospital insurance scheme being launched before the spring of 1958.

There had been some earlier prospects that the projected $325,000,000 plan might go into operation next year. But the provinces have been slow in reacting to the federal offer and the key ones—Ontario and Quebec—have reached no final decisions.

The offer was made last January. The federal administration said it would pay half the cost of a national health insurance scheme starting with hospital care and diagnostic services.

The offer was contingent on a majority of provinces representing a majority of the Canadian population joining the scheme. So far, only British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan have accepted.

Federal officials said the scheme would work if any five provinces joined along with either Ontario or Quebec. They had some doubts as to whether Quebec would join but thought Ontario would.

Premier Frost of Ontario has been a keen advocate of some form of health insurance but he said last March that he will allow no one to push his government into any such plan until there has been a complete analysis of details.

The scheme has some bearing on federal budget planning. Initial federal costs, if all provinces joined, would be about $180,000,000 in the first year of operation.

At the earliest, federal legislation could not be introduced until the next session of Parliament, expected to open in January. Even if sufficient provinces agree to join and legislation is passed early next year, it will take months of planning to lay the foundations.

It could possibly come into existence late in 1957 but authorities said it is more likely that overall operations would not begin until the opening of the 1958-59 fiscal year in April, 1958.

Say Goodfellow Is Likely to Succeed Thomas

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says William A. Goodfellow is likely to be appointed Ontario agricultural minister next week.

Mr. Goodfellow, now municipal affairs minister, is expected to be succeeded by a newcomer to the cabinet, Erskine Johnston, elected in Carleton riding last June.

Mr. Goodfellow has been acting agricultural minister for several months during the illness of the minister, Hon. Fletcher Thomas.

Cable Breaks, Sightseer Dies

GILFORD, N.H. (AP) — A sightseer hurtled to his death and seven others were injured when a steel cable on a mountain chairlift snapped Wednesday.

The 3,200-foot cable was carrying about 20 tourists up Rowe Mountain in the scenic Belknap mountain recreation area.

Killed was William Kirby, 25, of Salem, Mass., who plunged 30 feet head-first into a pile of rocks.

Seven persons, including Kirby's 13-year-old stepson, were treated at hospital for minor injuries.

Clinton RCAF CO Is Appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — Group Capt. Kenneth C. Cameron, 44, of Winnipeg, will become the new commanding officer of RCAF station at Clinton at the end of this month, the air force announced Wednesday.

He will succeed Group Capt. Harold C. Ashdown, 53, of Montreal, appointed director of radio warfare at air force headquarters.

First Division to Get Test In Simulated Atomic Warfare

By STEWART MacLEOD

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) — Simulated atomic warfare got underway in the rolling hills of New Brunswick today as Canada's 1st Infantry Division began testing its defensive strength against the nuclear power of a mythical enemy.

As the 19,000-man division began moving into position Wednesday night, a pelting rain storm covered the area. Today the action will be light, increasing slowly until Monday when the first simulated atomic bomb will be fired. After that a large group of umpires, including members of the Canadian Army staff college, will assess casualties.

Maj.-Gen. E. C. Plow, chief of the army's eastern command and director of the exercise, said that Monday's war was strictly a defensive exercise for the 1st Division. It was meant to test soldiers' defensive ability against the new nuclear weapons.

When the exercise reaches full intensity about 35 aircraft of the air force and navy, will scream over ground positions.

Maj.-Gen. J. M. Rockingham is assistant director of the one-week exercise.

To bring realism into the exercise the army issued periodic bulletins on the mythical cold war existing between the two involved countries. It described incidents leading to the declaration of war. Within minutes, troop convoys were moving towards the front.

Prisoners will be taken during the exercise, and even before war was declared "spies" were caught on both sides of the neutral strip.

PETERBOROUGH MAN FINED

BLIND RIVER (CP) — Magistrate H. D. Peterson ruled Monday that keys in the pocket of an intoxicated man behind the wheel of a parked car constitute proof that he is in control of the vehicle. He fined Claude Cown, 28, of Peterborough $50 for unlawfully having control of a car while impaired.

British Turbo-Props or U. S. Jets Choice Before World Airlines

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—British turbo-props or American pure jets?

That is the choice facing world airline operators today—a choice vital to both the operators and to Britain's huge aircraft industry.

"We should know the decision in six months," says one of Britain's top air experts. "Let's hope it is a white Christmas."

MEDIUM HAULS

With Britain probably out of the running for a share of the long-range jet field, she must recoup by capturing a major share of the more lucrative market for short- and medium-haul aircraft.

Britain gained a toehold in the market six years ago when the Vickers - Armstrongs Company brought out the world's first turbo-prop airliner—the Viscount.

The sleek, economical airliner, which carries about 60 passengers at 400 miles an hour, represents the first serious threat to the virtual monopoly that United States firms have held in the air-liner field. Viscounts sold or on order now total more than 300, including a fleet of 35 for Trans-Canada Air Lines.

NEWER AND BIGGER

A potentially-greater entry is the 100-passenger Vickers Vanguard, which is to come into service in 1959 or 1960. Like the Viscount, it is a turbo-prop aircraft designed for medium-city trips in the 200- to 2,000-mile range.

To counter the threat, two American companies — Douglas and Convair — have announced plans for pure-jet, medium-haul supersonic airliner by 1970, when airlines will be looking for replacements for the B707 and DC8.

Edwards estimates that in the next decade the world's airlines will require £1,000,000,000 worth of new aircraft and spares to a similar value.

Britain is confident her turbo-props will capture a good share of the prize.

1,134 RESCUED

From Portland, Me., to New York, nine Coast Guard cutters sped to the stricken ships. Many so-called unsinkable motor lifeboats also were ordered out from the Cape Cod area.

A fruit ship, the Cape Ann, was the first merchantile rescuer to arrive. It got there shortly after midnight and launched lifeboats while the Andrea Doria played spotlights into the fog. The Cape Ann took on 300 survivors.

The French ocean queen, Ile de France, arrived about 2 a.m. It was the Ile de France that flashed word of the successful rescue operation. At 4:38 a.m. she radioed:

"All passengers rescued—proceeding New York full speed—no more help needed."

RESCUES 200

She had at least 200 survivors on board.

At least three other vessels arrived within a matter of 3½ hours.

The navy alerted a number of its ships, including the giant aircraft carrier Tarawa, to proceed from port, weather permitting.

The Coast Guard said the sea was heavy. A 33-mile wind was blowing.

The Doria, out of Genoa with a crew of 200, was due in New York today.

The Stockholm was en route to Goteborg with 500 passengers and 200 crew.

The Andrea Doria, now commanded by the veteran Capt. Piero Calamai, was launched on June 16, 1951. A 29,100-tonner, she is luxurious to the last detail, equipped with radar and even a special shower and promenade deck for dogs.

Her maiden, eight-day voyage to New York was completed on Jan. 23, 1953.

The Stockholm, at 12,600-tons considerably smaller than the Doria, is probably the biggest motor ship ever built by Sweden. She was completed in 1948. Her master is Capt. Gunnar Nordenson.

At 6:10 a.m. the Coast Guard called this information about the Andrea Doria from messages:

"Listing heavily, the main decklines is at the water."

In between came such terse communications as:

"Danger immediate. Need as many lifeboats as possible."

"Don't know how much longer we can use radio. Listing very badly."

"The Andrea Doria has begun to abandon ship."

The Coast Guard later gave this breakdown of the distribution of the Andrea Doria survivors:

Stockholm: 425; Cape Ann, 200; Ptc. William H. Thomas, an army vessel, 59; and the balance on the Ile de France.

The Ile de France advised that she expected to reach New York around 6 p.m.

Radio queries went to the Stockholm and Ptc. Thomas asking whether the crew of the Andrea Doria could be removed and the vessel towed to port.

The replies from the two ships were almost identical. The Stockholm's message read:

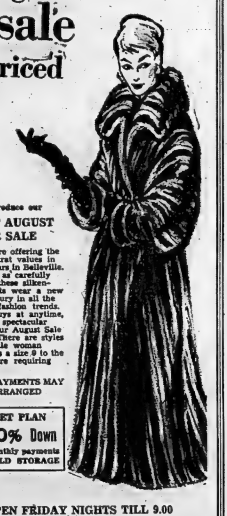
"No radio contact with Andrea Doria. Apparently it is unable use radio further."

The Coast Guard said the freighter Robert E. Hopkins radioed this morning that it rescued an Andrea Doria passenger from the water. The passenger was identified as Robert L. Hudson of New Orleans.

CROSS REMANDED

NORTH BAY (CP)—Larry Cross 30, of Sudbury, charged with stealing $700 box office receipts from marathon pianist Donald (Tiny) Bird, was remanded Monday without plea to July 30. He was ordered held in custody.

ELEVATORS OPENED



WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP)—Travel Minister Cathcart Tuesday pressed a button to open formally the port's new 125,000-bushel grain elevators. They are owned by St. Clair Grain and Feeds, an affiliate of Toronto Elevators, Ltd.

Serpent Mounds Have Not Yielded Spectacular Secrets

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—A field party from the Royal Ontario Museum is busy probing the secrets of the Serpent Mounds at the provincial park, 12 miles east of here, but so far its finds have not been spectacular.

Excavating started in June in the hope that the work would reveal something of the mounds' antiquity.

The mounds were discovered in 1885 by David Boyle, first director of the then Ontario Provincial Museum. He prepared plans for investigation, and in 1910 the first excavations were made by Dr. Henry Montgomery of Toronto who dug a trench about the mounds.

The party now digging under the supervision of Dick Adams hopes to prove the mounds were built by one of Canada's earliest races called the mound builders. These people could have originated in Central America or the Mayan country of Mexico. The nomadic people probably reached Ontario by way of the Mississippi river and Ohio river valleys, building ceremonial mounds as they went.

VARIETY OF MOUNDS

The 186-foot long serpent-shaped mound, which has been estimated to be 2,000 years old, has several egg-shaped mounds at what appears to be the serpent's head. Several other mounds separated by a flag space are believed to have been used for ritual dances.

Mr. Adams said he started digging crews on a series of five-foot grids that led between the egg-shaped mounds and the head of the serpent. Grids are now being dug into the serpent's head. The work is almost intersecting the trench dug by Dr. Montgomery.

Bone fragments as well as pottery shreds and late Iroquoian trade beads have been turned up, but these lend nothing to the estimated antiquity of the mounds.

Mr. Adams said it would take weeks to uncover human bones and artifacts of importance which he is confident of finding.

Neither Dr. Montgomery nor Mr. Boyle left sufficiently detailed reports to help present - day archaeologists, and that has hampered work somewhat. All former work done by the two archaeologists is being thoroughly checked. While the party digs for clues, visitors have discovered the park a good picnic site.

"Old Archie" Brushes Parker Aside Easily In Lopsided Heavyweight Bout

Sport Slices

Rare, Medium, Well-Done

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

ARCHIE TUNES UP FOR FIGHT

Two conclusive "tights" emerged from that boxing affair in Toronto last night.

One was the predictors scored heavily in their crystal-gazing forecast that Moore would be counting greenbacks before the 10th round. The other was Pr. U. Barnum knew he'd ne'er be spoke when he made his famous statement.

Ageless Archie Moore brushed his hands together, shrugged his shoulders in a "that's that" gesture, pocketed $45,000 or thereabouts and wondered if last night's work-out was worth that much, what would a fight between heavyweight championship contenders bring.

A record Canadian boxing crowd fell for the promotional pyrotechnics the biggest cracker of which was the billing of the battle for the heavyweight championship of the world.

As was noted in this column a few days back the lanky and white-skirted set in the first row got some of their money's worth in the circus-like setting of the fight. In fact they got the most of it from the swooping searchlights, the prettily-garbed usherettes, the flag-waving, the color guards and military music and forgetting the red-carpets in the corridors from dressing rooms to ringside.

It was a simple story of ringcraft and experience over youth and alleged power. Parker was hopelessly outclassed from the first left hook thrown by Moore and from then on it was a matter of time. He fought a "gallant fight" through blood-drenched eyes but at no time did he display the "terrific punishing" which was supposed to be his prime weapon against the aging agile Moore.

In fact the few times he did throw it, his right had as much effect on the light heavyweight champion as a mosquito nip at a submarine. He staged a few flurries that had the twenty-dollar seats in a mild hoop, but when it came to Moore bobbing back to land a few of the hundred left jabs which was his main weapon of offence.

At one time, according to analyst Rocky Marciano who was noteworking his impressions, Moore had Parker on the ropes with that lightning like left jab, cocked his right for the kill, "then held it to let his opponent recover in a fine gesture of sportsmanship."

Nor did Moore use his right hand with any telling effect. He hurt Parker with combination punches but apparently made it look like the opening he was looking for was not presenting itself. To give the ageless one credit, he gave the record crowd a little something for its money. It could have been worse—and ended in the first round.

Parker failed to live up to the magnificent build-up given him by promoters and a clever public relations corps. To be frank about it, Parker, as evidenced in his display last night, could never live up to it. Moore's accurate left jabs landed practically at will rocking the challenger so that eventually led to the stopping of the fight in the ninth round.

Rocky Marciano in his between-bout commentary gave one the impression that he was a 100 per cent Moore man. But subsequent events proved that Rocky is a shrewd observer, albeit he could have been a trifle biased in his support of his fellow countryman.

He predicted the Moore style of battle well and truly saying that Archie would work in close to his man and play for the head. He said Moore had won his last eight fights easily and thought he would win this one. There could have been a lump in Rocky's cheek that was not a chaw of tobacco.

"Didn't Want to Hurt Him"—Moore
"Beat Him The Next Time"—Parker

By MILT MacPHAIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Archie Moore apparently bore little but beating he man.

He said as much Wednesday night after left-jabbing his way to a bloody ninth-round technical knocking over giant but outclassed James J. Parker in their scheduled 15-round heavyweight bout at Maple Leaf Stadium.

"I didn't want to take undue advantage of him and hurt him," the unmarked Moore said in his dressing room after the fight.

SAVED BY CONDITION

"Before the last round I had him where I wanted him, but he's a good kid and I didn't want to spoil his future." Moore thought Parker's good physical condition saved him from a worse beating.

Parker, blinded by blood gushing from his left eye, was reeling on the ropes when referee Billy Burke of Toronto stopped the bout.

Ancient Archie said he never was hurt by any of the blows landed by the 26-year-old Parker.

"He thought he was hurting me but he didn't really hurt me at any time," Moore said. "I caught most of his punches on my arms and shoulders."

PATTERSON NEXT

Moore, who lists-his age as 39 after 20 years of pro boxing, looked forward to a title bout with Brooklyn's Floyd Patterson in September.

Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, said: "We're ready to go in September. If Patterson wants around we'll go after somebody else. We'll look around and see where the money is but as we did in coming up here."

Parker, who ended openly in his corner after the fight was stopped said in his dressing room: "They shouldn't have stopped the fight."

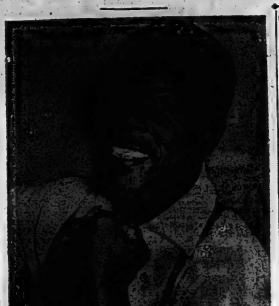
"I asked the referee to let it go," he said. "I don't believe all that stuff about Archie being 43 years old. That's all-malarkey. He can really sting."

Parker's wife Shirley, embraced him and he said: "I'm sorry honey."

COULDN'T SEE

Parker said he couldn't see out of his left eye from the fourth round on and that was his downfall.

"I'm sure that if my eye hadn't been cut I could have stopped Moore before the 15th round. But I couldn't see to get my combinations over.



"The guy's got a wonderful left jab, but that's all. I'm certain if I fought Moore again it would turn out differently. I hope I get another chance."

WINS IN A BREEZE

Veteran Hit Canadian at Will In Bloody Ring Spectacle; Referee Stops Fight in Ninth

(By JACK SULLIVAN)

TORONTO (CP) — Rocky Marciano looked up at Archie Moore jigging in his corner and exclaimed "that's my boy."

Rocky's "boy" jigged again in triumph less than an hour later. He had just cut up James Jess Parker to win a ridiculously easy victory Wednesday night in what was billed as a world heavyweight title bout.

The end came on a technical knockout at 2:02 of the ninth round of their scheduled 15-round bout with Parker a sorry, blood-spattered sight — a fighter who didn't belong in the same ring with the crafty, ring-wise Archie.

And it was obvious from Marciano's remarks that Rocky, who ko'd Archie last Sept. 21 also in the ninth round, knew that the No. 1 contender for his vacated title was just too good for the Canadian.

RECORD CROWD

Fight fans, lured by the promotional antics and Moore's showmanship, turned in record numbers to watch the massacre. The final count showed 19,852 in attendance at Maple Leaf Stadium and $168,500 gross gate receipts. Both were records for fights in Canada.

The previous higher were 19,000 and gate receipts of $78,323 set in Montreal in 1949.

The ponderous Parker, unranked in world listings and with only 37 professional fights behind him, was a very vulnerable. Blood spurted from cuts around his left eye and nose and he was practically out on his feet.

It was just another pay night for Moore. The 39-year-old veteran of 125 pro fights, and a handsome one at that. He had been guaranteed $45,000 or 35 per cent of the net gate and he'll take the percentage if that works out to a little more than $46,000.

$29,000 FOR PARKER

Parker's 22½ - per - cent cut worked out to approximately $29,000 — the most he has ever received in his six years of pro boxing. The financial return softened somewhat the beating he absorbed.

Weaving and dodging Moore scored at will despite the disadvantage in height, weight and reach. The San Diego, Calif., negro weighed 185½ against Parker's six feet 3½ inches and his reach at 75½ inches was two short of the elongated Toronto heavy.

The three Toronto officials were almost unanimous in their scorecards. Judge Les Black gave Archie every round while Referee Billy Burke and Judge Jack Johnston gave seven to Archie and called one even.

BOOED AT START

Archie, who holds the world junior-heavyweight title was booed lustily by the crowd as he entered the ring but fans left the hall parking in a work of respect for his boxing and punching ability. He opened a cut over Parker's left eyelid in the fourth round, jabbed Dr. Thomas E. Pomerleft, ring physician, examined Parker's eye after the sixth round and decided to let the scrap go on. In the ninth Moore battered Parker along the ropes with lefts and rights and, with James J. an open target, he deliberately stepped back to give Parker a breather. A minute later, with Parker again in serious trouble, Burke stepped in to stop it.

NEXT PROMOTION

That marked the end of one of the zaniest promotional fights seen in Canada, and possibly in North America. There was a 25-piece fife and drum band, a guard of honor, usherettes, red carpet around the ring, powerful revolving searchlights probing the sky —and a few of the 70-odd sports writers turned up in formal clothes.

Evening gowns and dress suits were numerous in the first three rows of the $20-a-seat ringside.

The fight was little more than a time-up for Moore's planned fight against Floyd Patterson next September.

"It will be my first defence of the heavyweight title," said the self-proclaimed world champ.

Toronto Mauls Marlins 4-1; Wings Nip Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond Virginians are making a belated bid for a place in the International League playoffs. If they squeeze into the fourth and final spot it seems likely their success will be at the expense of Montreal Royals.

The Virginians ran their winning streak in six Wednesday night by knocking off the cellar-dwelling Buffalo Bisons twice, 3-2 and 7-1, while Havana was trouncing Montreal 8-1. Richmond now is 5½ games behind the fourth-place Royals.

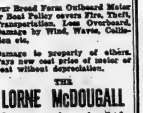
LEAPS STOP MIAMI

Toronto Maple Leafs held their 2½-game lead over Rochester by defeating Miami Marlins 4 - 1 while the Red Wings were edging Columbus Jets 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the first game of the double-header, manager Eddie Lopat of Richmond set the Bisons down with five hits for his eighth victory. Rance Pless fanned the side in triple scored Bill Renna with the deciding run.

In the nightcap, Renna clouted a three-run homer to boost his RBI total to 39 since joining Richmond June 19.

GOLIAT SUPPLIES FINCH



Mike Goliat also came through with a three-run homer at Miami to give Eddie Leads lefty triumph over the Marlins. Ed Blake won his eighth straight for Toronto.

The Red Wings routed the Jets for the 14th time in 18 starts with two Columbus players showing the way. Ex-Jet Joe Cunningham, who earlier hit two singles, slashed his 11th home run of the season in the 10th to break a 2-2 deadlock. Batting between teammate Johnny Mackinson and Bill Harrington. The victory was credited to Dick Hall, 12th. In 18 decisions.

Indiana struck for three runs in the first and four more in the second in routing the Royals. Dave Cobb's wildness set up the first-inning runs and the Cubans blasted reliefer Bill Hiabila for four in the second. George Spears double, Chuck Dorings infield hit and an error by John Rosebero in the third saved Montreal from being shut out.

APPEALS FITTON CASE

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario has appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada against a judgment by the Ontario Court of Appeal awarding a new murder trial to Robert Fitton, 21, it was disclosed Tuesday. Fitton was sentenced to be hanged July 10 for the slaying last January of Linda Lampkin.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

'Swaps' Sets 5th World Mark

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Hollywood Park's 1956 meeting is over today and the place, in race track parlance is dark.

Swaps and his men, Rex Ellsworth and Meshach Tenney, wednesday removed most of the available loot and are Chicago-bound, looking for more.

Swaps netted $64,400 for his smashing victory in the Sunset Handicap, an effort that spelled out his fifth world record.

His time in his first try at anything beyond a mile and one quarter was 2.36 1-5 for a mile and one five-eighths. It cracked the old world mark of 2.39 4-5 set by the Mabee Chance Farm's Ace Admiral at Santa Anita in 1949.

And Willie Shoemaker had a tight hold all the way on Swaps until, perhaps in response to the ovation of the patrons, he let him loose in the stretch run for home.

So Swaps went into the winner's circle for the seventh time this year, the sixth at Hollywood, and his handlers walked off with $301,300 on Swaps alone and $431,825 for the stable as a whole.

The Sunset, for the record, was a Swaps run against the clock, although Shoemaker was under orders to ignore any record running intentionally.

Shoemaker did look at the time on the tote board first time around, saw he was going too fast and pulled even tighter on Swaps. It was no good. Swaps still broke the record.

So Swaps, with total earnings of $763,150 behind him, leaves for Chicago with seven stablemates today. His main objective is the $100,000 added Washington Park handicap Labor Day.

Braves Maintain Clip As Brook's Nudge Redlegs; Ford Four-Hits Chisox

Cincy Starting to Feel Pinch Between Brewers and 'Bums'; Tribe Trips Nats, Bosox Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Whitey Ford returned to his favorite pastime Wednesday night—beating Chicago White Sox.

The southpaw pitcher and New York Yankees put an end to the Chicago nonsense with a 10- victory in an American League baseball game. The White Sox had taken five straight from the Yanks in Comiskey Park before Ford stepped in with his four-hitter. It was his 13th victory of the season and gave him an 18-4 record against Chicago.

Second-place Cleveland Indians remained 9½ games behind the Yankees by walloping Washington 7-3. Detroit left Baltimore in fifth place, beating the Orioles 6-2. Kansas City moved eight games into the seventh to whack fourth-place Boston 9-6.

At Chicago, Dick Donovan held the Yankees a little as for four innings and then gave way to the fifth on three singles and a wild pitch. New (6) and Ill it with three-run frames in the eighth and ninth.

Herb Score five-hit the Senators for his ninth victory, helped along by home runs by Bobby Avila and Jim Hegan. Score, with a two-hit shutout until the eighth when Roy Sievers scored the 19th home run of two on, struck out 10 to run his league-leading total to 146.

Detroit made it on Frank Houdon's two-run homer off reliefer George Zuverink (3-2) after a two-all tie in the eighth. Paul Foytack (8-6) also eighth, and Mayo Smith took the defeat.

Veteran Jerry Wordon had a 6-0 cushion and a three-hitter for the Red Sox, then sprained an ankle yanked as Tommy Umphlett in the seventh and left the game. The A's opened up on reliefer Leo Kiely, Tom Hurd and Harry Dorish, sending 11 men to the plate with Simpson slamming a three-run homer on his second trip.

The heat's on in the long simmering National League pennant race and Cincinnati Redlegs look like the fall guys who get burned.

Talk around the league pegged the second-place Redlegs as a club living right on a day-to-day basis, with their home-run power shielding a pitching staff that was generally weak in the middle.

Monday night's dugout gossip is beginning to look good with Cincinnati starting to crack just when Milwaukee Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers are playing pennant ball.

The third-place Dodgers finally got to Brooks Lawrence, who was 3-0 against them, and a 4-3 decision Wednesday night. Duke Snider's 34th home run in the ninth broke up Lawrence's duel with Lew Burdette, now 14-2, and Don Newcombe, 7-6.

The defeat sent Cincinnati skidding six games behind the first place Braves who battered out the last place New York Giants 7-3. Ed Mathews' 30th homer brought them from behind with a grand-slam in the fifth run.

BOTH ON STREAKS

Brooklyn and Milwaukee have four-game winning streaks, with the Braves winning six of their last 16 to boot. The Dodgers, winning eight of their last 11 now are within 1½ games of the 2 Redlegs who have blown a four-game edge over the Braves by losing five of nine in a week.

In the other National League games, Roberto Clemente gave Pittsburgh a story-book finish with a grand-slam inside the park home run that beat Chicago Cubs 8-6 in the ninth inning. St. Louis Cardinals pushed across two in the 10th to beat Philadelphia 8-7. All the runs came on homers in the Dodgers' victory at Jersey City, with Sidney Ivring Rodger Craig Khusswatt for the league lead. It was only the fourth Dodger hit and the first off Lawrence after Carl Furillo tied it with his 12th homer in the fourth inning. Roddy Frank Robinson smacked his 22nd in the third inning—giving Clary 34 home run off Brooklyn pitching and at least one in all 16 games played with the Braves.

Lawrence now has lost two of his last three decisions while Newcombe has won five straight. Newcombe gave the Redlegs, only club he hadn't beaten, five hits, walked but one and struck out nine—setting 13 in a row over one span. Furillo hit in his 18th straight game, matching Snider for the longest hit streak in the league this season.

Bob Buhl wasn't at his best, but his 11-hitter was good enough to beat the Giants for his 13th victory. Ed Mathews also homered and added three singles for Milwaukee. Thomson's home run was his 19th. Al Worthington lost his 12th as the Giants' spin extended to seven straight defeats and 18 losses in 19 games.

Clemente, who drives in a fifth run with a sacrifice fly, barrelled through a stop-sign thrown up by manager Bobby Bragan, who was coaching at third. The Cubs had taken the lead with seven runs in the eighth, bouncing Bob Friend, who hasn't beaten them yet this year. Dale Long's 20th home run broke Arky Vaughn's record for left-handed Pirates sluggers set in 1935.

A walk and Richie Ashburn's error between two singles gave the fourth-place Cards their second victory in ligaments and reliefer Larry Jackson his first decision after Gran Hamner had tied it in the ninth with a three-run homer.

World Hockey Trophy Still In Penticton

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The weekly Summerland Review says the trophy which Russian players received for winning the world hockey championship last winter was only a replica.

The world cup is still in Penticton, home of the former world champion Penticton Vs, writes Sid Godber, publisher of The Review.

Bill Watson, one of the stars of the Penticton victory over Russia in 1955, kept the cup and sent a duplicate back to the International Ice Hockey Federation.

The federation did not notice the difference, Godber writes in his sports column. So when Russia's team recaptured the world championship at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, they received only the replica. The earlier trophy stands on display in the Watson brothers' restaurant in Penticton.

Mexican Sculler Pulls Upset Defeats Favored Jon Pearce

By GEORGE HANCOCKS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP) Robert Rekalaca of Mexico City racing outside his native Mexico for the first time, stroked away from Canada's Olympic trials winner Jon Pearce of Hamilton to win the preliminary heat of the junior singles at the Royal Canadian Henley regatta Wednesday.

Rekalaca, 26, qualified for today's final in the singles event with the fastest time of the field—9:04.8.

Out in front with a tremendous burst of speed at the start, Rekalaca gave way briefly to 19-year-old Pearce at the mile mark, but regained his lead to win by three lengths open. Greg Murphy of St. Catharines was second and Pearce third.

BIG SURPRISE

The biggest surprise was that Pearce came in a slow third—although he was only a few feet behind second-place heat winner Greg Murphy. Earlier Pierce won the medal in the one-mile high school singles with a time of 5:19.

Probably the most disappointed of all was Pearce's father, former Diamond Sculls champion Billy Pearce, who still holds the world's record for the fastest Olympic mile in a single shell.

Rekalaca has to face some stiff opposition today. His competitors are Tony Biernacki of Ottawa, Moe Cody of Brockville and Murphy.

Also scheduled today is the final of the junior 145-pound fours between crews from Hamilton, Toronto, Detroit, and Ecorse, Mich. The favored four—New York Athletic Club—rammed the Hamilton Leaders boat on the first start of the heats Wednesday and on the second start disobeyed instructions. It was disqualified.

NEW YORK LEADS

In spite of the bad luck, however, NYAC led the first day's points standing for the Maple Leaf Trophy with 12. Hamilton Leaders stood second with 12.5

First event scheduled today is the heavy eights quarter-mile dash always a favorite with racing fans, with six crews. Three are entered by St. Catharines Rowing Club which is listing no chances.

One crew member put it this way: "We took it last year. We'll take it this year. We can't lose—especially to Buffalo Westsides."

Also scheduled are finals of the junior 135-pound eights, junior 135-pound eights, and the high school eights.

Curate Plays For England In Test Match

By KEN METHERAL

LONDON (CP) — A 27-year-old Anglican curate took a holiday from his religious duties to play for England in the fourth cricket test match against Australia opening at Manchester today.

Rev. David Sheppard, a tall broad-shouldered man who gave up first - class cricket for the church two years ago, was named to the England team at the beginning of the week.

He is the second cricket veteran to be called out of retirement to bolster the England batting during the current Australia tour. The second match at Lords, the fourth test cricket in a draw. Victory in the fourth test clinched The Ashes symbolic of cricket supremacy, for England, last winner in 1953. Australia, as challenger, must register an outright series victory to take The Ashes.

Sheppard was being groomed to take over the mantle of England's foremost batsman from Leonard Hutton and Denis Compton. He broke into first-class cricket with Sussex and had scored a double century and two other centuries for the county team before he was 21.

In 1952 he scored his first century as a member of an England test team and the same year topped the first-class batting averages.

Hutton and group are cricket because, he said, it was cutting too heavily into his church duties and "God's work is more important."

Mead Mile, Other Track Event Feature of Belleville Fair

One of the main events of the Belleville Fair this year will be the opening day boys' races featuring the second annual Mead Mile. The races will be held Monday afternoon, August 13th.

This one mile race was held for the first time last year at the fair. It was won by one of this city's top runners, Bill "Sammy" Gault. The race was a decided success and has become an annual event.

Through the combined co-operation of the Belleville Agricultural Society and a group of interested citizens, several other events have been added to form a small "field day".

$85.00 prize money has been donated for the events. Entries for all events should be forwarded right away to L. A. Doran, City Hall.

The Mead mile is open to all miles of the area. The trophy was donated by Mead Johnson & Co. Ltd. Trophy and $10. in prize money. The first finishers each will receive $8.00, $5.00, $4.00 and $3.00 in order of finish. Bill Gault made the run in 4 minutes and 55 seconds last year.

A two-mile race is also on the agenda. Four-man teams will be entered here with the first pl... prize receiving $12.00, the ... ners-up $8.00 and the third pl... finishers $4.00.

A third event is the 220 - ... dash, open to all boys who ... students of public and separ... schools last year. Five prizes ... up for competition here, the w... her getting $2.00, second pl... $2.00 and the next three acr... the line $1.00 each.

Pirates' Senor Ignores Signal Wins Ball Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh Pirates fleet footed Puerto Rican, deliberately ignored his manager's sign to stop at third Wednesday night—roaring it to score in a cloud of dust on an inside-the-park home run in the ninth inning circuit clout to beat Chicago, Cubs 7-6.

And Manager Bobby Bragan not only forgave the 21-year-old Rookie but made it plain there will be no fine.

"Phew," said Bobby. "Here Clemente ties up the game for me and I throw up the stop sign. After all, we have some long ball hitters coming up, no one out and getting Bobby home with the winning run looks easy. I hold up both hands and say 'stop' but not Roberto.

"Roberto, he said just kept going and, of course, he scored and we won. But it was a close play, Wow!!"

Robert promptly admitted after the game that he had deliberately missed Bragan's stop signal, declaring:

"I say to Bobby—'great out of my way, and I score! Just like that! I theenk we have nothing to loose so I run. What if I get tagged without my run and if I score, the game she is over and we don't have to play no more to night."

Davis Cuppers Ready for Round

VICTORIA (CP) — Practice sessions and exhibition matches getting together here today as Davis Cup teams from the United States and Canada tuned up for the three-day North American zone semi-final, opening Friday.

Today is the last day free for practice alone. The teams have been practising since the beginning of the week, on the plush courts at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Representing Canada are Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Don Fontana of Toronto and Lawrence Barrett and Paul Wilson of Vancouver. Non-playing captain Jim Skelton is also from Vancouver.

The U.S. is represented by Herbie Flam, Barry MacKay, Hamm Richardson and Vern Hoffenberg, with Billy Talbert non-playing captain.

Draws were scheduled today.

Schedule for Friday calls for two singles matches. Doubles will be on Saturday and two singles matches Sunday.

Winners will meet Mexico in the zone finals.

Red Sox Nip St. Thomas 7-6

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox had a safe 6-1 lead over St. Thomas Elgins in the ninth inning of an Intercounty Baseball League game at St. Thomas the last night. Then the roof fell in.

Red Sox starter Spod Bush walked the first four men to start an Elgin rally that produced a 7-6 St. Thomas win.

Road blocks may be met in your drive to make a bridge contract. An advance plan of play must always include the unblocking principle. Because this is the category in which entries are found.

Sit south as declarer at a small slam—Thirteen of six no-trump and get a club opening lead from west. You can see eight top tricks with aces and kings. Queen of diamonds is a sure ninth.

A tenth trick is assured in hearts if a trick in that suit is lost to the nineteen queen. The two other tricks may be expected in long diamonds or hearts, depending on what shows up.

So, trick one is taken with south's club ace and diamond ace is cashed. With west showing void, the diamond extras are established. Declarer returns on the length of dummy's hearts.

So, heart king is cashed and the jack of hearts is led. This is covered by the west queen and if you are hungry for that trick, curb your appetite. Absolutely refuse to take it was dummy ace.

If dummy ace takes that second heart trick you are a sooner. At no charge will you be able to enter dummy for cashing the string of hearts there. You have plainly blocked yourself.

Refuse to take that second heart trick. Let west keep it with your compliments. Then take anything west returns and overtake the south heart ten with dummy ace. All is well from there.

This is a definite type of unblocking. It is like overtaking your own king with an ace or throwing a king on your ace. In these obvious forms, unblocking is a part of every play.

You may refuse to win a trick at once. Or give up a trick that could have walked until late. Or take a trick sooner than needed. All such come under the unblocking principle.

Writer Feels There Is Room For Both Allen and Sullivan

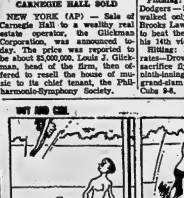
By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's interesting how quickly a few newspaper writers can build the opposition of two television programs into the dimensions of a war. The programs are Ed Sullivan show on CBS-TV and the Steve Allen show on NBC-TV which are beamed to the public at the same hour each Sunday evening.

Possibly I'm wrong, but I doubt if more than a few hundred people in each camp believe Allen has the larger audience. The millions who compose these audiences merely switch to the program of their choice.

Last Sunday evening I again tried watching both programs simultaneously, a most unsatisfactory form of entertainment. My conclusion, based on a few weeks of watching both, is that they are quite different types of shows. True, both are variety shows in that they present a variety of comedians, dancers, music, guests. But there the similarity ends.

Allen seeks to build his show about himself, shaping its themes through his own personality. Sullivan culminates his own personality, serving merely as the stage master who introduces the variety of acts.



The drum-beaters of war have wild hallucinations of Allen rolling up Sullivan and crushing him or of Sullivan destroying Allen for all time. But I submit there's plenty of room for both. So what's all the fuss about?

Parents Not Always to Blame Says "Delinquent" Film Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An expert on juvenile delinquency today came to the defence of parents.

"The mothers and fathers are always getting the blame when their children get in trouble," said Sal Mineo. "I think that's wrong. Sure, some parents are responsible for delinquency because of neglect and poor upbringing.

"But more often it is the fault of the kids themselves. If a kid of 16 doesn't know the difference between what's right and what's wrong, there's something wrong with him."

Sal is 17 and an actor. How does he qualify as an expert on juvenile delinquency? Because he is the most notable portrayer of delinquents in films and TV.

SERIES OF TOUGH ROLES

He got his start in pictures playing Tony Curtis as a boy in Six Bridges to Cross. That's the film in which Curtis pulled off a Brinks-like robbery. Sal got an Oscar nomination for his part in "Rebel Without a Cause" and is playing a trouble-maker in the current Crime in the Streets and Someday Up There Likes Me.

Right now he's enjoying a respite from crime, playing a neighbor to Cesar Romero in Crash Love.

Sal draws knowledge of the delinquency problem from his boyhood in New York City.

"I remember seeing a young kid who lived near us. He was grossly from drinking too much. Two days later he was arrested for murder. Now he's serving out a life sentence.

"My point is that it's the kids themselves who are to blame most of the time. The parents have no way of knowing that their boys may be out with a bunch of tough guys getting into trouble."

Most kids get in trouble in a bid for recognition, Sal observed.

"They think if they get in trouble it makes them bigshots," he said.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look to the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, July 29, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Artistic and domestic interests, handling foods and beverages highly sponsored. Extra caution urged handling dangerous tools, machinery, in holiday fun. Be sensible all day.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your Venus, the Moon and Jupiter, well aspected, encourage personal interests, artistic professions, financial matters — if handled wisely. Don't seek favors if you have not earned them. Be happy.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your Mercury's position suggests that you think and plan calmly so that you won't be easily upset or make the needless errors often caused by haste. A fine day for private interests.

June 22 to July 23. (Cancer) — This is a period for action and achievement—but not for recklessness with money, dangerous machinery, tools, etc. Finish incompleted matters so you will feel at rest over the weekend.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your Sun urges sensible care in most matters — especially when it comes to saving money. There will be many sympathetic aspects for investing and spending. Watch your budget but don't stint on family needs. Be cheery.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Read advice to Gemini. Day can benefit all who wisely allocate their tasks and duties. Take some time for relaxation, wholesome fun in free hours.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Absorb notations to Taurus. Happy influences from your Venus, Jupiter and Moon augur for fresh accomplishment and benefits if you are up to par, and do your best in all obligations.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Mixed vibrations but, for the most part, they are generous and helpful — especially for familiar matters and those in which your ingenuity and skill will be helpful. Personal affairs and health measures sponsored.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius — Jupiter is in a promising position and this fact coupled with other favorable aspects can bring success, pleasure and fresh hope for future generally. Especially advised: finesse, skill, thoroughness.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Some restrictions where quick advancement or gilding immediate returns from efforts are concerned, but this does not mean the day is not favorable or responsive to smart management, sound judgment. Keep trying.

January 21 to February. 19 — (Aquarius) — You may have your ups and downs but they won't be too annoying nor offer too much opposition. Day is fine for personal and family affairs, for study and putting style into your work or tasks.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Grand Neptune aspects favor personal endeavors and those activities which require cleverness. Healthful entertainment, amusements and sports, dealing in table delicacies, foods highly favored.

You born today are engaging, active, clever at your work — especially if it is in "your line" — selling, the stage or screen, managing a large concern or business endeavor. You are also able at building; are mechanically inclined; make top military or naval personnel; are brave, likeable. Loaties seldom shirk difficult or hazardous tasks; are witty Entertainers and actors. You may talk yourself into difficult situations but can usually talk yourself out again. Curb moodiness, over-sensitiveness.

BATA AND KENT SHOE STORES

Due to expansion we have a number of opportunities for qualified men for managers of retail family shoe stores throughout Ontario.

Interested applicants should be between 30 and 45 years of age, have seven high school credits or more, and preferably have a sensible liking for retailing. Some training will be given elsewhere.

Some retail experience is required, though not necessarily in footwear. Successful applicants will receive this year's expense account, car allowance, and have an advantage to participate in our attractive staff training period.

If you enjoy your present retail work but feel that your future is limited it will be very much to your interest to talk with us.

Your ability, personality and aptness for leadership in retailing, write to us, enclosing a recent photograph, and we shall contact you.

Floods Maroon Australian Sheep

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)

Flood waters have turned a 3-500,000-acre section of New South Wales into an inland, rutting off inland traffic and marooning thousands of sheep.

Produce from the major wool-growing area valued at £200,000 ($562,800) is unable to transportation to annual Melbourne wool sales. It will have to be kept in ferried to dry land. The area is expected to be isolated several months.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was shaking his head while he was reading the financial page, and I said, Hay pop, the circus is coming in 3 weeks.

Pop not saying anything, and I said. There's some chances that I may be able to take you, but not if you're going to remind me every minute on the minute for the next 3 weeks, he said.

Then pop, I've got good news for you, I said, and pop said, I can stand a little good news.

Probably meaning he hadn't saw nay on the financial page, and I said, Puds Simkins's father is going to get free tickets, so I can go with him and Puds, aint you glad, pop?

Well yes, it's quite a relief, but just the same I must say I'm a little surprized, you don't even at your age I would no more expect to go to the circus with somebody else's father that I'd expect to eat my morning pancakes made by somebody else's mother, he said, and I said, Well gosh, Pop, G, neither would I. I'd rather go to the circus with you, no matter who, including anybody, I said.

Are you trying to kid me, and I said, Sure, pop, G, even if the dood seem very funny. All I have to do is look at you laffing and I have to laff too. And even if the mustard on the hot dog sandwich tasts kind of funny, all I have to do is see how much you're injoying me eating it, and it starts to taist swell, I said.

Oh well, in that case I wont be so selfish as to deprive you of my company, pop said, Dont fail to remind me, he said.

Which I will.

YOUNG SAILORS SAVED

NEW YORK (AP)—A police launch went to the aid Wednesday of two young adventurers who set out to sea in a five-foot refrigerator. Jeffrey Mayers, 12, and David Kelly, 14, had progressed less than a mile in Bowery Bay when their homemade ship began shipping water. Police returned them to shore unharmed.
